Federal Way, Washington 98003 Vol. 27 No. 5 Wednesday, May 9, 1979 25 cents

CAPT. RICK NEDROW of the Federal Way Fire Department revisited the Mirror Lake dock where he and other firefighters attempted to revive a four-year-old boy Friday afternoon. The attempts were in vain, however, after more than an hour of resuscitation attempts. Nedrow said the drowning resulted following a string of "mistakes."

Youth's drowning a 'horror story'

by Nathalie Weber
While fighting fires and assisting the injured are common-place activities for the men in the Federal Way Fire Department, once every few months a tragedy occurs that even those trained to operate in disastrous conditions can't digest.

One such mishap occurred last Friday. Four-year-old Christin Schoonover went into the yard of his Mirror Lake home at about 12:30 that afternoon to feed the ducks that were visiting the lake. Less than one-half-hour later, his 50-pound body was found at the bottom of the lake, clearly visible in about six feet of water.

Firefighters and paramedics were called to the scene at 12:57 p.m. But they were about four minutes too late and, at least for one firefighter, the incident was tragic.

"It's such a waste," Capt. Rick Nedrow said Monday. "When we saw the kid wasn't coming around, it was like a personal loss."

NEDROW WAS ONE of the first on the scene and describes the incident as "a damned horror story." What he now sees is a series of mistakes that lead to Christin's death.

Apparently Christin had been left with a teenage babysitter that morning while his grandmother was busy attending to other chores. He decided to feed the ducks, headed for the water and was not missed for about five minutes, the babysitter told the fire department. When he was discovered at the bottom of the lake, the babysitter contacted a neighbor who in turn contacted the Des Moines Police.

"It was a three-party delay before we ever got the call, at least a matter of four minutes," Nedrow said, shaking his head. By then Christin had been in the water about eight or nine minutes, he predicts, three minutes beyond realistic hope of saving the child's life. And no one had tried to rescue the boy from his watery death.

"We got there and he (Christin) was still in the lake," Nedrow said. "There had been no effort to even bring him out of the water."

"I don't mean to hurt anyone involved in the drowning. My intent is to stop it from happening again."

THE DEATH, he said, was a three-pronged mistake. First, the child should not have been allowed on the lake with no supervision. Second, there was an emergency response delay because of improper notification. And third, no action was taken to rescue the child before the aid unit arrived. "Every minute you lose counts, especially in a drowning," Nedrow mused.

Unfortunately, similar instances are not uncommon in the area. "Proper notification is one of our biggest problems," he said. "I know there are people who have lived here for years and they don't know who to call in an emergency. Do you call an aid car or your doctor? Chances are if you call your doctor the next person you should call is your coroner because if you haven't thought about it before, you might as well forget it."

Nedrow predicts there may have been a good chance of saving the boy's life had the Federal Way Fire Department been called immediately and had the child been pulled from the water before the aid team arrived.

But once the 10-member team arrived, there wasn't much they could do to revive the dead child. They worked more than an hour, trying to pump life back into his system and, after the alternatives were exhausted, removed the child from the lakeside.

"After 10 years as a firefighter I've seen a lot of death," Nedrow said. "But most of those at least had a chance to live their lives. He never will because of all the mistakes. It's a bad deal."

Lakehaven sets $250 surcharge

The Lakehaven Sewer District last week approved a resolution that, among other improvements, will allow the continued construction of housing in the area served by the district's Lakota treatment plant.

Requests from developers for permission to build in that area—generally land south of Redondo—have been denied throughout the past three months because the sewage moving through the Lakota plant exceeds the flow allowed by the State Department of Ecology. However, recent action by the Lakehaven commissioners was promise enough for King County that the problem will be resolved, and permission to build resumed late last month.

The resolution passed last week will start the wheels rolling for upgrading of the system with monies collected from a new $250 surcharge on all units whose developer received an extension agreement after April 15 of this year. According to Russ David, Lakehaven manager, that surcharge will not be sufficient to fully fund the Lakota sewage plant upgrading "but it's a start."

In addition to upgrading the plant, the surcharge also will be used as matching funds to government grants for upgrading of the Redondo treatment plant and for general services such as installations of lift stations, David said.

Festival in the forest

Federal opera funds uncertain

by Loren Bliss
The president of the Federal Way Chamber of Commerce, just back from Washington, D. C., says the proposed Pacific Northwest Festival in the Forest will probably get federal funding — but not in 1979.

L. Anthony Tebeau, the president, also said that five of the state's seven congressmen and both senators indicated that they support construction of the performing arts complex.

Among the supporters, said Tebeau, are U. S. Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, and U. S. Rep. Norm Dicks, D-6th District. The others are U. S. Reps. Al Swift, Tom Foley, Mike McCormick and Don Bonker.

The two members of the congressional delegation that oppose construction of the center, Tebeau said, are Joel Pritchard and Mike Lowery, both of Seattle.

Tebeau said that each of the two expressed fears that the center — it would be built on Panther Lake in West Campus — would take income away from Seattle.

DICKS, SAID Tebeau, is being "tremendously helpful," and will probably sponsor whatever legislation is necessary to get $15 million from the federal treasury.

"But the timing isn't very good just now," he said, "because Congress is determined to trim the budget."

However, he added, "this is the kind of project everyone wants, and I think we'll get help from the feds. What we may have to do is build the complex in stages."

The state has already allocated

$5 million for the center, though the final form of the 1979-81 budget is still being thrashed out in Olympia.

In addition, the House has already approved a bill calling for a bond issue to raise the money. But the Senate must do likewise before the state's 25 percent share of the cost is guaranteed.

Land for the center would be donated by the Weyerhaeuser

Company, and construction would begin, presumably, as soon as both the federal and state contributions are approved.

WHEN COMPLETED, the facility would house Seattle Opera's Wagner festival and a number of other performing arts events as well.

Supporters of the proposed center — there are many in the business and residential communities of Federal Way — believe its construction would be a boon to the entire area.

Tacoma Mayor Mike Parker, meanwhile, has proposed extending an on-the-drawing-boards rapid transit system into Federal Way, with a final stop at the center.

This would link Tacoma Transit with Metro Transit and could be the beginning of transit network linking most of the larger communities west of the Cascades, supporters say.

Dezordo trial May 23

The first degree murder trial of Robert Dezordo, 58, has been set for May 23 in King County Superior Court.

Dezordo pleaded not guilty last week to the murder of his mother, Margaret Cameron. The mutilated remains of the 80-year old woman were found in the family home at 22027 - 6th Ave. S. March 24 when Des Moines police responded to a call from a man who said he had just killed his mother.

Roy Howson, attorney for Dezordo, said Friday he is considering changing his client's plea to not guilty by reason of insanity. Dezordo has a history of mental illness. Howson said it must be determined if he is competent to stand trial.

Dezordo is in King County Jail pending the trial. He was recently extradited from San Diego where he had gone after his mother's death. San Diego police stopped him on a defective vehicle equipment check and discovered he was a suspect in the murder here.

Spellman predicts mass incorporation

by Darlene Himmelspach
To solve the problems of insufficient representation, all of King County "will someday be incorporated," County Executive John Spellman predicted Friday.

In remarks to a Municipal League luncheon meeting, Spellman said as the population of the unincorporated areas grows, "there will continue to be representation problems." The solution, he said, when tax base and population reach a certain level, is to incorporate. He named Federal Way as such an urbanized center.

Spellman and King County Councilman Tracy Owen rated the progress of the county under the Home Rule Charter after ten years before facing questions from a trio of panelists and the audience. The seven goals for the Charter government outlined by the freeholders which drew up the Charter in 1968 "have largely been met," according to Spellman.

Under the old three-member board of commissioner form of government, the county languished in debt, uncertain governmental roles and lacked modern procedures for fiscal planning and management.

Those problems have been met and resolved with the council-executive form of government chosen by the freeholders, Spellman declared. He said the increase of the legislative body from three to nine and election by district had "improved representation for citizens." But the gap that remains will probably be closed by the incorporation of outlying urbanized areas.

Spellman took a brief poke at the county council when he said he has "delegated community councils with delegated powers as an interim measure in those areas (such as Federal Way and Burien) but that suggestion was received with little enthusiasm by the county and Policy Development Commission (a citizen advisory body to the county)."

Owen said the chief concern of the county government should be ensuring that people will be able to live where they work so they can "spend more time with their families." Instead of fighting the freeways." He said communities want an identity of their own rather than being known as a Seattle "bedroom community." Without a specific plan, Owen warned, "all the jobs will be downtown and all the houses out in the suburbs."

When you think about our beautiful region what images or land marks do you conjure up? Puget Sound with its mix of sail boats, ferries, barges and fishing vessels? Mt Rainier with its snow-capped peak shining in the Spring Sun? Or, Lake Washington with its bridges, sailboats, water skiers, and beautiful lake front homes? Or perhaps you think about the Montlake cut on opening day or during the Husky football season.

It seems like somebody is always coming with a plan to rape that which many hold dear — the aesthetic quality of our environment.

They wanted to build a second, lower level restaurant on the Space Needle, thus destroying the architecture of a world famous Seattle landmark.

They wanted to bring huge oil tankers into the Puget Sound inland waters, thus risking destruction of water, beaches and wildlife.

They even wanted to build the Kingdome at the Seattle Center.

Fortunately, up until now, we've been able to wage successful wars against these benderers of poor taste. We beat them over the head with our paper weapons — court injunctions, petitions, legislative action and environmental impact statements.

Now they're at us again. "They" in this case is the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) which plans to dredge 13 acres of Lake Washington, build seven piers ranging from 40 to 470 feet in length, and bring its fleet of 12 ocean-going vessels through the Montlake Cut to Sand Point.

A group called Save Lake Washington has been fighting a valiant but losing battle to do just what their name says — save the lake. A U.S. District Judge last week lifted a year-old injunction against the project and NOAA plans to move ahead post haste.

Lake Washington isn't just a Seattle Lake, anymore than Mt. Rainier is a Pierce County mountain. It's there for all of us to enjoy, and we in South King County would put up a cry if NOAA wanted to build the facility at say Alki, Seahurst Park, or Salt Water Des.

We hope the Save the Lake group decides to appeal the decision. Lake Washington is a recreational lake and should stay that way. We really don't need NOAA's big ocean-going tubs clogging the Montlake cut and pushing out pleasure craft any more than we need an ugly radar station on top of Mt. Rainier.

Reflections

by Jim Shahan

A judge acquaintance of mine called last week and we made small talk for a while until I realized this wasn't a purely social call.

"What's on your mind, your Honor?" I asked innocently.

"The question is what's on your mind, Shahan," he responded coolly.

"Huh," I asked intelligently.

"I want to know what you were thinking about when you wrote that school board story last week," he said.

I'd been expecting inquiries like this ever since the Nixon Memorial Supreme Court ruled that reporters can be quizzed about their thoughts when writing a story deemed libelous by the parties named in the story.

The 6 to 3 decision that an editor's "state of mind" is fair game in a libel suit has caused me to seriously study stories in other newspapers and speculate as to the possible thoughts of the author. In most cases I've concluded that the reporter probably wasn't thinking at all.

"The Fogcutter," I said. "Huh?" his Honor replied. It was his turn to be intelligent.

"You heard me. I write school board stories on Monday night and always stop by the Fogcutter on my way home."

You mean you weren't thinking about what you were writing?" he asked aghast.

"Nope. I never do. A guy got in a lot of trouble that way. In fact, I think about different things when writing different stories."

"Give me some examples," he said, intrigued.

"Well, when writing about the Chamber of Commerce I think about fishing. I've always been of the opinion that the Chamber ought to have an annual fishing trip."

"What about editorials?" he asked.

"I always think about golf. See if everyone played golf I'd have a lot less about which to write editorials."

"And what about that drive you call a column," he asked in a snotty tone.

"I can't see that that's any of your business," I replied.

"By a 6 to 3 decision it is," he said, pounding the phone with his gavel.

"Sex," I whispered.

"SEX," I shouted. "I always think about sex when writing my column because men are always saying it puts them to sleep and women tell me it gives them a headache."

"Shahan, you're really sick," his Honor said.

"Now, can I ask you a question?" I asked.

"Shoot."

"What are you thinking about when you're handing out suspended sentences and probation to all those three time convicted felons?" Click.

Knock three times

Henry by Gay

Gimmee another beer, Sidney. That'll put you one beer over the line, Clyde.

I need it. I just paid 16 bucks for a tank of gas. It got me so upset I called that crisis number in the book and they told me I should go have a drink.

Misery loves it when company comes, Clyde. Just remember you're not the only one being held up. We're all up the creek on the same paddleboard.

That doesn't help, Sidney. One expert says there is a gas crutch. Another expert says there is plenty of gas. The politicians who are supposed to be representing us after being put in office by special interest money all have different stories. And all I know for sure is that gas keeps costing me more every day. What's the answer?

I know what my answer is, but they'd put me in a rubber room and throw away the lock if I banded it about in public.

You can tell me, Sidney. As you would say, wild seals couldn't drag it out of my lips.

Well, here it is straight from my mouth. What this country needs is an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, or possession of gasoline. That will show those oil companies a thing or two they won't soon forget.

You mean a national prohibition like we had on booze?

Right as raindrops keep falling from my head. We tell those oil barons to stick it in one ear and out the other and open up the business to anyone who wants to make illegal gasoline.

You think there will be enough to go around if it's illegal?

As sure as happiness is just a thing called Joe sent me. Nobody who wanted a drink during prohibition went without one. Just knock three times and someone will fill'er up with rottank, eh?

Sure. And at all hours of the night and on Sunday, too. Already these bums are saying never on a Sunday. The bootleggers will take care of that the way Grant took care of Richmond.

It sounds good, Sidney. But won't it be pretty rough on the oil companies?

Who cares, Clyde? Better a poor Sicilian boy gets the money than a Rockefeller who already has more money than Karet has little peanut pills.

But what about the cops? There will have to be more cops to chase the gas bootleggers. That could cost a lot of dough.

It will cost less, Clyde, not more. I'm just thinking off the top of my hair, but it seems to me that some guy who is peddling bathtub ethyl will have to pay off the cops to stay in business. That means you should be able to hire cops for less money and cut out all those fringe benefits that are driving the taxpayers up the wall of the poorhouse.

You're probably right, Sidney. It would be tough to operate a refinery in downtown Chicago without a little cooperation from the men in blue.

You hit the nail right on the nose. And a little grease to the Coast Guard will get those Liberian tankers into Puget Sound with no fuss budget and no muss.

But what about the environmental quality laws? The environmentalists will raise hell.

The environmentalists can take a flying leap in the dark. You can't write an environmental impact statement on an illegal operation. They'll have to find some other grist to grind exceeding fine in their tilted windmills.

You've convinced me, Sidney. Now, gimmee that beer, and this time put a head on it.

Coming right up. Like the old song says: a beer without a head is like a kite without a rudder.

Being there is best

I like basketball. Not to play, exactly...to watch.

The rules aren't too hard to follow and remain the same year after year. There are few players to keep track of, and it's easy to see who the players are. Who really knows who is in that football suit?

I can understand the scoring and when a player scores it is easy to see. The ball either goes through the hoop or it doesn't.

Usually, we watch basketball and other sports events in the privacy of our own home.

The price is right, the beer and peanuts are cheaper, and it is okay to watch the game while one is wearing a nightgown, painting one's toenails, or hooking a rug.

In conventional sports arenas, one is not allowed those privileges.

However, observing a sports event on television removes the viewer from the excitement of really being there... on the spot...as it is happening.

So, last Friday night, dressed appropriately for watching basketball in the BIG Dome, we joined the crowd of nearly 35,000 fans who saw the Sonics dim the light of the Suns.

We muttered slightly when we found the $2.50 parking lot closed, and had to use the $3 spaces. But we had brought our own munchies and weren't worried about the high cost of Dome food and drink.

Smug feeling.

It was exhilarating to walk along the ramp up to our seats. The crowds were warm and friendly. We caught fragments of conversation....

"I weighed 111 pounds this morning and now I weight 117," a pre-teen boy proclaimed. "Wait until you belch," his friend said.

A tall slender man, wearing a white three piece suit and carrying a soft orange pillow told his companion, "If somebody pours beer on me tonight I'll..." as we walked by.

A cute young girl, wearing sheer slacks that did not hide her flowery under things attracted the attention of several persons. One male person asked her, "where are you sitting, honey?" He was leaning.

Two men, each less than 5 feet ten inches, wished together that they had been blessed with height. "Lookit what those guys get paid," one sighed.

Friends shouted hello to one another over the heads of the other fans. "We are going to win toooooonight."

Everybody believed that.

Once there, Sonic fans don't leave their seats very often. Our last experience at the Dome made us feel like yo-yos. We were seated near the aisle in a row of hungry, and thirsty people with weak kidneys. We were asked to stand up only three times during this event.

I noticed that the officials weren't wearing the jailhouse stripes. Everybody noticed the officials and many of the persons near our seating area yelled discouraging words at them.

As the game progressed the tension mounted and we all found ourselves hoping for the failure of the Sun's players at the free throw line. One woman near by kept her fingers crossed, whispering, "miss it, miss it," another person waited for the exact moment the player would be ready to release the ball to yell something distracting.

The score of Friday's game bounced back and forth with a narrow lead, and the game's winner was known only in the last seconds.

The game was great. The crowd was delighted. Their happiness spilled over as they moved out of the dome.

Roars of victory. The man in the white suit carrying the soft orange pillow was laughing. His suit was soaked with beer.

"We won, we won!" he said.

IT'S ONE SLIPPERY step into the water, the wet participants soon discovered. Earl Marcellus, right, helps free-lance writer Michael Wallis keep his balance.

This is Paul Bunyan country

Woodchips flew through the air and sharp axe blades streaked like lightning as lumberjacks and jills treated SeaTac Mall shoppers to an old-fashioned logging show last Saturday.

Earl Marcellus, his wife Linda and brother Alvie, demonstrated the logging techniques practiced by many a Paul Bunyan in the forests. The Marcelluses travel throughout the country introducing city-dwellers to their livelihood.

During the logging show the trio performed double bucking and chain saw carving. In just under 30 seconds, Alvie proved he was faster than an eager beaver by chopping through a log. His brother Earl was able to toss a mighty ax straight into a red bull's-eye with one swift throw.

The Marcelluses also challenged unsuspecting audience members of the audience to a little bit of cross-cut sawing, which worked up the sweat.

Outside, in the log pond, other adventurous souls were taking sudden dips in the cold water as they fell from slippery logs amidst the audience's laughter and cheers.

Amid all the logging activity, Rodney E. Grey of Sedro Wooley quietly sat and swapped logging tales about the early days. The 93-year old-log driver, began driving trucks in 1906 and still hauls lumber 150 miles one way.

"I've never had an accident in 76 years," he recalls with a gravel voice. "I'm psychic and can avoid trouble."

Another man, Sam Churchill of Astoria, Ore., grew up with the tall timbers in his veins. He was on hand at the show to show family photographs taken in Oregon logging camps. He is the author of "Big Sam" and "Don't Call Me Ma."

The four day show also included additional informational booths that displayed various aspects of the wood industry.

WITH A KEEN eye and steady hand, Earl Marcellus throws the ax right into the bull's-eye during the four day lumber show at SeaTac Mall.

A REPORT TO OUR I

Tony Tebeau
Chamber President

OPEN LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

As we look around our growing community, we see rapid changes on almost a daily basis. Federal Way is growing out and growing up to become a major trade and business center in the Northwest.

Our economy is increasing much more rapidly than the rest of the country. New retail shopping areas, professional services, medical, residential communities, corporate centers are being added to Federal Way on a monthly basis. Federal Way is now the home of at least a half dozen regional and national companies with many more looking at Federal Way as the most livable community on the West Coast. In addition, by supporting the proposed Festival in the Forest, Federal Way has the opportunity to add significant cultural growth and achievement to the entire Northwest. That is what positive growth is all about, the business and retail community growing along with and adding cultural significance for the benefit of all our residents.

Increased growth and development is good for a community if it is properly planned and managed. An important factor in that planning and management is the Federal Way Chamber of Commerce. I am proud to say that the majority of businesses in Federal Way are contributing members of the Chamber. By contributing I mean that they contribute their time and expertise to the growth and development of our newly maturing community.

The Chamber is more than a meeting place for business. The Chamber is the prime organizational and representative force for the entire community. We work hand-in-hand with the Community Council, King County Government, the legislature, and the community at large. Our goal is to make and keep Federal Way the most livable community on the West Coast.

To achieve our goal we need the continued support of the entire community. We need the talents of business managers working in concert with the labor force, residents, governmental bodies, clubs, and organizations. By working together and combining our many talents, Federal Way will become a unified community and continue to grow in a positive way.

The Federal Way Chamber of Commerce will continue to provide the leadership, coordination, and direction for positive growth and harmony within the community. We will continue to work with and represent all of our residents. We will continue to make significant accomplishments that our community can be proud of.

I personally ask that you become acquainted with the Chamber, involved in their programs, and become an actual part of a living and growing community. We need your support and direct involvement, for we are indeed, the fastest growing community in this region.

Tony Tebeau
President

The Program of Work for the Greater Federal Way Chamber of Commerce is designed to better represent the economic and social interests of business and the community.

The directions, plans and projects in the "program" are a reflection of the ideas and concerns of Federal Way business men and women.

The Federal Way Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary organization of businesses. To accomplish the tasks detailed here, the Chamber calls on volunteered resources ... people, time and money ... offered by its member firms. The Chamber depends upon the willingness of volunteer citizens to work for the continued upgrading of Federal Way and the quality of life it offers.

The key is leadership. Without the dedicated and committed leadership of Federal Way business men and women, the success of this plan, or any plan, is questionable. For the Chamber to serve as a respected voice of business; a valued ally in community involvement, there must be leadership.

This program of work is our beginning. Only through leadership and individual commitment can we see it succeed.

Following is a list of the Committees, their duties, and their Chairpersons for the Greater Federal Way Chamber of Commerce for 1978:

PATRICK KUTKEY, an eighth grader at Kilo Junior High, served as a page in Olympia during the current legislative session. He is the son of Karin and Leonard Kutkey of 30858 22nd Ave. S. Patrick was sponsored in Olympia by Senator Peter Von Reichbauer, D-30th District.

County taxis deregulated by council

An ordinance that deregulates the taxi industry was passed unanimously Monday by the King County Council although some opponents of the move predicted the action could lead to higher rates and price-fixing in the industry.

The taxi business has been regulated by the county "ever since cabs have been doing business in King County," Councilman Paul Barden said. Barden, the prime sponsor of the deregulation, said the government control had made it difficult for cab drivers to earn a living.

"They have been gobbled alive by increased costs" while rates have remained stable, Barden said. "They asked us for a 40 percent rate increase." Barden said he doesn't want government to have to make that decision anymore. "We want the people in business to change whenever they want to."

Under the new law, rates could go up four times a year for the 30 cabs now licensed in King County. Barden tossed aside "fears that there would be two or three or 400 new people coming into the industry with deregulation."

According to Jim Barrett, a GrayTop taxi driver, the deregulation could save some drivers who might have been forced out of business, such as Road Runner Taxi in Federal Way, because profits were less than inflation rates. "Perhaps cabs won't give better service but it will give the owners a chance to show what they can do."

The ordinance, that will permit private drivers to get a county license and work independently, won heavy support from the industry. W.P. Walton of the Washington Taxi Association and William Grady, attorney for WTA both said the deregulation would aid the industry.

William Erxleben, a former regulator for the Federal Trade Commission, called the council move a "magnificent attempt at deregulation." Erxleben took issue, however, with one section of the ordinance that makes new applicants for taxi licenses in the county to show there is a need for more cabs before the license is issued. Erxleben said it was "malregulation" and asked the council to delete the clause.

The section was left in but will be reviewed by the council with in one year.

Steel Lake Little League board of directors will meet tonight at the Federal Way Administration Building at 8 p.m.

Camelot church women to give annual tea

The Women's Missionary Society of Camelot Evangelical Free Church will present its Third Annual Mothers-Daughters Tea on Saturday, May 12 at 2 p.m. at the church, 29926 37th Ave. S. The theme to be "In His Fragrance."

There will be special music by the Camelot Women Trio; Primary's Trio; organ and piano selections and a special reading. There will be an installation of officers for the 79- to 80-year-olds.

The main speaker will be Linda Ross of Enumclaw, instructor of "Image of Loveliness," a religion-oriented self-improvement course, one that strives to work on the inner beauty as well as the outer.

She says of her four years of teaching this course, "It has been a wonderful and growing experience for me. I do so enjoy helping women become the woman that God would have them to be."

This course was first initiated by Joanne Wallace, a former Mrs. Oregon and now taught in 14 states. Mrs. Ross is the wife of a superintendent-principal of Carbonado School District, with two boys who are active in all sports and the whole family into jogging. She is a model and school teacher, teaching in Guam for two years.

Board names bargaining teams

Five negotiating teams for the Federal Way School Board were named last week at the regular board meeting on Monday, April 30, 1979. William R. Kildall will be chief negotiator for the school district and June Munson will serve as secretary on all five teams.

Laurel D. Hammon, business manager for Federal Way Schools, will be budget consultant for each team.

Assisting the team for the school board in negotiations with the Federal Way Education Association will be Paul Chaplik, area administrator, and Duane Hammil, assistant principal at Federal Way High School.

Working with the board's team with the Professional Technical Employees Association will be Ronald Ellis, operations analyst; Donald Fowler, vocational education director; and Jack DeMars, principal at Kilo Junior High School.

Complete new contracts will be negotiated with the teachers association and with the professional-technical employees.

Dolores Hitchcock, Star Lake principal, and Ted Gartner, personnel director, will join the negotiating team in negotiations with the Federal Way Association of Educational Secretaries.

James Mast, transportation director; Doris Murphy, food services director; Dr. Vincent Smith, special services director; and Kenneth Olsson, vice-principal at Kilo, will assist the negotiations team with the Public School Employees. The PSE represents transportation workers, food service employees, and teacher aides in the district.

George Kaess, principal at Twin Lakes, and Joseph Sienko, maintenance and operations director, will help the negotiations team in negotiations with the Local 286, Operating Engineers.

The engineers and the Public School Employees are each year of a three-year contract with the school district, and the secretaries are completing the first year of a two-year contract. The three groups will negotiate only salary and insurance this year.

The first negotiations sessions are expected to begin this month after the state Legislature has taken action on the state's budget.

Schools plan workshop on sex biased materials

Sex biases in career related materials used in Federal Way classrooms will be the focus of a two-day workshop for Federal Way educators this month.

The workshop, titled "Sex Equality in Career Education," is set for May 10 and 11, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., at Mirror Lake Elementary School library and will include approximately 19 teachers, counselors, librarians, principals, and parents. They will become leadership teams in the district and will work with all school faculties to identify sex biases in career related educational materials as well as to provide alternatives to biased materials.

The workshop leader for both sessions will be Terry M. Bergeson, who has had 15 years of experience as a teacher and counselor in the Tacoma School District. She has had extensive experience in the field of women's studies and has served as chairperson of the National Education Association's National Women's Caucus and has led other workshops dealing with sex roles stereotypes.

The leadership teams will be from Camelot, Olympic View, Star Lake and Valhalla elementary schools and Decatur High School.

The workshop is cosponsored by the Federal Way School District and the Educational Service District 121 and is under the direction of William R. Kindall, Title IX compliance officer.

An Open Letter to Sears Customers:

Here's What Sears Will Do to Help Fight Inflation

To support the Nation's efforts to curb inflation, Sears will voluntarily take the following actions:

1. Effective Tuesday, May 1, 1979, all prices in Sears Spring General Catalog will be reduced 5% until July 31, 1979. This means that a discount of 5% will be automatically taken off the price of anything and everything you order out of the Spring General Catalog between May 1 and July 31, 1979.

In effect, thousands of most-wanted items, already competitively priced in our Catalog, will be even greater values with this automatic 5% price cut!

2. Beginning in May 1979, Sears Retail stores across the Nation will reduce their regular price of selected items, which means you can expect even greater values when you shop at Sears every day. Watch for these selected regular price reductions in Sears local Retail advertising, and when you shop in our stores.

3. Beginning in May 1979, for limited periods of time, Sears will sharply reduce the price on scores of outstanding items in our Retail stores and advertise them Nationally as Sears Super Values! Watch for these values on television, radio, in magazines and local newspapers . . . and benefit from these price cuts each month.

By reducing prices on these selected Catalog and Retail merchandise items, Sears intends to take a leadership position in the fight against inflation and to keep our promise to you, our customers, to continue to be Sears, Where America Shops for Value.

Bruce Schrader pins down bowling success

by Harry Brooks
Bruce Schrader's bowling score has outgrown his age.

The 16-year-old kegler is knocking down pins at a 196-average clip. He recently scored a sanctioned 711 three-game series to qualify for the Northwest Bowlers' Association All-Star matches.

The Thomas Jefferson High student will be a member of the Seattle team when competition begins Monday. Teams representing Tacoma, the Kent-Renton-Auburn Valley, Everett and Kitsap County will supply the competition.

Making the Seattle squad designated Bruce as one of the area's top six bowlers under 21-years-old. He is the youngest competitor in the All-Star matches.

"I suppose I'll be a little nervous," he admitted, "he admitted. "The other guys are older and probably can deal with the pressure a little better."

Bruce's physical stature betrays his age. He stands 5-10 and weighs 175 pounds. He takes advantage of the leverage afforded by his size but noted that it can be a handicap.

"Whether I try to power the ball or not depends on the lane conditions," he said. "A lot of bowlers try to crank the ball when the conditions aren't right. Sometimes it's better to just let the ball roll."

Bruce is constantly experimenting with technique and equipment. He harasses the pins an average of 12 games a day Monday through Friday. He sometimes bowls 40 games over the weekend. He also participates in five leagues.

His highest sanctioned score is 279, but Bruce has banded four 300 (perfect) games in practice.

However, his lofty performances on the lanes have not clouded his realistic goals.

"I'll stay in junior leagues until I'm 18," he said. "Then I'd like to go on the Northwest Bowlers Association circuit. I'd like to raise my average above 200.

"I don't want to go on the national tour. There is so much competition that it's not worth it."

He compared pro golf to pro bowling to back his reluctance to strive for the national tour:

"In golf, there are 150 players making over $10,000 a year. In bowling there are only 25 or so. The golfer that wins the big tournament gets $55,000. The bowler gets $15,000."

Bruce would be satisfied with doing well in the Northwest tournaments.

"There's enough money in the tournaments around here, and you don't have the big travel expenses.

"I'd like to stay in bowling all my life; maybe open my own pro shop and compete close to home."

Bruce is getting valuable training in the workings of the bowling business. He spends three hours each weekday afternoon working at SportsWorld Lanes. He receives high school credit for his labor through the Jefferson High pre-vocational program.

Bruce started bowling just four years ago. He was averaging 155 and was about ready to give up on the sport last year when his father paid for him to attend the Pro Bowling Camp in Issaquah as a birthday present.

Under the direction of national bowling star Don Johnson, Bruce's form jelled and his score began to soar. In the summer months after the camp ended, he honed his kegling prowess by bowling 20 games a day.

Now, Bruce is hooked on knocking down pins. The more he practices, the more he enjoys the game. He has acquired proper equipment, which he pointed to as a key element in his recent success, and has 10 balls to clutter the ball returns with when he's experimenting.

It's a good bet that many more pins will dance before Bruce's game levels off.

Woodward, Nomiya pace Eagles in championships

The Federal Way Eagle girls' track continued its season-long dominance, easily winning the South Puget Sound League meet Friday at Federal Way Stadium.

The Eagle girls scored 104 points to 82 for second-place Lakes. Federal Way qualified 14 girls for West Central District, which will take place at Highline a week from Friday.

The Eagle boys qualified 10 athletes as they finished second to powerful Clover Park, 98-67. The first four AAA places qualified.

The Decatur Gator boys scored 29 points for ninth place overall and third place among AA schools. The Gator girls scored three points.

Thomas Jefferson finished fifth in the girls' competition with 38 points and qualified five athletes for district. The Raider boys were blanked in the meet.

Lori Nomiya was the only individual winner for Federal Way, winning the 100-yard dash in 11.5. She also ran legs on the Eagles' winning 440 and 880 relay teams.

Joining Lori on the 440 team were Yodi Dyers, Michelle Smith, and Hydie Cummings. The winning time was 49.7. The same quartet won the 880 in 1:46.3.

The Eagle mile relay team of Linda Allar, Lisa Tylor, Michelle Ballentine and Gen Alberto set a meet record with a winning time of 4:06.3. The mark broke the old standard of 4:07.1 set by Lakes in 1978.

Nomiya qualified in the 220 with a second place finish in 26.7. Dyers was a qualifier in the same event with a 27.0 clocking.

Tylor and Alberto went 2-3 in the 440 in times of 1:00.1 and 1:00.4 respectively.

Ballentine was a second place finisher behind Lakes' Sheila Caskie in the two-mile. Caskie's time of 10:47.7 shattered her own meet record by more than 13 seconds. Ballentine ran the distance in 12:10.3.

Lisa Hudlicky qualified in the fourth spot in the 80-yard low hurdles with a clocking of 11.4.

The Eagle boys were led by double winner Dave Woodward. Woodward set an Eagle school record with a 14.6 clocking in the preliminaries of the 120 high hurdles, and grabbed a victory in the finals with a 14.7.

Woodward also won the 180 lows in 20.3.

Ron Asmus toured the 880 in 1:57.9 to edge Bret Pavlich of Decatur, who came in with a time of 1:58.1.

Dave Dziewaltowski of FW was a qualifier, finishing fourth, in 2:00.5.

Dziewaltowski came back to qualify in the mile, running a 4:24, good for fourth place. His effort was a personal best.

Keith Adams finished second in the two-mile in a personal best time of 9:42. Paul Kirkpatrick qualified for district with a third place in the low 180 hurdles in a time of 20.8.

Scott Londino was a qualifier in both the shot and discus for the Eagles. His distance of 51-7 was good for third in the shot.

Eagle coach Bill Harris said of his girls' team, "We won the meet, we won the (dual) championship. We were definitely the best team there."

Harris stressed the strength of the overall Eagle track program. "Every meet, when we total up the scores for boys and girls, we haven't been beaten."

Decatur was led by the first place discus finish of Lenny Dahlstrom. Dahlstrom hurled the disc 154-7 to out-distance the field. The first seven finishers in the discus, like Dahlstrom, were from AA schools, Gator coach Mel Caviezel said.

The Gators, who did not need the meet as a qualifier for district, will have that chance this Friday at North Kitsap in Poulsbo in AA sub-district. The Gators will join fellow South Puget members Franklin Pierce and Washington, plus Liberty of Issaquah, Sequim and North Kitsap, in the meet.

Pavlich broke his own school record with his runnerup finish in the 880, tom Kilcup was fourth in the shot put with a heave of 50-3 1/2.

Tom Eilertson grabbed afourth in the 220 with a time of 23.1.

The Gator 440 relay team of Allen Sullivan, C.L. Fagan, Todd Grossman and Eilertson finished sixth in a time of 44.8. Caviezel said the clocking is the fastest AA time in the district so far this year.

For the Gator girls, the 440 and 880 relays and the shot put were the point-getting events.

The 440 team of Kate Murray, Patti Garceau, Kathy Crotty and Katie O'Donnell ran a season's best time of 52.8 for a sixth place finish.

The 880 quartet of Sue Goheen, Garceau, Crotty and O'Donnell also recorded a season's best, finishing sixth in 1:52.2.

Jackie Balzzer had a sixth place in the shot, tossing the ball 34-8.

"I was generally tickled with what they did," Caviezel said of his team.

It was an unfortunate day of false hope for the Jefferson Raiders.

Mike Brogan, a placer in the state meet in the 880 last season, jumped the gun in the preliminaries and was disqualified. He had been the Raiders' best hope to score points in the league meet and advance into state.

The only consolation for Brogan is that he is a junior and will have another chance next season.

"I'm certain Mike will never make that mistake again," Raider coach Steve Youngblood said of the bitter disappointment.

Another false start plagued Linda Lynch, a definite SPSSL title contender in the 220-yard dash. She left the blocks in that event too soon and sat out.

Lynch did, however, manage to come through with a third place finish in the 100 in a time of 11.7 to qualify for district.

Chris Leverenz was third in the discus

HYDIE CUMMINGS of Federal Way has an ample lead on the field as she sprints home on the final leg of the Eagles' victorious 440 relay at the South Puget Sound League meet Friday at Federal Way Stadium. Cummings also ran a leg on a first-place 880 relay team and took sixth in the 220 as the FW girls easily won the meet with 104 points.

Sports Focus

by Harry Brooks

"Come on Eags!" yells this guy, who must be in his 30s. His casual dress includes blue jeans, a ski coat and tennis shoes. He, like the rest of the Federal Way Eagle partisans, vocally cheers the high school team on as the contest progresses.

A parent of one of the athletes, you surmise? ...No. A faithful alum? ... Nope. A member of the faculty? ...Yeah, but he doesn't teach any classes.

He's Jake Walker, the principal of the school.

Most other principals who try to carry off the "Hey, I'm just one of the guys" image just don't make it. Jake does. In the first place, he's one of those tall-dark-handsome types that could turn a lot of female eyes at singles bars if he didn't attend his school's weekend athletic events. In the second place, he's loose when he's off duty. He's approachable to those around him. Jake swaps jokes and laughs with the other spectators — students, faculty members and parents — during the event.

There is nothing phony about his enthusiasm. After fulfilling his duties as the formal leader of an educational institution, Jake can kick back and enjoy his school's extra-curricular activities. He considers them one of the enjoyable spinoffs of his job.

"I'm there as a fan," he noted without hesitation. "I can't be a bump on the bench. I have to get into the game or activity."

"I try to dress and conduct myself in a way that's appropriate to the activity. I can't sit around in a suit and watch a sports event without doing a little cheering. It's unnatural to me and, heck, I don't want everybody to think I'm some kinda stuffed shirt."

HOWEVER, JAKE refrains from being a radical Eagle backer. He considers himself as a "die-hard liver" instead of a die-hard sports fan.

According to his philosophy, sports are not an enclosed entity. They can lead to success in non-athletic endeavors.

"I like to see athletes and people in general do the best they possibly can at whatever they're doing. Athletics are a good way for young people to learn how to work with each other, and they help build self-confidence. The positive things that people learn from competing in athletics are transferrable to other aspects of life."

That view is based on personal experience. Jake was varsity tackle on the Central Washington State University football squad. He looks like he could still don the pads and pop a few holes in the opposition's line, but he is content with the less-demanding rigors of racquetball and skiing.

Jake has another motive for being present during Federal Way athletic events. Athletics can bring out the best in people, but the heat of battle also can set off the sordid side of human nature.

"If there is any trouble, I don't want to hear about it; I want to be there to see it for myself and stop it as quick as possible," he said.

Jake, the casual fan, can become Jake, the enforcer. Last year, he snatched an axe handle away from an irate youth in the Federal Way Stadium parking lot. When, an off-court fight broke out during Jefferson — Federal Way basketball rivalry, he was right there to subdue the situation.

The next hoop contest between the two district rivals was played on the Federal Way court. Jake stationed faculty members at key vantage points in the gymnasium. Each had a walkie-talkie for speedy communication in case a recurrence of fisticuffs took place.

Alas, Jake's strategy fell in the Best layed plans of mice and men category. Two members of the Federal Way student body rigged a rope across the gym rafters to a sack of flour above the Jefferson student section. A tug on the rope during the third quarter, and the TJ rooters were seeing (and wearing) white.

Discipline was swift. The two culprits spent two weeks scouring the Federal Way gym. They also were directed to write an apologetic letter to Jefferson High.

Such pranks and violent situations are rare during Federal Way's athletic events, so Jake usually becomes absorbed in the ongoing competition. Federal Way usually wins, and he loves to gloat about it.

After the Eagles won the Central Sound League soccer title last spring, he strutted out of the stands with an ear-to-ear grin.

"Let's see, that's four league championships out of five spring sports," he remarked with a cocky tone. "It looks like I'm going to have to build a bigger trophy case." JAKE ALSO will remodel the school to make life easier for the athletes. After Harley Wanaka drove in the winning run with a perfect suicide squeeze bunt which gave Federal Way third place in the State Baseball Tournament, Jake offered to enlarge the front door at the school so Harley's head could fit through.

Unfortunately for Federal Way High and the entire district for that matter, Jake is too energetic to be complacent. He is leaving Federal Way to go after a law degree at the University of Puget Sound.

He is taking on this "new challenge" because: "I want to know when I'm getting snookered." But it's the Federal Way School District that's getting the raw deal out of Jake's resignation. He and a few other strong individuals within the district have made contributions that have somewhat offset the financial problems caused by five years of levy failures.

The coming automatic state funding will take care of the district's money woes, and it's a shame that Jake, who has spent five years battling pitiful budgets at Federal Way High, won't be around to monitor its usage.

But he no doubt will be present during Federal Way sporting events to make sure his Eagles aren't getting snookered.

Diamond Jim's posts victories

The American Charter of the Federal Way Little League got its regular season underway last Monday.

Diamond Jim's Raiders returned to face a strong McDonald's 7-11 team, the winners of last year's city tournament. It was catch-up ball for the Raiders until the bottom of the third when Mark Bethel smashed a bases-loaded triple into deep center to put the Raiders out front for good.

The game was highlighted by strong defensive play on the part of both teams. Raider right fielder Tracy Parkinson and a sterling pitching performance by Travis Sims combined to keep McDonald's scoreless for four consecutive innings and a 12-7 win for Diamond Jim's.

Then on Saturday, Diamond Jim's squared off again against Secoma Fence for its second game of the week. The Raiders took a commanding lead in the very first inning and never looked back for a 29-10 win.

The game featured several double plays by Raider shortstop Travis Sims, second baseman Mike Spellacy, and a flawless first baseman Jeff Bacon.

Travis Sims also turned in his third home run of the season along with one by Tracy Parkinson to further add to the problems of a so far winless Secoma Fence.

Margaritas downed

Don Margaritas bowed to the Hi Yu Arts Crafty Ladies in a 1-0 defensive soccer battle at Lakota Field Saturday, May 5.

The Margaritas face the Sidekicks on Mother's Day at the Renton Stadium. Other upcoming events for the team include the Challenge Cup Tournament May 23.

Eagles win SPSL with depth

with a toss of 114.4 to move on to district, as did Patty Schrup with an 11.4 clocking in the low hurdles, good for third place.
Lineaa Puaa finished an excellent second in the mile for TJ, making the distance in 5:33.4.

"We were pretty pleased with them," Youngblood said of his team.
The West Central District meet will take place a week from Friday, May 18, at Highline Stadium. The meet will continue Saturday, with starting times set for 7 p.m. Friday and 6:30 Saturday.

Featuring

Dave Woodward

Dennis Werth

Dave Woodward, a Federal Way High senior, set a school record with a 14.6 clocking in the preliminaries of the South Puget Sound League Meet. He won the finals in 14.7. Woodward also won 180 lows, 20.2.
Decatur's Dennis Werth struck out 12 and allowed just three hits as the Gators scored a key 1-0 win over Franklin Pierce last Thursday. Werth, a senior, has suffered through control problems earlier in the season but only issued one

Pyramid second in tourney

Pyramid Tire of the Federal Way Women's Softball Association finished second in the Green River College Invitational Tournament.
Also joining in to complete the 17 team field were Carpet I and D and S Toovh and Nail of the FWWSA.

Pyramid opened tournament play with a 14-7 win over the Talbot Hill Tigers and continued on with an 11-2 romp over Bet-R-Roofs of Renton.
Playing in less than ideal weather conditions, pyramid lost to Rohrer's Rascals of Renton, 6-4.

Sunday Pyramid faced off with Carpet I, a team which had suffered an opening loss and then, behind the three homeruns each of Linda Fox and Dixie Goenner, had posted three straight wins. Included in the string of wins was a 17-5 pounding of Enumclaw Merchants.

Carpet I held a 7-3 lead with pyramid batting with two outs in the bottom of the seventh when the roof caved in. A grand slam home run by Soozie Palmer, helped Pyramid pull out a 9-7 victory.
With momentum on its side, Pyramid won two straight games and went into the finals against Aversano's of Sumner. Pyramid won the first game 7-2 and then lost the final 9-7.

Barb Moores of Pyramid received the tournament home run award.
Carpet I was awarded the sportsmanship trophy.
Tournament action continues this weekend with Pyramid playing in the White Center Spring Classic at Moshier Park in Burien.

Girls softball begins at WCP

Registration for summer girls softball at White Center Park is now in progress.
All girls ages 15-18 are eligible to play. League play will include 12 games with other local teams, beginning May 27 and continuing through July 23.

Practices begin May 21. Playing fee will be $25 per person, which includes uniforms and tournament fees.

The team is in desperate need of a volunteer coach, assistants and scorekeepers. Without volunteer help the team will not be able to enter the South King County Girls League.
If you are interested in playing or in helping the team, please contact Sharon Wyndon at the park at 7662-8450.

Outdoor tips and tales

How much is a set of bear teeth worth today? Deer or elk antlers? Cougar Claws? Eagle feathers?
We've always had people who wanted these various parts of our game animals and birds, but in recent years the going rates on the black or "gray" market has zoomed.

Today, for instance, a set of bear teeth can bring $20; bear claws $2.50 each; the gall bladder of a bear up to $30; deer antlers in the velvet $30 a pound. The gall bladders are sold for medicinal purposes to some people. Antlers are often shipped to the far east to be ground up for aphrodisiacs or medicines.

This growth in a market for various parts of animals is making it even more profitable to kill animals out of season, adding to the poaching problems we face already.
It's made even worse because laws are often vague on the sale of these parts which often were simply discarded in the past.

Ram girls top Royals, boys in close defeat

The Mt. Rainier Ram girls track team dominated Kent-Meridian, 72-42, Friday while the boys team was edged, 67-65.

The girls won just eight of the 14 events, but had greater depth than the Royals in amassing second and third place points.

Gina Castagna was a double individual winner for the Rams, taking the long jump with a leap of 15-5, and the 440 in a time of 59.7. She also ran a leg on a winning mile relay team, which won in 4:17.1. Gina teamed with Sherilyn Traub, Dale Howell, and Cindy McCarty for the relay victory.

Other winners for the Rams included Traub in the 880 (2:33.9), Patti Castagna in the 100-yard dash (11.9), Leanne Malmo in the high jump (5-4), Pam Gossman in the discus (108-10) and Joni French in the shot put (39-8 1/2).

The Ram girls will join the boys in the North Puget Sound

League meet Friday at Highline Stadium. But girls' coach Rusty Llewellyn will compete in that event minus her sprint corps. The Castagna sisters and Jennifer Hine will all be competing for the Dirty Dozen soccer team in a tournament in Phoenix, Ariz. that weekend.

Nonetheless, Llewellyn expects a few of her athletes to dance through the NPSL meet and into West Central District action.

High jumpers Leanne Malmo and Lisa Cowden are perhaps Llewellyn's best hopes. Malmo's winning leap Friday tied her personal best, and Cowden's second place effort of 5-3 was her season's best.

Weightpersons French, Gossman and Crystal Hamilton are also expected by Llewellyn to advance.

Kennedy's Lancers, which swept through the girls' dual meet season with ease, might get a stiff challenge in the NPSL event from Renton, Llewellyn believes.

"That could be very interesting, for a change," she said.

For the boys, a last-event victory in the mile relay was not enough to offset a 67-60 Royal lead heading into that event. Coach Karl Cordes' team, plagued by injuries all season, found Friday to be no exception.

Stalwarts like Dean Wilson (pole vault, hurdles) and Tom Love (long and triple jump) were on the sidelines for the Rams. Love is having problems with his heel, and Wilson, a district championship threat in the vault, has a pinched nerve on top of his foot.

The Rams still managed to make a very respectable showing.

John Webster was a triple individual winner for Rainier, taking the 100 in 10.4, the 220 in 23.0 and the 440 in 51.9. He also ran a leg on the victorious mile relay, joining Ron Roberts, Troy

Denny and Bruce Stobie for a win in 3:36.

Dan Eernisee was a two-event winner for the Rams. He won the discus at 139 feet, and the shot put at 50-9 1/2.

Bob McConkey won the high jump with a 6-0 leap, and Bob Pacunski took the triple jump with a 36-9 effort.

The Rams finished the year with a 3-6 dual meet record. Cordes said he did not doubt that an injury-free season for his team would have resulted in a few more wins.

"Realistically, if we'd been healthy, we should have been around 5-4," he said.

The action will get underway Friday at Highline Stadium at 7 p.m.

Ram netters finish with loss, open NPSL tourney tomorrow

The Mt. Rainier tennis Rams closed out their dual match season Thursday with a 6-1 loss to Renton.

Coach Mel Command's netters will begin North Puget Sound League tournament play tomorrow at one of five locations. The double-elimination affair continues Friday and Saturday.

Boys number two singles player Michel Pernette scored the only Ram win against the Indians, stopping Steve Lindsley 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

"Renton was a lot stronger than we anticipated," Command said. "We played pretty well, even so."

The Rams finished with a 2-7 match record.

In first boys' singles play, Renton's Ty

Olson defeated Steve Walters 6-3, 6-1.

In first girls' singles, Judy Holm topped Debbie Christmas, 6-2, 6-0.

Joani Fujikado beat Darcy Bratton, 6-0, 6-0, in second girls' doubles.

In boys' doubles, Bill Cook and Jeff Osotio defeated Wayne Woo and Eric Oman, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Girls' doubles saw Teresa Skagen and Jackie Nelson down

Sue DeMeerleer and Karla Hovland, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

The mixed doubles team of Scott Shellan and Cary Graves defeated Keith Wise and Jeanne Bartlemay, 6-0, 6-0.

FW netters win three, big showdown tonight

The Federal Way Eagles face a crucial South Puget Sound League tennis showdown today.

The Eagles, 14-1 in league match play, face Lakes, 15-0 in a battle for a share of the league title. The Laners are the only team to defeat Federal Way this season, by a 3-2 margin in a match that featured five tie-breaker sets.

The Eagles avoided faltering on the way to the important test by scoring three solid victories last week. FW stopped Clover Park, 3-2, Tuesday, downed Sumner 4-1 on Thursday and Friday defeated Puyallup 5-0.

The Eagles met Curtis Monday (results unavailable).

"The key will be evading a loss to Curtis, and coming out with all guns blazing against Lakes," Eagle coach Gary Brines said. "It will be a tough match."

Dave Fenbert and Ron Losey of Federal Way scored a 6-1, 6-0 win over Clover Park's Ron Evans and Ed Stutsman in the final match of the day, second doubles, to clinch that win.

In first singles, Garth Savage defeated CP's Brian Barksdale, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3.

In second singles, Warrior Shane Doran topped Scott Theiss, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In third singles, FW's John Tate stopped Les Moore, 6-4, 6-2.

The Clover Park team of Don Dagan and Kevin Davenport defeated Earl Thompson and Tim Toohey, 6-3, 6-0 in first doubles play.

Against the Spartans Thursday, the Eagles swept through with ease, losing only in first doubles.

Theiss in first singles defeated Mike Norton, 6-1, 6-2, and Tate in second singles stopped Jeff Whittenfeld, 6-0, 6-0.

Savage beat Randy Nelson 6-0, 6-2 to complete the singles sweep.

The Sumner team of Mike Toennies and Craig McLeod defeated Fenbert and Losey, 6-1, 6-0. The Eagles came back in second doubles, with Thompson and Toohey defeating Blaze Julum and Jon Covich, 6-1, 7-6.

Puyallup was never close in any match Friday as the Eagles shut the Vikings out.

Tate started things out with a 6-1, 6-1 win over Brian Gearheard. Fenbert defeated Craig Locke 6-0, 6-1, and Losey stopped Greg Hammermaster 6-1, 6-0.

The team of Savage and Joe Harvey topped Scott Snyder and Mike Harris, 6-2, 6-2, and Thompson and Toohey finished things off with a 6-0, 6-2 win over Marty Arthur and Kelly Wolfe.

Brines said the Lakes-Federal Way showdown tonight will be the third time in four years that the SPSL title has come down to a match between these two teams. The first time these two met this season, Brines said, the match hinged on the very last point.

The match will be held at the Federal Way courts, weather permitting, at 3:30. Brines said that in the event of rain, the match will be played indoors at Town and Country

MARTIN WEIDMAN, Northwest Advocacy Director for the Paralyzed Veterans of America, easily negotiates the ramps from parking on 4th SW in Burien with his wheelchair. The problem, he found, will be to find an empty spot. The Camaro Z-28 in the background is parked in a clearly marked handicapped slot. The owner of the car, a non-handicapped employee of a nearby shop, had moved the car by the time a second check was made 20 minutes later.

84 years of many hats, and never a dull moment

by Pat Jenkins

Walter Richard (Rich) Dineen has promoted professional boxing matches, kept the company of boxing's elite, driven trains, owned and operated a restaurant, won golf tournaments in two states, and punched out more than one antagonist.

In short, what a time he's had. Dineen will mark his 84th birthday this month—probably in quieter fashion than he was once accustomed to.

He lives in the Gran Vista Retirement Center with a wealth of memories, some of which are refreshed by scrapbooks crammed with clippings and photos that serve as mementos of his colorful life.

"YES, I'VE done a lot of things and met a lot of people," Dineen said with a smile.

Like his experiences as a boxing promoter in Eau Claire, Wis. The purses were small by today's standards (tickets to a Dineen-staged fight never cost more than $4), but fighters and spectators weren't scarce.

Dineen could always find somebody to put on gloves and go at it, because he managed his own stable of fighters.

None of his promotions, and none of his boxers, were crooked. At least, he said, "I never had knowledge of any fixed fights. There wasn't much chance for them. The state boxing commission was very strict."

Dineen taught plenty of aspiring pugilists the manly art, and he can still take a businesslike stance for some shadow boxing, even though he's dropped a big portion of the 235 pounds he packed as a younger man.

JOE LOUIS and Jack Dempsey, legendary heavyweight boxers, were acquaintances of Dineen and his frequent companion when they passed through Wisconsin.

But Muhammad Ali, "by far," is Dineen's choice as the greatest heavyweight in history. Mike Gibbons gets his vote as the best ever among the lighter weights.

Dineen worked for railroads in Wisconsin and Minnesota for 26 years, first as a fireman stoking the coal-burning engines, and later as an engineer.

Accidents on the line weren't uncommon, Dineen recalled. One in which he was involved had a humorous result.

A circus train Dineen's engine was pulling collided with another train on the outskirts of a town. Dineen wasn't injured, but the townsfolk were treated to an impromptu parade of zebras that fled their damaged cars.

"Can you imagine what the boys in the bars downtown were thinking when they looked outside and saw these striped animals going by?" Dineen chuckled. "They probably swore they'd never take another drink."

DINEEN'S OTHER career was as a restaurateur. He got into the business during the Depression, when the owner of an Eau Claire restaurant and bar, faced with financial collapse, sold his establishment to Dineen "for my signature."

"I didn't know anything about running a restaurant," Dineen said. "Those were pretty lean times. We worked just for our living—we made enough to eat. But we ran the place for 12 years."

All that time, and all the rest of his life, sports has been his greatest passion. He had a brief amateur boxing career, played football and baseball in high school, was a kicker for the Minneapolis Marines—the forerunner to the National Football League's Green Bay Packers, and was a polished golfer.

Failing eyesight has driven Dineen from the golf courses, but in his prime, he played to a four handicap and consistently scored in the 70s. He also bagged two holes-in-one, the last one at West Seattle Golf Course, and won tournaments in San Clemente, Calif. and Portland, Ore.

Cheating was rampant in tournaments then, Dineen said. "Fellows would do all sorts of things to improve their lies," he said.

One golfing partner was especially notorious for dishonesty on the links. A star running quarterback in college, he regularly picked up his ball in the fairway and would laboriously clean it while walking 10 to 15 yards ahead. Then he'd drop it to the ground again and play on.

One day, Dineen decided to call the cheater on the carpet.

"I asked him, 'How many yards did you average in college?'"

"'Oh, I got eight yards a carry,'" he said.

"Well, I said, 'since you got older you're doing a lot better.'"

DINEEN STILL is an ardent sports buff. In fact, "I get so worked up watching games on television that I can't sit still. I get up and walk down the hall and come back for a peek at the set."

One of the newspaper clippings in Dineen's scrapbooks touts his fight promotions, and reads in part, "Buck (another nickname) Dineen, local fight promoter, who has within a few months, by clever promotion and earnest endeavor, revived boxing purses here from $250 to $2,500..."

But when clever promotion and earnest endeavor weren't suited for some situations, Dineen let his fists talk for him.

Calling him a brawler might not be correct, but Dineen had lots of adventures involving fisticuffs.

For instance, during a 60-day stay on Gibraltar, he captured the fabled rock's title of "middleweight champion."

"I won it in a bar," he said, smiling mischievously.

It's all in the life of a busy man.

Des Moines lawyer wins fight for disabled access by Bart Potter

First in a series

Finding professional office space these days is no easy task under any circumstances.

When your law practice specializes in the legal affairs of handicapped people, the problem is magnified.

Brian Linn of Des Moines faced just that problem when he attempted to hang a shingle in South King County last October. Office space that met his budget needs was relatively common, but the buildings all lacked one thing: accessibility for wheelchair-bound clients and other disabled people.

"IT WAS a non-negotiable issue with me," Linn said. "It didn't make much sense to have a practice dealing 70 percent of the time with handicapped rights, and have an inaccessible office."

While Linn searched unsuccessfully throughout Federal Way, Des Moines and Burien, he conducted his practice from his home on 207th just off Marine View Drive. That was unacceptable, he said, because a very steep driveway and steps to the front porch prevented easy access.

Finally, just before Christmas, Linn found the place that is his present office at 245-152nd SW in Burien. By the time landlord and financial arrangements were made, it was mid-January.

Even then, things were not completely as Linn would have liked. There was no parking in the area to accommodate wheelchair drivers. And though his office, like the other businesses in the complex, has access through the front door, the entire building is surrounded by curbing.

"The whole place is an island," Linn said.

Last Friday, the situation took a turn for the better with the installment of two wheelchair parking slots on 4th SW and ramps from the slots leading to the sidewalk in front of Linn's office.

It took some time, Linn said, but he was generally pleased with the cooperation he received in seeking the parking spots. He first contacted Dale Johnson of the King County traffic and planning office.

JOHNSON INFORMED Linn that an ordinance would have to be enacted before construction could begin. Johnson went to

Brian Linn

County Councilman Paul Barden with the plan. Barden agreed to sponsor the ordinance, and it was passed by the King County Council. Some 120 days after he obtained the office space, it became accessible.

There still remain problems with access in the area. The parking spots, for example, are more than three feet narrower than the 12 feet, six inches required by law for handicapped spots. Linn said handicapped clients with side-loading vans do not have adequate space between vehicles to unload wheelchairs.

And people with back-loading vans will be unloading their chairs in the middle of traffic on 4th SW, Linn said.

Johnson of the traffic and planning office said a contract for widening the spots is being advertised this week. He said he expected the work to get underway near the end of May.

Johnson said 4th SW is due for major changes soon, including widening of the street and installation of signal lights at 152nd. He said the handicapped parking spots may eventually be changed to parallel parking.

MARTIN WEIDMAN, Northwest Regional Advocacy Director for the Paralyzed Veterans of America, took his wheelchair up the ramps by the parking spots Thursday and proclaimed them "ideal." But he said he would lodge a complaint against curbing cuts on the crosswalk over 4th SW. The slope is too steep and the cut too narrow, he said, posing a danger of tipping over backwards in the wheelchair.

"Even a person like me would find it difficult," Weidman, a paraplegic, said. "Anyone with upper extremity impairment would find it impossible. Hopping the curb would be easier."

Johnson said that problem would be solved when general improvement of 4th SW is completed.

And there still remains the problem of non-handicapped drivers parking in the well-marked handicapped slots. Linn said that frequently both slots are occupied by cars lacking the decal denoting a handicapped driver.

A new law, signed by Gov. Dixy Lee Ray in late April, might help curb this practice.

Ann Walts, president of the Washington Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities, said the law makes it a misdemeanor for a car with out a decal, available free to disabled people on a doctor's signature, to park in spots marked clearly as being for the handicapped. Walts said that if cited, a person will not be fined if a decal is obtained before the court date.

For Brian Linn, a major battle has been won, but the war continues.

"Handicapped people and their needs have historically not been taken into account," he said. "So much of what is being done for handicapped people happens as an after thought."

Closure meetings considered

The Highline School District has proposed that meetings relating to school closures be held during the next three weeks at four schools, all of which are candidates for future closure under the district's five-year plan.

Meetings are scheduled for: Glacier High School, May 15; Puget Sound Junior High, May 16; Boulevard Park, May 22; Tyee High School, May 29. All are set for 7:30 p.m.

The school board will consider the schedule tonight during its meeting at the Educational Resources and Administrative Center, 15675 Ambaum Blvd. S.W., at 7:30 p.m.

No layoffs expected for Highline teachers

Highline School District teachers holding continuing contracts will not be "riffed" this year, according to Superintendent Robert Sealey.

"We expect attrition -- retirements, resignations and leaves of absence -- to reduce our teaching staff enough without layoffs," he said.

"As of now, we have about 800 teachers, 50 of whom we have not placed in classroom assignments for next year. We ordinarily have two or three resignations a month. As these openings occur, we will fill them from the pool of unassigned teachers."

When school starts next fall, the student enrollment is projected to be 1,400 fewer students than this year's enrollment. Teachers still unassigned to classrooms will serve as substitutes for teachers absent due to illness.

"In previous years we have riffed teachers in May and then, as other teachers resigned or retired, we rehired them in September," Sealey said.

Suggestions given to cut health cost

Rising costs of living getting your down? Cheer up — there is something you can do.

That's the word from Don Halterman, chief financial officer of Highline Community Hospital, who has suggestions for what consumers can do to fight rising health care costs.

"What is done today to control health care costs will have a crucial impact on the quality of health care available tomorrow," he said.

"It makes a lot more sense to take steps now to reduce costs than to be forced someday to ration health services or to have to ask whose life can we afford to save rather than whose life can be saved."

This week is National Hospital Week and hospitals across the country are encouraging participation in the effort to contain health care costs.

"At Highline Community Hospital, we're committed to a program of cost containment while maintaining our high standards of quality care.

If we are to succeed in holding down the cost of care, everyone must participate," he said. Halterman outlined steps consumers can take to cut their personal health care costs, and not incidentally, to improve their own health and well being.

"First and most important," he said, "become a better custodian of your own health. Preventive care is still the best bargain for you in health care."

He urges this: Three meals a day and no snacking;

moderate exercise two or three times a week; adequate sleep (seven or eight hours a night); no smoking; moderate weight; no alcohol or only in moderation.

Other steps you can take focus on wise use of the hospital. "Because a hospital is geared to providing the highest level of care around the clock, 365 days a year, its overhead and personnel costs are high," Halterman explained. "If you need that level of care, there's no substitute. But it's a waste of resources to use it when you don't."

"Consumers must realize," Halterman continued, "that there is no such thing as 'free' health care. Even if you don't have to reach into your pockets right away to pay for the health care, you're going to pay for it somewhere along the line, perhaps through higher insurance premiums or bigger tax bills. That's why the conservative and wise use of health care resources is always in your best interest."

PLEASED WITH his 25 years service in the community, Phil Eichholtz, owner of New Lumber and Hardware Co., looks forward to helping builders and do-it-yourselfers in years to come.

New Lumber celebrates 25 years

Phil Eichholtz has witnessed the housing boom in the Federal Way area over the last 27 years from behind the counter of his store. Many of those new houses were built with his tools and lumber.

Eichholtz is the owner of New Lumber and Hardware Co., 30854 Pacific Hwy. S. This month he is celebrating the store's 27th anniversary.

His lumberyard was one of the first businesses in the area; he opened April 1954. Previously Eichholtz had worked for several lumberyards in Enumclaw while gaining experience with wood products. When the opportunity presented itself he opened his own lumberyard in the new and growing area.

Today, Eichholtz's

16,000-square foot store stands on two acres. The original building was only 2,500-square feet and was located on a small piece of land just south of the present building.

Lumber and hardware are still his principle merchandise. "Only there are more varieties, companies and styles," he said.

Although he enjoys working with wood, the prosperous businessman cannot find time to pursue his hobby. "Since I've started, I have seen the business increase by 25 times." In the future he anticipates another increase by 25.

To celebrate the occasion, New Lumber and Hardware is giving a month-long party that will feature special sales, birthday cake and door prizes.

Decatur DECA sets road rally

Decatur High School DECA Club is sponsoring a Road Rally on May 12.

Students will have a chance to try out their navigational and game skills on a pre-designed course that has been set up with a list of clues.

The 20-mile course will wind its way through South King County. For a $5 fee, participants can earn points that will enable them to win prizes donated from National Auto Warehouse, Lakecrest Styling Salon, Brass Ear, Pyramid Tire, Mr. Sudsy Car Wash, Goodyear Tire, and others.

Registration is from 9:30-10:32 a.m. with starting time for the first set of cars set for 10:30 p.m.

Interested students should contact DECA at 838-3530.

deSpain tells tales to Lake Dolloff kids

Pleasant deSpain, of the Northwest's leading exponents of folk lore and children's literature will be visiting local classrooms with his stories this month.

He will be at Lake Dolloff Elementary on May 23 at two sessions, 9:30 and 10:20 a.m.

His programs here are part of a 60-performance tour of King, Benton, Kitsap, Franklin, Lewis, Pierce, Snohomish and Walla Walla counties under sponsorship of the Washington State Cultural Enrichment Program.

This Seattle-based artist has been teaching and performing most of his life. He taught oral interpretation, reader's theatre, and communication courses at the University of Massachusetts, Colorado University and at the University of Washington. He can also be seen weekly on children's television program, "Pleasant Journeys."

His programs consist of folk tales, legends, myths, poems and characterizations designed to expand imaginative young minds.

The Washington

State Cultural Enrichment Program is funded by the Washington State Legislature through the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

WSU students to compete in finals

Barbara Bangs, a Federal Way resident now attending Washington State University, is one of five students who will represent the school at an advertising competition in Washington D.C.

On June 9, she will compete as a WSU Department of Communications finalist at the American Advertising Federation's national student competition.

The project involves creating and presenting a total marketing and advertising campaign, consisting of a 50-page written plan and a 30-minute audio-visual presentation for a selected product.

A group of 30 WSU students have been working on the assignment in an advertising class. Each student receives class credit as well as an opportunity to apply skills developed during off-campus internships in the advertising industry.

This is the third time in the past four years WSU has qualified a team for the national finals.

Obituaries

Elsie Lang

Elsie Lang, 80, resident of 240 S. 312th died May 2 in the Federal Way Convalescent Center.

Born April 13, 1899 in Owatonna, Minn., she lived most of her life in the Seattle area.

She was a graduate of the Virginia Mason School of Nursing and completed a course of anesthesia at the Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio.

For 20 years, she worked in various hospitals in Seattle and Ohio. She also served for two years in the Army during WWII where she was a lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps.

She also owned and operated Holiday Kennel in Seattle for 30 years until her retirement. She was a member of the American Kennel Club, the Welsh Terrier Club and the Blind Dogs of America of San Rafael, Calif.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Anna Dewey of Tacoma and Miss Louise Lang of Spokane; two brothers, William Lang of Creston, Mont. and Otto Lang of Creston, Mont.; two nephews, Amos Dewey of Tacoma and Lloyd Dewey of Tacoma; and three nieces, Ruth Hughes of Puyallup; Evelyn Dewey of Tacoma and Lela Lynch of Walla Walla and a very close friend, Mrs. Helen Hansen of Puyallup.

Funeral services were held at the Price-Helton Funeral Chapel. Interment was in the Washington Memorial Park in Seattle. Memorials may be given to the American Society of the Heart Fund.

Jr. high parents orientation set

At orientation meeting for parents of next year's seventh graders at Sacajawea Junior High School for Thursday, May 10, at 7 p.m. The evening will include an opening session in the cafeteria, a tour of the buildings, and refreshments in the library.

Parents will have an opportunity to meet teachers who have seventh grade classes as well as the principal, Richard Winkel, and the vice-principal, Joe Pope. Orientation for seventh graders new to Sacajawea will be held the last week of August. Parents who have questions about either orientation may call the Sacajawea school office at 839-7650.

Ott leads Highline at regional spelling bee

Kyle Ott, a 10-year-old fourth grader from Des Moines Elementary, was the top finisher from the Highline School District during the Seattle Regional Spelling Bee.

Kyle who had finished fourth in the Highline District competition, was 12th out of 180 students in Seattle. He was eliminated from the competition when he misspelled Fahrenheit by leaving off the h.

As a fourth grader, Kyle was one of the youngest students to compete in the regionals.

Fundraiser steams up for education

Green River Community College is steaming up "The Interurban Campaign Fund of 1979 fundraiser to raise $75,000 to promote specially selected programs in and around the greater Green River Valley.

The money will be used for selected education programs, the arts, health and recreational activities for Federal Way, Kent, Renton, Auburn, Maple Valley, Black Diamond, Sumner and Buckley.

Chairpersons for the six-week campaign that involves 80 community volunteers are Ralph Rennemo of Federal Way and Beverly Schoenfeld of Kent.

teams consisting of dispatchers, conductors and brakemen will do region-wide soliciting. So far $18,000 has been collected toward the campaign goal.

Proceeds generated from the drive will benefit college programs not eligible for state funding.

The 1979-80 Foundation Interurban Center program is designed for merit scholarships to recent high school graduates; an arts forum series; administrative planning assistance for local arts groups; cardiac rehabilitation program expansion; physical fitness development; and the feasibility and design phases of racquetball-handball courts at the college for instructional and community use.

State PTSA elects officers

Renee Nowak, of Seattle, was elected president of the Washington Congress of Parents, Teachers and Students at the 66th annual convention in Vancouver, Wash. recently. "parental and educational activist." In the past, she has also received special recognition for her work with retarded children and currently serves on the King County Mental Retardation Board. Other officers elected are: Maggie McCarthy, Bellevue, Westside vice president; John Frucci, Spokane, Eastside vice president; Roberta Hartford, Longview, Westside Student vice president; and Barbara Beuschlein, Seattle, secretary.

Arsonist torches car

An automobile parked in front of a 15th Avenue South residence was damaged by fire Saturday night after a burning flare was dropped into a window onto the front seat, King County Police records showed Monday. The owner of the vehicle was alerted when its horn, short-circuited by the heat, began to blow. Firemen estimated the damage at about $700, saying that had the car not been relatively airtight it probably would have been a total loss. Investigators believe the window through which the flare was dropped was pushed shut after the fire started, thereby depriving the blaze of oxygen. BURGLARS BROKE into a house on 8th Avenue South during daylight hours Friday, stealing a motorcycle from a garage. The cycle, a 1978 Yamaha XS750, was licensed with Washington plates numbered 058024.

CHILDREN'S AUTHOR, Jack Prelutsky enthusiastically reads and acts out his story to a group of young listeners.

ROBERTA ABNER giggles after reading her story about "When I Grow Up."

Untold tales unfold

Short on stature but tall on creative ability, tiny first-grader, Roberta Abner got up before her peers and their parents to read her own composition entitled "When I Grow Up."

Quick and sweet, the story went "When I grow up, I want to be a mother, have a husband to love, a daughter to raise and we will live happily ever after."

In another group of seven to nine, Bart Milner from Twin Lakes Elementary read his composition entitled "My Friend." The story, several pages long, discussed the problems involved with meeting new friends after a recent move. It ended touchingly "Good Friends are friends forever."

Still another child, a very grown-up sixth grader read her complicated story on the adventures of a person an inch tall who single-handedly solved a crime.

After each presentation, students talked about how they wrote their story. Listeners are encouraged to ask questions and give helpful comment.

The students, all selected as particularly creative writers from their elementary class, were recently involved in the Young Composers conference. The conference involved 1,400 students during three two-hour sessions held at Thomas Jefferson, Federal Way and Decatur High Schools.

The conference was patterned, under the director of Woodmont Elementary teacher Tony Ball, after the annual seminar held at Seattle Pacific University which is held each spring.

"It's a chance to give these kids a pat on the back," said organizer Ball. "What they've done is as good as athletics and they deserve a little recognition."

At the first session children were introduced to children's author Molly Cone who talked to them about what it takes to be an author and how to get your work published.

During the second session, besides reading their work, children listened to Sharon Munsey, Center Stage Theatre director who involved them in a creative drama.

During the final session a Decatur, children listened to the wild and woolly tale of "The Mean Old Mean Hyena" as told by children's author, Jack Prelutsky from Kirkland.

Unlike the previously attended SPU conference, parents were invited to attend. "We really feel there is a gap between adulthood and childhood and this gives the parents a chance to get into the youngster's world," said Ball.

Secondly, parents have the opportunity to better understand their child's abilities. "Is my child's work normal or does he have a special creativity that should be especially encouraged?" is a question that can be easily assessed.

Ready for next year? Ball said language arts liaison committee that includes Steve Way from Bigadon, Joan Leongrd from Olympic View and Pam Mesick from Twin Lakes have yet to decide which direction they'll take.

But, they'll be back with something. It may be a similar program for the junior high level kids; a conference for students only; or lectures from several nationally known authors.

Excited about the program and its success, Ball said he thinks it's a good way to stimulate skilled authors.

"Having your creative work shared and critiqued by others is the greatest motivator there is," Ball said.

OLYMPIC VIEW'S Jodie Hamlin shows the audience the illustrations of her story about a mouse called Snowball.

Trip planned for senior citizens

King County Parks is sponsoring a one-day trip for senior citizens to Tillicum Village on Blake Island on May 24. The trip includes bus transportation to Pier 56 leaving at 10 a.m. from Calvary Lutheran Church, 2415 S. 320th St., Federal Way, and at 10:30 a.m. from White Center Park, 1321 S.W. 102nd St., in White Center. From Pier 56 the tourgoers will board a boat for the cruise to Blake Island where they will enjoy a lunch of Indian-style baked fresh salmon complete with salad, potato, vegetable, beverage. Authentic interpretive North Coast Indian dances will be performed for the group's entertainment. Bus transportation will return to White Center at approximately 4:30 p.m. and to Federal Way at approximately 5 p.m. Cost is $14.50 per person. Registration forms and information are available at Highline Community Center, 425 S.W. 144th St., Seattle, or by calling Brenda Weatherford at 244-1080. Deadline for receiving payment is May 21.

Tops on the list

The three young ladies for the Lakota service area who topped the list in sales are, from the left, Tina Frisbey who sold 500 boxes of Girl Scout Cookies; Karen Frisbey, 300, and Carolyn Dreff, 256.

Citizens complete review of math, biology texts

A Highline School District citizens' committee has finished reviewing several secondary level math and biology textbooks. In all but two instances, the citizens' first choice coincided with those books most favored by a teachers' selection committee. Both groups agreed that all books being considered are acceptable. Chuck Hardy, science and math coordinator for Highline, said the teachers' committee will re-examine the two disputed choices before submitting its final picks to the instructional materials committee with the recommendation they be presented to the school board for adoption, possibly as soon as the May 23 meeting. The instructional materials committee will review the process used to make the choices, but will not judge the selections qualitatively. Hardy said if adopted, the books will be introduced into the curriculum next year. BOTH THE teachers and the citizens preferred the Houghton Mifflin math analysis book for juniors and seniors, Modern Introductory Analysis, over the Harcourt Brace book, Advanced Math — A Preparation for Calculus. Only one basic math book for grades 7-8-9 was offered for consideration, Houghton Mifflin's General Math I. Two intermediate math books for grades 7-8 were recommended by the citizens as well as the teachers — Heath's Mathematics as the standard text and Holt's

School Math as a more advanced book. The citizens and teachers split on their top choices for senior calculus and second year algebra for sophomores and juniors. The citizens favored the Heath text, Calculus, while the teachers leaned toward Elements of Calculus and Analytic Geometry, Addison-Wesley. Houghton Mifflin's Algebra 2 and Trigonometry was the teachers' pick while Merrill's Algebra 2 with Trigonometry was the citizens' choice. A multiple adoption of three Hardy said the 16-member citizen group was satisfied with the way the biology texts deal with the theory of evolution. All of the textbooks are available for review by the community at the Educational Resources and Administrative Center, 15675 Ambaum Blvd. S.W.

Bankers to discuss community action at convention

Dr. Andrew Brimmer, a nationally known economist and financial consultant will be the keynote speaker at the fifth annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Bankers Assn. (PNBA), May 18 and 19 at The Hyatt House, 17001 Pacific Highway S.

Pre-registration and hospitality begins Friday, May 18 at 8 p.m. The convention "Bankers Image In An Expanding Economy" will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Dr. Brimmer is president of Brimmer and Co., Inc., an economic and financial consulting firm located in Washington, D.C. He is a former member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System and is presently a member of the board of directors of several large national corporations including BankAmerica Corporation and UAL, Inc. (United Airlines). Dr. Brimmer also authors the monthly column "Economic Perspectives" which appears in the Black Enterprise magazine.

Pacific Northwest Bankers is a non-profit organization seeking to provide a medium for full communication for minorities in pursuit of careers in banking. The organization strives to assist the community in every possible way to promote an understanding of banking. The program for the convention will also feature a $1,000 scholarship award, lunch, two rotating workshops "SBA...Banking and the Community" and a panel workshop "Where Do We Go From Here," no host cocktails, dinner featuring City Councilman Norm Rice and a disco immediately following. The total cost for attending the convention is $35. Partial attendance costs are: $20 for the morning session and lunch and $20 for the afternoon session, dinner and the disco.

Andersons greet 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson of 31027 8th Ave. S.W. are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house scheduled for May 13 from 2-5 p.m.

The couple have lived and been in business in the Federal Way area since 1954. Their son and daughter-in-law, Warren and Patricia Anderson will serve as host and hostess.

Anderson and his sweetheart, Mary Swartz were united in marriage in Rock Island, Ill. on May 11, 1929. They lived in East Moline, Ill. before moving to Washington in 1936.

Besides son Warren, they have two grandchildren, Stephen and Michael and four step-grandchildren, Christopher, Terri, Tracy and Diane. The couple asks they there be no gifts.

Richardson named boss of the year

Gary H. Richardson, general manager and domestic buyer of Goldsmith Inc., has been named the 1979 Boss of the Year by The Soundview Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA).

Richardson was nominated by a former employee Linda Cabalquinto, who is now a clerk for Northwestern Drug. Boss Night is an annual event established to honor employers of the warehouse 14 years ago. He is also active in his community and church.

ABWA members and to familiarize them with the educational association. ABWA, dedicated to promoting the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business women, is in its 30th year. The association has more than 96,000 members in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Haegele honored by AAUW

The Federal Way American Association of University Women is honoring Muriel Haegele at their May meeting for her many contributions to the community and the branch.

Five hundred dollars in her name will be sent to the Dr. Marion Spector Endowment Fund, which provides scholarships to assist women in obtaining post graduate degrees.

Wed in March

Ms. Haegele is a part time teacher at St. Vincent's School.

Her contributions to AAUW are many. She is past membership chairperson, past president and past bylaws chairperson for the Federal Way branch. She will assume the responsibilities of corresponding secretary for the Washington State Division of AAUW as of July 1.

The May 10 meeting will be held in the home of Margaret Cox at 7:30 p.m. For information call 927-0273.

The UW is on the line

Approximately 2,000 University of Washington alumni in King County will be solicited by telephone next week to help in the school's annual Giving Campaign.

The three-day phone blitz, which will begin tomorrow, is hoped to aid in raising $20,000 for academic programs at the UW. Among the programs are non-budgeted contingencies which cannot be funded with state or federal monies, a spokesman for the campaign said.

Prospective donors will be contacted by one of 150 volunteers between 7 and 9 p.m. through Wednesday.

Head south to Kit Corner Road and turn in at Enchanted Village on 362nd. Enter the gate and suddenly the world turns to music. The beautiful setting is unbelievable. I arrived just in time for the Showboat presentation. People were just finishing a picnic lunch and the kid's scampered for good seats to see the show. The star was "Dolly Duck" and she was terrific.

Everything was so clean and refreshing, you couldn't help but leave enchanted. The Enchanted Village characters are coming to the Federal Way Shopping Center on Saturday, May 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. They are bringing the prize winning float which was awarded the President's Trophy in the Daffodil Parade. Come and get acquainted with them at the Center and take a day soon to visit the Enchanted Village. Price of admission includes all the rides you want as long as you stay. Can't beat that.

What Is A Mother!

I wouldn't be here without her. I guess that says it all. She is important. Being a Mother in this space of time sometimes leaves a question as to how important she really is.

Mothers are love for sure. They care when no one else does. Mothers stick by you through all kinds of weather. They wipe the tears away from your eyes when you are four or 40. When you are four, they use the handkerchief...when you are 40, they use a word of encouragement and give you hope that things will be better tomorrow. Who is your Mom.....Love her with a hug this Sunday. Happy Mother's Day to all the people who mother.

The Modern Mom

by Betty Woolley

Dining out

"You're so naive," You don't actually tell them but you work it out so they ask you. In fact, they insist on taking you to dinner."

"Explain." "You map your strategy. If there's one thing I've learned during four marriages, it's to plot your campaign. For instance, there are three things every woman should keep in her freezer; a turkey carcass with just a few shards of meat shriveled on the bones, two dried up hamburger patties and three or four rib bones. Needless to say, these must all be in completely unappetizing condition. When you want to go out to dinner, put one item on the kitchen counter, in full view. When your lover boy enters the house greet him with a martini - preferably a whole pitcher of them, and announce dinner will be a little late. You forgot to take it out of the freezer. Curiosity will get the better of him and sooner or later he'll pop into the kitchen and ask "What's for dinner," whereupon you point to the turkey carcass and say, "I'm warming up a little leftover turkey, dear. I know how you love it." His mouth will start watering for a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, and after two quick glances at that turkey carcass I guarantee he'll be standing at the front door, holding your coat and insisting that you dine out."

"Chloe, you're impossible." "No," she disagreed, "just brilliant. It works the same way with hamburgers. Have a couple of dried out buns around for atmosphere and tell him it's only take a few minutes to heat things up and he'll start thinking about a double cheeseburger at the golden archer and he'll demand that you go out with him. As for the rib bones, tell him you'll perk those up with a little barbecue sauce and he'll start thinking about the local charcoal broiler restaurant and you'll be on your way."

I pushed Chloe's coffee cup aside and poured her a glass of cooking sherry. She likes it and I figured she'd earned it.

That evening when my daily dinner date handed me an ice cold Michelob. "Dinner'll be a while," I said.

"What are we having?" he asked, coming in search of another Michelob.

I hadn't been able to come up with Chloe's three prescribed items on such short notice, but I'd found a couple of bones the meat department clerk had sent home to our dog.

"A few vegetables added to those bones and we'll have homemade soup."

He observed the bottle of cooking sherry, gave me a knowing look and asked "Chloe been here?"

"Uh huh." "Chloe give you any ideas?"

I cannot tell a lie so close to Washington's birthday. "Uh huh," I answered.

"Did it ever occur to you," he asked quietly, "why Chloe's been divorced four times?"

It didn't take me long to chop the vegetables and the soup wasn't all that bad.

Just hope the dog didn't have his heart set on gnawing on those bones.

"I wish I were going out to dinner," I said to friend Chloe as we sipped coffee. "I've got a case of the kitchen creeps."

"Then go," responded Chloe. "You know men. They don't understand the kitchen creeps. They think we love to dash around whipping up meals to whet their appetites."

"Men," announced Chloe, "don't understand much of anything. That's why you have to TELL them when you're going out to dinner."

"That wouldn't work with my roommate. He doesn't like to follow directions."

Lions honor two Kilo students

TWO KILO ninth graders were honored for their outstanding performance in school activities by the Federal Way Lions Club during the month of April. Joe Sienko, Lions youth chairman, (left) congratulates Julie Rathe, Brett Solomon and school counselor John Gilich.

DeWayne Casto is new Mormon Bishop

DeWayne W. Casto of Federal Way has been named the bishop of the newly created Federal Way IV Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Bishop Casto has been a bishop's counselor and a high councilman in the Federal Way Stake. He was serving as stake superintendent of the Sunday School when he was called a bishop. Three wards are now meeting in the Federal Way building, three in Auburn, and two in Enumclaw.

The new ward, which will meet in Auburn in the same building that houses Auburn I and Auburn II Wards, was created by a realignment of boundaries of the two Auburn Wards and Federal Way I and Federal Way II Wards. Federal Way III Ward was not affected by the change.

The new ward will include members of the church living between Auburn's city limits and I-5 with 288th Street South as the northern boundary and the county line as the southern boundary.

A ward includes approximately 500 members and the new ward was created when the population of the church in the Federal Way - Auburn - Enumclaw-Buckley area grew more than 1,000 in a little more than a year.

YWCA plans apprentice class series

The women's apprenticeship project at the downtown YWCA announced the beginning of a new series of classes designed to recruit, prepare and place women in apprenticeable trades.

Beginning May 1 and continuing for three weeks, women enrolled in the program will receive counseling and apprenticeship information, including an overview of non-traditional work, tools, testing, interviewing and application processes. The fee is $3.

Call the Y's WIRE service at 447-4862 for registration information.

Two stores issued licenses

The Washington State Liquor Control Board has issued Class E-F licenses for selling beer and wine for home consumption to Skaggs Companies, Inc. at Skaggs Drug Center, 2131 S.W. 336th and to Safeway Stores, Inc. at Safeway Store No. 501, 2109 S.W. 336th St.

Getting to know Unruh Realty Inc.

"Our enthusiasm is contagious"

Part two of a series

MEET OUR MANAGEMENT....

Jerry Jackson: President

"Professional Excellence Assured is not only a motto, but a truth. Our dedication to providing the best in real estate service is carried throughout our organization. I'm proud of our people and of what they have done and what they can do for servicing your real estate needs."

Dick Williams: Designated Broker

"Our affiliation with the national Homes For Living Network provides that extra facet in dealing with our clientele. It is our way of helping people solve their real estate needs in King County and in their moves throughout the nation. If you are being transferred, call us for information on how we may assist you."

Susie Horan: General Manager

"Real estate sales is a career in which the opportunities for success are unlimited. You will be rewarded in direct proportion to the energy and enthusiasm that you put into your work. Women can be as successful - or even more successful - than men. The market is good, the buyers are out there and now is the time!"

Dave Childs: Sales Manager

"Unruh Realty, Inc. has made a commitment to the public that we will be knowledgeable in all aspects of residential real estate. Our training program is now an approved 30 hour course by the State of Washington and is one more step in providing professional excellence."

Don Weglin: Branch Manager of the Federal Way Office

"I am very enthusiastic over the response from our friends and neighbors in the Federal Way area making us the #1 real estate firm in the area. Our staff of agents has increased three times its original size since opening in August, and we are continuing to grow so fast that the need for good agents is my main concern."

Dick Hamlin: Sales Manager of the Federal Way Office

"For people interested in new homes, we work with numerous builders in the south end, and we do have an excellent program for all our builders in the form of advertising, exposure and marketing."

Kip Busby: Branch Manager of the Kent Office

"Kent wants a few men and women who want to work the real estate business in a professional atmosphere in a growing market."

Garage Sale Kits Available at local offices of the Federal Way News, Highline Times and Des Moines News. Garage Sale Kits are free when you place a garage sale ad. If you want your kit before writing the ad, pay $1.50 for the kit of the local office and tell the advisor your recent number when you place the ad. The cost of the kit will be deducted from the total price of the ad. These kits sell for $1.50 without a classified ad in Robinson Newspapers. Garage Sale Kits contain colorful signs for directions to your sale, sales receipts, inventory sheet, price tags and stickers, and a booklet with tips for a successful garage sale. For help writing your ad call 839-9520 or 927-2424 and a classified advisor will be glad to assist you.

MONOLITHIC ICE block hides a design inside.

WHILE A DUCKY onlooker appraises the job, Wayne Royal gives form to the ice.

It's n...ice while it lasts

The scene: a nippy day at Steel Lake Park. Large white swans cock their heads and curiously watch the tall, lean artist carving on an ice block.

Wayne Royal, sculptor, chips away at the frozen medium, much like an artist with marble. On the smooth icy surface, he has sketched the likeness of a swan.

"I enjoy carving natural figures and I prefer doing my work outdoors," the local resident said. His creations include a whale, squirrel, mother seal and cub.

In just one year, the culinary arts student has earned honors for his work. Much of his training has been in pastry decorating at South Seattle Community college. A long-time interest in various art forms got him interested in ice carving.

Ice sculptures, he explained, often decorate buffet tables at banquets and receptions. He has created two figures for a wedding and champagne reception.

"It's fun to work with three-dimensional forms," Royal said. "But you have to be quick or else the ice will melt before your eyes."

Unlike other sculpture materials, the design must be made quickly as the 300-pound ice block will melt rapidly in temperatures higher than 40 degrees. On an average, 30 to 50 per cent of the ice may melt by the time the job is completed.

"Because I work outside, the winter was perfect, but for warmer weather or for larger projects, a freezer is ideal," he noted.

His tools for the job are simple: a small chisel, rasp and small drill. They will form and shape the ice into smooth or rough textures.

"To create a carving, I look into the ice and visualize what design I want. Every side must be scrutinized to obtain a complete picture," he explained.

While carving the ice, he must concentrate on every angle and cut he makes.

If his attention is diverted away from the work, he can easily lose sight of his goal and make a design error.

"If the mistake is caught soon enough, I can turn it into another figure," Royal said. "I haven't made too many yet."

The culinary artist notes it takes him anywhere from two to three hours to create a design. However, bigger projects may extend to over several days and then the work must be done in a freezer.

Two conditions can make the carving job difficult and may even destroy the work. If the ice is "brittle" and directly from the freezer, carving can cause it to break in the wrong place. The same thing will happen if it becomes "soft" and melts quickly.

Many artists have dreamed of that one great sculpture they hope to create, Royal is just one. He would like to create portraits out of ice, but his one big desire is to carve a gigantic Buddha.

"Maybe when I have my own natural foods bakery, I can build a freezer large enough to accommodate it."

Since ice is not a permanent substance, like clay or marble, the design will melt away, leaving nothing in its place. To some this would be heartbreaking, but Royal looks at the problem philosophically:

"An instructor once told me you can never get sentimental over the culinary arts. They are there for you and others to enjoy for the moment."

Eager to display his art, Royal will carve a squirrel and a cowboy portrait during the Gourmet On Display show, Thursday through Sunday at SeaTac Mall.

ROYAL GINGERLY shapes the swan's beak.

SWAN EMERGES from flying ice chips.

Cooking specifically designed for two

"Dinner for two" usually conjures up images of candlelight and romance. But dinner for two is an everyday occurrence for about 44 million people in the United States. In the past, recipes were specifically designed with four to six people in mind. And it isn't always so easy to cut recipes in half or even harder, in thirds. But with the modern family size shrinking, the need to develop food ideas especially suited for smaller households is being recognized.

Rotisserie the duckling without the glaze and make an unusual orange-seasoned gravy. By cooking the duckling on an open hearth broiler-rotisserie, it will brown evenly, be self-basting and the drippings will drain off into the tray, with no smoke or spatter.

Round out the meal with an easy one-dish Spring Vegetable Medley of peas, water chestnuts and cherry tomatoes tossed with cornstarch to thicken the sauce. No extra pans are needed to make the sauce and the cornstarch will give it a translucent appearance. Top off dinner for two with Raspberry Glazed Strawberries and Lemon Ginger Shortbread Cookies.

ROTISSERIE DUCKLING
1 (4 to 5 pound) frozen duckling, thawed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons coarse salt
Cumberland Glaze (recipe follows)
Squeeze lemon juice over duckling. Sprinkle with coarse salt, inside and out. Place in refrigerator at least four hours or overnight. With paper towels rub off salt; do not rinse. Pre-heat open hearth broiler-rotisserie. Insert spit through duckling so that both pronged forks are tightly inserted; tighten screws. Balance duckling on spit. Place spit on spit supports. Adjust supports so duckling is as close to heating element without touching it. Attach motor and turn on. Cook two hours. Brush duckling with Cumberland Glaze and continue cooking for 15 minutes, brushing frequently with glaze.

Note: If glaze is not desired, cook duckling two hours and 15 minutes and serve with Fruited Gravy.

CUMBERLAND GLAZE
¼ cup red currant jelly
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoons ground ginger
Dash cayenne
2 tablespoons corn starch
2 tablespoons water
In small saucepan heat jelly over medium heat until melted. Gradually stir in orange and lemon juices. Add ginger and cayenne. Mix corn starch and water. Gradually stir into jelly mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil one minute. Brush on duckling during last 15 minutes of cooking time. Makes one and 1½ cups.

FRUITED GRAVY
2 Tablespoons duckling pan drippings
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups chicken bouillon
¼ cup orange marmalade
Measure pan drippings into saucepan. Sprinkle cornstarch into pan. Stir and cook over medium heat just until smooth; remove from heat. Gradually stir in bouillon until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil one minute. Stir in marmalade. Heat until melted. Makes 2 cups.

DEVILED HAM STUFFING FOR CHICKEN BREASTS
2 cups dried bread cubes
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 can (4-½ oz.) deviled ham
2 tablespoons minced green onion.
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
½ teaspoon salt

teaspoon pepper
¼ cup hot water
3 chicken breasts, boned and split
¼ cup fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter, softened
In a medium size mixing bowl combine bread cubes, cheese, deviled ham, green onion, green pepper, salt and pepper. Add hot water; toss gently. Place chicken breasts between pieces of wax paper. Roll very thin with rolling pin or smooth surface mallet; do not tear flesh.

Place equal amounts of stuffing in center of each chicken breast. Bring edges together envelope style; press to seal. Place sealed side down in greased 7x11-inch baking dish. Combine bread crumbs and butter. Sprinkle evenly over top of stuffed chicken breasts. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 30 to 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Chicken gourmet delight

Chicken is relatively inexpensive, but it can be turned into a company dinner fit for the most fastidious gourmet.

Place equal amounts of stuffing in center of each chicken breast. Bring edges together envelope style; press to seal. Place sealed side down in greased 7x11-inch baking dish. Combine bread crumbs and butter. Sprinkle evenly over top of stuffed chicken breasts. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 30 to 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Seafood dish serves twelve

BOUILLABAISSE
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup diced carrot
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup olive oil or salad oil
3 pounds frozen fish fillets (pike, pollock, sole), thawed and cut into three-inch pieces
6 frozen lobster tails, thawed and cut lengthwise in half (see note below)
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
2 bay leaves, crushed
2 quarts water
1 pound fresh or frozen (see note below) cleaned raw shrimp
1 can (10 ounces) whole clams or one dozen shell clams, shucked
1 can (10-½ ounces) condensed beef broth (bouillon)
½ cup chopped pimiento
¼ cup snipped parsley
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon saffron
Dash freshly ground pepper

In large kettle, cook and stir onion, carrot and garlic in oil until onion is tender. Add fish fillets, lobster, tomatoes (with liquid), bay leaves and water. Heat to boiling; reduce heat. Cover; simmer 15 minutes. Add shrimp, clams (with liquor) and remaining ingredients; simmer 15 to 20 minutes longer. Makes twelve servings.

Note: Bouillabaisse is even more impressive when the lobster and a few shrimp have been cooked in their shells. Cut lobster lengthwise and loosen meat in shell before serving.

Note: Rinse shrimp under running cold water to remove ice glaze.

TAXPAYERS

relieve your tax burden with a letter

We ask for your support.

Clover Park School District has agreed to sell Kelly Broadcasting Company Station KCPQ-TV, Channel 13, for 6.25 million dollars in cash upon approval by the FCC.

Kelly and the Clover Park School Board believe that this sale is in the best interest of the citizens of Pierce County.

Benefits.

The present high percentage of overlap in public broadcast signals in this area will be reduced. This will LESSEN THE BURDEN ON YOU, THE TAXPAYER. Clover Park has been spending between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 per year to operate KCPQ-TV. Over 90% of this money is provided ultimately by local and federal tax dollars.

Kelly is willing to work with Channels 9 and 62 to help them expand and improve their public broadcast services.

Employment opportunities will increase in the broadcasting field in Tacoma.

... Significant sums of money will be spent in local construction ... a new high school ... expanded studio and office facilities.

... Kelly will establish hiring goals and sponsor a broadcasting and scholarship intern program for minorities.

... Kelly intends to become an integral part of the community. Bob Kelly will be the resident partner responsible for Channel 13's operation.

When the sale is completed, Tacoma and Southwest Washington residents will have a new, independent TV station of their own comparable to the best Northwest stations, which will focus on their community, their interests and their needs.

If these benefits are important to you, support our application to the FCC for authority to buy Channel 13. To ensure that the FCC rules are complied with, any statements to be filed with the FCC in support of the proposed sale to Kelly should be sent:

Direct to Kelly Broadcasting Company
950 Fawcett, South
Tacoma, Wash. 98402

or to: Washington, D.C. Counsel Koten & Burt
1150 Connecticut Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20036

THANKS FOR YOUR IMMEDIATE ATTENTION TO THIS MATTER. Material should not be sent directly to the FCC since the matters are contested. The only way the FCC may be contacted, for or against the proposed rule making, is through written filings which are formally served on the parties in the case. Kelly's counsel will file supporting statements formally with the FCC and will take care of sending copies, as required by the FCC's rules, to counsel for the opposition.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR E.Q.?

(Economics Quotient)

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE BASIC ECONOMIC QUESTIONS?

True False

- (1.) One out of five American workers belongs to a labor union.
- (2.) Producers of goods outnumber producers of services in our economy.
- (3.) In 1975, the investment in equipment and facilities averaged almost $41,000 for each production worker in American industry.
- (4.) Over the past decade corporate profits (after taxes) averaged less than five cents on each dollar of sales, or about 12 percent return on stockholder investments.

If you found these questions tough, your Economics Quotient, your E.Q., could probably stand some improvement.

It's important. Not just because we all face some important decisions about our economic system. But because the more you know about our system, the more you'll be able to make it work for you.

A special booklet has been prepared to help you learn more about what makes our American Economic System tick. It's fact-filled, easy reading and free. It's also an easy way to raise your E.Q..

Browning Dishes

Browning dishes aid microwave

The popularity of microwave cooking is increasing every day. Although homemakers welcome this remarkably fast cooking method, many haven't become used to certain characteristics which make microwave cooking different from conventional cooking.

One of these differences is the ability to brown foods. Microwaves do not turn food the golden brown color that many cooks are accustomed to.

To add this advantage to microwave cooking and make it even better, browning dishes have been developed. Glass-ceramic browning dishes have a gray coating on the underside of each dish. Unlike the remainder of the glass-ceramic material, this coating absorbs microwaves and becomes very hot. Food browns when it is placed on a preheated empty browning grill. The grill, with its well around the edge to catch excess drippings, is an ideal size for grilling hamburgers, chops and toasted sandwiches such as this open-faced grilled cheese and bacon sandwich.

Grilled Cheese Sandwich
8 slices bacon
4 slices pumpernickel bread
Soft butter or margarine
4 slices ham
Mustard
4 whole pimientos (or one 4-oz jar pimientos)
4 Slices American or Muenster cheese

Cook bacon, let drain. Preheat browning grill about 4 to 4 1/2 minutes. Turn once after about 2 minutes. Butter bread on both sides, place on grill and cook in microwave for 1 minute. Remove from oven and top with ham slices. Spread ham with a thin layer of mustard. Top with pimientos and cheese. Replace in microwave oven and cook for 2 to 3 minutes. It may be necessary to turn the grill once during cooking. Place crisp bacon crisscross on top and serve. Serves 4.

Satisfy that sweet tooth

A dish of ice cream...a plate of rich, moist brownies...who could ask for anything more?

Well, there is more if the brownies are Chocolate Cheesecake Brownies made from a recipe created in the kitchens of Meadow Gold Dairies. Velvety chocolate marbled with a tangy-sweet cheesecake mixture, these brownies stand at the head of the brownie class. Serve them warm with scoops of chocolate and vanilla ice cream for dessert or snacking pleasure.

CHOCOLATE CHEESECAKE BROWNIES

CHEESECAKE BATTER

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 3/4 cup cottage cheese, sieved
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

CHOCOLATE BATTER

- 3 oz. unsweetened chocolate
- 1/4 cup (one-half stick) butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup unsifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Prepare cheesecake batter: Cream butter and sugar together; beat in vanilla. Add cornstarch, cottage cheese, egg and lemon juice; beat well. Set aside.

Prepare chocolate batter: Melt chocolate and butter over hot water; let cool. Beat eggs until thick. Gradually beat in sugar. Stir in chocolate mixture, flour, baking powder and salt. Add nuts, vanilla and almond extract; mix well.

Spread half of chocolate batter in buttered nine-inch square baking pan. Pour cheesecake batter over top. Distribute remaining chocolate batter on top of cheesecake batter (do not attempt to cover cheesecake batter completely). With spoon, swirl two mixtures together. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Cut into 16 squares while still warm. Makes 16 brownies.

Chocolate Chip Cookies

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- Two-thirds cup shortening
- Two-thirds cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 3 cups flour (note below)
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 2 packages (6 ounces each) semisweet chocolate pieces

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Mix thoroughly. Shortening, butter, sugars, eggs and vanilla. Blend in remaining ingredients. (For a softer, rounder cookie, add one-half cup flour.)

Drop dough by rounded teaspoonsful two inches apart onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake eight to ten minutes or until light brown. Cool slightly before removing from baking sheet. Makes about seven dozen cookies.

Note: If using self-rising flour, omit salt and salt.

Closet alcoholics still in the dark

by Ann Hagen
When Jacquie Lambe, a representative from Southwest Community Alcohol Center that serves the Federal Way-Des Moines area lectures in the classroom, she said she can spot kids who have alcoholic parents at home.

"They listen intently, come up and ask questions afterwards, and are interested in every word I say," said Ms. Lambe who lectures several times a week at schools in Federal Way, Highline and West Seattle.

Many of those children are hiding what Ms. Lambe terms "closet alcoholics", mothers who are diseased alcoholics who are able to hide their problem from the world by staying at home.

However, their immediate family is well aware of the problem. Mom is often sick either due to a hangover from the effects of too much booze, and unable to cope with every day problems such as cleaning house, cooking, laundry or taking care of younger children.

The children suffer in their own way. They feel guilty and think the drinking must be their fault in some way, said Ms. Lambe. They are embarrassed because they don't dare bring their friends home and they never know what to expect, she added.

The entire family desintegrates around the mother's behavior. If the drinking goes unheeded, the children either choose the same method of coping for themselves, if not now, later on, said Ms. Lambe. "Either that, or they go the other way completely and become intolerant."

HOW DO WOMEN become caught up in a life that depends on alcohol? For the woman who still has a firmity of youngsters at home, it's often because she feels frustrated with her life, said Ms. Lambe. "She uses alcohol, most always in the form of wine or beer so that she can hide the fact that she is an alcoholic even from herself, to cope."

The old stigma of not being a true alcoholic unless hard liquor is being consumed is still kicking around despite constant warnings by

Mixing up a tasty shortcut to meals

Busy mothers and working women often depend on packaged food products and mixes as shortcuts to meal preparation, paying high prices to buy a few extra minutes at dinnertime. But it's surprisingly easy and much cheaper to make your own. There are few processed foods that can't be re-created in your kitchen on a quiet Saturday and stored in the freezer for the coming months. Here are some examples (courtesy of Citibank, N.Y.):

Mix up a canister-full of biscuit and pancake mix by combining eight cups of flour (half can of whole wheat flour), four tablespoons of baking powder, and four teaspoons of salt. Cut in one cup of shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until the texture resembles coarse meal.

For homemade granola, stir together five and one-thirds cups of rolled oats, one cup of wheat germ, one-fourth cup of hulled sunflower seeds, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon, and educational services such as Alcoholics Anonymous, Alanon and various community alcohol centers.

In some cases, she said, women are bored. They have the need to be working and often have the education but "the husband insists that his wife stay home."

"Women are often under a lot of pressure just raising a family. They drink for escape," she said. "They don't intend to become an alcoholic, they just fall into it."

Once trapped, the family helps keep them that way inadvertently by covering for them, she said. "The family tries to keep the situation inside, especially if they don't understand it's a progressive illness."

Also susceptible are women who are lonely, often those who are single or widowed.

They are adept at hiding their alcoholism from occasional visitors and can in fact, induce them to bring in wine or beer to them, said Ms. Lambe. "They can sit there until a tragedy happens before they're found out."

Ms. Lambe estimates that the majority of "closet alcoholics" are between 45-60 though there are some of are in their late 60's and 70's.

HOWEVER, within the last few years, women have begun to come forth for treatment. Fifty percent of the cases now being helped through Alcoholics Anonymous are women, she said.

In addition, treatment center such as the Sundown facility in White Swan near Yakima are now offering facilities for women.

Ms. Lambe said she thinks it's because women are more visible now than they used to be and that alcoholism, itself, is "now accepted as a treatable disease."

The fact that local prestigious personalities have stepped forth for treatment has also helped. She mentioned the case of Betty Ford who recently underwent treatment for alcoholism.

"It made people realize that you don't have to be on skidroad to be an alcoholic," she said. "It gave her a great lift in life."

Family can make sweet goodies for Mother's Day

Sweet sentimentality takes over on Mother's Day. Evidence the heart rules supreme can be found in any kitchen. That is, this special Sunday morning finds fathers and children hard at work arranging Mom's flower-bedecked tray.

The below listed recipes are favorites of mothers everywhere.

"MOTHER'S DAY OFF"
COFFEE CAKE
 Coffee Cake:
 2 cups all-purpose biscuit mix
 Two-thirds cup milk
 1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, un-

25 to 30 minutes. Makes eight inch square cake.

Variation: Microwave Oven Method: Cook in microwave oven six to seven minutes, turning dish one-fourth turn about four times.

RASPBERRY PINK JULEP
 2 cups cold water
 One 10-ounce package frozen raspberries or strawberries, partially thawed
 One 6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, partially thawed
 1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
 Combine all ingreoats, simmer about four minutes), stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add softened gelatin to hot oats mixture, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in ice cream topping, pecans and vanilla. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream, pour into oiled four cup mold. Chill until firm; unmold. Garnish with additional pecan halves to serve. Makes eight to 10 servings.

LEMONADE 'N FRUIT FREEZE
 Crust:
 1/4 cups quick or old heat. Combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Blend in chocolate mixture and milk. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon over crust. Freeze until firm. To serve, remove dessert from pan. Let stand 10 minutes; cut into squares. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts. Makes eight-inch square dessert.

SPRINGTIME APRICOT BARS
 1-1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
 1-1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon soda
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 One eight-ounce package cream cheese, softened
 1 egg
 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 One 16-ounce can apricot halves or peach slices, drained, coarsely chopped
 Combine oats, flour, brown sugar, nuts, salt and soda. Add butter; beat at low speed on electric mixer until mixture is crumbly. Reserve one cup crumb mixture; press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom of greased 13x9-inch baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Melt chocolate pieces together with oil over low heat. Combine oats and chocolate mixture; mix well. Line eight-inch square baking pan with aluminum foil, extending ends of foil over edges of pan; grease lightly. Press oat mixture onto bottom of prepared pan. Chill.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE-PEANUT SQUARES
 Crust:
 1-1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
 One six-ounce package (one cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
 1/4 cup vegetable oil Filling:
 One six-ounce package (one cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
 1/2 cup chunk style peanut butter
 One eight-ounce package cream cheese, softened
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup milk
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 Chopped peanuts
 For Crust: Toast oats in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Melt chocolate pieces together with oil over low heat. Combine oats and chocolate mixture; mix well. Line eight-inch square baking pan with aluminum foil, extending ends of foil over edges of pan; grease lightly. Press oat mixture onto bottom of prepared pan. Chill.

For Filling: Melt chocolate pieces and peanut butter together over low

Shower the bride with good wishes

The bridal shower is an old-fashioned tradition that's still popular with the modern bride. It's a time when friends and family can "shower" the bride with gifts for her new home and good wishes for the future. An at-home shower is fun for all, including the hostess when she serves dishes that are made ahead with no last minute fussing.

Golden Ring Salad is perfect for a bridal shower - easy to make and serve, and pretty enough to be the centerpiece.

Golden Ring Salad
 1 can (16 oz) pineapple chunks, drained (reserve syrup)
 1 can (11 oz) mandarin oranges, drained (reserve syrup)

 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
 1 cup boiling water
 1/4 cup lime juice

In 5-cup blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatin over reserved syrups; let stand 3 to 4 minutes. Add boiling water and process at low speed until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 2 minutes. Add pineapple, oranges and lime juice; process at high speed until fruit is pureed, about 2 minutes. Pour into 4-cup ring mold and chill until firm. To serve, unmold onto serving platter; mound your favorite chicken or seafood salad in center. Makes about 8 servings.

Try a Cherry Strudel

QUICK CHERRY STRUDEL
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen ready-to-bake puff pastry shells
 1 can (one pound, five ounces) prepared cherry pie filling
 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
 1/4 cup packaged bread crumbs
 1/4 cup sliced unblanched almonds
 2 tablespoons sugar
 Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. Let pastry shells soften at room temperature for 20 minutes. Combine cherry pie filling and lemon rind in a small bowl; reserve. On a cloth-lined, well-floured board, overlap pastry shells in a straight line. Using a floured stockinette covered rolling pin, press down onto the pastry shells. (Note: You may use a floured rolling pin without the stockinette, but flour the rolling pin frequently to prevent the pastry shells from sticking.) Roll out from center of pastry shells to a 16-by-22-inch rectangle, being careful not to tear pastry. Sprinkle pastry with bread crumbs.

Spoon cherry pie filling down length of pastry closest to you into a two-inch strip and within two inches of edges. Fold in sides; keep filling in. Using the pastry cloth, grasp at both ends and gently lift the cloth up and let the strudel roll itself up. Carefully slide onto a cookie sheet, keeping seam side down, and form into a horseshoe shape. Brush top generously with milk; sprinkle on almond slices, pressing well in order to keep in place. Then sprinkle with sugar.

Lower oven heat to hot (400 degrees F.). Bake 10 minutes or until golden brown; let cool on baking sheet 10 minutes. Serve the strudel warm. Makes eight servings.

Use fruit in picnic foods

When you are planning a gala picnic, don't forget to include a totable, tasty dessert in your scheme. Cakes can be carried in and served from their own pan; cookies are sweet endings that are easy to pack and to handle, and fresh fruits are light finales that lend themselves beautifully to a portable menu.

Chocolate Banana Cake
 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
 1/2 tsp baking powder
 1/2 tsp soda
 1/2 tsp salt
 Two-thirds cup butter or margarine, softened

 1 1/2 cups sugar
 2 eggs
 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
 1 cup ripe mashed bananas
 1/3 cup buttermilk
 1 tsp vanilla
 Confectioners sugar
 Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Grease bottom of a 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan; line pan with waxed paper; grease paper. Beat butter and sugar in large bowl with electric mixer at high speed until light. Add eggs and continue beating until mixture is very fluffy. Stir in cooled chocolate. Stir bananas, buttermilk and vanilla together and add alternately with dry ingredients to butter mixture, beating well after each addition. Pour into pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 40 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool in pan on wire rack. Sprinkle confectioners sugar on top of cake when thoroughly cooled.

Lemon Squares
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 cup butter
 1 1/4 cups sugar
 2 eggs, lightly beaten
 1 tsp grated lemon rind
 3 tbsps lemon juice

1/4 tsp salt
 2 tbsps flour
 1/2 tsp soda
 Blend the 1 cup flour, butter and 1/4 cup sugar in a small bowl until smooth. Press mixture into an 11 x 7 x 1 1/2-inch pan. Return to oven. Bake in a 325-degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool in pan; cut into squares. Makes 26 squares.

ing sugar, eggs, lemon rind, lemon juice, salt and remaining flour soda in a medium sized bowl. Beat until well blended. Spread mixture over hot baked crust. Bake in a 325-degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool in pan; cut into squares. Makes 26 squares.

Sour cream gravy creates a good-tasting pot roast

POT-ROAST WITH SOUR CREAM GRAVY
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2-1/2 pound beef chuck pot-roast
 1 tablespoon shortening
 1/4 cup water
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 1 teaspoon dill weed
 5 small potatoes, pared
 5 carrots, quartered
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 pound zucchini, quartered
 1/2 teaspoon salt
Sour Cream Gravy (see below)
 Mix flour, one teaspoon salt and the pepper; coat meat with flour mixture. Melt shortening in large skillet or Dutch oven; brown meat. Add water and vinegar. Sprinkle dill weed over meat.
 Cover tightly and simmer about three hours or until meat is tender. One hour before end of cooking time, add potatoes and carrots; season with one-half teaspoon salt. Twenty minutes before end of cooking time, add zucchini; season with one-half teaspoon salt. Serve with Sour Cream Gravy. Makes four to six servings.
Sour Cream Gravy: Place meat and vegetables on warm platter. Pour drippings from pan into bowl, leaving brown particles in pan. Return one tablespoon drippings to pan. Blend in one tablespoon flour. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture is smooth and bubbly.
 Remove from heat. Measure drippings and add water to measure one cup liquid. Stir in flour mixture. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir one minute. Season with salt and pepper. Stir in one cup dairy sour cream and one teaspoon dill weed; heat through. Makes two cups.

Keep Red Cross ready.

Novelty adds zest to menu

The element of surprise found in a novelty dish can make the whole menu more enticing. As a variation on the overworked standard tomato sauce, try Bolognese Meat Sauce to serve over pasta.

Bolognese Meat Sauce

8 oz. bacon
4 tbsps butter or margarine
4 stalks celery
4 medium carrots, pared
2 medium onions
3 lbs round steak
3 cups beef broth
2 cups dry white wine
6 tbsps tomato paste
½ tsp nutmeg

Low-cal foods appeal to all

A trio of low-calorie hors d'oeuvres featuring Washington Red and Golden Delicious apples is just in time for pre-summer shape-up programs. Prepared with consideration for flavor, texture and appearance, these appetizers will appeal to the dieters at any party.

Apple wedges and cooked shrimp, marinated in low-calorie Italian dressing, are threaded on skewers for tasty Apple Shrimp Kabobs. Reserve the marinade for use again on green salads.

Dilled Apple Tuna Canapes is another good idea for the diet conscience. Celery sticks, cucumber and apple slices replace the usual bread or cracker base. Apples, water-packed tuna and low-calorie mayonnaise in the canape spread keep the calorie count low without sacrificing flavor.

Completing the trio is a not-too-sweet Orange Coconut Dip for crisp Red and Golden Delicious apple wedges. Cottage cheese, whisked in the blender until smooth, is accented with orange juice, orange peel and ginger. A small amount of shredded coconut adds a pleasing texture.

Washington apples have several qualities to recommend them for a weight-reducing diet. They provide bulk that gives a feeling of satiety, yet a medium-sized apple contains only about 75 calories. Their natural sugars are easily assimilated into the body to provide quick energy. Apples also contribute to a well-balanced diet with their content of important vitamins and minerals.

Controlled atmosphere storage prolongs the season for Washington apples for almost the entire year. Red and Golden Delicious apples will be in good supply and reasonably priced for the next several months.

APPLE SHRIMP KABOBS

2 Golden Delicious apples
2 dozen medium shrimp, cooked peeled and deveined
½ cup bottled low-calorie Italian dressing
Parsley

Core apples and cut each into eight wedges. Cut each wedge into three bite-size pieces. Toss apples and shrimp with dressing and lemon juice. Marinate one hour. Drain, reserving marinade for another use. Arrange two apple chunks and one shrimp on small skewers or cocktail picks. Place on serving plate and garnish with parsley. Makes two dozen appetizers.

DILLED APPLE TUNA CANAPES

1 can (seven ounces) water-packed tuna, drained and flaked
1 Red and Golden Delicious apple, cored and finely chopped
2 tablespoons finely chopped mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 teaspoons prepared dried dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Red and Golden Delicious apple slices, cucumber slices, celery sticks

Toss together tuna, apple and onion. Blend mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard, dill weed, salt and pepper. Stir into tuna mixture, blending well. Chill. Serve on apple slices, cucumber slices or celery sticks. Makes about three dozen appetizers

ORANGE COCONUT DIP FOR APPLES

1 cup cottage cheese
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
3 tablespoons orange juice
¼ teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons coconut
Red and Golden Delicious apple wedges

Blend cottage cheese in blender until smooth. Add sugar, orange peel, juice and ginger. Blend until well mixed. Stir in coconut. Chill. Serve as dip for apple wedges. Makes one and one-fourth cups dip.

BANANA SPICE COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar (packed)
2 eggs
1 cup mashed banana (about 2)
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ cup chopped nuts
Lemon Butter Icing (below)

Mix shortening, sugar, eggs and banana. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover; chill about one hour. Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls about two inches apart onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake eight to ten minutes; cool. Frost with Lemon Butter Icing. Makes about three and one-half dozen cookies.

Note: If using self-rising flour, omit baking powder, soda and salt.

Lemon Butter Icing

One-third cup soft butter or margarine
3 cups powdered sugar
About 2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel

Blend butter and sugar; stir in lemon juice and peel. Beat until smooth and of spreading consistency.

Browned Butter Icing: Before blending, brown butter in saucepan over medium heat until delicate brown. Substitute milk and one and one-half teaspoons vanilla for the lemon juice and peel.

3 tps salt
½ tsp freshly ground pepper
2 cups heavy cream
Hot cooked pasta

Chop bacon, celery, carrots, onion and round steak. Saute bacon in butter until lightly brown. Stir in celery, carrots and onion; cook and stir until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in beef and cook until beef browns. Spoon off excess grease. Stir in broth, wine, tomato paste, nutmeg, salt and pepper. Heat mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Simmer uncovered over medium heat until sauce thickens, about 1 hour. Stir in cream; cook and stir until hot. Serve over hot cooked pasta. Serves 16.

Variety in color, flavor and texture is important in any meal, and the crisp flavor of a fresh salad lends contrast to the soft texture of a pasta entree. Fresh zucchini, tangily spiced with a vinegar-based dressing, retains its crispness even when prepared several days in advance without losing its freshness.

Zippy Zucchini Salad

8 medium-size zucchini
4 green onions
2 small green peppers, seeded
2 stalks celery
Two-thirds cup sugar
Two-thirds cup white vinegar
6 tbsps salad oil
1 tsp salt

Slice zucchini. Chop green onions (tops and all), green peppers and celery. Add chopped vegetables to zucchini. Combine sugar, vinegar, oil and salt and mix well. Pour over the salad ingredients and toss gently. Cover and chill. Salad can be prepared as far as 2 days in advance without losing its freshness. Serves 16.

Summer is the time to combing good food, grills and garden parties. Doing so means being able to appreciate the outdoors, the incomparable flavor of food cooked over an open flame and the pleasant company of friends without being tied to the kitchen.

This Picnic For A Few, (planned for 4 to 6) features Crispy Peanut Chicken, Poppy Seed Slaw, Double Decker Hamburgers stuffed with mushrooms and cheese and Peach Brandy Ice Cream.

Crispy Peanut Chicken

1 cup cocktail peanuts, OR smooth. Dip chicken pieces in peanut mixture. Place on grill and bake until tender. Chicken may be brushed with remaining peanut mixture while cooking. Serves 4 to 6.

1 egg
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tsp salt
½ tsp red pepper sauce
3 tbsps milk
5 lbs chicken breasts and thighs

If using cocktail peanuts, process in blender or food processor to make peanut butter. Beat egg in medium-size bowl. Stir in peanut butter, mayonnaise, salt, red pepper sauce and milk; mix until

Steak strips perfect for patio parties

Steak Strips Open Sandwich Stroganoff is a literal - as well as alliterative - version of that Hungarian beef cream delicacy: Beef Stroganoff.

Fland steak, marinated to tenderness in a zesty seasoned sauce, then broiled and cut in bias slices, rests on toasted white bread to catch every drop of savory juice. The stroganoff topping is sauteed onion rings and sour cream.

Steak Strips Open Sandwich Stroganoff is perfect for patio parties when you need a little "one upmanship" for your grilled entree. Have corn on the cob roasting on the grill and a fresh green salad chilling in the refrigerator - then sit back and enjoy your guests. Enriched bread, the basis of every good sandwich, provides the essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

Enriched bread, the basis of every good sandwich, provides the essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

STEAK STRIPS OPEN SANDWICH STROGANOFF

- Two-thirds cup beef
- One-third cup oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 flank steak (about one and one-fourth pounds), scored
- 12 slices enriched white bread, toasted
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 cups sliced onions (five medium onions)
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Paprika

In deep glass dish combine beer, oil, salt, garlic powder, and pepper. Place meat in mixture; cover and marinate several hours at room temperature OR refrigerate overnight. Trim crusts from six toast slices and place one triangle at each side of trimmed slice. Remove meat from marinade. Broil three inches from heat, seven minutes on each side or until well browned. Meanwhile, melt butter in skillet. Add onions and one-half teaspoon paprika; cook until onions are translucent. Cut meat diagonally across the grain into 24 thin slices. Place four slices on each sandwich and cover with two-thirds cup onion. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Serve hot. Makes six sandwiches.

N. Carolina style apples taste good

North Carolina cooks use their state's apples in a variety of ways. A favorite is to incorporate them into Apple Corn Bread Stuffing which they use for turkey, duck and pheasant.

The recipe, which is unique to this part of the country, makes enough stuffing for a five- or six-pound fowl. It may be doubled if more is needed.

- Apple Corn Bread Stuffing
- 1/4 cup onion
- One-third cup melted poultry fat or vegetable oil
- 4 cups crumbled corn bread
- 1/2 cup hot giblet stock
- 1 cup diced, unpeeled red apples
- 1 tsp poultry seasoning
- Few grains pepper

Cook onion in fat until golden brown; combine with remaining ingredients; mix well. Makes enough stuffing for a five or six pound duck, turkey or pheasant.

What's Cookin' in Ruth's Kitchen

by Ruth Jurich

Dear Abby raised a question the other day that kicked up a controversy clear across the country. It fomented a discussion here in the office, and since it has to do with what's cooking in many kitchens, I'd like to get in my two bits worth.

The question was, "Should a husband be allowed to bring home spur-of-the-moment guests for dinner?"

Abby's readers almost all said, "Emphatically no."

One said, "Yes. He should be allowed to," and I'm going to take the middle ground. Bringing home unexpected guests occasionally is all right, but a husband shouldn't make a habit of it.

If old so-and-so whom he went to school with has suddenly popped into town, bring him home, but first try to call your wife, particularly if she's working, car-pooling a flock of kids or entertaining a pack of cub scouts.

MORE THAN ONE guest could be considered an imposition, just as doing it too often but to occasionally bring home company might be construed as a compliment.

The husband is in essence saying, "I knew you could do it," and some women always have enough food on hand to feed an extra, and a meal that, plain or fancy, is sure to be good.

One of the nicest compliments I ever got was from a favorite in-law whom we always urged to stay for dinner if he happened to be passing through this area.

He said, "Ruth, you're really a good cook, because no matter what you serve, whether it's hamburgers, a casserole or a choice roast with all the trimmings, it's always good."

That made me feel good.

Coping with the unexpected or being prepared just in case is something that most of us can handle, and here are some suggestions:

A FAVORITE CASSEROLE, a batch of goulash or even a carton of your favorite spaghetti sauce in the freezer can often save the day, especially if you have a microwave oven for instant defrosting.

If you don't have a microwave, goulash will heat in a reasonable length of time when spread in a large covered skillet over medium heat. Stir it very gently if it must be stirred.

Frozen spaghetti sauce can be gently thawed and heated while spaghetti or other pasta is cooking and you toss a salad and set the table, and spaghetti sauce is not hard to have on hand. When you make a batch just make a big one and freeze part of it.

If you planned to serve leftover fried chicken and had just so many pieces to feed the family, steam some rice, instant or otherwise and expand the chicken into a casserole mixture.

You probably have celery, a green pepper, some green onions and perhaps a few fresh mushrooms, any or all of these on hand and can wash, slice and sautee them in a little butter or margarine. Canned mushrooms are as good as fresh, and a package of frozen peas and carrots will further expand your casserole.

Put the vegetables, steamed rice and chicken pieces, boned or otherwise in a large casserole, and stir in leftover chicken gravy if you have it. If you don't, you can add a can of cream of mushroom or cream of celery soup. Top the whole mixture with bits of cheddar cheese and put it in a 350 degree oven to heat through and blend flavors, approximately a half hour.

PLANNING PORK CHOPS or pork steaks for dinner with only so many to feed the family? You can take care of some extra servings by cutting each in half and spreading them out over a large casserole of escalloped potatoes.

By the time the potatoes are done, so is the pork, and cut in half and with the potatoes, you can get by with smaller servings.

Our refrigerator is seldom without some leftover baked ham on hand. After the first meal it's handy for quick ham and eggs, for sandwiches and snacks. If you're planning to serve chili or beans or lentils of any kind and have only a limited quantity, a slice of quick grilled ham to go with it can increase the total quantity to serve more people. My method is to slice the ham fairly thick, spread it with sweet pickle relish and put it under the broiler a few minutes to glaze and heat through.

STIR FRY MEALS can be fixed in minutes and expanded to serve a lot of people whether you use a wok or a large skillet on top of the stove.

You can start with beef stewing meat, round steak or chuck, placed on a board and cut into very thin strips with a sharp knife. Put the meat strips in a hot skillet or wok with a little vegetable oil, and in two or three minutes start adding an assortment of raw vegetables, sliced, cut diagonally or in strips, according to the vegetables.

Most of us will have celery, green onions and possibly green pepper on hand. After a minute of quick frying you can add thin slices of zucchini or egg plant and some parboiled asparagus tips, and if you have them, add thin slices of Jerusalem artichoke at the last minute. When still crisp they have a texture much like water chestnuts. Season everything with a dash of pepper and a few spoonfuls of soy sauce.

Instead of starting with strips of raw beef, you can start a stir fry mixture with thin strips of leftover roast pork, beef roast,

If you want a quick stroganoff concoction, start with strips of raw beef. If the strips are very thin almost any cut will cook tender. When sauteed lightly in a little oil, quickly season the meat with a liberal amount of California dip, that good mixture of sour cream and onion soup mix that many of us keep on hand. Serve on steamed rice or cooked noodles.

Great desserts hidden in puddings

There was and always will be something comforting and homey about a dish of pudding just plain, but puddings needn't be plain-Jane desserts anymore.

There's a great dessert potential inside every pudding package - and it's an adventure you set in motion by letting the puddings get together with a few of their kitchen shelf-mates and make a bit of this or that from the refrigerator, plus a personal touch from you.

Look around. See some graham crackers and a package of whipped topping mix next to the puddings? Well then, say icebox cake, please. Some marshmallows, nuts and flaked coconut? You're nearer than you think to a Southern Belle Pie.

SOUTHERN BELLE PIE
 1/4 cup toasted chopped pecans
 1/4 cup flaked coconut
 2-1/2 cups cold milk
 1 package (six-serving size) Chocolate Instant Pudding
 1/2 cup miniature marshmallows

 1 baked nine-inch pie shell, cooled
 Place nuts and coconut in shallow baking pan. Toast in 350 degree oven for seven to twelve minutes, or until coconut is lightly browned, stirring occasionally to toast evenly. Cool.

Pour milk into bowl. Add pudding mix Beat slowly with rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer until blended - about one minute. Immediately fold in marshmallows, pecans, and coconut. Pour at once into pie shell. Chill until set - at least one hour.

FRENCH CHERRY PIE
 1 cup cold milk
 1 cup (one-half pint) sour cream
 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 1 package (four-serving size) vanilla or french vanilla instant pudding
 1 baked eight-inch cherry pie filling Combine milk, sour cream, and almond extract in bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer until well blended - one minute. Quickly pour into pie shell. Chill two hours. Spoon cherry pie filling over each serving.

TUTTI-FRUTTI PUDDING
 1 can (eight ounces) fruit cocktail
 1 package (four-serving size) vanilla pudding and pie filling 1/4 cup Tang instant

breakfast drink
 Drain fruit cocktail, measuring syrup. Add water to syrup to make one and one-half cups. Prepare pudding mix as directed on package, using measured liquid instead of milk. Stir instant breakfast drink onto hot pudding. Then fold in fruit. Chill. Serve over toasted cake points or sprinkle with cut-up or miniature marshmallows or toasted coconut, if desired. Makes about four servings.

LEMON FLUFF PUDDING
 1 package (four-serving size) Lemon Pudding and Pie Filling
 One-third cup sugar
 1/4 cup water
 2 egg yolks
 2 cups water
 2 egg whites
 1/4 cup sugar
 Combine pie filling mix, one-third cup sugar, and one-fourth cup water in saucepan. Blend in egg yolks. Stir in two cups water. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full bubbling boil. Cool five minutes, stirring twice.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add remaining one-fourth cup sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until meringue will form stiff shiny peaks. Gradually fold in filling. Chill. Makes about eight servings.
Lemon Fluff Strawberry Pargaits. Prepare Lemon Fluff Pudding as directed; then layer in parfait glasses with sweetened sliced strawberries. Chill. If desired, garnish with berries.
COFFEE MACARON PUDDING
 2 cups milk
 1/4 cup heavy cream
 2 tablespoons sugar
 2 teaspoons instant coffee
 One-eighth teaspoon almond extract
 1 package (four-serving size) coconut cream instant pudding
 Combine milk, cream, sugar, instant coffee, and almond extract in bowl. Stir to mix well. Add pudding mix and beat slowly with rotary beater just until well blended - about one minute. Pour at once into individual serving dishes. Let stand to set - about 15 minutes. Makes four or five servings.

CHOCOLATE-MARSHMALLOW FRESHZEE
 1 package (four-serving size) chocolate pudding and pie filling
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 cups milk
 1 cup cut marshmallows (about eight or nine)
 1 envelope whipped topping mix
 Combine pudding mix, sugar, and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes just to a boil. Remove from heat. Add marshmallows. Cover surface with wax paper and chill.

Meanwhile, prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package. Beat pudding until creamy; blend in prepared whipped topping. Pour into 8x4-inch loaf pan and freeze one hour. Spoon into bowl and beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until smooth, but not completely melted. Return to loaf pan or one-quart mold and freeze until firm - three to four hours. Makes six servings.

CRUNCHY PEANUT PUDDING SQUARES
 1 package (four-serving size) vanilla pudding and pie filling
 2 cups milk
 1-1/4 cups coarse graham cracker crumbs (about 20 crackers)
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup creamy peanut butter
 3 tablespoons butter
 Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package; set aside. Combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar, peanut butter, and butter; mix well. Spread three-fourths cup crumb mixture in an eight-inch square pan. Cover with one cup of the cooled pudding. Alternate layers of crumb mixture in an eight-inch square pan. Cover with one cup of the cooled pudding, ending with crumb mixture. Chill about four hours. Cut into squares. Makes eight servings.

Vegetables and desserts for summer

SPRING VEGETABLE MEDLEY
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen peas
 1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, sliced
 2 tablespoons powdered chicken bouillon
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
 ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
 ½ cup water
 2 tablespoons margarine
 1 cup halved cherry tomatoes

In 1 ½ quart casserole dish place peas and water chestnuts. In small bowl stir together bouillon, cornstarch, seasoned salt and garlic powder. Sprinkle over vegetables; toss to coat. Pour water over. Dot with margarine. Cover and bake in 400 degree F. oven 20 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, cover and continue cooking an additional five minutes. Serves two.

Note: If fresh peas are used, cook in boiling water 5 minutes.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP
 2 cups coarsely chopped asparagus (about 10 ounces)
 ½ cup coarsely chopped onion
 1 cup water
 1 chicken bouillon cube
 1 teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon lemon pepper
 2 ½ cups milk
 2 tablespoons cornstarch

In two quart saucepan place asparagus, onion, water, bouillon, salt and lemon pepper. Cover and simmer 25 minutes, or until vegetables are very tender. Gradually stir milk into cornstarch until smooth. Add to saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Makes four servings.

Note: To serve chilled, place cold soup in blender container. Cover and blend 15 seconds or until smooth.

LEMON GINGER SHORTBREAD COOKIES

 Two-thirds cup unsifted flour
 One-third cup cornstarch
 ½ cup confectioners sugar
 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 ¾ teaspoon ground ginger

In medium bowl place margarine, flour, cornstarch, sugar, lemon rind and ginger. With pastry blender or fork combine dough until crumbly and well mixed. With hands form into one-inch balls. Place two inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. If desired, press cookies with cookie stamp before baking. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven 20 minutes, or until "set." Makes 16 cookies.

RASPBERRY GLAZED STRAWBERRIES

1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries in syrup, thawed
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 1 tablespoon apricot preserves
 1 pint strawberries, hulled

Drain liquid from berries. Stir liquid into cornstarch until smooth. In small saucepan stir together berries, apricot preserves and cornstarch mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat, and boil one minute. Press through fine sieve to remove seeds. Cover and chill. Toss with strawberries to coat. Serves two.

Pecan Breakfast Bread and Orange Crescent Ring

Bake a special sweet bread for Mother's Day breakfast

When breakfast will be a special occasion - perhaps on Mother's Day - a beautiful homebaked sweet bread will make it memorable.

Since time is at a premium in the morning, these three breads start with refrigerated crescent roll dough. Interesting shaping makes each of them look like a pastry shop creation, but they are easy enough for kids to bake for Mom.

Pecan Breakfast Bread slices into flaky layers that look almost like Danish pastry.

Crescent roll triangles are sprinkled with sugar, cinnamon and pecans, rolled as you would to make crescent dinner rolls and baked in a loaf. The baked sweet bread is enhanced with a delicious caramel topping and more pecans.

Orange Coconut Crescent Ring is even easier to make. The crescent dough is cut into slices just as the rolls come from the can. These are dipped in margarine or butter, then in an orange-coconut mixture and baked in a fluted tube pan. An orange-flavored cream cheese frosting adds the crowning touch.

Melt-Away Marshmallow Loaf is first cousin to the $25,000 Bake-Off roll, Crescent Marshmallow Puggs. This new loaf version has the same gooey cinnamon-marshmallow filling that everyone loves but is quicker and easier to make.

Orange-Coconut Crescent Ring

½ cup coconut
2 to 3 tbsps grated orange peel
2 (8-oz) cans refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
One-third cup margarine or butter, melted
Frosting: 3-oz pkg cream cheese, softened
½ cup powdered sugar

2 to 3 tbsps orange juice
Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Using solid shortening, grease 12-cup fluted tube pan or 2 ½-quart ring mold. Combine sugar, coconut and orange peel. Remove crescent dough from cans in rolled sections; do not unroll. Cut each section into 4 slices. Dip both sides of each slice in margarine; then in coconut mixture. Stand slices on edge, slightly overlapping, around greased pan. Sprinkle any remaining sugar mixture over slices; drizzle with any remaining margarine. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until deep golden brown. Bake in pan one minute; turn onto serving plate. Cool slightly. Blend frosting ingredients until smooth; spoon over ring. 8 to 10 servings.

Melt-Away Marshmallow Loaf
1 tbsps margarine or butter, melted
2 tbsps sugar
1 tsp cinnamon
½ cup miniature marshmallows
Glaze: One-third cup powdered sugar
1 t 2 tps milk
¼ tsp vanilla

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Grease 8 x 4 or 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Separate dough into 2 long triangles. Lightly overlap long sides to form 12 x 7-inch rectangle; firmly press perforations to seal. Brush dough with margarine. Combine sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over margarine. Distribute marshmallows evenly over cinnamon-sugar mixture. Starting at short side of dough, loosely roll up; seal long edge. Place in prepared pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 26 to 30 minutes or until deep golden brown. Combine Glaze ingredients; drizzle over warm loaf. 6 servings.

Pecan Breakfast Bread
2 (8-oz) cans refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
2 tbsps butter or margarine, softened
½ cup sugar
1 to 2 tpsps cinnamon
¼ cup chopped pecans
Topping: ¼ cup powdered sugar
2 tbsps honey
2 tbsps margarine or butter
1 tsp vanilla
¼ cup pecan halves

Remove from pan immediately. In small saucepan, combine all topping ingredients except pecans. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Stir in pecans. Cool slightly. Drizzle over loaf. Serve warm. 6 to 8 servings.

To reheat, wrap in foil; heat at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

DEEP DISH APPLE PIE

Pastry for nine-inch one-crust pie (see note below)

1 ½ cups sugar
½ cup flour (if using self-rising flour, omit salt)

1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
12 cups thinly pared apples
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Prepare pastry. Stir together sugar, flour, nutmeg, cinnamon and salt; mix with apples. Turn into ungreased baking pan, 9x9x2 inches; dot with butter. Unfold pastry over fruit; fold edges under just inside edge of pan.

Bake one hour or until juice begins to bubble through slits in crust. Best served warm. Makes nine servings.

Pastry for nine-inch One-crust Pie: Measure one cup flour (omit salt is using self-rising flour) and one-half teaspoon salt into bowl. Cut in one-third cup plus one tablespoon shortening thoroughly. Sprinkle in two to three tablespoons cold water, one tablespoon at a time, mixing until all flour is moistened and dough almost cleans side of bowl (one to two teaspoons water can be added if needed).

Gather dough into ball; shape into flattened square on light-colored board. With flour covered rolling pin, roll dough into ten-inch square. Fold covered board. With pastry in half; cut slits near center.

Chocolate Mousse Pie

Make a mousse pie the easy way

It's not too light, not too heavy and oh, so luscious, this Chocolate Mousse Pie. It has the elegance of a rich French dessert that is yours to create with a few basic ingredients that are streamlined for today's busy homemaker.

The secret of this smooth, creamy dessert starts with frozen whipped topping. It is gently folded into the rich chocolate mixture, spooned into the baked pie shell, and chilled till firm. It's almost as simple as that, and while you're at it, you might make two pies and freeze one for future use.

Chocolate Mousse Pie
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 3/4 cup sugar
 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
 2 eggs

Lemon Butter torte say 'love' to Mom

Grandmothers get lots of unusual gifts for Mother's Day... crayon-scrawled cards, plaster of Paris handprints, mosaic tiled ashtrays. Naturally, you wouldn't want to be outdone by your children in the unique present department.

Go all out this year. Be creative and bake a Lemon Butter Torte for your mother. Because she has been around the kitchen for a few years, your mother will know, just with one taste, that your recipe used country-fresh butter.

Begin by buttering the cake pans to give the crust a superb flavor. Cream the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Eggs are added one at a time followed by the addition of dry ingredients alternately with fresh, wholesome milk.

While you are waiting for your golden masterpiece to bake, prepare the lemon sauce so that you can chill it before filling the cake. The sauce is cooked until it is thick and custard-like, then chilled. Spread about 1/2 cup of the filling between layers. Combine this sunshine cake by combining the remaining lemon sauce with sweetened whipped cream for a fluffy frosting.

Lemon Butter Torte
 3/4 cup butter (1 1/2 sticks)
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 3 eggs
 1 tsp vanilla
 3 cups sifted cake

flour
 1 tbslp baking powder
 1 1/4 cups milk
 Butter and flour 3 round 9-inch cake pans; set aside. In a large mixing bowl cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in vanilla. Sift together flour and baking powder; add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Divide evenly into pans. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes. Allow to stand 5 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Fill and frost with Lemon Frost and Fill.

Lemon Frost And Fill
 1 tbslp grated lemon peel
 1/4 cup lemon juice
 1 and One-third cups sugar
 1/2 cup butter
 3 eggs, slightly beaten

Guacamole Salad

Guacamole Salad
 3 or 4 medium-size tomatoes
 2 large firm ripe avocados
 1 small onion, chopped (1/4 cup)
 1 green chili pepper, chopped fine
 1/2 clove garlic, minced
 3 tbslps mayonnaise or salad dressing
 3 tbslps lemon juice
 1 tsp Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 tsp salt
 Dash of ground coriander
 Dash of cayenne
 Iceberg lettuce, shredded

1 1/2 cups whipping cream
 One-third cup confectioners sugar
 In 1-quart saucepan combine lemon peel and juice, sugar and butter; cook over low heat until sugar is dissolved and butter melted. Remove from heat. Stirring vigorously, blend eggs into mixture. Return to heat; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly (do not boil). Chill. Makes about 1 3/4 cups filling.

Spread 1/2 cup mixture on top of two bottom layers; set aside remainder. Assemble layers. Whip cream until almost stiff; add sugar and beat until stiff. Fold remaining lemon mixture into whipped cream. Frost top and sides of cake. Chill until serving time.
