Response slow to city petition drive

Federal Way City Committee officials said Monday that they intend to wrap up their petition campaign in seven days, and one said he is disappointed by the community's response.

Davis, who had the petitions prepared so that they could be signed, folded and mailed back to the city committee, said that he was surprised and somewhat troubled by the small return.

He said that the group hopes to get 3,000, a number which would insure that King County begin holding public hearings on incorporation and put the question on the ballot.

Its tentative boundaries — these are subject to revision by the King County Boundary Review Board on the basis of the public hearings — include Puget Sound on the west and Pierce County on the south.

The officials, Co-chairman Bob Stead and Information Chairman Ross Davis, said that a total of only 375 of the 25,000 petitions that were circulated via the NEWS have been returned. The petitions were

The group has information gathered by a professional pollster that suggests 65 percent of the population support incorporation. Stead said that an official

The proposal on the petition calls for the incorporation of a city of 59,300 persons here. It would be governed by a council and a city manager.

The northernmost boundary would be South 255th Street, while the eastern boundaries would include the limits of Auburn, Kent and other valley cities.

Fishing rights

Lowry, Dicks praise decision

by Darlene Himmelspach
Two local Congressmen have praised the Supreme Court ruling Monday affirming the 1974 Indian fishing treaty rights decision of U.S. District Court Judge George Boldt.

The Supreme Court decision will include those fish in the total Indian share. A spokesman for the tribes said the difference would be negligible, however. Mason Morriset, counsel for the tribes, said the high court ruling was "a complete vindication of everything the tribes have indicated for 15 years."

The state may have a difficult time determining how many fish equal 50 percent, if Gorton is correct in his assessment that "no one knows exactly how many salmon there are."

will be it and we can stop fighting. We have been fighting so long, all we want to do is go fishing."

Congressmen Mike Lowry and Norm Dicks have both said they will work now to find a way to produce more fish for local waters. Lowry said as much as $90 million may be "earmarked" for a salmon enhancement and resource management program.

The state departments for fisheries and game will not be permitted to set the guidelines for implementing the Boldt decision as previously ruled by the state Supreme Court. Monday's ruling set aside the local court opinion.

Dale Johnson, chairman of the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission, said his group is "happy with the decision. We hope this Demonstrations against the Boldt decision began almost immediately after the now-retired justice rendered the controversial ruling in February, 1974. The following month, protests by Dicks said "the most important thing the Congressional delegation can do is try and craft a program to produce more fish because we obviously have to deal with a supply problem." That problem, he said is the responsibility of the federal government because it "entered into the treaties" with the Indians.

State Attorney General Slade Gorton, who argued the case before the Supreme Court for the state, said the high court ruling "will give the state more rights to control" the Indian catch. He said "we are far better off than before. With the Boldt decision, the Indians were entitled to 60 percent of the catch. It is 50 percent now. Especially the non-Indians are better off with the decision than without it."

Gorton said the crux of his case was "equal rights for all rather than Indian rights. We convinced three judges. I am disappointed that only three justices accepted our interpretation but, after almost 10 years, I am gratified to have a decision."

Monday's 6-3 decision affirmed the right of treaty Indians to a percentage of the annual salmon harvest based on 19th Century treaties between the government and Indians. Under the Boldt decision, Indians were allowed about 60 percent of the annual harvest with commercial and sports fishermen permitted the rest of the catch. Excluded from the Indian percentage were salmon caught on the reservation for sustenance or ceremonial rights.

State Attorney General Slade Gorton, who argued the case before the Supreme Court for the state, said the high court ruling "will give the state more rights to control" the Indian catch. He said "we are far better off than before. With the Boldt decision, the Indians were entitled to 60 percent of the catch. It is 50 percent now. Especially the non-Indians are better off with the decision than without it."

Suspect captured after bank heist

by Loren Bliss
Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and King County Police officers were continuing their hunt Monday for a second suspect in connection with a robbery and shootout at a local bank.

The getaway car had been stolen earlier in the day from SeaTac Mall, O'Brien said, and belongs to an employee of one of the mall's stores.

Oil man blames OPEC, government

by Nathalie Weber
The finger was pointed at the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) Monday afternoon as the vice president-manufacturing for the U.S. Oil and Refining Company told members of Federal Way's Chamber of Commerce that the petroleum shortage is real—and here to stay for a while.

panies of necessary profits to invest in new energy resources, he said.

The robbery, in which one of the bandits was wounded by an off-duty King County policeman, occurred Friday at Capital Savings and Loan, 33535 Pacific Hwy. S., at about 3:30 p.m.

But the police got lucky — for two citizens who were nearby when the robbers switched cars noted what was happening and thought it looked suspicious. They also noted the license number of the second car.

Bob Monarch told the group that OPEC control of supply and prices, coupled with little cooperation from the U.S. government, has created the gas lines and rising fuel costs throughout the past several months.

"Profits are essential in this economic system and if you don't make a profit, you don't stay in business," Monarch said. "Oil companies may show large profits but if you consider the investment, it's not that great."

One suspect in the case, a Renton man who was found to have a bullet wound in his right leg, is already being held at King County Jail.

POLICE RAN the number through their computers, and later, O'Brien, Detective Bob Lamoria and Officer Mark Shaw stalked out the Renton address of the car's owner.

Bob Monarch told the group that OPEC control of supply and prices, coupled with little cooperation from the U.S. government, has created the gas lines and rising fuel costs throughout the past several months.

He said that last year oil companies realized a 4.5 percent average increase in profit while the national average increase for all other industry was 5.25 percent.

Capt. James O'Brien, who helped arrest the suspect, said that Officer Joseph W. Purcell had gone to the bank on private business and was inside when a man wearing a white stocking cap walked in with two pillow cases.

Early on Saturday afternoon the suspect left with a young woman and drove her to Federal Way, with the three officers tailing him in separate vehicles.

"If you're worried about World War III, stop worrying," he said. "We've been in it since 1973 and we're not winning. The OPEC cartel is winning and the tragedy is we're supplying ammunition to the enemy."

And salvation is not close at hand, he predicts. "We've always had access to cheap and unlimited energy and the demand for fuel is increasing," he said, citing that 20 million more vehicles are being driven in the U.S. this year than in 1973. He also said the types of crude oil used for refining create a larger burden on the refineries than other currently unavailable crudes, creating less production of refined fuel.

The man, O'Brien said, was wearing the cap pulled over his face and told the tellers to "fill up" the pillow cases.

"We got him at the intersection of 26th Avenue Southwest and Southwest 339th Street," O'Brien said.

Monarch explained that during the Arab Embargo of 1974, the government decided that to avoid a similar situation the U.S. must conserve energy, increase its use of coal, research alternative forms of energy and complete the Alaska Pipeline. "Of these objectives, one has been accomplished and that's the Alaska Pipeline," he said, adding that even that is not as efficient as possible because the lack of an east-west pipeline to transport the fuel inland does not make full production economically feasible.

"There's no clear-cut answer to the dilemma...but if we each could reduce our gas consumption by 25 percent, that would equal $4 billion a year we'd keep out of the treasury of the OPEC cartel."

As the robber ran to meet an accomplice in a getaway car — the vehicle had pulled up in front of the bank — Purcell drew his 9mm automatic and shouted, "Police: Freeze!"

O'Brien said the last time he was personally involved in making an arrest — he's the precinct's commander — was about two years ago, when he was stationed in Burien.

"I don't get out on the street that much anymore," he said.

Names of the two citizens, however, were not available from police on Monday.

"BUT THE GUY in the car," said O'Brien, "pulled a .357 magnum and fired at Purcell."

The suspect was being held at the jail pending arraignment. Names of suspects in felony cases are not disclosed until the arraignment, the first step in a formal legal procedure, is completed.

But the two outlaws managed to roar away, smashing one parked car before they left the bank's parking area.

O'Brien said he found the getaway car parked a few blocks away, near a local restaurant.

New program for unemployed kids

by Loren Bliss
The Federal Way Youth Service Bureau has designed a special program of training and counseling to help young job-seekers who are in danger of becoming chronically unemployed.

determined, says White, by that person's specific needs. But the project itself will continue until the end of the year.

Funded with $5,390 obtained from King County sources, the program is called "Project Turnaround." It will prepare about 120 disadvantaged Federal Way residents to compete in an increasingly tight youth job market.

IF PROJECT Turnaround is to succeed, the youth service bureau will have to recruit at least four volunteer counselors to work with the kids.

The persons for whom the project is intended are from 14 through 21 years old. Characteristically, they are high school drop-outs whose lack of skills and self-confidence has made it nearly impossible for them to find jobs.

While the bureau will train the volunteers and teach them the specifics of counseling, the applicants, says White, should be able to demonstrate that they already possess the personal characteristics of a good counselor.

Star White, the program's coordinator, says that most of these persons "have basically given up" because their attempts to become productive members of society have met with repeated failure.

"The people we want should be warm and caring, non-judgmental, patient and tolerant, and on emotionally solid ground themselves," she said.

"But nearly every one has had some hobby where they developed a skill for which they give themselves no credit, usually because nobody else gave them any credit," she said.

What they'll be taught — the training sessions will be held on July 10 and 12 — is how to help the kids grow past the internal stumbling blocks that keep them out of the job market.

"FOR EXAMPLE, one of these kids might have learned how to overhaul engines and be really good at it, and to have a considerable amount of mechanical aptitude as well," said White.

The techniques in which the volunteer counselors will be schooled are those which will enable the kids to accept themselves, to learn how to make reasonable personal choices, and to discard unrealistic ideas.

Such persons, she says, might make excellent mechanics. But until they learn how to identify their skills and then acquire the poise they need to function in an interview, they are often destined to remain jobless — which is where Project Turnaround enters the picture.

MANY OF THE kids who will be in the program, says White, have extremely low self images. They're withdrawn and they're unassertive — so that their lack of self-confidence reinforces their lack of skills and vice-versa.

The project will begin by helping each of the participants prepare a detailed self-assessment, which at the same time will enable the staff members to determine which kids need what specific kinds of help.

Therefore, she says, it's very important that the volunteer counselors be able to be alternately compassionate and firm — so that the kids receive the proper measures of emotional support and guidance.

Once that step is completed, the participants will be taught how to sharpen their job hunting skills, given aptitude tests and counseling and referred to potential employers. At the same time, they'll be shown how to get additional technical and vocational training.

Will the program succeed? Dave Gordon, the coordinator of counseling at the bureau, says frankly that he doesn't know. But both he and White believe it will, primarily because it is based on notions that have been proven elsewhere.

The duration of any one person's stay in the program will be

Nevertheless, much of its success will be determined by the agency's ability to recruit volunteers — which is why Gordon, White and Luanne Brown, the bureau's director, are making a plea to the community.

Drug abuse seminar scheduled for Oct.

A three-day seminar for parents who are interested in learning about drug and alcohol abuse and how it can be prevented will be held in Federal Way during October.

Those interested in becoming volunteer counselors should contact White or Gordon at 839-6555. Youths who feel that Project Turnaround might be useful to their job-seeking efforts should use the same telephone number.

The program, which will include a film, speakers and group discussions, is being planned by Federal Way Organized Services for Youth. Its tentative dates are Oct. 9, 17, and 25.

FWOSY, a consortium of agencies that provide various services for youth, intends to make the drug seminar the first in a series of public discussions about the problems of local kids and their parents.

As planned, the first evening will include presentations on the national and local drug and alcohol problems as they impact teens and their parents.

At the third session, participants will be introduced to some techniques for solving the problem and given an opportunity to suggest some measures that might be taken on a community-wide basis to combat drug and alcohol abuse locally.

The second session will focus on the types of drugs that are en-

Don't let apathy murder cityhood

Federal Way's drive toward cityhood may be in danger of dying — apparently from lack of interest.

Copies of an incorporation petition, 25,000 in all, were delivered to the community's households by the NEWS more than two weeks ago. To date, only 375, or exactly 1.5 percent, have been signed and returned.

That's a pretty shoddy showing for a community in which 65 percent of the residents indicated they're fed up with being governed by blundering King County bureaucrats.

It's even shodder when you stop to consider the fact that local residents have been complaining loudly and bitterly about county misrule for at least five years.

But the most damning part of it is that for once in their lives, 25,000 households were handed a unique opportunity to shape their own political futures — and only 375 bothered to respond.

We don't think its because the citizens don't want a city here; that 65 percent figure we cited above came from a professionally prepared poll that was put together in 1978.

The poll, by the way, was not commissioned by incorporation advocates. It was done for the Federal Way Home Rule Committee, a now-inactive group of local citizens who spent a lot of time studying governmental alternatives.

Nor do we think the lack of response results from local poverty. If there are 24,625 households here in which the families are all too poor to buy 15-cent postage stamps, we need more than a petition drive; we should have ourselves declared an economic disaster immediately.

The reason, we fear — and we don't like what we see — is that the members of the 24,625 households just didn't care enough to take the few minutes and few pennies necessary.

But it's still not too late to return the petitions.

After all, if 56 men hadn't taken the time to sign the Declaration of Independence 203 years ago today, we might not even have a country.

Closures were painful

School closure considerations have dominated the agendas at Highline School Board meetings for the last several months. With its decision last week to close three more schools, the board completed the first phase of a five-year closure plan drawn up by the administration.

Last week's action brought the number of Highline schools closed over the last few years or scheduled to be closed by 1981-82 to 19 (two have been or will be reopened).

The board has indicated that it will not vote on any further closures until after school starts in the fall.

A comparison of the five-year plan with the actual decisions of the school board shows a willingness on the part of the district to accommodate public criticism — up to a point.

That point never included not voting to close a school that was proposed to be shut down and there never seemed to be too much debate between board members about whether or not to close a school.

Where the board and administration shined was in repeatedly modifying elements of their plan in response to legitimate concerns raised by citizens at public meetings.

Two major changes were made in regard to the reassignment of students involved in the closing of Olympic Junior High and Glacier High School.

In addition, the plan was shuffled to allow for more uniform implementation of grade level changes in 1980-81.

Community meetings were held in each of the schools proposed for closure. These meetings were run professionally and competently by district administrators, who carefully avoided the pitfall of sounding too defensive when the plan they drew up was criticized.

And the public also kept its cool, arguing with more logic and less emotion than had been present in previous years.

But the bottom line still remains that closing schools is a painful process that leaves nobody happy, especially those people who must watch the doors close for good on their neighborhood school.

At least in Highline, the process was not as painful as it might have been if left in less sensitive hands.

At last. Justice prevails. It is no longer fashionable to smoke cigarettes and it is fashionable to complain when somebody blows smoke in your face. Yip-pee!

For years I have endured the pain of being a non-smoker. Most of my life I have pretended that smoke in my eyes didn't hurt, that the burning smell of tobacco was really very pleasant, and "no, I don't mind if you smoke."

More than half of the girls in my high school senior class were smokers. It was the thing to do, at that age. All of the girls who were anybody at all, I'd tell my mother, smoked cigarettes. Who cared if the smoke would cling to the cashmere sweaters we wore in those days. Only one really popular girl chose not to smoke. She said it would make her teeth look funny and she planned on being a movie star.

I didn't make it as a smoker.

My best friend Maggie was a smoker. She smoked Chesterfields and Lucky Strikes. That's because those were the kinds her parents smoked. She couldn't afford to buy her own.

Maggie would light her cigarette just the way the movie stars did, and she'd take a deep breath, sucking on the cigarette until a circle of burning tobacco would edge the white paper tube. She'd open her mouth just a little and I could see the blue smoke curling around in her mouth and then a stream of blue haze would come out of her flared nostrils.

It was a very impressive sight.

When we were alone, Maggie would try to teach me how to smoke the way she did. But either I'd get the cigarette too wet, "You aren't supposed to eat it, dummy," or I'd let it go out, or I'd drop it when I began to choke after taking a "drag."

I was good at holding a cigarette, though. At parties I would sit around holding my cigarette in my fingers just like the rest of the girls. I got away with that for a long time but finally one of the real smokers in the crowd commented about it. From then on all eyes were on me.

If I tried to light up everybody would look at me, I'd choke, they'd laugh and I was

Have you ever noticed how togetherness as in crammed in a trailer, tent, or small cottage can change personalities?

We recently tripped to Sun Lakes in Eastern Washington and rented a tiny cabin near the water that was designed to sleep five.

Planning, also, to take a camper that was, at the last moment struck with brake fever and left home, we allowed the kids to bring friends.

The days were no problem, everyone was outside doing their thing such as fishing, boating, riding bicycles or sun bathing.

But, the nights...When you have seven people lined up, practically wall-to-wall on beds and impromptu cots, you're bound to end up with some funny situations.

You can count on zero privacy for one thing. I got my first inkling of that when I nonchalantly disappeared into the adjoining bathroom to change to my nightgown.

Coming out, expecting to sneak into bed with one giant leap, I noticed a roar of cheers, clapping hands and all eyes glued to my modest but semi-sheer appearance. "Knock that off," I screamed scrambling under the cover, face as flushed as a first night nude stripper. Under normal conditions, nobody would have noticed.

That event marked the beginning of my revenge that lasted the next five nights.

When husband came out dressed in shorts, thinking the lights were dim and nobody would notice, I let him have it. I flicked the lights on and off, sang to the burlesque beat of "Let Me Entertain You," and gave my loudest wolf whistle. Naturally, everybody joined in. I thought he'd go through the floor with embarrassment. It was great.

THEN THERE WERE the problems with the cots. Army rejects, I swear, that husband has a fondness for because they can be folded into a tiny oblong size, we take them everywhere.

They've obviously been taken too many times. One fabric cot was attached to its frame by threads. Older son climbed onto his cot and stuffed himself, very gingerly, into his favorite sleeping bag.

As he settled down, a few puckered sounds marked the beginning of the end of a seam. "Yike," he hollered trying to get in a position that wouldn't tax the threads. Using his John Wayne impersonation that he saves for special occasions, he said cheerfully, "Well, folks...I sure hope this things holds 'til dawn."

It didn't. In the morning, he was comfortably curled in a ball on the floor, obviously unconcerned.

Togetherness also brings out the comedians. There was no lack of jokes and tales while everybody settled down in the darkness.

Damage proves helpful

Editor:

On Saturday, June 30, my son and I spent a couple of hours cleaning and getting our church ready for the Sunday worship.

That same evening, vandals broke into the church and discharged the fire extinguishers throughout the sanctuary and adjoining rooms, as well as stealing the public address system. This left a film of mist over the entire first level and no sound system.

At first glance on Sunday morning we were quite shocked and taken back a little. However, our pastor had us move to the original building (it was not vandalized) and although very small and bit crowded we were able to have our Sunday services there.

The fellowship we experienced was super and we intend to grow from this little inconvenience. During the services we offered prayers to the vandals. We wish you to know that God loves you and so do we, for helping to bring us closer as a church.

miserable.

Finally, my dad came to the rescue. I told them that my dad did not want me to smoke (which was true) and that he would beat the tar out of me if he caught me smoking (which probably was not true).

As I grew older, many of the women and most of the men I knew were active smokers. Smelly rooms, clothes and breath were common. Everbody owned more than one ash tray and just about every household had a cigarette burn in at least one piece of furniture and on favorite clothes.

People gave each other gold cigarette cases and buying gifts required less imagination because you could always give a "carton of cigarettes."

I hated living the lie.

But smokers were people who were "with it." They owned all the Glenn Miller records. Good clean heroes promoted cigarettes. You were more beautiful, stronger and obviously smarter with a cigarette in your mouth.

But I was ashamed that cigarettes did not tempt me. They didn't taste good and I wouldn't have stepped into the other room for one. The smoke burnt my eyes, made me cough, and clouded up windows. Full ashtrays were always being knocked over and empty ashtrays seemed to disappear.

When we'd go for a drive and everybody "lit up" I wanted to throw up.

Perry Como, and Bob Hope pushed cigarettes.

We sent cartons of the things to men in the service, veterans in hospitals and year supplies to lucky winners. I felt so guilty and almost un-American and alone.

Now, after all these years, I can admit that I hate cigarettes. Many others have declared themselves to be non-smokers, non-cigarette lovers. Non-smokers have come out of the closet.

It is now unfashionable to smoke.

Some homes do not have ash trays anywhere. Some homeowners demand that smokers get their "fix" outside the home.

Non-smokers are being generous, however. They are not laughing at smokers, poking fun at their ability to inhale, or do they suggest that they are inferior because they continue to smoke. No, non-smokers are a kind lot. They are presently seeking special smoking areas in public places for those whose rights must be protected.

We suggest that the areas once used to accommodate the non-smokers in planes, restaurants, and other public places be returned to the smokers. Those spots are easily identified. They are the windowless rooms, those spaces back in the corner away from the stage, by the kitchen door, or there, two flights up, second door to the right.

If you didn't know better, you'd swear you were surrounded by Hollywood favorites and television personalities.

"Did you know this is the first time these old bones have been forced to sleep under a table," said eldest son, voice croaking like Gramp McCoy from the televised rerun "The Real McCoy's."

"YOU'D BETTER GET used to it because there's more to come," said younger son doing his perfectly enunciated but clipped version of sports announcer Wayne Cody.

"That's what you think," retorted James Stewart voice from the floor. "You get this bed next," he croaked referring to their trade-off system for the bed.

Laughing until our sides ached, I thought it was about time for a little impersonation of my own. Ma Kettle couldn't have been any better, I thought as I screeched "All right gang, let's hit the sack."

Looking back on the whole thing, I have to admit that crowded conditions often bring out the best in people. There were no gripes or complaints, just a whole lot of fun.

Are these the times to look back on when you're old and grey, sitting in your rocking chair reminiscing about "do you remember when, Pa? I think, perhaps, they are.

Puget Power:

Will the lights go out?

New electricity delayed

Population boom straining local power supply

Next winter we could all be sitting in the dark. No lights. No heat. No electricity. Unless we learn to conserve now.

That's the energy picture for South King County, according to Puget Power President John Ellis, but the situation may not be as grave as to leave us in the dark indefinitely. What Ellis was describing are called "brown outs" or "blackouts," a condition wherein power is so scant that areas are mandated by the power companies to operate without it for a while.

"I see the threat of brownouts as very real," Ellis said in a recent interview. "It takes 12 years to bring a new generating plant on line and we just won't have the power for a while."

The problem is simple. Take a limited power supply, add unpredictable numbers of users to the area supplies, and the supply is going to come up short. That's what happened to Puget Power. Last winter that company reached its all-time high for energy consumption, a peak it had not expected to gain until 1981. The demand was there. The power was drained.

THEORETICALLY, ELLIS said, there is no limit to how much energy can be produced. But the forms of generating that While merely the mention of nuclear power conjures up visions of danger for many, coal-fired generation also is a subject of controversy. Coal-fired ther-en, there's no new generation," he said. The power supply also is a problem in other parts of the Puget Power service area, but Federal Way may be particularly difficult to serve because of its unprecedented growth.

IN ADDITION to the tight power supply, Federal Way could possibly be victim to an inadequate distribution system. "This last year we were barely able to keep up with the need for wires and transformers. Hooking up Federal Way might have some problems," Ellis said, adding that there always are "weak pieces" in any rapidly growing area. What that could mean for area customers is that they may experience outages due to substation problems as well as power supply.

"If we have big peaks, we can burn out the transformers," Ellis said. "That can cause spotty outages."

While the distribution of energy is the responsibility of Puget Power, Ellis said the only way the region will make it through the next five years with adequate power is to conserve.

"People have to understand there is not enough power for the demand now," he said. "We really have to get with conservation if we're going to ameliorate this situation over the next few years."

THE PUBLIC also can expect that while supplies are decreasing, the cost of power will probably increase more than the rate of inflation. Prices will go up, Ellis said, because the energy sources are more expensive than hydroelectricity, the previous major source of generation.

Still, that hydroelectric-generating base will keep Puget Power and other Northwest states' rates about half as expensive as those in Eastern states, he said. Part of that rate increase—about two percent—will cover what is known as "construction work in progress," the cost that allows more generating plants to be built.

Ellis said that extra cost is power are limited. "In the last few years we've had to look to other forms of generating power than hydroelectricity because all the sites feasible for a dam are built up," Ellis, president of Puget Power for three years said. The alternatives are coal-fired generation and nuclear generation, both of which have been stalled largely due to litigation against such construction.

mal plants operate by heating water into steam, thus turning the generators and producing power. The process itself causes little friction, but the location is objectionable to some.

Since Washington State does not harbor large coal deposits, much of Puget Power's coal-fired generation is stationed in Montana, where the coal supply is plentiful. That power then is transferred through the power lines to Washington, but that practice will soon be coming to an end.

"MONTANA DOESN'T want us to burn coal in their backyard any more," Ellis explained. The alternative is to transfer the coal from Montana to Washington, an expensive process for Puget Power.

"The cost to produce nuclear power is 25 percent lower than what it costs to transfer the coal and produce coal-fired energy," Ellis said. "That's the reason we went to nuclear."

Puget Power currently has interests in the nuclear plants at Hanford, at Pebble Springs, Ore., and at Satsop. It also plans construction of two plants in the Skagit area.

Despite opposition to construction of such plants in the state, Ellis defends the use of nuclear generation. "Nuclear technology is the safest known to man," he maintains. "It's been used commercially for 20 years, and still no one has been killed." Smiling, he added, "I suspect more people have been killed by sewing machines than by nuclear power."

ELLIS SAID he is confident in the safety of nuclear plants because they are constructed with several built-in safety systems and, if those fail, it is contained in a concrete barrel surrounding the generators to contain the waste. The incident at Three-Mile Island, Ellis said, was healthy because it caused more investigation into the nuclear industry. "But in terms of impact on people, it didn't hurt anybody," he said, adding that he doubted even in the long run whether it would, as has been predicted.

The nuclear power plants that are planned by Puget Power cannot be operational until the mid-1980's, Ellis said, because of litigation involved and construction time required. "That may cause a problem in the Federal Way area because in the time it takes to get those nuclear plants justifiable despite objections from the public that it should not be asked to fund projects from which they don't benefit now. "In terms of impact on the rate payer, CWIP is a small part, but in terms of making it possible to get energy, it's an important part," Ellis said.

HE SAID THAT CWIP does not actually fund construction work, but supplies necessary money to obtain bonds for construction. "Rather than being harmful, it's actually helpful because it lends the company security for bonding. Otherwise, it might be harder for us to get loans," Ellis said.

But in the face of diminishing power and increased rates, there may be comfort in that many of the surrounding power regions also are in the same situation. Power is needed, but construction is delayed.

Ellis said that in addition to conserving, the public has to be heard. "The public has to get up on its hind legs and tell those in politics that it wants more energy. Until we get more public support, we can't get the job done. We have to have new sources and we need them now."

Until then, the key is conserve

Conserving energy during the summer months is not always easy in the Northwest. One of the largest consumers of electricity during hot weather is air conditioning, an appliance not used by many in this area.

According to Puget Power President John Ellis, energy usage is down in the summer, but conservation still is important. Every kilowatt saved is one stored for next winter.

The U.S. Department of Energy has some suggestions for summer energy conservation.

With or without air conditioning, keep out daytime sun with vertical louvers or awnings on the outside of your windows, or draw draperies, blinds and shades indoors. This cuts back on the time air conditioning or a fan is needed.

Keep lights low or off. Electric lights generate heat, also adding a load to air conditioners or fans. Do cooking and use other heat-generating appliances in the early morning and late evening hours whenever possible.

Open the windows instead of using air conditioners or fans on cooler days and during cooler hours.

Consider turning off the furnace pilot light in summer, but be sure it's reignited before you turn the furnace on again.

Close off unoccupied rooms and shut their air-conditioning vents; or turn off air conditioners.

Use kitchen, bath and other ventilating fans sparingly. In just one hour these fans spargingly blow a houseful of cooled air. Turn them off just as soon as they have done their job.

Without air conditioning Be sure to keep windows and outside doors closed during the hottest hours of the day.

Use window or whole-house ventilating fans to cool the house when it's cool outside.

Use vents and exhaust fans to pull heat and moisture from the attic, kitchen and laundry directly to the outside.

FW crime report:

Burglars strike 14 homes on weekend

Fourteen residential burglaries, three commercial burglaries and eight larcenies were reported in Federal Way Friday and during the weekend, King County Police records showed Monday.

But only two of the incidents, both of them burglaries, involved losses of $500 or above. Both occurred at local residences.

In one, at a South 288th Street address, stereo and tape recording equipment worth a total of $1,100 was taken sometime Saturday night.

Similar items were taken in the other burglary, at a 23rd Avenue Southwest residence. The loss there amounted to about $700.

VANDALS SMASHED seven windows at Lake Grove Elementary School Saturday night, police said. The loss was estimated at about $200.

No other incidents of vandalism were reported, leading officers to speculate hopefully that the outbreak of last week was over.

Two robbed at FW eatery

A Pacific Highway South restaurant, its manager and one of its patrons were robbed early Saturday morning by two well-dressed men, one of whom brandished a small automatic, King County Police reported.

The robbers walked into the restaurant and ordered the two victims to stand in a corner while they cleaned out the till. Then they ordered the manager and the patron to clean out their pockets.

An undisclosed amount of cash was taken in the incident, police said.

Experts on 'How To' programs at Doces

Several experts in their fields will share their knowledge in a series of "How To" programs beginning Tuesday, July 10, at 11:30 a.m. at Doces Home Furnishings.

Virginia Purdy, award winning flower arranger from Kent and recently elected director of Chinook District of Garden Clubs, will demonstrate how to preserve flowers, weeds and foliage using several methods, including glycerining branches and microwave drying.

Wednesday, July 17, at 11:30 a.m. Ginna Koontz, instructor and lecturer on house plants, will discuss "House Plant Know How," from proper environment to diseases. She will have some useful handouts on plant care and suggests that anyone having a problem plant bring it or an affected leaf in a plastic bag. Mrs. Koontz is a Life Flower Show Judge and garden columnist for The Robinson newspapers.

Mrs. Koontz will return to Doces at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 17, for a program on landscaping. Developing a plan, problem areas, specialized gardens, such as Japanese or rose gardens, will be discussed. Time will be allowed for questions.

Freezing and preserving using a microwave oven will be demonstrated at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 18, at Doces Aurora store. The program will be repeated at the Southcenter store Thursday, July 19.

All programs are complimentary and will be held in Doces mezzanine meeting rooms. For more information call Joann Piquette, 575-6500. The stores are located at 180th and Southcenter Parkway and 205th and Aurora.

Family night shows film

The Family Film Night, sponsored by "Church Alive" will feature the film "Sammy" on July 6 at 7:30 p.m.

The church is located at 10847 - 1st Avenue South, Seattle. For more information, call 242-6600.

Summer classes planned at YWCA

Summer class registration is now in process at the East Valley YWCA in Renton, with classes for all interests. Classes begin the week of July 9.

"Raquetball for Beginners" meets between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday in both July and August sessions.

"Women's Exercise" will work on complete body and muscle use, toning and strength to attain overall agility and fitness. It will be taught from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

"Bicycle Touring" will take several two-hour trips to scenic roads and areas around Renton. Pack a lunch and ride from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Other exercise classes include exercise and jog, yoga, belly and aerobic dance and singles and couple disco.

A Tuesday series of "Brown Bag Lunches" at noon will cover these current interest topics: high blood pressure, parenting, sexuality and a special four-week series on "Food and Nutrition." A $2 admission and pre-registration by phone are requested.

Workshop classes on photography, used car buying and parliamentary procedures meet in July.

Pre-registration is required either by mail of visit to the East Valley YWCA office, 231, Williams Ave. S., Renton, 98055.

YWCA announces youth activities

East Valley YWCA in Renton is offering activities for youth of all ages this summer. Young people can learn new skills in the areas of visual and performing arts, career exploration, language, photography, exercise, dance and outdoor recreation.

The "Experience in the Arts" program for eight to 12-year-olds will present two classes, "Creative Movement and Dance" and "Creative Dramatics."

The dance class, which will explore body movement aimed at developing flexibility, coordination balance and imaginative motion, will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays for four weeks, beginning July 9.

Dramatics will include exercise in movement and verbal improvisation, mime technique, storytelling and developing imaginary characters. Classes will be held from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays.

A special "Beyond the Classroom" program offers two eight-week classes: "Career Exploration" for sixth to ninth graders will take field trips to explore industry, small businesses, sales, civil and social service organizations. Students will observe and interview workers, managers and support staff and afterwards share in activities and discussions to further develop an understanding of career possibilities. Classes will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursdays; "Creative Play with the 3 Rs" for fourth through sixth graders will playfully develop skills in reading, writing and arithmetic through the use of games, puzzles, story-telling, creative dramatics and outdoor activities. Children of all skill levels are encouraged to improve their present skills in a fun-learning environment.

Beginning Spanish

from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, and elementary German from 9:30 to 11 a.m. will use songs, films, games, stories and more.

A variety of recreational activities, including a new racketball class, will be offered.

All classes begin the week of July 9. Pre-registration is now being accepted by mail or in person at the East Valley YWCA office, 231 Williams Ave. S., Renton, 98055.

Brown's Point-Dash Point Elementary school was also installed. New officers are Don and Heather Halibiski, co-presidents; Carol Bohlman, vice president; Pam Rosmussen, secretary; and Nancy Blank, treasurer.

Lowry to meet with residents

Rep. Mike Lowry will conduct two community meetings Saturday in the Highline area.

The Seventh

District Democrat will field questions from persons attending the sessions at the Burien Library, 14700 Sixth Ave. SW., from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and at the Des Moines City Hall from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A Lowry staff assistant will attend the meetings to assist in personal problems with the federal government.

Postcards have been mailed to district residents inviting them to attend the meetings. A meeting is also scheduled for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the Southwest Community Center, 2801 SW. Thistle.

Lowry flew from Washington, D.C. to Seattle Monday to begin a week of personal appearances in the area.

This is the Day in which God's most excellent favors have been poured out upon men, the Day in which His most mighty grace hath been infused into all created things. It is incumbent upon all peoples of the world to reconcile their differences, and, with perfect unity and peace, abide beneath the shadow of the Tree of His care and loving kindness. Baha'u'llah

sports fishermen at the federal courthouse in Tacoma set the stage for a long and bitter struggle in and out of the courts to fight the ruling and the subsequent cut-back by the state in commercial and sports fishing allotments.

Jim Heckman, Executive Director of the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission, said he felt "sorry for the three judges" who dissented from the majority opinion Monday. "Those people will probably live to regret they weren't part of a favorable decision," he said.

Lowry, in Seattle for the Independence Day Congressional break, said any treaty changes can only be the result of "bilateral action by Congress. If we do it without Indian participation, we break our contract" with the Indians, he said.

The 7th District Democrat said any legislation to change the allocations would include "everybody involved in this including the Indians. The treaty is the supreme law of the land," he said.

Dicks said the "real question is are we going to continue to fight each other or are we going to get together and develop a management plan to get the resources to build hatcheries and keep fishery alive?" He said the "decision cleared the legal air and presents the state with the opportunity to preserve and improve fishery. That's why I think we should spend our time and energy developing a plan to grow more fish."

Kent workshops now scheduled

Kent Parks and Recreation in coordination with the King County Arts Commission is offering several workshops as part of their Summer Arts Involvement Program.

Carolyn Cavalier, from the Factory of Visual Art in Seattle will demonstrate and lecture on how to take good slides on July 7 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Participants will take a field trip in order to practice new skills.

Class begins at the Kent Library at 220 South Fourth. Those interested are required to bring a camera, a roll of slide film, a tripod (if available) and a sack lunch.

A lecture on the history and origin of kites and a demonstration of four kite styles will be offered by Ken Conrad on July 8 from 1-5 p.m. at the Kent Memorial Park, 850 N. Central.

Each person will have the opportunity to design and fly their own kite. Materials will be provided.

Children under 10 must be accompanied by a parent. Participants are asked to wear painting clothes and to bring a roll of kite string.

For arts and crafts lovers, there will be an apple-head doll making class held on three consecutive nights,

July 10-24, and 31 from 9 p.m. at Kent Commons. It will be taught by Bob Fey of the Apple Barrel Country Store.

A series of one-time workshops in composition will be held by Frances Van Aalst. They will concentrate on landscape composition in any media, such as oils, watercolors, acrylics, and charcoal. Classes will meet on location from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Workshop one is scheduled for July 12; workshop two for July 26; workshop three on August 9; and workshop 4 on August 23.

FOR THE WRITER
Jean Bryant Nucci, an instructor for the University of Washington Experimental College will hold two "Anyone Can Write" sessions on July 20. They will be held from 2-4 p.m. A "Creating your Personal Journal" class will be held on July 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition, Kal Evenson will be offering two classes in hand building ceramics. Hand building II, held on July 21 and 28 from noon to 4 p.m. will involve press and slab methods and sgraffito decoration. Hand building I will be held August 11 and 18 from noon to 4 p.m. and will involve, clay body marbelizing and wax resist decoration.

A TRAVEL CLASS AT Clover Park Vocational take a first hand look at the accommodation facilities aboard a freighter docked in Tacoma.

STUDENT, Nancy Walker gets a chance to try her luck with the computerized APOLLO at Century Travel in Federal Way during an evening class.

Schooled on travel details

With the assistance of a tour guide, the women were shown through the passenger-cargo ship, temporarily docked in Tacoma.

They learned that the Santa Mercedes, a U.S. Delta lineship would comfortably accommodate 100 passengers with various sized rooms, a dining room, swimming pool and entertainment for an average of $100 per day.

Not a luxury liner but a freighter, it still offered many of the things that could make a leisurely trip fun at reduced rates.

The excursion was one of several taken by students involved in travel consultant program set up through Clover Park Vocational Technical Institute in Tacoma.

They also visited ferry "Columbia" that was docked in Seattle prior to its take off to Alaska and a 12-passenger freighter, "Maria Bakke" that travels the Pacific to Australia.

Finally, toward the end of their 10-month course, they took a two-day trip to Victoria where they were able to have a first hand look at the Cadillac of the sea, the Royal Viking Sea.

Excited about the luxurious accommodations, one student said it put the televised "Love Boat" to shame with its pools, saunas, dance floors, art, and well-designed and roomy staterooms. The ship, that is always filled to its 535 capacity, travels the Alaska Inside Passage and all over the world.

FOR THE 28 WOMEN, AGED 17-67, the tours climaxed a 1,200-hour course designed to provide them with all the information and skills they need to begin work as a travel consultant.

Classes, held Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. through July, concentrate on business math and correspondence, office machines, job-securing skills, ticketing, plus domestic and territorial geography.

According to instructor Sue Carter, it is the only vocational program in the state of Washington where students are "trained hands on with practical experience for entry level."

Most private training programs and those in community college are academic with some vocational aspects, she added.

In addition, students are exposed to the complicated computerized APOLLO ticketing system that ensures immediate communication between airline service and agent.

They worked evenings at the Century Travel in Federal Way to become accustomed to booking reservations.

Students are also taught the philosophy of tourism that includes a total look at the industry. "I want them to understand where they fit in," said Ms. Carter. "The travel agent is just part of it." They become familiar with the sales and marketing of hotels, government agencies, suppliers and the motivation behind why people travel.

A popular program, because of its cost, $300, and its training, there is a one-year waiting period for those who want to get into it. A basic skills test and instructor interview are also necessary.

IT'S NOT DIFFICULT to understand the attraction of the business. There is the excitement of working with people who are traveling all over the world, the chance to take trips at reduced fares, and an excuse to travel to help clients make better decisions.

One Tacoma woman in her early 40's, who works as a relief x-ray technician said she's "been interested in travel all her life." After taking one trip overseas, she developed a taste for travel that just "whetted her appetite."

Another woman, Louise Crutch who is filling in at the Doug Fox agency in SeaTac Mall, has raised her family and she "needs something to fill her time."

Then there's Sue Breartz, 19, a graduate of Lincoln High School who said she's always loved travel and thought it would make an interesting profession.

What are their chances of getting a job? If they want to work fulltime, are sincere, and they know their business, there's no problem, said the instructor. "We get calls from all over the Puget Sound area, Federal Way, Olympia, Seattle, Tacoma, Puyallup and Shelton. 'There's always a demand for qualified people.'"

Travel is Sue's business

An organized travel business dynamo, Sue Carter has her finger on the pulse of the trade.

A travel consultant instructor at Clover Park Vocational Technical Institute for the past four years, she says it's part of her business to keep current and know what's going on.

Right now, she said the air lines are going through a deregulation process that is keeping travellers on their toes trying to decipher the different fares.

Airlines, in competition for the first time since the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) gave up total control, are offering all kinds of varied programs to induce travelers to take their flights.

Though some rates are decidedly cheaper, there may be hitches that could cost more in the long run. "The traveler should look at the value, not the price," said the pert 30-year-old who was raised in Fife. "The better the fare, the more the restrictions," she said referring to the call-ahead deals that insist the stay is several days longer than may be desired. "By the time you add two extra days of lodging, food, and transportation, you've surpassed your savings."

Additional restrictions include traveling on particular days, getting reservations a week to a month in advance, making a particular number of stops, and being restricted to a particular schedule.

Deregulation is also affecting a change in the type of person able to travel and the volume of travelers, she said.

IT'S NO LONGER the case where only the rich fly. Because of the special deals, the average "Joe Citizen" can now fly and take his family. Besides, with the gas crunch, it's cheaper to take a plane than worry about the price and hassel of gas.

"Statistics have shown that once people have traveled by air, they go again. It's opened air travel to those who've never traveled before," Ms. Carter said.

The devaluation of the dollar is also affecting air travel. "Places like Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico and Canada are now more attractive than they once were. In Europe, the airfares are tremendous and the costs are phenomenal. In the U.S., the dollar still buys the most," she said.

What's the biggest problem with novice travelers? There's no doubt about it in Ms. Carter's mind. It's the lack of flexibility. There are often problems with late flights, diverted luggage or hotels.

"The seasoned travelers just roll with the punches. People think everything is going to be just like it is at home, but it's not. You just have to hang loose."

When looking for a travel agent, Ms. Carter suggests that they seek qualified counseling with as much care as they would any other professional. She recommends looking in the yellow pages for those who belong to the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) who are "committed professionals."

Another clue, she said is to find someone with the CTC travel degree that guarantees five years in the business plus two years of study at the management level.

ALWAYS INTERESTED IN promoting a more professional approach to travel counseling, Ms. Carter will lend her talents to the Bellevue Doug Fox Travel Agency next year as director of training. She'll be on a one-year loan from Clover Park.

There, she'll be in charge of training and up-dating present personnel as well as administering a 14-week preparatory program for beginners that is open to the public.

With an established background in retail sales, wholesale package tours, organizing groups and conventions plus a MA in Communications and a CTC degree, she's well-equipped for the position.

Teaching a daily six-hour class, there will be time for lectures and study. Pleased about the upgrading program that is a new approach in existing firms, she said it's difficult to keep current when you're already so busy in your field.

Though she obviously loves her work, Ms. Carter said she always has time for her family that includes her husband Michael Stromquist and son Erik, 5 who attends Spring Valley School in Federal Way.

What makes home and job work together, she said, is organization. "Women run into their greatest problem when they don't recognize their two lives and try to merge them together. I try to keep them separate."

"When I go to work and leave the family, I become Susan Carter, career woman. When I go home, I become Michael's wife and Erik's mother."

Mr. and Mrs. William Bales

Grace Lutheran scene of wedding

With Rev. Edward F. Markquart officiating, Rosanne Blazek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Blazek of 165 S. 197th Place, became the bride of Bruce Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bales of Big Fork, Minn. in recent ceremonies in Grace Lutheran Church in Des Moines.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon with a lace overlay and carried a bouquet of white roses, yellow carnations and baby's breath with lace ribbon trim.

As her sister's matron of honor, Normandy Jencks wore a dress of dusty blue, pleated nylon. Her flowers were yellow roses with carnations and baby's breath.

William Bales Jr. served as best man, and Joseph and Gus Blazek were the ushers.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held in the church reception hall.

The bride graduated from Federal Way High School in 1974 and from the nursing program at Highline College in 1978. Her husband is a 1975 graduate of Big Fork High School and attended Elveleth Vocational School in Eveleth, Minn.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Victoria, B.C., and are making their home in Federal Way.

Support group set for battered women

Family and Child Service at King County Multi-Service Center, 2450 Star Lake Road, has completed plans for a support group for battered women. Sessions will start July 10 and continue through Aug. 14 and will be held from 10 o'clock to noon on Tuesday mornings.

Ventriloquist on SSCW program

Dick Bauer, former businessman from Idaho who is an active member of the North American Association of Ventriloquists, will speak at the July 11 luncheon of the Southwest Seattle Christian Women's Club at 11:59 a.m. at the Doubletree Inn in Southcenter.

Jim Marr will present the music on the clarinet, and the special feature will be "Fun From Farrells."

All area women are invited to bring their sons, daughters and friends. Price for lunch is $5.25.

For reservations call Mrs. Russell Lowe, 243-3833. No nursery will be provided this month.

Linda Curnow is honored at WWSU

Linda A. Curnow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Curnow of 30209 23rd Ave. S.W. was honored as the outstanding graduate of Western Washington State University's computer science department at a pre-commencement breakfast on June 15.

Linda is a 1975 graduate of Decatur High School and graduated from Highline College in 1977.

Students attending the breakfast are chosen by faculty members of their academic department. A faculty representative from each department attended the breakfast, along with parents or friends, to present a certificate of achievement.

Credit Women meeting July 9

NACM Credit Women Seattle will meet July 9 at the Edgewater Inn. The social hour will start at 5:15 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

The topic for the credit mini-session which will begin promptly at 5 p.m. is "Credit Education Goals for 1979-80." Credit people wishing to attend the meeting may call Sherri Norton at 682-4848 for reservations.

Delta Rho car wash for Medic

Delta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will hold a car wash from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 7, at the fire station on S.W. 312th St., near Lakota Junior High School.

Proceeds will be given to Auburn-Federal Way Medic I and Highline Medic I.

Just moved in? I can help you out.

Don't worry and wonder about learning your way around town. Or what to see and do. Or whom to ask. As your WELCOME WAGON Hostess, I can simplify the business of getting settled. Help you begin to enjoy your new town... good shopping, local attractions, community opportunities.

And my basket is full of useful gifts to please your family. Take a break from unpacking and call me.

Campaign emphasizes bike safety for kids

"School is out and the kids are on vacation, but statistics continue to show there is no vacation from accidents," John G. Fazio, president of National Automotive Warehouse in Tacoma and 1979 chairman of the "Care About Kids" bicycle safety campaign, said this week.

The two-month summer driving and safety program is being sponsored by local Car Care Man parts stores where free copies of a 40-page "Care About Kids Bicycle Safety Coloring and Activity Book" can be secured while supplies last. Participating stores in this area include: Federal Way National, 33210 Pacific Highway S.; Midway National, 23419 Pacific Highway S.; Fife National Auto Parts, 5219 Pacific Highway E., and Auburn National Auto Parts in Auburn.

Youngsters can also take part in a bicycle safety coloring contest and win several prizes, including bicycles. A four-page insert in the center of the book contains the contest rules.

Children, ages 5 to 6 and 7 to 8, will be judged on coloring a bicycle and automobile street scene, while children ages 9 to 10, 11 to 12 and 13 to 14 are asked to draw a picture of what bicycle safety means to them, color it and then write a sentence of 15 words or less describing their picture.

The grand prizes are 25 Huffy bicycles; second prize, 50 assorted bicycle accessory packages, and third prize, 50 selections of Western Publishing Co. books. The contest closes Aug. 31.

The "Care About Kids" book features bike safety rules, bike care, signs and signals to know, bike history and a poem entitled "I Can Ride." It is copyrighted by Republic Automotive Parts Inc.

P.O. expansion?

Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of the post office - by getting rid of, or using up, any small and undersized envelopes they have on hand. Deadline for use of the "dinkies" is July 15, according to James J. Symbol, Seattle postmaster.

After that date, the new rules say, any cards or envelopes measuring less than three and one-half inches high or five inches long will be returned to the sender. However, if you still have smaller envelopes and cards in your stationery supply, you can use them after July 15 by putting them inside larger envelopes.

And get out the micrometers - the new regulations also include flimsy cards - cards will have to be at least seven-thousandths (.007) of an inch thick (official postal cards are nine-thousandths of an inch thick.)

The undersized and flimsy pieces are being banned because they can become trapped in other mail, tear, or jam mail processing machinery. As a result, the postal service says, other letters can also be damaged.

The new standards also affect oversized and odd-shaped pieces of mail. For first-class mail weigh one ounce or less, or third-class mail of less than two ounces, there will be a surcharge of seven cents for pieces more than six and one-eighth inches high or 11 and one-half inches long.

The confused can get more information by checking with their local post offices.

Linda Mamala, president of Delta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, and Leslee Rasmussen hold the plaque the chapter received recently from the March of Dimes for volunteer services and support of the organization.

State awards go to ESA chapter

Linda Mamala, president of Delta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, accepted six awards for the chapter at the recent ESA state convention at the Sea-Tac Red Lion Inn.

In the "What ESA Means To Me" competition, Betty Scott placed first for those who have been members for less than one year, and Carol Kirkpatrick placed third for those who have been members for more than one year.

Delta Rho also received a special plaque from the March of Dimes in appreciation of the chapter's outstanding volunteer services. Mrs. Mamala and Leslee Rasmussen taught a class on "The Prevention of Birth Defects" at Decatur, Federal Way and Thomas Jefferson high schools, and the chapter donated $1475 to the University of Washington Birth Defects Clinic.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick was selected as Washington State awards chairman, and Holli Neigel was named special services chairman.

Joanne Franklin and Daniel Lloyd

Franklin-Lloyd

Joanne Colleen Franklin will become the bride of Daniel Scott Lloyd in a rose garden wedding July 14 in Tacoma.

The bride-to-be graduated from Peninsula High School and from nursing school at Biola College in Los Angeles. She spent time as a missionary in Taiwan and is currently a nurse at Anaheim Community Hospital. Her parents are Joan and Dan Franklin of Gig Harbor.

Her fiancé attended Green River Com-

Woodwinds appearing at library

The Woodwind Quintet of the Air Force Band of the Pacific Northwest will present a free concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 10, at the Federal Way Library, 848 S. 320th St.

The quintet, which is stationed at McChord Air Force Base, will perform a variety of classical works.

Longley-Parker rites at Steel Lake

A summer garden theme was created in Steel Lake Presbyterian Church when Laura Lucile Longley walked through an ivy-twined arch to become the bride of Kent Parker.

Rev. Lyle Starkey performed the wedding ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam H. Longley of 4009 S. 345th St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Parker of Snoqualmie, Wash.

The bride wore a gown of flocked organza over bridal satin fashioned by her mother. Her picture hat and flowing veil carried out her garden theme. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Bridal attendants were Mary Sweeney, maid of honor, and Genevieve Longley, Debbie Lovely, Margaret and Jim Lloyd of Federal Way.

bridesmaids. The attendants wore dresses of organza over green satin and matching green picture hats. Their flowers were nosegays of green cushion mums and pink daisies. Melinda Cunningham served as flower girl.

Roland Starr was the best man, and Todd Parker, Mike Daleke, Steve Edlund and Steve Simmons were the ushers.

The church social hall was decorated with yellow daisy bouquets for the reception which followed the ceremony. Mrs. Ted Enticknap, church hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Lyle Landon, Mrs. Allan Cunningham, Mrs. Louis Cunningham, Mrs. Elwin Parker, Mrs. Tom Mason, Patrice Sweeney, Mrs. John Walker and Vickie Walker.

The bride, a 1975 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School,

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Parker graduated from Washington State University and will attend graduate school at WSU in the fall. Her husband, a 1974 graduate of Mt. Si High School, is a senior at WSU. Following a wedding trip to Victoria, B.C., the couple will be at home in Des Moines for the summer, moving to Pullman in the fall.

Library series to continue

Federal Way Library will present the second in its series of "Families Facing Change" program at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 11. Bruce Bowersox from the Seattle chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union will discuss "Children in the Eyes of the Law." People of all ages are invited to attend.

Valley arts club plans Plaza show

Kent Valley Artists Club will hold an art show in the Parkway Plaza, one mile south of Southcenter, July 6, 7 and 8.

The show will be judged by Bill Harris. Prizes will be distributed by the chants Association. A free drawing will be held for a painting by Doris Hansen, club member.

Bulb sale mail order canceled

The Arboretum Foundation Unit Council will not conduct a summer mail order service for its annual bulb sale this year. All native bulbs, along with thousands of dry or Dutch-type bulbs, will be on sale Oct. 2 and 3 in the arboretum.

Couple married in candlelight rites

Large bouquets of spider mums, yellow and white daisies centered with white candles were used in Bible Baptist Church in Auburn for the recent wedding of Carrie Marie Lighty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lighty of 32642 39th Place S.W., and Roger Thomas Laughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Laughlin of Sumner. The bride wore a long-sleeved cream colored satin wedding gown with a full chapel-length train. The sleeves had diamond-shaped Italian lace insets and cuffs, and the neckline was trimmed with matching lace. She wore two clusters of stephanotis and yellow and white baby's breath in her hair and carried a fragrant bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis, baby's breath and greens with Hawaiian picacci streamers. Tammy Fosberg served as maid of honor, and Terrie Marie Lighty, Walton and Patty Laughlin were the bridesmaids. They wore long yellow dresses with short yellow and white daisy print jackets. Their bouquets were yellow and white daisies and yellow and white baby's breath with white and yellow streamers. The newlyweds honeymooned in Kona, Hawaii and will be at home in the Federal Way area. Special out-of-town guests who attended the ceremony were the bride's grandmother, Marie Schreiber from Portland, Ore.; her grandfather, E. F. Lighty from Santa Clara, Calif.; Her great-aunt, Betty Niederhaus from Portland; and aunt and uncle, Brad and Doris Lighty from San Jose, Calif., and another uncle from California, Larry Lighty.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Laughlin

They're engaged

The engagement of Laura Marie Patricelli and Marting Robert Thompson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Patricelli of 26618 Princeton Ave. The bride-elect graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School in 1978. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Schmaltz of 29120 45th Ave. S., graduated from the same high school in 1977 and attended Green River Community College. The couple will be married Sept. 25 in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

CURTAIN CALL by Snider Draperies

From wholesale sources the predictions is that materials will be woven wider so we can "railroad" material and thereby avoid seams in draperies. Some U.S. weaving mills will be geared for this type within 5 years.

Now available woven in Europe are several 118" wide sheers, in most colors. A new line of 118" decorative casement fabrics (from Italy) gives a choice of several dramatic weaves.

This new line features today's natural Earthtone colors. This is the beginning of a trend in decorating at the lowest possible pricing.

You should see this new line, especially if a floor to ceiling installation is required.

No cost or obligation for estimates in your home.

State garden clubs hold 46th convention

Washington State Federation of Garden Clubs held its 46th annual convention at the Hanford House Thunderbird in Richland with more than 600 women, including 10 representatives of the Des Moines-Zenith club, attending.

Local delegates included Mrs. Henry Lyle, Mrs. Harry Meyers, Mrs. John Kessler, Mrs. George Buehler, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Robert Pruin, Mrs. Donald Fisher, Mrs. Harley Curry, Mrs. Roger Carter and Mrs. Rex Cook.

Pre-convention activities included a directors' luncheon, a state board dinner honoring state officers and directors and a dinner for members who arrived early. Prior to the formal opening of the convention the next day, a breakfast was held honoring all garden club presidents, with Mrs. Lyle, president of the Des Moines-Zenith club giving the invocation.

State officers and district directors presented their annual reports at the first business session at which Mrs. Glenn R. Crawford of Kent, outgoing president, presided.

The day's awards luncheon, "Midday Melody," was held at poolside with garden club members wearing historical costumes. Luncheon highlight was the presentation of a "Hysterical History" style show.

The dinner that evening honored the Pacific regional director, past state presidents and the staff of "Smoke Signal," the federation's statewide publication. Mrs. Kessler of the Des Moines-Zenith club presented the state flower show awards.

Luncheon the next day honored presidents and directors and featured the presentation of awards to honor clubs and a program on "World Gardening." At a second luncheon, judges, landscape design critics and instructors took part in a discussion panel, and a program, "The Endless Chain," an ecology film from the ALE Project by Battelle-Northwest, was presented.

New officers were installed at the closing banquet, including Mrs. Floyd H. Hatcher of the Snoqualmie District who is the new president. Mrs. Carl Dahlgren of Concord, N.H., was the installing officer. The evening program was titled "The Timeless Art of Flower Arrangement."

Kent takes Am. Legion sweep

Silent bats foil FW

by Harry Brooks

The big showdown ended, and it appeared Federal Way never showed up.

Kent American Legion pitchers Darren Swanson and Howard Hilde silenced Federal Way bats for a double-header total of three hits Monday night as Kent upped its undefeated string in the Southern Division to 10-0 by taking 6-2 and 3-1 wins over the locals.

"You could see it before the game," a downcast Federal Way coach Jim Torina muttered after the twin killing. "We weren't ready to go after them. Our players wanted it, but they just weren't in the groove."

Two wins Monday would have placed Federal Way into a first-place tie with Kent, but the double-dismal outcome put the Feds four games out of the division lead. Federal Way, 6-4, now must be aware of Burien, which had a 3-4 record before last night's action (results unavailable).

Monday's losses snapped a four-game Federal Way win streak. The Feds had hoped to spending last weekend bedefending a tournament championship they won in Vancouver, Canada last year. However, league officials refused to make that possible by not postponing a Sunday game between Federal Way and Mercer Island. What the league reps refused to waylay, the weather conditions did.

"IT SORT of upset our player when they found out they couldn't go to Canada, but I don't want to make any excuses for what happened tonight," Torina said Monday.

Instead, the FW coach lauded the mound efforts of Swanson and Hilde.

Swanson, who upped his overall record to 8-0, did not allow a base runner for six and a third innings. Mark Hillis' walk broke the perfect.

Buckholz again proved the culprit in the second game. His fourth-inning double to deep left center spoiled Hilde's chance at a no-hitter. He and Dave Greening, who got on via a shortstop error, were Federal Way's only base runners of the second contest. Greening was called out for interference moments after receiving first base. Buckholz, with one out, moved to third on a passed ball, but Kent left him stranded on two infield ground outs.

Hilde, who increased his mark to 4-2, struck out nine in seven innings work.

KENT USED two singles and two sacrifice bunts to score two runs in the first inning of game 1. Two walks and another sac-bunt provided a second-inning score. Hilde's two-run homer over the left-field fence upped the margin to 5-0 after four, and three sixth-inning singles produced another run in the sixth.

In the second game, Troy Stewart walked, stole second and came home on Dave Gard's bad-hop single off shortstop Jim Bendorf's chest in the fourth. Kent added a run in the fifth, via Darin Lang's single and Hilde's double, and capped the night's scoring when Troy Stewart doubled and came in on a shortstop throwing error.

Federal Way will travel to Richland and Pasco this weekend before resuming league action. Torina looks to the road trip as a chance to get his club back on track.

Hard-hitting WIL Feds walk out of Canada

by Harry Brooks

Walks hurt. The Federal Way Concrete Pacific WIL team reiterated that bit of baseball fact last weekend in the Pacific International Baseball Tournament in Vancouver, Canada.

"Could you believe we had 32 hits in two games and lost them both?" a discouraged Federal Way manager Ron Bendorf knowingly sked.

Yes, it is believable considering that Federal Way hurlers gave up 20 walks in the two contests. Five of six free passes issued in the first game figured into Victoria's 9-5 victory over the locals. Three FW pitchers gave up an awesome 14 ball-fours, which were key elements in a 13-9 loss to Burnaby in 10 innings.

The lack of pitching accuracy is of utmost concern to Bendorf, whose recent optimistic outlook about the FW mound situation took an about-face after last weekend's performances.

"We need some pitching or we're not going to be able to hack it in this brand of ball," he flatly stated. "Our offense is fine. We're hitting the ball and scoring enough runs to win, but we get the lead and just can't hold it."

BENDORF NOW is trying to change the situation via the recruiting route.

"It's no one's fault, really," he said. "We're a first-year club with a lot of young players. They just aren't capable of pitching nine innings yet. We need someone that can go the distance or at least can come in and hold the other team down in the late innings."

The two Canadian clubs used late-inning rallies to overcome Federal Way last weekend.

A three-run homer highlighted a five-run 10th inning that propelled Burnaby past Federal Way in the Feds' second tourney outing. Federal Way made a comeback bid in the bottom of the 10th when Kevin a Tim Swanson hit. But, after issuing a base on balls to Mark Textor, Burnaby stopped the Feds' bid.

While Federal Way pitchers were struggling to find the strike zone, their offensive counterparts weren't having any problems making bat contact on Burnaby hurlers.

Swanson ended the game with four hits in six at-bats and knocked home four runs. Jerry Bendorf's five-for-six performance included a 420-foot homer in the second inning. Vallala smacked two hits in four chances.

Federal Way jumped to a 4-1 lead after two innings. Bendorf opened the first with a triple to left. Swanson knocked him home with a single and made the circuit on Mark Textor's double.

In the second inning, Ken Darcy reached first on an infield error and preceded Bendorf to the plate on the latter's booming round-tripper.

Burnaby tied the score at 4-1 in the top of the fourth, but Federal Way moved to a two-run advantage in the bottom of that stanza. Vallala's single brought in Dale Winebrenner, who began the rally with a double. Vallala moved to second on a fielder's choice and sprinted home on a Swanson single.

Swanson's bat produced

Federal Way's two-run sixth inning. Vallal began the inning with a single and advanced to third on a Bendorf hit. Bendorf stole second, and he and Vallala zipped home on another Swanson single.

However, Federal Way ontrou problems keyed Burnaby's two-run outputs in each of the next two innings, and the Canadians drove to victory with their 10th-inning explosion.

FEDERAL WAY also took an early lead in its first game of tourney but had it evaporate in the late stages.

Singles by Bendorf, Sluys and Textor gave the locals a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Dale Winebrenner's double, followed by a Vallala single, upped the margin to 2-0 in the second.

Victoria struck for three runs in the third via two walks, a single and a double, but Federal Way recaptured the lead with two scores in the bottom of the fourth. Vallala's single chased home Ken Darcy and Mark Koult, who earlier had walked and singled respectively.

Victoria countered with two runs on three hits and walk in the fifth and added another run in the sixth, using a single, two base-on-balls and a sacrifice.

Federal Way moved to within a single run, at 6-5, in the last of the seventh. Winebrenner and Darcy smacked back-to-back singles. Koult scored Winebrenner with a hit through the shortstop hole.

However, Victoria used a triple and three straight singles in the ninth to cushion its win.

VALLALA GREETED Victoria pitching with three hits in five at-bats. Winebrenner and Koult were each two-for-five.

Federal Way took its 2-10 Seattle WIL League record into yesterday's game with Eriksson. The Feds travel to Everett CC tomorrow for a 7:30 p.m. contest against the H and L Twins.

Charlotte Greene, of Twin Lakes Golf and Country Club, won the under-11-years competition in the Washington Junior Sub-District Golf Tournament at Auburn Golf Course. Greene, 10, covered a nine-hole distance in 63 strokes. The event marked her first effort in competitive golf.

Other top performances: Kathy Brunelly, of Federal Way, lofted a softball 161 feet to set a new meet record in the Jesse Owens Youth Track Meet. Debbie Mather, also from Federal Way, took a first int eh girls' 10 and 11 years long jump with a leap of 13-feet, 2-inches.

Jerry Bendorf of the Federal Way WIL baseball team smacked a 420-foot homer against Burnaby during a tournament in Vancouver last weekend. The wallop was part of Bendorf's five-for-six performance in a game against Burnaby.

Renee Haxby, a Thomas Jefferson High senior, recently finished third in the Pacific Northwest Body Building Contest at the

Charlotte Greene

Seattle Opera House.

Mark Westbrook, of the Burien American Legion team, tallied five RBIs in three games last weekend. He increased his batting average above the .500 mark.

Burienites win two of three weekend games

The Burien American Legion team overcame a scarcity of available pitchers this weekend by the best means possible: hitting the ball hard.

The Burienites pounded out 24 hits in a 12-11, 10-5 doubleheader sweep at Enumclaw Saturday. Friday, the Legions' bats lay largely dormant in a 3-2 loss to Auburn. Burien is 5-5 in league play.

Burien head coach Lou Bomber had planned to use Kerry Boatwright and Dean Holmes on the mound for the Saturday twin bill, but Boatwright could not attend the game and Holmes was plagued with a recurrence of the arm problem that has nagged him most of the Legion season.

So Mark Westbrook moved over from first base to take over mound duties in the first game. He had not pitched in Legion competition since last summer.

Enumclaw struck for one run in the second and five in the third to leap ahead 6-0. Errors behind Westbrook were costly. But Burien had not yet begun to fight.

The locals exploded for five runs of their own in the bottom of the third. Jerry Stuns got things rolling with a single. Jim Doane walked, Kelly Sutton single and Westbrook knocked in two with another single.

Allen Johnson followed up with a two-RBI single. Jeff Ainsworth got the final RBI as he worked for a bases-loaded walk.

Burien got another two runs in the fourth on Bruce Rieker's two-run double to lead 7-6.

Westbrook tired in the fifth, allowing two Enumclaw runs before giving way to reliever Kevin Konishi, who also had not pitched in a year. Enumclaw tallied three more times before Konishi could put out the fire.

Trailing 11-7, Burien went to work with the lumber again, scoring three times in the bottom of the sixth.

ALLEN JOHNSON tagged a two-run homer for the locals, and Dennis Fite singled in one run.

It was Johnson

again who provided the game-winning power as he tripled in a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh. The catcher had six RBI's in the contest.

Sutton was 3-4, Doane 2-4, Rieker 2-4 with two doubles, Bill Dickerson 2-4 and Westbrook had three RBI's to pace the local hitters.

Burien's hitting momentum swung into the second game of the day. The locals scored five runs in the bottom of the second inning, with Doane's three-RBI single the big blow.

Dickerson's two-run single in the third upped the Burien lead to 7-1.

Gordy Hale doubled in one run and Holmes doubled in two more as Burien scored three in the sixth.

Jeff Ainsworth, another inexperienced pitcher, went the distance for Burien. He gave up six Enumclaw hits, and was effective before tiring in the seventh inning when the visitors scored three runs.

Friday night, costly errors and an inability to score with runners on base contributed to the close defeat to Auburn. Westbrook, who is hitting .500 on the season (16 for 32), was 2-3 for Burien.

Athletics dump Rams, nab Red Division title

The Jim Moore Steak House Athletics defeated the Coluccio Construction Rams twice to capture the Red Division title of the Burien Blazer Pony League post season tournament held last weekend at Moshier Field.

The Athletics came into the championship game needing to win two games since they had lost earlier in the double-elimination tournament to the Rams by a score of 7-6.

In the first game, the Athletics pounded out seven hits compared to four for the Rams and eked out a 3-2 win. Rick Jones picked up the pitching win for the Athletics.

Scott Sacco picked up the only extra base hit of the contest, as he doubled late in the game and eventually scored the winning run.

In the final game, the Rams struck for a single tally in the first inning on an error by Athletics pitcher Pat Flynn. Flynn settled down after that and allowed only two hits over the next six innings.

Meanwhile, the Athletics scored the equalizer in the third with the aid of a walk, sacrifice and passed ball. The Athletics moved out on top 2-1 in the fourth inning thanks mainly to a double by Craig Carlson. The Athletics added the final run of the game in the fifth inning, when Bob Weisser got aboard on an error — one of six committed by the Rams — advanced to third on a double by Flynn and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Erik Weaver.

It was the fourth win in five games for the Athletics over the Rams and the division champs finished the season with a 23-1 record.

In first round tournament action, the Dodgers defeated the Mariners 11-1 while the Giants dumped the Cubs 9-5. In second round action, the Athletics nipped the Giants 5-2 and the Mariners eliminated the Cubs 15-8. In semi-final play, the Rams scored four runs in the top of the seventh inning to sneak by the Athletics 7-6 and the Dodgers narrowly escaped with a 4-3 win over the Giants after losing a 11-2 verdict to the Rams. The Dodgers then defeated the Mariners 7-2 before falling to the Athletics 7-5 in the quarter-finals. That set the stage for the championship game between the Athletics and Rams.

There They Go!

So you want to buy a horse

There are so many ways to do this, but one approach to avoid is the "emotional binge." Just because he "looks nice" or "seems to run well" you could make several bad mistakes.

The Washington Horse Breeders' Association annually sponsors three sales. There are numerous private sales. Add to this the open claiming procedure originated at Longacres several years ago and you have the best of opportunities available for a prospective owner.

Your first move should be to employ a successful reliable trainer who can direct you to a successful and well-trained vet. Next, get a copy of the sales catalog and you're pretty well equipped to begin inspection of prospective purchases.

In the study of blood lines common sense takes you first to the entire pedigree. Next in line is the conformation of the animal. Does he have any noticeable deficiencies? He must have straight legs and good head structure. Don't forget to look in his mouth.

In examining the pedigree and blood lines some people are partial to the dam for speed and the sire for stamina and strength. This is not a "rule of thumb" thing but is generally a fair guide to help you find the kind of horse you're looking for. Some are of the opinion that the dam is the predominate factor. Others feel that the blood lines and pedigree are the important items.

In all events after you have done your homework rely pretty heavily on the advice of your trainer and vet. They are experts in their fields. After you have made the decision, don't just stand there. Get into action!

Salmon enhancement plan proposed by Fisheries

The Washington Department of Fisheries published recently a draft plan that it hopes will begin the development of a long-range salmon management and enhancement plan for Puget Sound. The draft has been distributed to the state's Salmon Advisory Council, all Washington treaty Indian tribes and virtually every state and federal agency and organization concerned with salmon management. Each recipient is asked for input to the draft to be discussed at a meeting of all concerned tribal, state and federal agencies.

Washington Department of Fisheries officials believe that the proposals in the draft plan would increase the sustained salmon production and yield in Puget Sound.

Specifically the draft plan addresses the basic problem of managing a "mixed stock" (hatchery vs. naturally produced) fishery and formalizes into a comprehensive continuing plan many management practices used now.

Among the changes

the draft proposes are techniques that will increase protection of natural salmon runs (wild stocks) in some areas. Examples of this are plans for the Skagit, Stillaguamish and Snohomish Rivers which represent the bulk of the natural salmon production for Puget Sound. The only hatchery fish releases on these rivers would be to maintain brood stocks and all harvest management efforts will be to ensure escapement of optimum numbers of wild fish in the natural run. In every other river system in Puget Sound, at least one species of salmon will be managed on the basis of the best escapement to the natural run. For example: Harvest of coho in Hood Canal and chum salmon in south Puget Sound and Bellingham Bay would be managed on the basis of the natural run.

Duane Phinney, an assistant chief of the Fisheries Department's Harvest Management Division points out that some salmon stocks must be managed for the hatchery run to ensure maximum production. "Total protection of all natural runs would eliminate more than two-thirds of the salmon catch originating in Puget Sound," Phinney stated. "We could expect losses of catch in the neighborhood of some 90,000 chinook in Bellingham Bay and 400,000 - 500,000 coho and 200,000 chum in Puget Sound," he continued.

Fisheries Department Deputy Director, Frank Haw, observed, "As anyone familiar with the Columbia River knows, conditions aren't what they were 200 years ago. We have some four million people now living in Washington and depending solely on natural runs, won't produce a satisfactory result. A balanced approach utilizing technology, artificial production while maintaining and, where practical, restoring natural runs and habitat will do the job."

Haw emphasized that the draft is not a final plan but a proposal to be discussed at the upcoming meetings.

Undefeated St. Vincent beats Memorial I, 5-2

Dennis Olsen's two-run triple was the big blow in a game between unbeaten clubs this past week in the Federal Way Recreation Church Softball League.

Olsen's hit followed a walk and a hit batter. It broke up a scoreless tie between Landgren Memorial I and St. Vincent de Paul I. Jim Tinsley scored Olsen with a sacrifice fly. That was all St. Vincent I needed in a 5-2 victory.

Each team could muster only four hits as Red Heritage of Landgren hooked up with Paul Ottoson and Jim Tinsley of St. Vincent in a pitchers duel. Heritage pitched Landgren I to a 6-0 win over Landgren II earlier in the week. He allowed just two hits while striking out six. Landgren II pulled off a triple play during that game.

Landgren II dropped a second game last week when Evergreen Bible Chapel beat them, 8-2. Steel Lake Presbyterian won a 26-13 slugfest from St. Vincent II. Dale Anderson had two homeruns, Rick Teller one and Gene Bingham had a grand slam and eight runs batted in for the winners. Brian Cleary and Ken Height homered in a losing cause.

Midway Covenant scored five runs in the top of the seventh inning to edge Lutheran Church of the Cross, 11-8. Phil Hanson's two run single was the big blow for Midway in the inning.

Henry Burcar's shoestring catch with the tying and winning runs on base saved the game for St. Theresa in a 4-3 win over All Saints Lutheran.

In other games, Christ Lutheran beat Des Moines Gospel and Bethel Chapel crushed Trinity Lutheran, 20-5.

The last two weeks of the season will have a lot of teams shooting for the final spots in the post season tournaments. Teams with the six best records will be

High school playoff sites announced

Additional sites for regional and state high school tournaments for 1979-80 have been announced by the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association.

Class AAA regional wrestling will be at Juanita with the AA scheduled for Franklin Pierce High School in Parkland for all Highline area schools.

Girls' regional basketball sites will be Edmonds, Roosevelt, Fort Vancouver and Walla Walla for AAA and A n a c o r t e s, Washington High, Shelton and Cheney for AA. The girls' A state tournament will be played at Central Washington University while the B tournaments is scheduled for St. Martin's College in Olympia.

Boys' regional basketball activity is scheduled for the Seattle Center Arena, University of Washington, University of Puget Sound and Spokane Coliseum in AAA and Marysville, Pacific Lutheran University, St. Martin's and Central Washington in AA.

The girls' gymnastics meet will be at Sammamish and boys' at Bothell. Soccer action is scheduled for Federal Way and Seattle.

Local women bowlers score high in tourney

Valley Women's Bowling Association records were shattered by the Daffodil Bowl team at the Champ of Champions Tournament held recently at Daffodil Bowl in Puyallup.

Forty-one first-place league teams accepted the challenge of competing against one another. Teams invited to participate represented bowlers from Enumclaw Lanes, Hillside Lanes in Auburn, Kent Bowl, Cascade Lanes in Renton, Secoma and Daffodil Bowl. High team scratch score for one game of 1,163, along with the winning team totals of 3,146 will put the Daffodil Bowl team in the WIBC's (Women's International Bowling Congress) record book as being the all time top 10 totals.

Dorene Olsen, lead-off bowler, who carries an average of 191, set a sizzling pace as she opened with a 215. She followed with the tournament's high game of 277 and closed with a 217, giving her a total of 709. This score broke the record of the VWBA's highest series to date by one pin. Team member Cle Dittmore, average 189, came up with a 211 and 555 series, her daughter, Sheryl Munson, average 169, scored 230 and 632. Another daughter, Anita Rogers, average 169, racked up a 254 and 651. VWBA All Star Bowler, and team anchorman, Penny Wilson, average 194, whipped up a 213 and 599, making a record handicap total of 3165.

Seattle-Alaska boat trip scheduled

The first non-stop trip by inflatable boats from Seattle to Ketchikan, Alaska will be attempted Saturday, July 6 at 5 p.m. from Seattle Public Dock 49.

The boats are a Metzeler "Elefant," 14 1/2 feet long, and a 13-foot Semperit GTL 400. The crew will include two pilots and two navigators.

The course will follow the "inside passage" and will include 16 hours of cruising in the dark. Average speed will be 35 knots. The boats will be equipped with VHF radios, 45 and 70 horsepower engines, fuel storage tanks and exposure suits for the crew members.

Outdoor tips and tales

by Herb Williams

One of the dogmas of summer run steelhead fishing is that you should be on the river fishing at the break of day, before the sun peaks over the trees and hits the surface of the water. A second dogma is similar, that the last hours of the day also are good.

There's no question about these rules. They are true, but at times the middle of the day can be one of the most productive times. This is especially true if the river is a popular one and you have a lot of other anglers working the water.

river for their noon lunches and naps or both. You can find yourself almost alone at mid-day on a popular river. And to your delight, the steelhead, after being forced into their hidey holes, come back out to make up for the lost feeding time.

This is a time to walk quietly, for the fish can be driven to cover at mid-day just as well as in the morning. However, they aren't apt to be in the shallow water at this time of day, so the chances of their seeing you can be less than they are in the early hours of the day.

The sun bearing down more directly on the water will give you better visibility of the holes, rocks, sunken logs and other things that create feeding water, as well as grabbing your gear in the darker hours of dawn or dusk.

Polaroid glasses are worth their weight in gold at times such as these, and let you fish the better spots without casting blind quite as much as you must do when you can't see into the water as well earlier in the day.

You can fish all three times, of course, morning, noon and night. But during summer steelhead time, morning starts around 5 a.m. and it isn't dark until around 9 p.m. That's a mighty long day.

It isn't necessary if you can master this mid-day fishing.

... A toenail that is too long can turn a pleasant hike into a time of misery.

If you realize that a toenail is giving you trouble, stop right then and trim it down to size. Otherwise you are asking for a toe that can bother you for the rest of the hike, and even lead to an infection.

Improved endangered species act sought

Concerned that present wording of federal legislation on endangered species could "create" hundreds of species of salmon, Gordon Sandison, director of the Washington Department of Fisheries has sent a letter listing these views and possible consequences to Washington's multimillion dollar salmon fishing industry to the state's congressional delegation in Washington D.C.

Citing Fisheries Department responsibilities under existing state laws, Sandison said that he hoped his letter would result in an improved Endangered Species Act.

Present endangered species legislation defines species as "any subspecies of fish ... and any distinct population segment of any species of ... fish ... which interbreeds when mature."

"Present legislation on endangered species is commendable," Sandison explained. "However, specific provisions of the Act permit definitions of species that could adversely affect the special characteristics and harvest methods of Pacific salmon." Sandison said that since salmon return to the particular streams from which they originate to spawn, the numbers of potential salmon "species," as defined by the Act, are potentially as numerous as the numbers of streams hosting spawning populations multiplied by the numbers of different kinds of salmon using the stream.

In October of 1978, an Idaho citizen requested a congressional oversight subcommittee to examine upper Columbia River salmon and steelhead stocks for possible listing under the Endangered Species Act. The legislation, designed to prevent extinction of threatened or endangered plant and animal species, could prohibit salmon fishing in certain coastal areas.

The oversight subcommittee examination is scheduled to be completed next year. Sandison pointed out that, although the Columbia River is

by Terry M. Sell

In the rain-shortened Seattle Invitational Fastpitch Softball Tournament, Peterbilt Western and Westside Federal made the most of what time they had.

The Truckers and the Feds emerged one-two in one division of the tournament, qualifying Peterbilt as co-champs with the All-O-Matic A's from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, and making Westside co-runners up with the Portland Lakers.

Sunday, a day of rain and rest after Friday night encounters and four games on Saturday, was supposed to feature a double-elimination playoff amongst those four squads. Gray skies and wet fields with more liquid sunshine drizzling forth ended any hope of that, and the event was ended.

The Truckers ended up 5-0 and in first place in their division, having dispatched Westside (the Feds' only loss), Ruth Realty, Longview Boondox, B & I Sports of Tacoma and Clearbrook, B.C. Westside beat the final four of that list to end up second.

Peterbilt continued to play as though asleep, stretching its win streak to 27 games, with the major-league fastpitch record on only two games away.

"The guys are all aware of it and they're trying to do better," said Peterbilt manager Tom Wagner. "I'm very proud of the team. Whatever it is, I hope we continue playing that way."

Westside has spent most of the year at the opposite end of the spectrum, struggling without pitching to a 3-25 record in the Northwest League. But with ex-Feds Bob Shaw and Casey Davidson along to take the strain off redoubtable Jack Lee, WS responded with guts.

"Everybody did their job and they fought all the time," said Westside manager Bob Beyers, who had the most valuable player (shortstop Tim Sullivan — one homer and three triples) and the most valuable pitcher (Bob Shaw) under his wing.

Peterbilt opened with three straight wins, starting with a 4-1 decision over Longview Boondox. Graham Arnold scattered six hits in that one, and Rich Fredrickson tripled in two runs in the top of the sixth to break a 1-1 deadlock.

With Davidson on the mound for Westside, the Feds beat Clearbrook in their first game, also Friday night.

Game two put Peterbilt against B & I, with Robin Cutting stifling the sportsmen on two hits on his way to an 8-1 victory.

Jeff Borrer homered with Mike Bishop aboard in the fourth inning, perhaps the longest softball shot ever lofted in Ft. Dent.

Jack Lee, rested and ready, allowed only two runs in a 4-2 win for Westside over Ruth Realty, a top Cascade League team. The Feds got three runs in the top of the fourth to win it.

Peterbilt edged the same realtors, 3-1, with ex-Westside pitcher Steve Thompson doing the honors with a five-hitter. RBI singles by Larry Seabaugh and Roger Bledsoe, sandwiched around Greg VanGaver's leadoff double and Greg Flynn's grounder produced the winning runs.

Westside set up a showdown between the two local clubs by beating Longview 4-3 in 11 innings.

Scott Tiroux tripled in the top of the seventh, scoring Fred Witham to tie the score at 2-2. Shaw and Gary Earnest dueled it out until the top of the 11th, when the Feds came through.

Sullivan led off with a triple, and scored on Melton's lineshot single to left. Melton advanced on Nokes' sacrifice, and scored on Witham's single up the middle.

Longview got one in the bottom of the stanza, but Shaw weathered the storm to earn the win.

That put Peterbilt and Westside together as the only remaining undefeated clubs in their division, with game four the big showdown.

With Thompson pitching, the Truckers managed to run up a 7-0 lead before the Feds woke up.

That included a three-run flurry in the top of the sixth, started by four straight walks from Davidson.

Sullivan tripled in Mike Brosio for one run in the bottom of the inning, but the seventh was barn-encineration time.

Thompson issued four walks of his own, along with singles by Witham and Abel for four runs.

Arnold came in, with the tying runs (Brosio and Abel) on first and second, and the suddenly-dangerous Sullivan at bat and only one out.

Arnold dished off three straight balls, then three straight strikes to fan Sullivan, and Joe Nokes picked off Melton's liner at third base to end the game.

Westside came back on B & I, with Shaw shutting them out 4-0. Hanson unleashed a two-run single in the top of the third for the winning runs.

Peterbilt, with the division crown safely in mitt, came from behind with a 7-3 win over Clearbrook.

Each manager was pleased with his squad's performance, though Beyers had some wishes that Sunday's rain hadn't come.

"If it hadn't rained we had three good pitchers to be in the finals," he lamented, basking in wealth for the first time all year.

Wagner's club, after endless of weeks of action over the last month, played B & I in a league contest last night (results unavailable) and doesn't get back into it until next Tuesday (v. Westside, 7:30 p.m., White Center).

"We need it," he sighed.

Wagner was excited particularly about the team's win over Clearbrook in the final game, after having already clinched the division.

"I think they won that game more on pride than anything else," he surmised. "We really had nothing to win."

Federal Way Little League ended its 1979 baseball campaign with the Senior Division Majors (13- to 15-year-olds) being rained out their final two games.

D.J.'s Sound City wasn't bothered by the rain-shortened season having built up an impressive 12 and 3 mark with consistent defense and fine pitching to win the league trophy.

Players for D.J.'s are Bill Williamson, Eddie Kuckynka, Mike Meyers, Chuck Thompson, Jeff Thomas, Grant Gibbs, Wayne Koonce, Joe McArthur, Danny Moore, Scott Sakamoto, Todd Sedlacek, Brian Strick and John Thompson.

Now that regular season play has ended most charters have turned to the business of All-Star competition. The following boys will compete on the National Majors All-Star team in White Center later this month: Kevin Andal, Bobby Atherton, Jeff Coma, John Davis, Jarrod Hainline, Ray Hoff, David Link, Mark Loes, Brad McCellan, Jerry Morrison, Larry Reynolds, Nick Schichtle, Barry Schmidt, Jeff Sparling, Mark Steincrebe, Brance Watson, and Jeff Wise. The team will be coached by Gerry Coon, who will be assisted by Carl Steincrebe.

Those representing the American Charter at the Majors All-Star Tournament are: Brian Davis, Joey Fitzgerald, Tony French, Scott Goodell, Darrin Green, Larry Pifer, Gary Richards, Jim Shannon, Robert Steinmetz, Jeff Taylor, Bryan Tebeau, Lance Ulrigg, Kurt Wagner and Jay Ward. Tom Wagner will be coaching this All-Star team, assisted by Bill Richards.

The National Charter AAA All-Stars are: Brian Alexander, Lincoln Anderson, Jason Andrews, Sean Childs, Todd

Dobson, Charles Hahn, Scot Hansen, David Jetton, Russell Kaiser, Blaine Kenison, Steve Lee, Gordy McCarty, Dennis Moen, Norm Seaholm, Dennis Travica, John Webster and David Weed.

National's Major-Minor All Stars are as follows: John Barrows, Brian Bongaarts, Tony Coon, Sean Crotty, Brian Cumont, Rick Earlywine, C.C. Edwards, Nathan Estruth, John Gemar, Doug McKee, Jarrett Mentink, Mike Reed, Dan Reichl, Leonard Rohleder, Todd Snyder and Dan Weiss.

HOME OF THE WEEK

BROWN'S POINT RETREAT!

As our Home of the Week we are proud to feature this spacious Bi-level in the desirable Brown's Point area! This charming home has had the best of care from the conscientious owners who have just installed new carpeting. It's clean as a whistle and pretty as a picture. It has a super Rec-room with fireplace and room for a fourth bedroom downstairs, too! But what really puts the icing on the cake are the terms! The owners will accept FHA-VA or Conventional financing! Needless to say, it won't last. Just $75,000. Ad#3-113

"WE GOTTA GO!"

The owner says "We gotta go!" They've been transferred and have now reduced the price on their beautiful Tri-level home with it's Sound and mountain View! This charming home is only a year old and better than new! It has three bedrooms, multiple baths, a huge Rec-room with arched brick fireplace, and a nicely landscaped lot, but the best part is the price! Only $78,500! Ad #3-86

GOING...GOING...GONE!

This charming basement Rambler won't last long! Del Bianco Realty

Monahan promoted

by Kevin Stauffer
Tom Monahan, former assistant manager of Del Bianco Real Estate's West Seattle office, has recently been appointed as the sales manager of Del Bianco in Burien.

A one-time sales record holder for all Del Bianco offices, Monahan began his role as sales manager on June 18. Monahan is approaching his fifth year of employment at Del Bianco.

Monahan will be filling a newly created position at the Burien office, guiding a training program and assisting the current staff of salespeople as well as a projected eight new salespeople at Del Bianco Burien.

"The reason for my promotion is that we're going to be building the sales staff in this office from 22 to 30 people, and expanding into another part of this office building," Monahan said.

"This has always been one of our best offices; we've got a good nucleus of salespeople," Monahan continued on the Burien Del Bianco office. "It just needs stepping up, which will happen with the addition of new people."

The new sales staff members will receive guidance from Monahan and the new training program.

"We're going to institute a formal training program which will last six months, so the new sales people will have constant help from a non-selling manager," Monahan explained. "I'll be helping them and promoting the work of the office."

An important aspect of Monahan's new role is the fact that his title as sales manager is a recently developed position designed to add power to Del Bianco's management in each office.

"Sales manager is a new office for our company," Monahan said. "Before we just had a branch manager, who tried to do everything; the sales manager beeps up the management team at an office."

"The sales manager strengthens the management force in the office to better help the salespeople, which will in turn help our clients, buyers and sellers."

In addition to training and "helping salespeople originate business," Monahan will attempt to scout out new business for the well-located Burien office.

"Logistics-wise, I think this is the best location," Monahan said of his new office. "We have accessibility to West Seattle, Federal Way and at least the West Hill area of Kent. This office has lacked some because there's not that much going on here, but there's enough land around."

"I'll be going out to find new property, construction and condominiums for this office to work on. A residential real estate office is really boosted by new construction; it's a shot in the arm."

As a sales manager, Tom Monahan will be looking to give Del Bianco in Burien a shot in the arm.

Wallace & Wheeler

New office in Burien

Wallace and Wheeler Real Estate recently expanded operations to include a Burien office.

Duncan Wallace is the designated broker of the new office, located at 401 S.W. 153rd in Burien. The new office is the 18th Wallace and Wheeler building to open for business.

"We're finally here," said Office Manager Gary Vena while looking over the scantily-furnished office.

"We've been in here two weeks; there's still lots to do. They're still installing the rest of the phones, and there will be a separate broker's office and closing rooms," Vena continued.

Interior walls will set off the broker's office, two separate rooms for closings and conferences, and individual spaces for salespeople. The sales staff consists of six people now, but will expand to a working force of 15 to 20 by the end of the year, according to Vena.

"We have a small nucleus now, but they're out producing and we're hiring every day," Vena said. We're growing now; we want to have a blend of experienced and new people.

"Wallace and Wheeler is one of the largest and most productive realties in King County, and they felt that with just one office in Federal Way and the next office in the Madison Park area, the Burien area wasn't covered," Vena explained. Vena feels that one of the biggest factors which will help Wallace and Wheeler service Burien is the realty's membership with RELO, the national relocation service. This service lists those people moving from and to different areas across the country.

"RELO is the oldest and largest of relocation services, and it works great. We get about 10 referrals a week; it's a tremendous sales advantage for the salespeople and a pretty neat system," Vena said.

"We belong to every multiple-listing service in Pierce, King and Snohomish county, and that's an advantage," Vena continued. "We also just hooked up to a computer, which allows us to do property analysis and analyze seller's property."

When completed, the new Wallace and Wheeler location will conduct an open house, which could occur within the next month.

"We'll have an open house, depending on when the interior is finished," Vena explained. "Probably, the grand opening will be at the end of July or the first part of August."

Vena is confident of the new Wallace and Wheeler location and the realty in general.

"Before long, Wallace and Wheeler will be strong in the area," Vena said. "We have an attractive building and a good location; it's one of the nicest offices Wallace and Wheeler has, just from appearance."

GENERAL REALTY

Real Estate

By Bob Del Bianco REALTOR
CONDEMNATION

It's a real shock when you're told that part (or all) of your property will be taken for a new highway, sewer line, high tension line or other public use. It's usually an even greater shock when the representative of the public utility, highway department or government tells you what they propose to pay.

Relax and react rationally. Your property may be taken if it is really needed for public use but you must be compensated at "fair market value." If the initial offer is unacceptable, make an appointment to discuss the facts with your attorney. If he agrees with your position, he'll arrange for one or more Real Estate Appraisers to appraise the condemned property for you. With the facts they give him about "fair market value," he can represent you better in direct negotiation, at a preliminary hearing, or (if necessary) in a court action.

One caution - Have a clear understanding of the fees of attorney and appraisers before engaging them.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate please phone or drop in at your local DEL BIANCO REALTY INC., offices. We're here to help!

SUMMARY, Adopted June 25, 1979.

TITLE: Establishing the Des Moines Harbor Code, regulating operation of vessels in the Marina, authorizing issuance of Marina rules and regulations by the City Manager, setting controls on moorage, defining offenses and providing penalties and repealing Ordinances No. 272 and 331.

Section 1. Provides definition for terms used.

Section 2. Establishes operational rules including "rules of the road"; speed regulation; intoxication controls; and procedures for accidents and accident reports.

Section 3. Sets up equipment requirements for vessels including identifying name or number; fire fighting equipment; effective mufflers; and provides authority to refuse moorage to hazardous vessels.

Section 4. Authorizes the City Manager issue and enforce rules and regulations for the safe and efficient operation of the Marina and requires Chief of Police to establish reasonable traffic and parking regulations, including limiting parking to those using the Marina.

Section 5. Provides controls on use of Marina property, including waste disposal; obstructions on floats; swimming, water-skiing or diving; abatement of nuisances; limits on access to floats; noise violations; smoking; alcoholic beverages; dogs; and commercial usage. Subsequent H provides: Control of Fire Fighting and Other Emergency Equipment. All Marina fire extinguishers, fire fighting equipment and emergency equipment are to be used only for the fighting of fires and for appropriate emergency situations. Any unauthorized use of such equipment is unlawful. Conviction of a violation of the provisions of this subsection shall be punished by a fine of no less than two hundred and fifty dollars plus restitution.

Section 6. Establishes penalties if false information is supplied on any Marina account record and requires all persons using Marina facilities to pay all applicable charges.

Cook lets 'Jaws' loose in kitchen

It was love at first sight for Christie Williamns, a Federal homemaker, and her food processor.

When Mrs. Williamns attended a food processor demonstration one day, she knew she just had to have the incredible kitchen machine.

Since then the energetic cook has acquired culinary expertise with her machine and has gone on to teach classes and write her own cookbook, "What's Cooking?"

After discovering her hidden facet for a food processor, Mrs. Williamns thoroughly investigated the different manufactured brands until she finally decided upon the Cuisinart.

Her diligent research and understanding of the kitchen machine brought her to the attention of the Cuisinart inventor who offered her a position as consultant. This fast-paced job carried her all over the West to conduct demonstrations and teach seminars in department stores and small cookware shops.

Describing the food processor's versatility, Mrs. Williamns boastfully said, "During one demonstration, I prepared an entire luncheon for 30 people using only the machine and a hot plate."

She said the food processor isn't a luxury gadget, but a hard working member of the kitchen.

"I affectionately call mine, 'Jaws,' she said.

Mrs. Williamns said she never puts the machine away in the cupboard, but keeps it out on the counter as a permanent fixture in the kitchen.

She doesn't have patience with cooks who have learned only one facet of the machine's multiple talents.

"I talked with one woman who said she only used it for grinding up dog food," she said.

"The food processor has made my cooking incredibly easier and infinitely more creative."

From the grinding blades, Mrs. Williamns can create crab mousse, smokey salmon pate, spring chicken with asparagus, strawberries grand marnier and the list goes on.

"My six-year-old son never takes peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches to school, it's either quiche or small tarts or something else gourmet," Mrs. Williamns said.

She said the food processor also makes cooking easier for those who have paralysis and arthritis.

Although she has done everything to her machine that the instruction books say not to do, Mrs. Williamns advises new owners to read their instruction books carefully and to become totally familiar with the machine and all of its parts. She suggests they practice inserting the blades and removing them several times to become acquainted with them.

She suggests experimenting with the six different blades and discs to learn their functions. She said beginners should practice with them by trying them out on different foods such as bread crumbs, onions and ice.

"Learning to recognize the different sounds the machine makes lets the owner know the different stage of the food preparations.

"I know when my mayonnaise has started to emulsify because my machine start making a sound that goes 'flap,' 'flap,' 'flap,'" she writes in her cookbook.

Although cooking with the food processor has become second nature, Mrs. Williamns has learned to respect the machine's sharp blades. Eight stitches later, she advises cooks not to remove the cover from the bowl until the knife or discs have stopped; handle the sharp knives with care; never put fingers inside the feed tube; disconnect the machine from the electrical outlet before cleaning; and not to leave sharp blades in soapy water.

Mrs. Williamns said an entire meal can be prepared in the food processor, just by switching the blades and bowls. However, she tries to teach people how to start with one blade and go on to another without washing a bowl each time. Also, she keeps three bowls handy so she can prepare two recipes at once with a spare bowl waiting in the dishwasher.

During the interview Mrs. Williamns was busily preparing food for a luncheon taking place the next day. "I'll have the all the food ready to go and dinner prepared by the time my husband comes home," she said.

With her hectic schedule, she can teach classes, give store demonstrations and cater parties, and still have time to create elegant gourmet meals for her family, "all because the machine cuts the time in half."

For additional information on food processors and recipes designed for the machine, Mrs. Williamns' cookbook is available for $6.95 at local book stores and cookware shops.

ANY RECIPE imaginable can be prepared in a food processor, Mrs. Williams said as she prepared pie dough.

FOOD PROCESSORS can make flakey pie crust a reality.

CHRISTIE WILLIAMS, local cookbook author, demonstrates the use of the food processor for chopping cheese.

GARDEN SALAD
 1 large clove garlic
 2 tablespoons oil
 2 tomatoes
 1 head Romaine lettuce
 6 green onions
 4 ounces romano cheese
 1/2 pound bacon, cooked and crumbled

DRESSING
 one-third cup salad oil
 Juice of one lemon
 Salt
 Pepper
 1/2 teaspoon oregano

1. With the steel blade mince the garlic. Add the oil to the workbowl and change the slicing blade. Halve the tomatoes and place them in the feed tube. Slice them into the garlic and oil mixture using firm pressure. Pour the mixture into a large salad bowl. Wash, dry and break the Romaine into bite-sized pieces and put on top of the tomato mixture.

2. Slice the green onions and place on top of the Romaine. Do not stir. Sprinkle with the cheese and top with the bacon bits. Chill. Dressing can be made using the plastic or steel blade if desired.

3. This salad can be made hours in advance or early in the morning for a dinner party. Add dressing just before serving and toss.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CRAB MOUSSE

1 package unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 1 can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
 1-8 ounce package cream cheese
 1 cup mayonnaise
 2 stalks of celery
 3 green onions
 1 can crab meat, drained and flaked
 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

1. Stir the gelatin in cold water to soften. Heat soup in a saucepan over medium heat. Stir the softened gelatin into the hot soup, making sure it is dissolved.

2. Cut the cream cheese into eight cubes and add it to the soup. Add the mayonnaise to the soup and beat the mixture until it is smooth.

3. Insert the steel knife. Cut the celery and green onion into 3-inch pieces. Add them to the workbowl and process using on-off turns until they are finely chopped. Remove the steel knife and insert the plastic blade.

4. Add the crab, the mushroom soup mixture and the worcestershire to the chopped celery and onion. Process using on-off turns until combined. Make 4 cups.

Picnic with a Mexican flair

Add a refreshing element of surprise to your next outdoor party by planning a patio picnic featuring these scrumptious foods that offer a delicious touch of the Southwest.

They're modern, easy-does-it variations on a cuisine that's as old as any in the Western Hemisphere - Aztec and Incan food that relied heavily on the use of avocados, chilies, peppers and cocoa beans. In the 16th century, Spaniards brought the Indian specialties to the Southwest, along with Old World additions such as citrus fruits.

The happy result today is a number of dishes with rich and full-bodied flavor, just made for good eating and easy preparation. Take the Taco Burgers, for instance. Everybody loves a taco - and cooks who try this recipe will love the sheer simplicity of the sauce. The use of reconstituted lemon juice does away with several steps - cutting and squeezing lemons and cleaning up afterward. Keep a companion bottle of reconstituted lime juice right beside it, because once you try the White Sangria Punch, you are like to be serving this popular Mexican beverage often throughout the summer. Give the children Sangrita, a tasty blend of cranberry juice cocktail, orange juice and reconstituted lime juice.

Sweetened condensed milk is another convenience food to have on hand that's a popular base for desserts with a Southwestern flavor. For your Tex-Mex picnic, it makes preparation of the desserts quick and easy. Fiesta Ambrosia is a luscious and lovely fruit salad dessert. Tex-Mex shee cake combines two typical Mexican ingredients, coffee and cocoa. The frosting is a quick to assemble blend of sweetened condensed milk, cocoa, coffee, confectioners' sugar and almonds.

Taco Burgers
2 lbs lean ground beef, formed into 8 patties
Easy Taco sauce (recipe follows)
Hamburger buns
Shredded lettuce
Chopped tomato
Shredded Cheddar cheese

Grill or broil meat patties to desired doneness, brushing frequently with Easy Taco Sauce. Place each patty on a bun half; garnish with lettuce, tomato and cheese. Spoon on remaining taco sauce. Top with remaining bun halves.

Easy Taco Sauce
1 cup catsup or chili sauce
3 tbsps reconstituted lemon juice
1 tbsps brown sugar
2 tps Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp garlic powder
½ tsp hot pepper sauce

In small saucepan, combine ingredients; heat, stirring occasionally until onion is tender, about 10 minutes. Chill thoroughly to blend flavors. Makes 1 ¼ cups sauce.

TIP Flavor of Easy Taco Sauce improves when made 1 to 2 days in advance and refrigerated.

White Sangria Punch
½ to ¾ cup sugar
½ cup reconstituted

lemon juice
¼ cup reconstituted lime juice
1 bottle sauterne
¼ cup orange-flavored liqueur
1 quart bottle club soda, chilled
Ice

Fresh strawberries, optional
In a large bowl, combine sugar, lemon and lime juice; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add sauterne and orange-flavor liqueur. Just before serving, add club soda. Serve over ice; garnish with fresh strawberries, if desired. Makes 2 quarts.

TIP: For picnic punch, carry punch base in insulated cooler. At picnic site, add club soda, ice and fresh strawberries.

Sangrita
1 bottle (32-oz) cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup orange juice
One-third cup reconstituted lime juice
2 tbsps sugar
Orange slices

In large pitcher, combine all ingredients except orange slices. Garnish with orange slices and serve over ice. Makes 5 ½ cups. Recipe may be doubled.

Fiesta Ambrosia
1 can (14-oz) sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated)
1 container (8 oz) plain yogurt
½ cup reconstituted lemon juice
2 tps grated orange rind
1 can (20 oz) pineapple chunks, drained
3 oranges, peeled and cut into bite-size pieces
1 cup miniature white marshmallows
1 can (3 ½ ozs) flaked coconut
½ cup chopped pecans

In a large bowl combine condensed milk, yogurt, lemon juice and rind; mix well. Stiring in remaining ingredients. Chill 2 to 3 hours to blend flavors. If desired, garnish with additional orange or pecans. Refrigerate leftovers. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Tes-Mex Sheet Cake
1 cup butter or margarine
¼ cup cocoa
1 tbsps instant coffee
1 cup water
1 ½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
2 cups unsifted flour
1 tsp cinnamon
One-third cup sweetened condensed milk
2 eggs
1 tsp vanilla

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In small saucepan, melt butter; stir in cocoa and coffee, then water. Bring to a boil; remove from heat. In large mixer bowl, combine sugar, flour, baking soda, cinnamon and salt; add cocoa mixture. Beat well. Mix in sweetened condensed milk roll pan. Bake 15 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Cool 10 minutes. Spread with Tex-Mex Frosting. Cool before serving.

Tex-Mex Frosting
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup cocoa
1 tbsps instant coffee
1 cup sweetened condensed milk
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup toasted slivered almonds

In small saucepan, melt butter; stir in cocoa and coffee. Remove from heat. Add sweetened condensed milk. Stir in sugar, then nuts. Spread on warm cake.

Light-up July 4th with a barbecue

The "winter wearies" are behind us, and the joys of summer are bringing us outdoors. Summer blooms and summer scents are waiting to be enjoyed, and the odors of food cooking on a grill give us summer enjoyment at its best.

Patio cookouts have become an "American way of life." They provide an excellent activity for family participation. If the cookout is planned properly, we can make an appreciable contribution toward energy conservation.

Traditionally, families have cooked out-of-doors, but in too many instances, have failed to exploit the total advantage of this type of food preparation. Frequently, only a very small portion of the foods have been prepared out-of-doors, and the balance in the kitchen oven. This is no longer necessary.

With the proper outdoor cooking equipment such as a covered kettle, complete meals are easily prepared on the grill. This provides an excellent opportunity for all of the members of the family to participate, (and goes a long way toward the elimination of the overheated kitchen, with the resultant excessive use of the air conditioner). Furthermore, it provides a distinctive and delicious flavor which is somewhat different, but thoroughly appetizing and enjoyable.

Remember, outdoor cooking should be fun for everyone, and with a limited amount of prior planning, it provides that fun-filled activity for the entire family, guests and friends that they have been looking forward to all winter.

With modern equipment, it is important that we try something new and different. Let's not limit ourselves to the same things that we have done over the years. Really, the only limitation is your own imagination. So, let's say "Hello, Summer!" and do it in style with some interesting and unusual cookouts.

A flavorful ham or delicious leg of lamb are two favorites which are extremely simple to prepare, and the leftovers may be used in a variety of ways, providing true economy. While cooking the roast, include the vegetables and thus prepare the entire meal. The salad and-or fruits should be selected and prepared prior to the cookout, and refrigerated, which releases the host to enjoy family and friends.

Again, outdoor cooking should be fun for everyone.

ROAST LEG OF LAMB WITH CORIANDER

- 1 leg of lamb (7 to 9 pounds)
- 2 cloves garlic
- 1 teaspoon coriander
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ tablespoons cooking oil

Make a few deep cuts in leg of lamb. Peel garlic and cut into thin slices. Place garlic into the incisions in lamb. Mix coriander, salt and pepper with oil. Work some of this mixture into incisions; then cover outside of lamb leg with what remains.

Center lamb on cooking grill directly over drip pan. Cover kettle; cook 22 minutes per pound, or until internal temperature reaches 140 degrees for medium-rare doneness.

Serve hot, carved in thick slices and accompanied with mint or currant jelly. Yield: six servings.

CREAMY VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

- 24 small whole onions
- 4 carrots, pared and sliced diagonally in one-half inch slices
- ½ pound mushrooms, sliced
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons sherry (optional)

Cook onions in water for eight minutes, add carrots and cook three minutes more. Drain. Sauté mushrooms in two tablespoons butter. Remove mushrooms and set aside. Melt two tablespoons butter over low heat, add flour. Cook and stir three to four minutes until well blended.

Stir in milk slowly; add salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and sherry. Simmer and stir until thickened. Add onions, carrots and mushrooms mixing lightly and pour into casserole dish.

Center casserole on cooking grill; cover kettle and cook 30 minutes.

BAKED HAM

- Whole or half, boneless or bone-in, fully-cooked (ready-to-eat), canned or cured and smoked (cook-before-eating) ham
- Whole cloves
- Brown Sugar Glaze (recipe follows)

Canned pineapple slices, well drained

Maraschino cherries

Read directions before removing wrappings from ham. If necessary cut off rind. Score fat criss-cross fashion with sharp knife, making very shallow cuts so juices will not escape.

Stud with whole cloves. Insert meat thermometer into center of thickest part of ham, with point away from bone and fat. Center ham, fat side up, on cooking grill directly above drip pan. Cover kettle.

Cook-before-eating hams cook at 160 degrees, about 12 minutes per pound for an eight to 10 pound ham or 16 minutes per pound for 16 pound ham.

Fully-cooked and canned hams need only be heated to serving temperature, 140 degrees, about nine minutes per pound in charcoal kettle or 13 minutes per pound in gas kettle.

Baste ham with Brown Sugar Glaze during last 30 minutes of cooking. Garnish with pineapple slices and cherries 10 minutes before end of cooking time; brush with glaze and allow fruit to heat.

BROWN SUGAR GLAZE

- Combine one-half cup firmly-packed brown sugar, three tablespoons water and two teaspoons prepared mustard in small saucepan; mix and heat until sugar melts. Brush over ham and fruit.

STUFFED TOMATOES

- Cook one package (nine or 10 ounces) frozen peas or corn kernels as directed on package.
- Cut a thin slice from top of four medium tomatoes. Scoop out seeds and pulp. Place tomatoes, cavity up, in shallow baking pan. Season inside of tomatoes with salt and pepper.

Add three tablespoons water to pan. Cover pan; place on cooking grill. Cover kettle and heat. Fill tomatoes with hot cooked vegetable; garnish with bits of green pepper or pimiento. Yield: four servings.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- 1 pound medium mushrooms
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- One-third cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

and cheese and brown lightly, stirring constantly. Stir in salt and pepper. Stuff mushroom caps with crumb mixture; arrange on cookie sheet.

CRANBERRY GLAZED SWEET POTATOES

- 2 cans (one pound each) sweet potatoes, drained
- 1 cup whole cranberry sauce
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1-½ tablespoons grated orange peel
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Arrange sweet potatoes in shallow baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients in saucepan; bring to simmering stage and simmer two or three minutes.

Spoon sauce over sweet potatoes; cover with aluminum foil. Center on cooking grill; cover kettle and heat about 30 minutes or until piping hot. Yield: four to six servings.

Praise-winning fish kabobs

For savory broiled fish, marinate chunks in a Worcestershire oil-and-lemon bath, then broil on skewers with zucchini, cherry tomatoes, and small white onions. A praise-winner at a cookout.

- FISH KABOBS
- ¼ cup oil
 - ¼ cup lemon juice
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 2 teaspoons onion powder
 - 1 tablespoon original Worcestershire sauce
 - 1-½ pounds halibut or other firm fleshed fish steaks
 - 2 medium zucchini, cut in one-half-inch slices
 - About eight cherry tomatoes
 - About eight small whole white onions, cooked

powder and Worcestershire sauce; set aside.

Cut fish into one and one-half-inch chunks; place fish in a snug fitting container. Pour half of the oil mixture over the fish; stir to coat completely. Cover and refrigerate for one hour.

Place zucchini and cherry tomatoes in a small bowl; coat with remaining oil mixture. Cover and refrigerate for one hour.

On four long skewers, alternately place fish, zucchini, cherry tomatoes and onions.

Place on a rack over hot charcoal or under a preheated hot broiler until cooked, about eight to 10 minutes turning and brushing with any remaining marinade. Yield: four portions.

Come and get it! The big burger is here

Big, bigger, biggest—that's a Paul Bunyan Burger! Big enough to serve six people at once!

For outdoor barbecue fun this summer, grill this giant-size hamburger. It's made of two pounds of lean beef seasoned with salt and Tabasco pepper sauce. The liquid seasoning adds just enough spice to the good meat flavor. Shape into a large patty seven inches in diameter, grill, then slip the burger into a bun an inch larger all round. Make the tasty bun from a package of hot roll mix, Tabasco and grated Cheddar cheese.

PAUL BUNYAN BURGER

- BUN: 1 package (about 14 ounces) hot roll mix
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- 2 cups (eight ounces)

grated cheddar cheese

BURGER: 2 pounds ground leaf beef

2 teaspoons Tabasco

3/4 teaspoon salt

To make bun: Dissolve yeast in warm water as directed on mix package; stir in Tabasco. Add egg as directed on package. Blend in flour mixture; stir in grated cheese. Cover; let dough rise in warm place away from draft until double in bulk, 30 to 45 minutes.

Shape into one large bun, about eight inches in diameter; press flat about one and one-half inches thick. Place on greased cookie sheet. Cover; let rise again until double, about 30

Bake in preheated 350 degree oven about 25 minutes. Cool on cake rack. At barbecue time, split bun and wrap in foil. Heat on side of grill (or in oven) while burger is grilling.

To make burger: Break up ground beef with fork. Sprinkle with Tabasco and salt; mix lightly.

Shape into large patty about two inches thick and about seven inches in diameter; handle as little as possible for a more tender burger.

Cook on grill about 10 minutes on each side for rare meat, or to desired degree of doneness. Use cookie sheet as a "giant turner."

Hearty Paul Bunyan Burgers

Eating alone, or even "alone-together" after the children leave, often seems boring. However, you can add enjoyment to your meals, too.

Don't always eat in the same place. Eat by a window with a view, in front of the fireplace or in bed from a tray on Sunday.

Vary your table settings - When you need only one or two of each item, you can collect an outstanding variety of dishes and table linens without spending a fortune. Don't wait for a special occasion to use them!

Use mealtimes for valuable thinking time - Plan a trip, decide on a new decor, set up a schedule or brainstorm a project.

Experiment with food choices - Treat yourself to foods and recipes you haven't tried before. Splurge occasionally on something you would usually deny yourself because of cost or calories. Concentrate on the flavors and textures of the food you're eating.

Dress up basic entrees with special touches - For example, an avocado can be used to glamorize a hamburger patty, a bowl of chili, a tuna salad or a plate of scrambled eggs.

AVOCADO CROWN-ED OMELET

- 3 eggs
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 3 tablespoons bottled blue cheese dressing
- 1/2 ripe California avocado, peeled, seeded and sliced
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Stir eggs and water in small bowl with fork until whites and yolks are just blended. In eight-inch skillet or omelet pan, heat butter or margarine over medium-high heat. When butter just begins to brown, quickly pour eggs into skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Slide skillet back and forth rapidly over heat while stirring eggs quickly with fork to spread them over bottom of pan as they thicken. Fold half of omelet nearest you over other half and tilt skillet to slide omelet onto a warm plate.

Spoon blue cheese dressing over and place avocado slices along top of omelet. Sprinkle parsley over all. Makes one omelet.

Getting the most from your consumer dollar is no longer a matter of simply spending less. Often it's a matter of understanding more. With the new awareness of proper nutrition that's sweeping the country, more and more people are thinking seriously about the nutritional content of the foods and dietary supplements they buy. Homemakers are reading the labels as well as the price tags, and they are beginning to realize that good nutrition is good value.

But some people find label reading confusing -- although many labels are actually easy to understand. Take vitamin E for example. It can be purchased either in naturally derived or synthetic form -- and recognizing the natural source product is as simple as reading the letter "d". What does this little "d" signify? It says you are buying vitamin E that comes from natural vegetable oils such as soybean oil and has been concentrated for use in capsules or tablets.

The scientific name for vitamin E is alpha tocopherol, and when it is found in nature, it occurs only in one isomeric form -- the "d" form. Therefore, the correct name for natural source vitamin E is d-alpha tocopheryl acetate. When vitamin E is manufactured synthetically, it contains eight isomeric forms including the "d" and "I" form. Therefore, synthetic vitamin E has a little "d" preceding its name and is called dl-alpha tocopherol or dl-alpha tocopheryl acetate. If the label on a bottle of vitamin E reads simply "alpha tocopherol" or "alpha tocopheryl acetate," it could be from either natural sources or synthetic sources or perhaps a combination of both. When the label shows both "d" and "d", you know you are being offered a combination of synthetic and natural source forms.

The FDA has taken the position in proposed labeling rules that one cannot claim natural source vitamins are superior to their synthetic counterparts. In the case of most other vitamins, synthetic and natural source forms are identical in composition and in potency.

But synthetic vitamin E is made up of eight isomeric forms, only one of which is identical to natural source "d" form. Natural source vitamin E has a little "d" greater biological potency on a weight basis than the synthetic material, as is recognized in the Natural Formulary. On a weight basis, natural source vitamin E (d-alpha tocopherol) is about 36 percent more potent than its synthetic counterpart. This means to get the same number of International Units, users have to take more of the synthetic vitamin E by weight than the natural source material.

The well-informed consumer need not be confused by the two types of vitamin E. Natural source of synthetic source vitamin E? It's all in the name -- and the name is on the label.

Here is the quintessential summer dessert! Light, cool and fantastically refreshing, it simply melts in the mouth. It's called Peach Yogurt Fluff. Served in crystal stemmed dishes, it's an elegant looking dessert. Who would guess how easy it is to make. There's no cooking involved at all. Just putting together sliced fresh peaches with a pint of plain yogurt, vanilla, sugar and salt. The fluffiness comes from whipping egg white into the sugar and peaches with an electric mixer.

The whole thing is ready in minutes. Because it needs to be well chilled, you can make this hours before you plan to serve it. Garnish each dish with fresh peach slices and a little flaked coconut for a pretty finish. You'll notice that the recipe makes a generous amount. It will keep a day or so and makes a delightful snacktime treat for any hour. It's a real family favorite and great for guest appearances, too. Yogurt, both plain and fruit flavored, is more popular than ever during the warmer months.

Because living and eating habits are more casual in the summertime, milk and milk products are used more than ever. They're cool, refreshing, ready to use and they're wholesome and nutritious. As one of the basic four food groups, milk and milk products are necessary for good balanced daily diets.

PEACH YOGURT FLUFF
1-1/2 pounds fresh peaches
1 egg white
3/4 cup sugar
1 pint plain yogurt
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon salt
Flaked coconut, peach slides for garnish.

Blanch peaches and slip off skins. Slice. Makes about two cups. Whip egg white with sugar and peaches at high speed in electric mixer 10 minutes or until fluffy and thick. Remove peach pulp from beaters every few minutes.

Fold in yogurt, vanilla and salt. Spoon into serving dish or individual serving glasses. Chill. Top with coconut and additional peach slices if desired. Makes about two quarts or eight (one-cup) servings.

Quacamole

A tasty dip with the tang of the Southwest. Recipe makes about 1 1/2 cups dip.

Guacamole
2 medium ripe avocados, peeled and seeded
2 tblsps lime juice
1 tblsp finely chopped onion
1 tsp seasoned salt
1/4 tsp garlic powder
1/4 to 1/2 tsp hot pepper sauce

In medium bowl mash avocados. Stir in remaining ingredients to blend flavors. Serve as a dip with fresh vegetables or tortilla chips.

Blender Method: Blend all ingredients in blender container. Blend well. Chill thoroughly to blend flavors.

TIP: Add one or more of the following ingredients for a delicious taste variation: sour cream...chopped tomatoes...chopped hot green chilies...crumbled bacon.

Lamb adds variety to meals

LAMB CHOP SUEY
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ pound ground lamb
¼ pound mushrooms, sliced
1 cup chopped celery
One-third cup chopped celery tops

1 cup chopped onions
1 small green pepper, sliced
1 beef bouillon cube
1 cup water
1 teaspoon soy sauce
2 tablespoons flour
Water
Cooked rice

Melt butter or margarine. Add lamb and cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Add mushrooms, celery, celery tops, onions, green pepper, bouillon cube, one cup water and soy sauce.

Cook over low heat about 30 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Mix flour with a small amount of water; stir into lamb mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Serve with cooked rice, as desired.
Yields two servings.

LAMB IN TOAST CUPS
4 slices white bread
2-½ tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon salad oil
½ pound diced lamb shoulder

½ cup stock or bouillon
Dash of pepper
1 small apple, pared, cored and chopped
1 small onion, sliced
1-½ teaspoons all-purpose flour
Parsley Trim crusts from bread. Flatten slices with rolling pin; brush with butter. Press into two and three-fourth-inch muffin tins. Bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes, until browned. Remove from pan; cool.

Heat oil, add lamb and cook until browned. Drain off drippings. Add stock or bouillon and pepper. Cover and cook, stir-

Slowly stir flour into lamb mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.
Spoon lamb mixture into toast cups. Garnish with parsley. Makes two servings.

Stretch meat protein for dishes such as chop suey, stews and more by using less meat than usual and adding shelled peanuts. The dish will have a nice texture and maintain its nutritional level at the same time.

Check canner gauge for accuracy before using

Before the home canning season is in full swing, have your pressure canner dial gauge checked for accuracy, recommends Jan Grant, King County extension agent. An inaccurate gauge could mean the vegetables you can won't be safe to eat. The temperature might not get up to 240 degrees, which is required to kill some disease-causing organisms.

For information about where to have your gauge checked call the King County Master Canner Hotline 344-7648, or you can send it away to the manufacturer. If you have to send it away, ask for shipping instructions; the manufacturer may want the whole cover returned or just the gauge. In either case, pack it like fine crystal and label it "Fragile."

If you must remove the gauge, replace it carefully when it comes back. Coating the threads with plumber's paste will prevent steam leakage. Or any paste with an oil or graphite base is all right. It will stand up under pressure yet won't harden so much that you can't remove the gauge again.

If the gauge reading is off five pounds or more, buy a new one. If it's off by not more than four pounds, you can correct the processing to make up for the incorrect reading. As a reminder, tie a tag on the canner giving the corrected reading.

If the gauge reads higher than the actual pressure inside the canner, the temperature inside is too low. To correct, you'll have to process at a higher pressure reading than the 10 pounds recommended.

If the gauge reads one pound high process at 11 pounds. For a two-pound high reading, process at 12 pounds; three pounds high at 13 pounds; and four pounds high at 14 pounds.

The reverse is true if your gauge reads low; the pressure inside the canner is actually higher than the gauge indicates. If the gauge reads one pound low, process at nine pounds. For a two-pound low, process at eight pounds; three pounds low, at seven pounds; and four pounds low, process at six pounds. If your canner has a weight gauge, you must send it to the manufacturer for testing. If there are problems replace it.

A treat for chocolate and almond lovers

For chocolate and almond lovers, Cocoa Almond Rolls create the perfect combination. The rolls, featured in the Pillsbury Bake-Off competition, may be served for brunches, desserts or as snacks.

COCOA ALMOND ROLLS
 1 package hot roll mix
 ¾ cup warm water (105 degrees to 115 degrees F.)

¼ cup sugar
 ¼ cup unsweetened cocoa
 1 egg
Filling
 2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened

One-third cup chopped almonds
 3 tablespoons sugar
 1-½ teaspoons cinnamon
Glaze
 1-½ cups powdered sugar
 1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
 2 to 3 tablespoons milk
 3 tablespoons chopped almonds, if desired

In large bowl, dissolve yeast from hot roll mix in water. Stir in sugar, cocoa and egg. Add hot roll flour mixture; blend well. Cover; let rise in warm place until light and doubled in size, 45 to 60 minutes.
 Grease 13x9-inch pan. On lightly floured surface, roll out dough to 15x12-inch rectangle; spread with margarine. Sprinkle with mixture of almonds, sugar and cinnamon.

 Starting with longer side, roll up tightly; seal edge. Cut into fifteen one-inch slices. Place cut side down in greased pan. Cover; let rise in warm place until light and doubled in size, 45 to 60 minutes.

Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. (Do not brown.) Immediately remove from pan. Blend powdered sugar, cocoa and milk until smooth; drizzle over warm rolls. Sprinkle with almonds. Yields 15 rolls.

Quick and easy summer grill party

Give an outdoor grill party this summer. It's a fine way to entertain with sizzle. Serve roast pork, followed by a refreshing Orange Rum Sherbet. Sonora Cocktails will get the party off to a roaring start.

ROAST LOIN OR PORK

1 cup orange juice
 ½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
 ¼ cup dark rum (80 proof)
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1 medium clove garlic, minced
 2 teaspoons ground ginger
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 1 pork loin (about four and one-half pounds)
 Hot cooked rice
 Halved green grapes

In saucepan, combine all ingredients, except pork. Cook, stirring until thickened and smooth.

Score fat on pork at one-inch intervals. Place on grill or fasten to spit. Place drip pan under pork. Grill about two and one-half hours, basting with sauce during last 45 minutes of roasting.

Serve with rice decorated with grape clusters. Makes about six servings.

ORANGE RUM SHERBET

1 envelope (one tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
 ¼ cup water
 ¾ cup sugar
 1 cup orange juice
 1 ½ tablespoons lime juice

½ cup dark rum (80 proof)
 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
 Dash salt
 1 cup orange sections, cut-up
 Mint sprigs

Sprinkle gelatin over one-fourth cup water to soften.

In saucepan, combine remaining one-half cup water and sugar. Bring to boil and boil one minute. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add juices, rum, orange peel and salt. Pour into freezer tray or metal bowl. Freeze to mush.

Remove from freezer and beat until smooth. Fold in orange pieces. Refreeze. To serve, garnish with mint. Makes about one quart.

Roast Loin of Pork

SONORA COCKTAIL

½ cup dark rum (80 proof)
 ½ cup applejack or calvados
 ¼ cup apricot brandy
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 Shaved ice

In shaker, combine all ingredients. Shake well. Strain into cocktail glasses. Makes two drinks.

Variations on a dessert theme

How often have you wished for one wonderful basic pie or cake recipe you can count on for a variety of family occasions? A reliable basic recipe with a number of variations provides a long run of "dessert hits." For example, a Fruit-Topped Pudding Pie that begins with a package of instant pudding and pie filling plays a different dessert role during fresh fruit seasons.

Now is the time to take advantage of fresh strawberry season. Prepare a six-serving size package of vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling according to directions, pour into a baked and cooled nine-inch graham cracker crumb crust and chill. Just before serving cut into six or eight wedges and top each wedge with the sweetened fresh strawberries. As fresh blueberries and fresh peaches arrive on the market, rely on this recipe to show off the best of the season.

Variations on glazed Easy Fruit Tarts are simple once you've learned the basics. It's a family dessert that looks ever so company-like. From now on, take advantage of "specials" on fresh fruits at the market and use this idea. Just be sure to have commercial tart shells on hand.

Simply prepare a four-serving size package of vanilla flavor or lemon flavor instant pudding and pie filling. Divide evenly among eight three-inch tart shells, arrange about one to two cups fresh fruit on top of the pudding and chill. For the glaze, prepare a three-ounce package of raspberry, orange or apricot flavor gelatin according to directions, chill until thickened and spoon over fruit on the tarts. Chill tarts until serving time. Garnish with prepared whipped topping, if desired. Try some of these fresh fruit combinations in tarts: blueberries and fresh peaches; strawberries and bananas.

Count on a fresh Banana-Nut Torte to celebrate the next family occasion. All you need is one large mixing bowl to blend a package of yellow regular or pudding-included cake mix (two-layer size), one-half cup mashed banana, a four-serving size package of banana cream flavor instant pudding and pie filling, four eggs, one cup water and one-fourth cup oil. Blend; then beat at medium speed with an electric mixer for four minutes, pour into two greased and floured nine-inch layer pans and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean and cake begins to pull away from side of pans. Do not under-bake.

Cool in pans 15 minutes. Remove from pans and finish cooling on racks. Split cooled cakes, making four layers. Fill and frost with Quick Fluffy Frosting. Prepare the frosting by pouring one and one-half cups cold milk into a deep narrow-bottom mixer bowl; add one envelope whipped topping mix and a four-serving size package of vanilla or banana cream flavor instant pudding and pie filling. Beat at low speed of electric mixer until well blended, gradually increasing beating speed to high, and whip until mixture forms soft peaks, four to six minutes. Store frosted cake in refrigerator. Just before serving, garnish with banana slices and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Variations on an Ice Cream Pudding Pie provide several flavor combinations to make family meals super special. Blend one cup of vanilla ice cream with one cup of cold milk in a bowl. Add a four-serving size package of butterscotch flavor instant pudding and pie filling. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at low speed of electric mixer until blended, about one minute. Pour immediately into a baked cooled eight-inch pie shell. Chill until set, at least one hour, and serve proudly.

Enjoy a Peachy Ice Cream Pudding Pie, easily made by peeling, pitting and slicing one medium peach and placing the slices in the bottom of a cooled baked eight-inch pie shell. Then, thoroughly blend one cup cold milk with one cup of vanilla ice cream in a bowl. Add a four-serving size package of vanilla or French vanilla instant pudding and pie filling; beat slowly with rotary beater or at low speed of electric mixer until blended, about one minute. Pour immediately into pie shell and chill until set, at least one hour. Garnish with additional sliced fresh peaches and thawed frozen whipped topping.

Add your own individual touch to prepared foods with a sprinkle of a seasoning blend. For instance, an Italian herb blend shaken on frozen pizza gives it a truly authentic flavor.

Quick energy drinks

Vigorous exercise uses up a lot of energy and active people are turning to fruit juice to restore that energy. According to a recent survey, 46 percent of the people who are highly active have increased their consumption of fruits and fruit juice. Among long-distance runners that increase is even more striking. Sixty-two percent of the runners in the survey consume more fruit juice than they did before they started running.

While you and your children may not be as active as these individuals, fruit juice is a delicious way to boost your energy. White grape juice, for example, is a light, refreshing beverage that contains natural fruit sugars for a quick energy lift. It is good by itself or when mixed with other ingredients.

Suggested here are two drinks that will quickly give you an energy boost. Fruit Juice Fizz is a tasty chilled drink that can be kept on hand in the refrigerator. Thermal Grape Juice can be mixed and heated on those cool, rainy days when a child's energy is worked off indoors.

Chic dieting

If you want to make a dieter come alive with delight, don't serve home style - serve "palace" style.

Chummy, community platters and bowls at the center of the table are out, and individualized service is in.

Serve a chic, individual platter of crudities-colorful, crisp raw vegetables surrounding a delicate china cup with a low-calorie dip; a private serving of chicken and artichoke aspic; one's own mini-bottle of lightly carbonated mineral water, and liqueur-splashed fruits chilled on ice as the finishing touch.

This gourmet luncheon not only relieves the dieter of the temptation of reaching for second helpings; it is also a unique, chic, and delightfully continental way of counting calories.

Budget Bologna Bake

4 ounces noodles
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup diced celery
1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 pound sliced bologna, chopped
1/2 cup shredded Brick cheese

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile in saucepan melt butter. Add celery and caraway seed; saute until celery is tender. Stir into noodles along with cottage cheese, sour cream and bologna. Turn into one and one-half quart casserole dish. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle top of casserole with cheese. Return to oven for 20 to 25 minutes, until cheese melts and becomes lightly browned. Allow casserole to stand for 10 minutes before serving. Garnish with additional bologna slices, if desired. Yield: four to six servings.

FRUIT JUICE FIZZ
2 cups White grape juice
1 cup apple cider
1 cup orange-grapefruit juice
2 cloves
1 cinnamon stick
1/4 teaspoon chopped candied ginger
1 bottle (12-ounces) gingerale, chilled
Orange slices

In saucepan, combine all ingredients except soda pop. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Strain and chill thoroughly.

Just before serving, combine grape mixture and gingerale. Garnish with orange slices. Serve over ice. Serves four.

THERMAL GRAPE JUICE

1 quart White grape juice
1/2 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
6 whole cloves
2 cinnamon sticks

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Simmer 10 minutes; stir now and then. Pour into mugs. Makes about five cups.

Summertime thirst quencher

Since summer has officially arrived, there can be days that are scorcher and the best advice is to be prepared by serving Cranberry Punch, a sparkling drink that combines unsweetened soft drink mix with cranberry juice cocktail or cranberry-apple drink. It's a flavor combination children appreciate, and each serving contributes toward their daily requirement of vitamin C. Doubly appreciated are Crunchy Peanut Butter Balls and a basket of fresh fruit on a sultry, sweltering afternoon.

CRANBERRY PUNCH
Combine one envelope strawberry, cherry, raspberry or orange flavor unsweetened soft drink mix, one-half cup sugar, one bottle (16 fluid ounces) cranberry juice cocktail or cranberry-apple drink and six cups water with ice in large nonmetal pitcher or bowl. Stir until soft drink mix and sugar are dissolved. Makes two quarts or 16 servings.

CRUNCHY PEANUT BUTTER BALLS

Combine one cup creamy peanut butter, two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, one-half cup crunchy nutlike cereal nuggets and one-fourth cup raisins in bowl, mixing well. Roll into balls and roll in one-half cup additional cereal. Store in refrigerator. Makes three and one-half dozen candies.

Washed but-up vegetables and a creamy dip resting in the refrigerator make it easy to set out snacks before dinner.

Refreshing dips for summertime snacks

After an afternoon of tennis, golf, hiking or swimming, it's time for a snack. Dinner will come later, sometimes much later, since everyone wants to cool off and relax.

Snacking is easy if dips and dippables are all ready in the refrigerator. It's a carefree way to provide snacks since no one needs to be on K.P. duty.

All of these dips are quickly made in a blender or food processor. Then they're covered and chilled in the refrigerator. Store the vegetable dippers in plastic bags right near the dips themselves so they can't be missed.

Blue Cheese Beef Dip is a zippy combination of two cheeses and thinly sliced beef, shredded easily in the blender. Contrast that with a Swiss cheese and peanut mixture, uniquely flavored with chutney. Still another dip is interesting because of its cottage cheese base deftly mixed with onion and pepper sauce, hard-cooked egg and avocado.

Snacks like these are not only lip-smacking good, but they're also nutritious because the combination of cheese and raw vegetables provides protein, vitamins and minerals.

As dippers try celery chunks, carrot sticks, crackers, radishes, cucumber slices or green pepper rings.

Summer Cottage Dip

1 cup creamed cottage cheese
1 small avocado, diced
1 tsp minced onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
½ cup dairy sour cream
Salt to taste
Dash of pepper sauce
1 tsp fresh lemon juice

Drain cheese if too moist, and beat with avocado until smooth and creamy. Add onion and eggs and blend. Fold in sour cream and seasonings. Chill. Yield: 2 ½ cups.

Swiss

Peanut Dip
2 cups (8 oz) shredded Swiss cheese at room temperature

1 pkg (3 oz) cream cheese, softened
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tbsps chutney
½ cup chopped Spanish peanuts

Veat Swiss cheese, cream cheese and sour cream together until well blended. Stir in chutney and peanuts. Chill. To serve, sprinkle with additional peanuts. Yield: about 2 cups.

Blue Cheese Beef Dip

1 pkg (3 oz.) smoked sliced beef
1 pkg (8 oz) cream cheese, softened
2 tbsps crumbled Blue cheese
1 tbsps minced onion
1 tbsps prepared horseradish, drained
2 tbsps dairy sour cream.

Shred beef in blender or chop finely. Mix cream cheese and Blue cheese. Add shredded beef, onion, horseradish and sour cream. Chill. Yield: approx. 1 ¼ cups.

Mealtime versatility in the out-of-doors

Meals in the out-of-doors may include balcony barbecues for couples or a festive barbecue spit-roasted in the backyard for family and friends.

Outdoor meals range from picnics - packing foods for a brown bag bash in the park or at the beach - to carting the cooler stuffed with foods to keep the family fed from noon 'til night.

Campfires may be used to fry fish and broil meats while landlubbers enjoy creative cookery from a can while trailer blazing during the warm weather months.

ROTISSERIE RUMP ROAST

4-5 pound rump roast (high quality)
Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of roast; secure meat on rod with holding forks so that it is balanced and turns only with rod.

Insert meat thermometer making sure it does not touch rod or fat. Cook over medium-hot coals one and one-half to two and one-half hours or until desired degree of doneness. Serve with Sour Cream-Blue Cheese Sauce. Yields six to eight servings.

SOUR CREAM-BLUE CHEESE SAUCE

1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup crumbled Blue cheese

Combine sour cream, vinegar, mustard, sugar and Blue cheese. Heat, stirring constantly, until warm. (Do not boil.) Yields: One and one-fourth cups.

GRILL-BROILED CHICKEN WITH SEASONED BUTTER BRUSH-ON

½ cup butter
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon (one-half envelope) garlic salad dressing mix
2 broiler-fryer chickens, quartered

Melt butter; blend in lemon juice and salad dressing mix. Brush chicken with seasoned butter. Place on grill, cut side down, five to six inches from coals. Cook about one hour; turning and brushing with seasoned butter about every 10 minutes. Note: If chicken seems to be cooking too fast, move grill further from coals or spray a little water on coals to lower heat. Yields: Six to eight servings.

CHILI CORN

½ cup (one stick) butter
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
6 to 8 ears of corn

Whip butter until light and fluffy. Stir in green pepper, pimiento, salt and chili powder. (Yield: one cup) Place each ear of corn on a square of double thickness heavy duty aluminum foil. Spread with about two tablespoons butter mixture. Wrap securely in foil, twisting ends. Roast directly on medium coals 10 to 15 minutes, turning once.

Note: Foil-wrapped corn may be baked in a preheated 450 degree oven, 25 minutes. Yields six to eight servings.

VEGETABLE KABOBS

4 small zucchini
Fresh whole mushrooms
Cherry tomatoes

Parmesan Butter Sauce

6 tablespoons (three-fourths stick) butter
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon leaf oregano

Cook zucchini in small amount of boiling water about 10 minutes; cut in one-half inch slices.

To prepare sauce: Melt butter; stir in cheese, lemon juice and oregano.

To prepare Kabobs: Alternate zucchini, mushrooms and tomatoes on eight, seven-inch skewers.

Place on grill five to six inches from coals. Cook eight to 12 minutes turning occasionally and brushing with Parmesan Butter Sauce. Yields eight servings.

SUMMER SUSAN FRUIT SALAD

bowl in center of platter. Line bowl with lettuce leaves; fill with cottage cheese. Arrange groups of fresh fruit on platter. Serve with Honey Orange Cream Dressing.

HONEY ORANGE CREAM DRESSING

2 tablespoons orange juice
1 cup dairy sour cream
Grated orange peel
Blend honey and orange juice; gently fold into sour cream. Chill. Garnish with orange peel. Yield: one and one-fourth cups.

PICNIC PACKIN'S BEACH KABOBS

4 smoked thuringer or knowkurst sausages
12 green pepper

squares, one and one-half inches 12 tomato wedges
Melted butter
4 slices (One ounce each) Muenster or Brick cheese
4 individual French rolls, split, buttered and toasted
4 Skewers

Cut each sausage crosswise into three pieces. On each skewer, thread three pieces of sausage alternately with green pepper and tomato.

Grill five to six inches from coals for 10 to 12 minutes. Turn frequently, brushing with butter. Place slice of cheese on bottom half of each roll. To serve - remove kabobs from skewer onto each roll.

Try minutes or until this well seasoned golden brown. When snack for family or the butter melts, stir parties. Spread three nuts or shake pan to cups of walnut halves coat nuts evenly. in a shallow baking Remove from the pan. Dot with one and oven and sprinkle one-half tablespoons generously with two of butter. Bake in a tablespoons seasoned moderate oven (350 salt. Spread on absorb-degrees F.) for 20 bent paper to cool.
