Utility seats up for election

Five local utility board of commissioners seats will be up for election this fall, four of which will fill six-year-term vacancies.

Two seats on the Fire District 30 board will be open, one a full six-year term and the other the completion of of the term previously held by David Farris, who resigned last month. The full-term seat currently is filled by Billy Aliment, president of the board. Aliment, an eight-year veteran with FD 30, said he is planning to run for that position again this fall.

The seat vacated by David Farris was temporarily filled by Jim Osborne, a former commissioner for FD 30 from 1969 through 1973. Osborne said he also is planning to run for that seat which has two years remaining in its current term.

In Fire District 39 the seat now held by Dean Gullikson is up for election. Gullikson, a commissioner for three years, said he plans to run again for that position.

LLOYD SUTHERLAND'S seat on the Water District 124 board will be open this fall and Sutherland also said he plans to run for re-election. Sutherland has been on the board for four years.

In Water District 56, the seat formerly held by Marion Gable will be up for election. Scott Thomasson, who was appointed to that seat when Gable resigned in May, said he plans to run for the position.

Filing for the positions will begin July 30 and continue through Aug. 3. Any registered voter residing within a district is eligible to vie for the seats. Filing may be made at the Elections and Records Department of the King County Courthouse.

Primary elections are slated for Sept. 18 with finals Nov. 6. If no more than two candidates file for any one seat, they compete in the final election only.

Kennewick man

Shoots self in armpit

A 20-year-old Kennewick man was in stable condition at Auburn General Hospital Monday following a Friday night incident in which he apparently shot himself by accident with a crudely-fabricated sawed-off shotgun.

Meanwhile, a second man, a 29-year-old Pasco resident, has been cited on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon without a permit and is being held at King County Jail while detectives investigate the bizarre circumstances of the case.

King County police say that the Pasco man called them and reported that his friend had shot himself in an accident in the woods. About 15 minutes after police received the call, the two men flagged down Officer Ronald Lund in a parking lot on Pacific Highway South.

As Lund and medics administered first aid -- the charge had caught the Kennewick man in his right armpit, nearly blowing his arm off -- police received a second call, they said, from a woman who claimed the pair had been leaving her 15th Avenue South address when the accident had occurred.

THE WOMAN, a 21-year-old, told officers that the two had come to her house seeking her boyfriend, from whom they wanted to collect some money.

She said that as they were leaving, she heard a loud report and heard one of the two yell that the other should get him to a hospital.

One of the men, she said, was wearing a ski mask at the time.

Police later recovered the shotgun, two ski masks and a .38 caliber revolver from the pair's vehicle.

Apparently, police said, the wounded man had been carrying the shotgun muzzle-up under his arm when it went off. Police believe the weapon, a 12-gauge double, was loaded with 00 buckshot.

A 00 buckshot round contains 12 pellets, each of .33 caliber, and can do considerable damage at close range.

Police speculated that the incident involved local drug traffic.

They said wounded man's arm was "nearly blown off" at the shoulder, adding that the charge apparently missed his vital organs.

Festival group sets thank-you reception

The Federal Way Festival in the Forest Association, formerly the Ad Hoc Committee for the Festival in the Forest, will host a reception to thank Gov. Dixy Lee Ray and the legislators who helped win state approval for construction of the performing arts center.

The reception will be held at the Federal Way Elks Club on July 26 and will begin at 6 p.m. A donation of $5 apiece is being requested of those who attend.

Jim Badgely, chairman of the group, said that Rep. Frank Warkne, D-30th District, Rep. Bob Eberly, R-30th District, and State Sen. Peter von Reichbauer, D-30th District, will be present.

But the governor and U. S. Rep. Norm Dicks, D-6th District, have both indicated they have other engagements on that date, he said.

The 1979 Legislature approved a $5 million expenditure for the project -- it would be called the Pacific Northwest Center for the Performing Arts -- and the governor signed the measure into law.

Dicks, meanwhile, has in-

THE OLD CONVENTIONAL $1 bill recently has been joined by the shiny Susan B. Anthony dollar coin, named after one of the first American women to devote her life to securing the right of women to vote. The new coin has been in circulation for only two weeks, but already cries of confusion are surfacing as area bankers and grocers say it is not uncommon for people to confuse the dollar with a quarter.

Coining a new dollar: it's confusing to many

by Nathalie Weber

More than two weeks' circulation of the new Susan B. Anthony dollar has not flooded the market with the new coin, and area bankers and grocers agree they are not pushing it.

Lack of enthusiasm for the dollar coin seems to focus on its size, which closely resembles a quarter. While the new coin is 1.04 inches in diameter, the traditional quarter is .96 inches, the closest diameter between any United States coins currently in circulation.

"No one has said officially or unofficially to push the Susan B. Anthony," Federal Way Puget Sound National Bank Manager Tom Nixon said. "We're only trading them when people come and specifically ask for them. They seem to be confusing otherwise."

Nixon said he's noticed a lot of merchants that deal with his bank are setting the coins aside when they receive them and depositing them in the bank. He conjectures that they are not circulated because they can be easily mistaken for quarters.

BERNIE HANSON, manager of Federal Way's Albertson's, is one who has instigated that practice. "We're giving them all back to the bank. They're too confusing because people mistake them for quarters," he said. Hanson said he doesn't use $2 bills for the same reason.

However, Charlie Maxwell, manager of Federal Way's Johnny's Food Center, said he has noticed little negative reaction, although customers are concerned with confusing it with a quarter and whether it will work in coin-operated machines. Maxwell pointed out that the Susan B. Anthony is intended to replace the previously-minted Eisenhower dollar, a coin that proved to be too cumbersome.

"These new coins are more comfortable to handle and have," he said. Maxwell said that although he deals with the dollar coins that are brought into the store, he hasn't ordered any from the bank. "I guess I haven't gotten into the swing of it yet," he said.

Area bankers seem to agree that the initial curiosity two weeks ago now is beginning to wear off. Like Puget Sound's Nixon, Jim Elder of Des Moines' Seattle Trust and Savings Bank and Keith Thielicke of Federal Way's Metropolitan Savings and Loan are only distributing the coin when specifically asked.

"THERE'S NOT a lot of call for it now," Elder said. "It seemed more to be a souvenir thing at first."

Thielicke agrees. "It doesn't appear that many are being used. Those who bought $10 worth probably put them away to see if they'd increase in value. There's just very little activity with them now."

While Elder said he has not complaints about the Susan B. Anthony, Nixon said the timing is bad and Thielicke said he will not deal heavily with the coin.

"If the government is going to change the dollar, it should have changed the half-dollar at the same time," Nixon said. "It doesn't seem right when the dollar is smaller than the half."

Thielicke said he will not use the coin because it's too expensive to adjust money counters to accommodate it. That probably won't be a problem, because, according to the Federal Reserve, the government still plans to continue printing the conventional dollar bill.

"We have no plans to discontinue the bill printing," a spokesman for the Reserve said. The coin's introductory pamphlet points out however, that the new dollar coins will save government revenues because the "old large Eisenhower dollar cost eight cents and each new Anthony dollar costs only three cents to produce." Moreover, the $1 bill, which costs two cents to produce last an average of 18 months while the new dollar coin will last 15 years.

The Reserve spokesman said that although he has heard no negative feedback personally, the Reserve member have made a point of carrying the new dollars and watching reactions. "Only in one small grocery store did a lady put tape around the coin so she wouldn't use it," he said.

As for the quarter confusion, the spokesman replied, "We have to look at the dollar bills right now to determine what they are, don't we?"

LUCILLE CHESTER, a Twin Lakes resident, scanned a bottle of water she poured from her kitchen sink faucet three weeks ago when black water also was pouring through the area's pipes. The black ring at the bottom of the bottle is the settled manganese sediment that turns the water black.

THE PRESIDENT'S LATEST ENERGY SPEECH drew applause from his toughest critics in Congress, but columnist Henry Gay isn't so easily impressed. Gay impolitely recalls several campaign promises and other broadcast examples of the language of expediency in a collection reverently titled "The Tentative Commandments". For more, see page A2.

Tentative Commandments

by Henry Gay

and its rules have become known as the Tentative Commandments, as each rule has been modified slightly to accommodate changing situations.

A few samples:

1. Thou shalt not lie to the people (unless it's the easiest way out of an embarrassing situation and you think you can get away with it).

4. Thou shalt not keep spending so many of thy shekels on weapons of war (unless it becomes politically expedient).

7. Thou shalt not appoint any more deadwood to the federal bureaucracy (unless it's a friend, or a friend of a friend, or a friend of the Speaker of the House.)

10. Thou shalt not escalate the sale of arms to nations throughout the world (beyond the point where the amount for such arms exceeds the Gross National Product).

It is to be hoped Jimmy will come down with something better than the Tentative Commandments. With any luck he may bring back a new tablet starting with the following rule:

1. Thou shalt forget about 1980, stay home, get thy rear in gear, propose a program and stick with it until you win or go down in flames.

Jimmy Carter has gone up on the mountain.

While his tribe waits nervously in a desert beset with dangers, Jimmy the Old-Sawgiver seeks inspiration from sources both known and unknown.

A look at the list of known sources — political hacks, retread economists, industrial and labor cretins, scrapings from the bottom of the governorship barrel and religious zombies — it is apparent that the unknown source had better be Jehovah with a new ballpoint pen if anything useful is to come out of the meeting.

This is not the first time Jimmy has gone up on the mountain for inspiration. As you will remember, he made the same journey prior to his election.

He came back from that trip with a tablet, from which he read to voters what he claimed were 10 important rules for creating a just and effective administration.

During the past two and one-half years, of course, the tablet

We'll do our part, can Carter do his?

In the two and a half years President Jimmy Carter has been in office he's made five major speeches on the subject of energy.

His fifth, Sunday night, was by far the most forceful and at the same time the most eloquent of his political career.

He called for renewed patriotism, a rebirth of the ideals that made the country what it is, a national commitment to hard work and sacrifices, and a restoration of confidence.

Who can argue with that? Yet if there is indeed a "crisis of confidence" it's a natural result of an administration which in 29 months has failed to enact one significant piece of energy legislation.

President Carter's been floundering around on the energy issue for nearly three years, but for the nation the problem goes back to the Arab oil embargo of 1973.

A "crisis of confidence?" We think not. A national skepticism is more accurate. Sure, we can all do our part by driving a few less miles a week, by turning our thermostats up or down depending on the season, by utilizing public transportation, by borrowing money to weatherproof our homes.

But the man in the street can't finance and build the huge, ecologically safe generation facilities that will be necessary in the future.

We can't negotiate agreements with Mexico and Canada to share natural resources.

We can't fight the bureaucratic red tape that makes American energy progress twice as expensive and take twice as long as it should.

We can't tell OPEC that two can play that game and place economic sanctions on goods and materials that we export to countries that comprise the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

We can't monitor the activities of the big oil companies to make sure they stop ripping us off.

We can't even decipher much less deal with the reams of environmental legislation.

We can't, with inflation, even afford to purchase the energy war bonds to finance the energy war.

The little guys to whom President Carter spoke Sunday can't do any of these things and, we're a bit skeptical as to whether he can.

Sorry if we're skeptical, Mr. President, but the Presidential and Congressional track record has been none too good so far. What we need is not some Sunday night sermonette, but some strong, gutsy leadership from the people we elect and pay, damn well, to represent us. We'll do our part long before the bureaucrats do theirs.

School Board: reconsider busing decision

Just when we think the Federal Way School Board finally has things turned around it comes up with a decision which is bound to irk patrons and cause heated community debate.

The latest decision came last Monday when the board voted 3 to 1 against restoring bus transportation to the pre-1976 level.

The district presently buses elementary and secondary students who live two miles or more from their school. Under state regulations that's the bare minimum if you're to have a transportation system at all.

With new state funding and formulas the district could have restored transportation to the level of one mile for elementary and 1.5 miles for secondary students. The cost to the district general fund is $28,000.

The school board, adopting the "I walked five miles barefoot through the snow" approach decided that two miles is not too much to expect of a first grader.

It's dark and wet out there in November and we are a community of cul de sacs and narrow gravel shoulders — no sidewalks.

Federal Way has the buses, it has the money, there's an energy crisis and, as Dick Schoon (the only board member in favor) put it, there's no better investment the district can make for the safety of its children.

It's not too late to reconsider.

Port: a monster or a blessing?

Homeowners north and south of Sea-Tac Airport are probably scratching their heads this week, wondering what the Port has in store for them.

If you haven't heard, the Port announced last week it is stepping up the pace of the home acquisition program. Within the next two years, the remaining 239 homes in the acquisition zones will be purchased by the Port and 239 families will have to find a new place to live. The step-up is being made possible through the sale of $19.1 million in revenue bonds.

If you live within certain boundaries north and south of the airport — generally on the northern end, south of South 136th Street, east of Des Moines Way and west of 24th Avenue South; and on the southern end, north of South 209th, east of 15th Avenue South and west of 24th Avenue South — you can be sure the Port will soon be knocking on your door.

But what about the homes which lie just outside of these boundaries? Homes that are noise-impacted but not quite so much as other homes underneath the flight path?

For the next two years at least, nothing will be done with these homes. Plans are on the drawing boards, but they are at best tentative.

One plan is to extend the acquisition zone to include the area north of the airport between South 136th and South 128th streets. Port officials say this will be the next step in the noise remedy program, about three years down the road. Currently, there is no money budgeted to buy out this area.

Other plans are for purchase guarantees and sound insulation. When and if these programs are ever implemented is anyone's guess.

A lot can happen in the decade ahead to change the plans. One possibility is that noise readings from the nine new monitors recently installed around the airport could be substantially different from readings taken in 1973, upon which the entire noise remedy program is based. If there is a huge difference — let's say accumulative noise is much greater than expected — the whole program could go back to the drawing boards.

A bigger question mark is funding for the noise remedy programs. At this time, say Port officials, Congress is considering a cutback in some Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) funding, where the Port gets the majority of the money for the noise programs.

The Port took a different approach in securing the funds for the remainder of the home acquisition program. The $19.1 million of revenue bonds will be paid off largely through landing fees and rents charged the various airlines at the airport.

Even though the airlines were already paying nearly the highest landing fees of any U.S. airport, they approved the bonding scheme which will raise the landing fees even higher. Perhaps we should thank the airlines for their contribution to the home acquisition program.

But it does seem odd, perhaps ironic, to thank the ones responsible for the problem in the first place. Thanks anyhow, airlines.

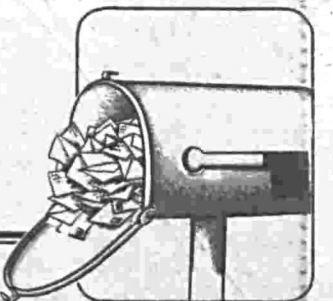

Many people see the Port as an evil monster out to gobble up homes. Others see the Port as a blessing, making it possible to move away from the constant window-rattling screech of low-flying aircraft.

Whatever your view, don't forget the Port isn't solely responsible for the acquisition program. It was a community idea spelled out in the Sea-Tac Communities Plan.

Most important, the home acquisition program is designed to help the community with a problem that isn't likely to ever go away.

Dicks wasn't 'praising'

Editor:

Your recent article in the Federal Way NEWS contained, in my judgment, a misleading headline.

I never said that I "praised the Boldt decision." I've steadfastly argued that the decision was "inequitable."

However, the Supreme Court decision leaves us with no doubt about what the Court believes the law to be. In my judgment we should now focus our energies on growing more fish and protecting existing salmon and steelhead runs.

That is a lot different from "praising" the recent Supreme Court decision.

Bus routes disappointing

(The following is an open letter to the Federal Way School Board, submitted to the NEWS for publication.)

School Board Members:

We are extremely disappointed with your recent decision not to reinstate the pre-1976 bus runs.

For those of us who have not allowed our children to walk along dangerous roads to school these past three years this decision is unacceptable. It is our contention if the state is providing full funding we should be provided with full services and this includes busing.

The routes to school that our children must tread have become increasingly dangerous with the influx of traffic utilizing the present inadequate rural road system. Another one of our concerns is the ever increasing number of incidences of children being accosted and molested on the way to and from school.

Carpooling as we are now doing only adds to the problem, as the school parking lots and accesses were not designed for the everyday influx of carpools. Indeed they add an additional safety hazard as the students are running and playing between the cars crowded in the school exit areas.

As for the energy aspect it would be more practical to run two buses per school in place of at least 30 cars during a school day.

It was implied by a busing opponent board member that the funds would be better utilized for education than busing. Is it not true that we need to get our students to school in a safe and efficient manner before they can receive this education?

FW crime report: Suspects arrested in burglary, vandalism

King County Police officers arrested a 26-year-old Seattle man during an apparent burglary attempt at Decatur High School early Sunday morning, 3rd Precinct records showed Monday.

Police said the man, who was being held at King County Jail, was observed inside the school building and was captured a short time later as he tried to flee. Sgt. Joe Bays, a K-9 dog unit and patrolmen Don Isaksen and James Coney surrounded the building, and Isaksen then grabbed the man as he ran into nearby woods.

APART FROM the incident at Decatur, two commercial burglaries, three residential burglaries and two larcenies were reported in the community between Friday and Sunday. Losses in each of the incidents was less than $500.

SCHOOL SECURITY agents caught a 13-year-old 42nd Place South boy who was armed with a BB gun on the campus of Kilo Junior High School Saturday and turned him over to King County Police as a suspect in a $200 vandalism spree.

Police reported that four windows and several overhead lights at the school had been shot out, apparently shortly before the boy was caught at about 11:30 a.m.

The suspect was booked at King County Youth Center, reportedly because his parents were not home to take custody.

Two other acts of vandalism, both of them involving smashed windows, were also reported during the weekend.

One of these occurred at a 22nd Avenue Southwest residence, where the window of a parked vehicle was shattered early Saturday morning. The other also happened on Saturday, at a 26th Place South address.

Four-car pileup leaves six hurt

Six persons were injured in a four-vehicle accident Saturday night on Pacific Highway South, the State Patrol reported.

Cynthia R. Adams, 19, of Seattle was driving south on Pacific Highway and stopped to make a left-hand turn onto South 211th Street when, the Patrol said, a car driven by Peggy L. Tomcal, 23, of Renton struck Adams' car in the rear.

The collision forced the Adams vehicle into the northbound lanes of Pacific, where it was struck by a car driven by Virginia L. Larson, 18, of Federal Way. Larson's car was then hit by another driven by Bernard A. Johnson, 35, Federal Way, according to the Patrol.

Hospitalized for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap were Adams and her passenger, Ray A. Adams, 18, her brother; a passenger in Tomcal's car, Sue Riley, 24, of Kent; and Larson and her passengers, Jeffrey G. Hundley, 17, Larson's step-brother, and Larson's mother, Barbara L. Zuber, 43.

Tomcal and Johnson were not injured.

Foxy hitchhiker pulls gun, robs local man

A 41-year-old Federal Way man who stopped to pick up a decidedly foxy hitchhiker Saturday discovered to his chagrin that the lady's clothes concealed more than a curvaceous figure.

The man told police that the woman, about 25, asked him to drive her to Seattle and then said she wanted to be taken east of the mountains.

He said he declined the second request but agreed to drive the woman into Seattle.

After they shared a couple of drinks from the man's supply of whiskey, the woman pulled a snub-nosed revolver and demanded that he give her his money.

The woman got away, the man said, with about $125.

He told police he picked her up in Fife on Pacific Highway South (State Route 99) and that she left the truck at about South 356th Street, also on the highway, and fled.

The incident occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Jeffrey Q. Gamble
Coast Guard Ensign
Jeffrey Q. Gamble, son of Melvin M. and Joan D. Gamble of 4211 S. 324th Place, recently participated in the seizure of a Korean fishing vessel during a routine Alaskan fisheries patrol.

He is serving as an officer assigned to the Coast Guard cutter Monro, homeported in Seattle.

The fishing vessel Dong Won was seized for violation of the U.S. fisheries conservation and management act of 1976, failing to report the true amount of gross tonnage of fish being taken from U.S. waters. Discovering the violation, and upon confirmation with a national marine fisheries service special agent, the crew of the Munro boarded and seized the vessel. The Munro then escorted the vessel to Kodiak, Alaska for adjudication.

Gamble is a 1977 graduate of U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Dragnet put out for new police chief

by Pat Jenkins
If all goes well, Normandy Park will have a new chief of police this September.
With at least 40 persons still in the running for the position and possibly a few more waiting to join them, City Manager Doug Schmitz said Monday that the city's second lengthy selection process this year in search of a chief is expected to put somebody in the chief's office "by mid-September."
The list of original applicants reached 55 Monday, and as many as five more postmarked before the application deadline of July 15 may also arrive at city hall this week, Schmitz said.
Of the initial candidates, at least 40 will reach the first stage of the selection gauntlet. Twelve hopefuls who did not meet minimum job requirements were removed from consideration last week by Schmitz and civil service commissioner Herm Muto upon review of their applications.

Thirty-eight applications have come from out-of-state, including the only two received from women. Among the non-Washingtonians are some from as far east as New York and New Jersey.
EIGHT candidates already live in the Puget Sound area.
Candidates still in contention will be ranked in order of qualifications by Mercer Island police Chief Jan Deveny, Normandy Park acting police Chief Garnett Arcand, Ed Drosdick, member of the city's civil service commission, and Mike Parness, mayor's assistant for the city of Renton.
Their top choices will be reviewed and interviewed by the civil service commission and an oral board, who will recommend finalists. The final choice will be made by Schmitz.
Normandy Park is undertaking a chief hunt for the second time since last January, when William McSeveney retired as the city's lead law enforcement officer.

The first search was abandoned by Schmitz when, according to the city manager, none of the three finalists from a field of 21 applicants measured up to the task of directing a police department.

Arcand, a police captain in Bellevue, has been interim chief since the departure of McSeveney. Last month, he lessened some of his duties when he was forced to resume fulltime duty in Bellevue. An NP police sergeant is handling some of the more routine daily functions of chief.

which is funded by the King County Arts Commission, is being sponsored by the Kent Parks and Recreation, Parks Senior Center, Arts Commission, Library and school district.

The free workshop will include a lecture on the history and origin of kites, a demonstration of four kite styles and materials and instruction for building your own kite.

A build-your-own-kite workshop will be held on Sunday, July 8 from 1 to 5 p.m. at Kent Memorial Park, 850 North Central, Kent.

From Joe College to chief of police

Ah, youth. They had no training in police work, and they only recently had graduated from college, but the two young men applied anyway for the job of Normandy Park chief of police.
The rather "green" candidates were the least qualified among those already lopped from a list of 55 candidates who, through Monday, had asked to be hired as the city's new head law enforcement officer.
Those removed from consideration did not meet minimum requirements for the position, City Manager Doug Schmitz said.

"They either lacked a degree or background in law enforcement," Schmitz said. In the case of some of the applicants, he said, "by law enforcement background I mean being a police officer. Some of the candidates had experience in other fields of police work, but not as a policeman."

from three in the first six months of 1978 to five in 1979. Vandalism is also on the upswing with 81 cases reported so far this year, as compared to 70 in the first half of 1978. Other areas reported only minor increases.

Young tycoons mow a path into business

COPROPRIETORS OF H & R Mighty Mowers, Jerrod Hainline and Mike Reed keep the neighborhood lawns in trim shape.

YOUNG TYCOON, Jerrod Hainline proves you're never too young to start a growing business.

PROSPERING BUSSINESSMEN, Jerrod and Mike keep accurate records of their customers and earnings.

Step aside Horatio Alger and meet two more enterprising businessmen — Jerrod Hainline and Mike Reed. They are the coproprietors of H & R Mighty Mowers, an up and coming business in the Twin Lakes area.

The two 12 year olds have put their heads and muscles together to provide a lawn care service in their neighborhood. They will mow, edge and bag the clippings. The client only has to dispose of the bag.

"We both came up with the idea while we were skiing one day," Jerrod said. "I told Mike that I had a good idea for making money this summer, likewise, he said he did too."

The two friends discovered it was the same idea, so they formed a partnership. Each boy is paid for his share of the work. If they work together, they split the fee but if one does the job he gets to keep the money.

Like a professional business, Jerrod and Mike began their business with an advertising campaign that blanketed the neighborhood with flyers detailing their services.

As serious businessmen, they keep a set of books, and they are not slouches. Jerrod keeps the books with all the customers listed and the amounts of each payment recorded.

Each job is estimated for the amount of work entailed and the size of the yard.

"One small yard may be only $2.50 while a another, larger yard, maybe $7," Jerrod said.

Since April they have earned between $250 and $300. Out of the money comes the expense of their own equipment and garbage bags. Their fathers loan them the power lawn mowers, however.

They enjoy the money, but working at a business has its pitfalls and disappointment.

"Competition is rough," the boys said. "We've lost some customers to younger kids who are less expensive. Then there are other guys who want to share in our business."

Mike and Jerrod try to limit their work load and schedule their jobs around summer activities.

Although the boys have six customers, they hope to find a couple more.

"We don't want to overextend ourselves," Jerrod said. "With too many customers and our other activities, and we couldn't do a good job."

There are pluses and minuses to any job, as Mike found out: "Sometimes it's hard to work while all of your friends are down at the swimming pool, but I also like the money."

"There is a kind of pride that goes with the job," Jerrod added. "It's nice to walk by a yard and say 'I did that.' I guess the job teaches us responsibility and how to do the job well."

When the summer ends these young entrepreneurs will suspend their prospering business until the next year, but they will be much the richer this fall in money and experience.

Summer bridal show

BRIDAL FASHIONS fit for a summer wedding, modeled by Jeannie Kemman (left) and Cathy Cruse (right), will be presented during the SeaTac Mall Fashion Store Bridal fair 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 21. The 2 p.m. Peoples show will feature gowns for the bride, her attendants and mothers of the bride and groom. Throughout the day products demonstrations and cosmetic clinics will be held. There will also be a reception tea and door prizes.

Assistance available for ailing elderly

Many frail and disabled elderly people want to be independent but aren't quite up to it. They aren't so ill that they require hospitalization, but they aren't well enough to get by with a visiting nurse or other type of help in the home.

Until recently, the only alternative was to enter a nursing home. Now, Day Health Centers in eight Washington counties provide an opportunity for older people who have severe or multiple problems to get the help they need to remain independent. The Department of Aging, Department of Social and Health Services, administers 10 such centers where people, most over the age of 80, attend three to five days a week for rehabilitative therapy. At any one time, 475 to 500 clients are brought to the various centers for five hours a day. Each receives individual treatment with appropriate therapies and activities, as well as nursing care and counseling, all aimed at improving their survival and coping skills so they can remain in their own homes.

The purpose of the program, according to Charles Reed, bureau director, is to prevent inappropriate or premature nursing home placement. "Nursing care is appropriate when a person needs 24-hour attention," Reed explained. "But for those who don't need help every day - who require occasional medical attention or help getting back on their feet after an illness - Day Health can provide the part-time care they need. It can also help prevent the physical and mental deterioration that occurs when people enter institutional care before they really need it."

The advantage of the Day Health program is that a person with multiple disabilities can get a variety of services at one location, including occupational therapy, balanced meals, medical testing and activity requirements, and on a sliding fee basis, depending on income, to those who can afford to pay. In King County, information is available from the Norwest Day Care Center for Adults in Seattle, 784-8285. In Pierce County, contact the Good Samaritan Day Center in Puyallup, 848-6661, Ext 118, or the Marcourt Day Center for Senior Citizens in Tacoma, 627-7965.

Closed circuit TV to operate in hospital

The first regularly scheduled closed circuit television station in a hospital for children will go into operation July 20 at Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center in Seattle.

Channels 2 and 3, known as the "Janie Network," will each feature four hours of children's programming seven days a week. Designed for time slots when other quality, developmentally appropriate children's programming is not available, the two stations will be directed toward different age levels.

Channel 2 will offer such things as Sesame Street, Zoom, Villa Alegre and Mr. Rogers for preschool and young school age children. Channel 3 will have selections for older children and adolescents.

Dr. Michael B. Rothenberg of the hospital's department of behavioral sciences, a nationally known expert on children's television, has developed the concept at COHMC. "Our aim is not to compete with other television programming but to offer alternatives to children and their parents at times when they need them most."

"People have been very generous in helping us set up the network," Rothenberg said. "Liz Graham, former co-producer of Zoom, is setting up more than 28 hours of programming in such a way that hospital volunteers can operate the equipment. Dr. Herman Frankel of the pediatrics department at Beth Kaiser Hospital in Portland, Ore., was our primary consultant in developing initial programming."

The original funds for equipment were a memorial gift. International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) has donated 60 of its "Big Blue Marble" shows.

"When we are able," Rothenberg said, "we hope to purchase a portable camera so that we can do our own programming with the children in the hospital. The whole project has tremendous potential. It will combine good therapy for the children and great entertainment."

Beauty clinics scheduled at Bon

The SeaTac Mall Bon store has scheduled Elizabeth Arden Red Door beauty clinics from Monday, July 30, through Friday, Aug. 3.

Each clinic, which is limited to 12 people per class, includes the art of make-up application and proper skin care. Included in the $10 fee is an instruction kit and credit toward the purchase of Elizabeth Arden products.

Bride's grandfather performs ceremony

With her grandfather, Rev. Roy Lee Haskell, officiating, Karen Lee Haarr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Stuart of Vancouver, Wash., was married recently to Michael Herbert Rendel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Rendel of Federal Way, in ceremonies performed in Bethany Baptist Church in Puyallup.

For her wedding, the bride selected a bone white gown of crepe chiffon and scalloped lace with long, pleated sleeves and a three-tiered cathedral-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of blue Gerber daisies and yellow roses with lacy fern and wore the sapphire necklace and diamond and ruby ring that were gifts from the bridegroom.

The bride was attended by Rebecca Adler, matron of honor, and Patrice Garland, Kris Schill, Tina Ryan and Colleen Creighton, bridesmaids. All wore light blue, flowered blouson dresses. Lisa Schill was the flower girl, and Kevin Schill was the ringbearer. Candles were lighted by Patric Garland and Rick Nelson.

Jerry Mock served as best man, and John Haskell, Roy Brewer, White maids and yellow daisies and a champagne fountain were used in the Fife Holiday Inn banquet room for the wedding reception. Joyce Anderson, the bride's aunt, cut the wedding cake, and Debby Stiefel was in charge of the guest book.

For their wedding trip, the couple flew to Florida where they stayed at Disney World and Cocoa Beach.

The bride attended For Steilacoom Community College, and the bridegroom attended Highline College. He is vice-president of Freeway Trailer Mfg. She is employed by Renton-Boeing. They will make their home in Federal Way.

Library starting exchange

In an effort to aid consumers in fighting ever increasing grocery prices, Federal Way Library has initiated a coupon exchange box.

When visiting the library, residents of the Federal Way area may help themselves to coupons clipped from magazines and newspapers and kept in a specially marked box near the library entrance. In return, donations to the coupon exchange box are sought from the community.

"Many of us receive more coupons than we can use and the library exchange box is a good way to make them available to someone else who can use them," Louise Puua, assistant head librarian, said. "Now, if we can just find some gasoline coupons to rely get

Consumer how-tos available at fair

The King County Fair, which opened today and will continue through July 18 in Enumclaw, will feature scores of practical "how-to" demonstrations geared to help consumers fight rising food costs.

King County 4-H groups and the King

County Cooperative Extension Service, will show fair-goers how to become "part-time farmers," how to plant and harvest fruits and vegetables and how to freeze, can and dry food.

A "small farm" program will provide consultation and workshops for farmers owning as little as an acre of land. A Master Gardeners' project will have gardening experts on hand to answer questions, diagnose plant problems and provide free bulletins on vegetable and fruit growing. A Master Canners booth will be open to answer questions, distribute bulletins, diagnose problems and demonstrate food drying, canning and preservation.

More than 130 4-H groups, involving 1500 youngsters, will be staging demonstrations and exhibits as well as participating in competitions covering a variety of 4-H projects ranging from rocketry to home economics, including food preparation and service, sewing and dressmaking and arts and crafts.

More inflation-fighting and energy-conserving exhibits and tips will be presented through a Master Conservers program sponsored by the Washington State Energy Extension Service.

Experts will be on hand daily to answer questions on energy conservation and alternative energy sources, distribute free information from sheets on upcoming classes and training sessions and explaining exhibits concerning conservation of energy for homeowners.

Fair exhibits open at 10 a.m. and close at 10 p.m. The fairgrounds, rides and midway are open from 10 a.m. to midnight daily.

Annual UPS alumni picnic scheduled

The University of Puget Sound summer alumni picnic, which welcomes alumni through the class of 1949 back to campus, is set for Saturday,

July 28. The event has been held annually for nearly 50 years. This summer, it features a buffet luncheon on the lawn adjacent to the home of President and Mrs. Philip Phibbs. Also on the agenda is a variety show and a special slide presentation by biology professor Eileen Solie titled "How to Pet an Octopus."

Board of Trustees member Nancy Hoff, class of 1951, will serve as mistress of ceremonies for the event, which begins at 11 a.m. in Kilworth Chapel lounge. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m.

Those wish to attend should make their reservations with the UPS alumni relations office prior to July 25. Cost is $5 per person.

Workshop leader needed

Jobline, a free employment service sponsored by the bureau for youth in Federal Way, will provide training for interested volunteers.

A volunteer workshop leader is needed at the Federal Way Youth Service Bureau to teach job finding skills to youths aged 14 and 15.

Young people have difficulty find work, and often it is because they lack knowledge of the job-finding process. Jobline workshops teach young people how to fill out applications and present themselves to employers. After they complete the workshop, Jobline then refers them to job openings. The role of workshop leader takes only two hours a week. Interested persons who wish more information may call 839-6555.

QUESTION?

Why is it sometimes hard to have a prescription refilled?

ANSWER...

The government has enforced a mass of new laws and regulations. These laws control whether or not your prescription can be refilled-not the pharmacist. It takes time to go through the motions of calling the physician and following all of the regulations. It may help for one to call in ahead of time for a refill.

Rock-and-roll group getting back to roots

by Barbara Butts
Plain old rock-and-roll is making a comeback it seems. And the members of an area rock band who have been faithful to their music during the lean years are eating better these days.

The rock musicians who make up The Mick Flynn Group entered their teens and got their first instruments in the mid-sixties when the fever of rock-and-roll was at its peak.

It seemed that just about everyone wanted to be in a rock band then. Mick Flynn, a 1968 graduate of Mount Rainier High School in Des Moines, was no exception.

the singer-guitarist and several of the band members, John O'Connor, who attended Glacier High School in south Seattle, and Lynn Cluck, a 1967 graduate of Mount Rainier, formed a group, called Meatball, about 10 years ago. Cluck played guitar and sung also, and O'Connor played drums.

The three musicians were playing essentially the same music then as they, and John Hunsaker, a 1968 graduate of Burien's Tye High School, are playing now — old-fashioned rock.

But they could not get anyone to pay for it.

"In the early 1970s, most of the paying jobs in the clubs were top-forty oriented," Flynn said. "We did occasional one-nighters and freebie outdoor concerts, but that wasn't enough."

After Meatball broke up, some of the band members joined Child, a band that is still in existence. They also went cold and hungry at times.

O'Connor, who said he wanted to die with a pair of drumsticks in his hands, said that some of their hardest times came when they lived in a house near the Des Moines Marina.

"We had to burn our table and the fence in our fireplace to keep from freezing to death," he said.

But they did not stop playing rock-and-roll, and now, according to the musicians, times are much easier for The Mick Flynn Group, which was born last New Year's Eve.

"There's a revived interest in plain rock-and-roll," Flynn said recently at a Tacoma rock concert in Cheney Stadium in which the band was one of the attractions.

The band leader said he believes that in the past 10 years rock music got too arty for its own good and left behind the fundamentals that made it great in the first place.

"The gimmicks, like smoke boxes and all that technology, that have been used and are still being used by some bands, have nothing to do with music," he said.

"Musicians became more worried about how their hair looked than about how the music sounded."

Now Flynn and Cluck live entirely off their incomes from music. Hunsaker, who writes some of the group's songs and plays bass guitar, and O'Connor have part-time jobs to supplement their pocket-books.

They independently recorded an album, entitled "The Mick Flynn Group," recently. And local sales of the album, which can be purchased at Penny Lane Records in West Seattle, are going fairly well, Flynn said.

All of them still live pretty close to their old homes. Flynn has a place in Seattle with his wife, Robin; O'Connor lives in Federal Way, and Cluck and Hunsaker live in Des Moines.

The musicians do not appear to hunger for national fame. They say they just want to be able to play their music for a long time.

And their hopes may be aided by the energy crunch and depressed economy, according to Flynn.

"Many of the groups still haul around tons of equipment in large trucks that are expensive to run," he said. "We get all of our equipment and ourselves into a van."

Simplicity in music and lifestyle, they hope, will keep them rocking through the next decade.

'Ring' thrills opera-lovers

by Sandra Thew
Last week's performance of "Siegfried" and "Götterdämmerung" (The Twilight of the Gods) was a journey into the realm of incredible music and magnificent voices.

The two operas were the third and fourth sagas in Wagner's "Der Ring Des Nibelungen" presented in the German cycle during the Pacific Northwest Festival. The English version is playing this week.

The two operas were filled with the rich lyrical music comprised of Wagner's familiar motifs which also parallels the dramatic action of the singing.

Herbert Becker portrayed the youthful and fearless hero, Siegfried with the bravo and cunning needed to characterize Wagner's "ideal man."

Although a few years older than the young man he depicts, Becker's theatrics and expressions, such as his teasing scenes with Mime in "Siegfried" convince the audience he is the title character.

The heldontenor's voice could scale the range of notes with ease whether jesting with the drawl Mime or singing opposite the noble Brunnhilde.

As in "Die Walkure," Ute Vinzing again dazzled the audience with her rich dominating soprano which easily arrests the listener. Her music comes deep from within to create the powerful warrior maiden and also the passionate woman. In both "Siegfried" and "Götterdämmerung" she reveals her many faceted character both dramatically and with her controlled voice. Clearly Vinzing is the star and the festival audience heaped flowers and at her feet. Her final bravos scene in "Götterdämmerung," as she entered the funeral pyre, was brilliantly sung with intensity.

Other outstanding performances included Paul Crook, who is the loathsome, yet comic Mime. He was also a unanimous favorite with the festival audience. His clear tenor voice reached out and his realistic mannerisms of a devious gnome brought depth to the role.

Interaction between Becker and Crook brought humor and wit to the stage.

Malcolm Rivers, again created a menacing figure as the evil Alberich with his resonant baritone.

As the Wanderer (Wotan), Rudolf Holtenau, put in his best performance. Unlike "Die Walkure," he was able to put volume into his deep heldontenor for his final appearance in "Siegfried."

Noel Mangin superbly executed his role as the offstage voice of Fafner, the giant turned dragon in "Siegfried" and as the villainous Hagen who plots and scheming causes the demise of Siegfried in the final opera, "Götterdämmerung."

As the Earth mother, Erda, and the First Norn, Geraldine Decker's richly sonorous voice hints at the tragic fate of the gods. Marvilee Cariaga is also excellent as the apprehensive Waltraute who brings Brunnhilde the sad news of Valhalla's awaiting doom.

In "Götterdämmerung" Jean Cook's lovely soprano portrays Gutrunne, the princess who tricks Siegfried into marriage. However, Archie Drake was only adequate as Gunther, king of the Gibichungs who desires Siegfried's powerful ring. Clever special affects added to the rather plain rocky stage. Fafner the dragon was largely evil appearing and Siegfried's teasing bear was comical.

Brunnhilde's walk into the funeral pyre was staged with blazing lights and smoke with curling flames depicted on a back screen. The inferno then melted into the cooling mists of the Rhine river with a smooth transition.

Conductor, Henry Holt's music was vibrant and artfully depicted Wagner's music. Special mention should go to the soloist who deftly played Siegfried's horn.

The week-long Ring cycle concluded with thunderous applause and bravos that nearly lifted the roof off the Opera House. Many Ring-goes were truly affected by the splendid performances.

"Siegfried" will be seen tonight and "Götterdämmerung" will conclude the English cycle on Friday night. The cast remains primarily the same, however, Alberto Remedios plays Siegfried, Raimund Herinx portrays Wotan and Janice Yoes stars as Brunnhilde.

MOLDING CLAY into works of art will be one of the activities available at the Des Moines Children's Festival on July 27. Pictured is artist Don Ashford assisting a young potter who attended an Enunclaw festival last month. At the Des Moines event, Ashford will give instruction in pottery-making and other arts.

Festival set

A free children's festival will be held on Friday, July 27, at the Des Moines Activity Center and Park.

Hours for the event will be 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The festival has been designed to give children from 6 to 15 (younger if accompanied by an adult) an opportunity to become actively involved in the visual and performing arts.

Activities will include painting, drawing, mask-making, ice sculpture, pottery, stick puppets and paper-cutting.

The children will see performances by mimist Penny England, native American culturist Bill Burleigh, ventriloquist Ray Gyll, storyteller Cascade Jack and ee magician and clown, Richard Gaw.

Children are encouraged to bring a sack lunch and to attend the puppet show to be given by Puppet Power during the lunch break from noon to 1 p.m. The Des Moines Children's Festival is one of 13 being held throughout King County this summer as part of the International Year of the Child celebration.

King County Parks, the Pacific Northwest Region of the National Park Service and the Washington State Department of Ecology are sponsoring the festival.

The park is located at 10 Avenue South and 220th Street. For more information, call C.J. Farr at 878-2303.

by Harry Brooks
"I'd be satisfied with a split," remarked Federal Way American Legion coach Jim Torina before taking on two strong Bellevue teams last weekend.

Federal Way proceeded to win one of two contests, but nobody on the Federal Way squad is beaming with satisfaction. The Feds beat Bellevue Foster Marshall, 6-5, in 10 innings Saturday but fell to Bellevue R.C. Winter, 2-0, Sunday.

The outcomes placed Federal Way's District 11 Southern Division record at 9-5, a mere two percentage points ahead of Burien, 10-6, in the battle for the division's second and last entry into the playoffs. Burien, which posted 2-1 and 4-3 wins last weekend over Auburn, has five games remaining on its regular schedule. Federal Way has seven.

Federal Way appears to have an easier future slate than Burien. The Feds meet Mercer Island, 4-9, at 6:30 tonight at Isle Crest Field. Burien hosts Northern Division leader R.C. Winter, 8-2, in a 6 p.m. contest today at Moshier Field. Three of Federal Way's remaining games are with Auburn, now 4-8.

Should Federal Way continue its recent strong play, Burien will have a hard time overtaking the Feds, Burien coach Lou Bomber said.

"With Federal Way knocking off Foster Marshall and playing R.C. Winter tough, it shows they're coming around," he noted. "We can't afford to lose any of the ones we have left and then hope someone else helps us out."

FEDERAL Way assistant coach Jim Winebrenner agreed that Federal Way is improving:

"I thought we played excellent ball this weekend," he said after Federal Way's shutout loss to R.C. Winter. "The way we played we could have swept both. We didn't have any errors in this one (Sunday), but we couldn't get the guys home from third."

Butch Cratsenberg singlehandedly managed to make the base circuit to win Friday's contest against Foster Marshall in the bottom of the tenth.

Crats scrambled to first on a second-baseman's error and promptly stole second. Moments later, Butch took off for a theft of third, forcing a wild throw from the Bellevue catcher. Crats trotted home on the miscue.

The Feds scored their previous five runs in a fifth-inning burst. Bob Bolam opened the inning with a single and moved to second when Jeff McCauley's grounder baffled the second baseman. Mark Hillis absorbed a Bellevue pitch to load the bases.

Scott Theiss forced Bolam across the plate by taking ball-four. Dave Greening also took advantage of pitching control problems to walk McCauley home. Jim Bendorf launched a fly to right that drove Hillis in, and Pat Buckholz capped the rally scoring Theiss and Greening with a single.

The Federal Way surge demolished a 3-0 Foster Marshall lead. The visitors scored a run in the third off Federal Way starter Scott Theiss via a double and a single. They managed just two runs off four singles and three walks in the fifth. Strong fielding by the Feds kept the scoring to a minimum. Bolam came to the mound, allowing just two runs the next five frames.

A Marty Knopff homer in the sixth pulled Foster Marshall to within one run of Federal Way, and a walk, a single and a double scored the tying run in the seventh.

Bellevue put runners in scoring position in the eighth and ninth, but Federal Way's clutch play in the field kept home plate untouched until Cratsenberg planted his foot on it.

THE FEDS' inability to hit with runners in scoring position fueled their goose-egg loss to R.C. Winter and pitcher Bryan Hancock, who threw for Central Washington State University last spring.

He gave up four hits while going the distance and stranded six runners. Cratsenberg, who poked a single through the middle, was left at second base when the second inning ended.

Dave Greening's hit in the third inning moved Scott Theiss, who got on with a fielder's choice, to second. Both moved up on a wild pitch with one out, but a strikeout and a pop fly ended the threat.

Ed Camden singled to right in the fourth, stole second and moved to third on a Bob Bolam grounder. But there he stood at inning's end. Mark Hillis, who singled in the fifth and ventured to third on a bouncer to second and a wild pitch, suffered the same demise.

Camden only allowed one runner to second base in the initial four innings, but Kevin McQuilken's triple down the right field line, followed by Tom Gilchrist's single broke the scoreless deadlock in the fifth. R.C. Winter added an insurance run in the sixth when Ron Romnick doubled and scored on a McQuilken single.

Jim Simpkins, R.C. Winter head coach, acknowledged that Federal Way "really helped" his club last weekend. R.C. Winter entered the weekend's action with only a 1 1/2 game edge over Foster Marshall. Winter gained another full game on Foster Marshall via Federal Way's split.

Now, Federal Way hopes that R.C. Winter can return the favor tonight when the Bellevue-ites meet Burien.

Burien Legionnaires take double-header from Auburn

The Burien American Legion team stayed in strong contention for a playoff berth Saturday with a dramatic 2-1, 4-3 double-header sweep over Auburn at Moshier Field.

With seven games left in the District 11 schedule, Burien sports a 10-6 record, just percentage points out of second place behind Federal Way's 9-5. The top two Southern Division teams advance into double-elimination play off action, while the third-place team faces a one-game playoff with the third team in the North.

Dale Fite's fourth-inning, two-run homer provided the margin of victory in the opener, and Gordy Hale's sacrifice fly knocked in the game-winner in the nightcap in the bottom of the seventh inning.

"Those are our two best games of the year," Burien coach Lou Bomber said.

Fite's clutch clout came in his first full-time action since a knee injury limited him to part-time duty recently. Kelly Sutton drew a walk and Dale followed with a 335-foot shot over the right center field fence.

Auburn threatened in the seventh, putting together a single and a double to score one run. But Burien pitcher Bruce Rieker got the next two batters on an infield grounder and a fly to left, then struck out the next hitter to clinch the victory.

Rieker struck out six and scattered five hits to gain the win.

BURIEN jumped on Auburn for two runs in the first inning of the nightcap. Jim Doane and Sutton singled, and Mark Westbrook singled them both home.

Auburn knotted things in the top of the second, but Burien came back in the third with a single tally. Westbrook doubled off the top of the right field fence, and Fite knocked him in with a sharp single.

The locals picked up another run in the seventh on Hale's sacrifice fly. Auburn scored a harmless run in the seventh on Bob Knudston's RBI single.

Kerry Boatwright struck out 13 and allowed four hits in hiking his season record to 5-1. Mark Westbrook, hitting .547 over the season, was 2-4 for the twin bill.

Burien faces talented R.C. Winter of the Northern Division tonight at Moshier at 6 p.m.

Bomber likes the looks of his team's chances in the final games.

"Having Dale Fite really makes a lot of difference," he said. "He makes life more entertaining."

"With Federal Way knocking off Foster Marshall and playing R.C. Winter tough it shows they're coming around," Bomber continued. "We can't afford to lose any more, and hope someone else helps us out."

Church fastpitchers begin tourney action

St. Theresa used triples by Bob Height, Dave Cox and Gerri Heinlain to knock off St. Vincent de Paul I, 6-4, last week in the Federal Way Recreation Church Softball League.

St. Theresa dealt St. Vincent I their first loss of the season and firmed up their third place standings in the past season playoffs. St. Vincent I finished number one — despite the loss.

Landgren Memorial I finished the season with a 12-1 record and an 11-3 win over St. Vincent II. Lou Totino went three for four for the winners. Landgren I finished as the league's number-two team.

In other games last week, Evergreen Bible Chapel won twice beating Steel Lake Presbyterian 16-9 and Bethel Chapel, 6-4. Christ Lutheran defeated Trinity Lutheran, 24-18; Lutheran Church of the Cross won their first game of the year by beating All Saints Lutheran, 23-12; Landgren Memorial II knocked off Steel Lake Presbyterian and Midway Covenant won over Des Moines Gospel Chapel.

The mini playoffs to decide the seventh and eighth seeds in the championship tournament included several exciting games.

Christ Lutheran edged St. Vincent II, 8-7, on Sol Denas three-run homer and the excellent relief pitching of Bob Holland. All Saints Lutheran nipped Trinity Lutheran, 11-8. Vern Warnbo had three hits and drove in five runs to lead All Saints.

Bob Weatherby had two home runs and pitched a complete game as Steel Lake Presbyterian beat Christ Lutheran, 17-4. Landgren II won a close 11-10 decision over All Saints Lutheran. Dave Voigt made a game saving catch in the seventh inning for Landgren.

And then Landgren II beat Steel Lake, 14-6, to capture the seventh playoff spot and land Steel Lake in the number eight position in this week's playoffs.

On Monday, Steel Lake played St. Vincent I; Bethel meet Midway Covenant;

Landgren I played Landgren II and St. Theresa meet Evergreen in first round games. Tonight the four winners play in a doubleheader at Sacajawea Park, while the losers play at Thomas Jefferson and Federal Way.

The second round winners meet Friday at Federal Way. The losers bracket in the double-elimination tournament continues Thursday, Saturday and Monday. Next Tuesday the finals will be at Lakota Field starting at 7 p.m.

Tigers stun Angels, gain entry to state tourney

THE ANGELS BRYAN Forsloff slides safely into home plate in first inning play of last Wednesday's championship game against the Tigers. Receiving the throw for the Tigers is catcher Emilio Davila. The Angels went on to score four runs in the inning, but the Tigers came back to win 5-4. A second victory by the Tigers on Thursday afternoon earned them a trip to the state tournament next month in Puyallup. — photo by Gary Kissel

The Adair's Restaurant Tigers earned the right to participate in the state Colt baseball tournament, to be held later next month in Puyallup, by defeating the Home Savings and Loan Angels 6-3 in the championship game of the Blazer Colt League post season tournament held last Thursday at Moshier Field.

The Tigers were forced to do it the hard way, by coming through the loser's bracket after losing to the Angels in the quarterfinals. When the two teams met in the finals, the Tigers, to offset that earlier quarterfinal loss, had to win twice to lay claim to the title. The Angels, on the other hand, after going undefeated in the tournament, needed only one win to wrap things up.

In the first contest, the Angels jumped out to a 4-0 lead only to have the Tigers come back and win 5-4 in eight innings.

Jerry Nickels started both games for the Tigers. He lasted only one third of an inning, allowing four runs on four hits in the first game. But in the final game, he went the distance giving up just two hits while striking out five Angel batters.

"He was a little tired in that first game," Tiger coach John Gettis said. "But one day's rest makes a big difference. I knew he could do it because he has been one of our top pitchers all year."

Mike Nelson led off the championship game for the Tigers with a walk off Angel starter Rick Tronson. He later scored when third baseman Todd Kimmel singled to center.

The Tigers added to their one run lead in the third. Nelson opened the frame with a triple and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kimmel. Then, after walking Landines, Tronson yielded a run scoring single to Tiger catcher Emilio Davila.

Nickels held the Angels scoreless until the bottom of the fourth when they bunched together a single, a hit bunched, one Tiger error, a sacrifice fly and a double for two runs, cutting the Tiger lead to 3-2.

The Tigers picked up an insurance run in the sixth as Brian Malo led off with a walk and advanced to second on an infield out. After stealing third, he came in to score on a throwing error by Angel catcher Bob Holmes.

Jim Kemp led off the seventh with a home run over the left field fence. It was the first home run by a Tiger all season.

"Jim was elated," Gettis said. "I was tremendously excited also. It was good to see Jim hit one like that. He struggled at the plate last year, but this year he has been hot."

Tronson was relieved by John Winn following Kemp's homer and he was tagged for the Tiger run when Landines scored on a Davila single.

The Tigers will now compete in a state tournament during the first and second weeks of August in Puyallup.

"We are looking forward to the state tournament," Gettis said. "This is the kind of team that sticks together and plays as a team. And what is really nice, is that this team has an excellent attitude."

Since the Tigers won the first half of the Blazer Colt season and the Angels won the second half, a three game playoff series for the league championship will be held. And according to Angel coach Bill Yager, "It will be a little anticlimactic after this."

Fisheries moving to govern salmon

The Department of Fisheries is taking necessary steps to resume full management and enforcement authority of the salmon resource in Washington, director Gordon Sandison said.

"Since the federal court began enforcement and management responsibilities of salmon returning to Washington waters, this agency has been eager to get back into full management and enforcement authority," Sandison said.

Conflicting federal and state court rulings resulted in the federal government extensively in enforcing regulations designed to provide exclusive fishing opportunities for treaty Indians.

"Now that the U.S. Supreme Court has reaffirmed the concept that the state of Washington should manage the Washington salmon fisheries, we have held discussions with legal councils from the U.S. Department of Justice, National Marine Fisheries Service, and the Department of the Interior to clarify the situation," Sandison said.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled last week that specific treaty Indian tribes in Washington are entitled to a maximum 50 percent of the harvestable salmon in this state.

The Fisheries director said the U.S. Supreme Court will issue a mandate to Washington's Supreme Court within 25 days of the ruling. The mandate transfers jurisdiction from the U.S. Supreme Court to the State Supreme Court for necessary action at the local level. Sandison said the Department of Fisheries "will do our best to expedite the process."

The director says he expects his department will have the authority to manage and enforce commercial salmon fishing fully by the end of the summer. "Satisfactory resolution of legal impediments will then put us back in business," he said. "Until then, we must still rely on federal participation."

Sandison also explained that International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission (IPSC) regulations, which apply to the current sockeye and pink salmon fisheries in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and northern Washington waters, will, in the interim, be enforced and upheld by existing federal laws.

Westside second in Longview tourney

by Bart Potter
Bobby Beyers will learn not to sell his Westside Federal team short.

Just after Westside had taken a 7-1 loss to Ray Bristow of Portland in the final game of the winner's bracket at the Longview Invitational Fastpitch Tournament Sunday, Bobby said, "Third place is almost a season for us."

But the Feds did that one better, knocking off Peterbilt Western, 3-0, on Dave Marquardt's two-hitter to proceed into the championship game where they fell to defending champion Bristow, 6-1.

That meant second place hardware from the 28th annual Longview event for Beyers and his scrappy squad. In addition, three Westside players — Marquardt, John Hanson and Rod Melton — were named to the tourney all-star team.

When it was all over, Beyers had praise for his team's pitching and defense, but most of all for its tenacity.

"ONE THING about this team, they never give up," the veteran manager said. "I've never seen 'em quit yet."

The Feds played good softball in every game in the tourney, but the highlight had to be the blanking of Peterbilt. The Westside win was the first in six tries this season over the Norwest League rivals.

Marquardt, picked up along with Woodinville Lumber teammate Hill Vlydo to aid the depleted Westside Federal pitching staff, was never in trouble against Peterbilt. He limited the Truckers to two Joe Nokes base hits and struck out seven.

His teammates provided him with all the runs he needed in the third inning. The pitcher himself started things by drawing a walk. Tim Sullivan singled, and Melton followed up with another single to load the bases. Hanson came through with a two-RBI single.

Westside scored an insurance run in the seventh. Fred Witham singled and the ball skittered past Peterbilt centerfielder George Bettineski. Witham ended up on third, where Sullivan's sacrifice line drive to left scored him.

After the tourney, Beyers said of his team's performance, "It just proves that pitching makes this game."

Peterbilt's veteran George Nokes said of Marquardt's gem: "There's no question he's one of the top throwers in the Northwest. When he's right, he can beat anybody in the country."

The Feds got two more fine mound performances in the earlier rounds of the tourney.

VIYDO shut out Schlitz of Yakima, 2-0, on only one hit striking out eight, in Westside's tourney opener after a first round bye. Three Schlitz errors led to the Feds two runs in the fourth inning.

Marquardt stopped Crossroads Tavern of Blaine, 7-3, on just three hits. Blaine had earlier in the day pulled off an upset by downing Longview Boondox, 4-3.

When the only two undefeated teams in the tourney met, Bristow raked Vlydo and Bill Sims for 14 hits, while tournament most valuable player Virgil Harstad held Westside to six safeties.

Bob Jones had a three-run homer for Portland, and John Aarhus added a solo shot. Hanson and Melton were each 2-3 for Westside.

Then came the sweet win over Peterbilt. But the bubble would burst.

THE TITLE game was all Bristow as the game but tired Feds had, for all practical purposes, run out of gas.

Westside tallied first on Melton's RBI single in the bottom of the first inning.

Portland tied it up in the second on Jerry Hall's sacrifice fly, and went ahead for good in the fourth on Dave Newell's two-run single and Jones' sacrifice fly.

Bristow closed out the scoring in the sixth on Craig Webster's sacrifice fly and Steve Newell's RBI single.

Beyers was understandably pleased with the weekend's outcome. "We've gotten two seconds and a third out of five tournaments," Beyers said. "That's not too bad."

The Feds will take this week off, Beyers said, and return to practice the following week. The next scheduled game for Westside is July 29 against Victoria Budget at Fort Dent. "We've been hitting it pretty hard,"

Beyers said of the Feds' sixth straight weekend of softball. "Personally, I'll welcome that week off."

American-Evergreen takes '13' Little League title

by Kevin Stauffer
The Federal Way American-Evergreen all-stars earned a shot at the 13-year-old Little League state championship by defeating Federal Way National Saturday, 7-4.

Coupled with a 17-2 defeat of Steele Lake Friday, the Saturday win gave American-Evergreen the district title in the 13-year-old division. The district tournament began with four all-star squads selected from area Little League charters.

American-Evergreen hurler Rick Nienaber earned the championship victory, shutting down National on two hits through five innings. National came on to score four runs in the final two stanzas, but Wayne McFarland stepped in from the mound to relieve Nienaber in the seventh; McFarland's bases-loaded strikeout ended the contest.

The first game in state championship competition for American-Evergreen will be July 31 at Meadowdale High School in Lynnwood. After receiving a first-round bye, the local Little Leaguers from District 10 will play the winner of a District 9-District 4 matchup; American-Evergreen's first game will begin at 3:30 p.m.

"We have a real good chance in the state tourney," American-Evergreen manager Dan Stumetz said. Stumetz managed Little Leaguers from Johnny's Food Center to a city championship, giving him the right to be manager of the all-star team.

Stumetz' all-stars proved their merit early against the Federal Way Nationals.

Rick Payment led off the first inning for American-Evergreen by singling off National starter Stuart Escobar. Payment circled the base the next batter, Colin Young, grounded to third baseman Craig Brown; Brown threw past second in an attempt to force Payment, allowing the A/E shortstop to score the game's first run.

With two outs, McFarland doubled to center field, sending A/E across for an A/E 2-0 lead.

Walk plagued Escobar in the following two stanzas; free passes to the first two batters in the second and third innings spelled a total of three runs for the FW American-Evergreen team.

Bill Williamson and Mike Fergus walked to open the second, with Young's two-out single to right-center field scoring Williamson. Les Chatfield and McFarland walked in the third; Wes Lawrence reached on error and Williamson was hit by an Escobar pitch to force Chatfield in with A/E's fourth run. Fergus grounded to Michelle Crowston at second, who attempted to force McFarland at home; the play failed, and A/E was in command 5-0.

Two walks and a single again put Escobar in the hole in the fourth inning, but a brilliant double play between National first baseman Anthony Nalbene and catcher David Beckloff pulled Escobar out of the inning.

Beckloff stepped to the mound in the fifth, but found no better control; three walks and a single combined to score Fergus with the game's sixth run.

Brown's triple in the sixth scored Nalbene with National's first run, and Beckloff's single scored Brown.

American-Evergreen tallied an insurance run in the sixth on triples by Fergus and Nienaber. National continued to fight back with two runs in the seventh, but they were not enough to take a trip to the state championships away from American-Evergreen.

The A/E all-stars have a lot of practice under their belts, and will continue to work out before their state debut.

"We've practiced five days a week for four hours each day on Sacajawea field," American-Evergreen coach Richard McClelland said. "I think we're more serious than the other teams."

"As far as we can see we should go all the way in state," Stumetz commented. "We've got good pitching and they've been coached well."

Stumetz' well-coached squad is the

"They're all outstanding players, every one of them," Stumetz said.

Stumetz should know soon if they are outstanding enough to play for the all-star team.

Mobley's shutout paces WIL victory

Federal Way's Rick Mobley pitched nine scoreless innings as the FW WIL baseball team beat Hideaway Restaurant of West Seattle, 2-0.

Mobley struck out 10 hitters and scattered eight hits. West Seattle hurler Tim Riffelin allowed only four Federal Way hits, but the Feds bunched two each in the fourth and sixth innings for scores.

Jerry Bendorf opened the fourth by being hit with a pitch. He stole second and rambled to third on Doug McCracken's grounder. Rich St. John brought Bendorf home with a playbook suicide-squeeze bunt.

Kevin Vallala smacked a single in the sixth and took second base on Bendorf's sacrifice bunt. McCracken chased Vallala in with a double.

Federal Way was forced to forfeit its Saturday game against Edmonds because of scheduling confusion and players' employment commitments.

Youth golfers qualify

Local youth golfers continued to turn in good scores as they completed qualifying in the final sub-district event last weekend at Lake Spanaway.

Qualifiers will advance to the District 3 tournament at High Cedars July 26 and 27. Golfers will start all over there. Two-day scores will determine entrants in the state event.

Paul Siclare took advantage of his final opportunity to qualify, placing fourth in the boys 12-14 group with an 83. Previous qualifier Eric McKee of Twin Lakes placed second in the same division with a sudden death playoff.

In the girls 12-14 girls group, Kris Bettsworth of Twin Lakes who had already qualified in earlier sub-district play, carded a 97 for second place.

Charlotte Green of Twin Lakes scored an 80, good for second place in the girls 11 and under division.

Previous qualifiers Roger Nelson of North Shore and Mark Nygren of Linden Golf and Country Club carded 78s to add one point to their totals heading into district.

Troy Lewis of Twin Lakes added to his qualifying point total with a nine-hole 53, good for sixth place in the boys 11 and under.

FW Evergreen-Ams nipped from District Ten, 5-4

by Harry Brooks
The Federal Way American-Evergreen team was the victim of no-hit performance Friday night but came close to taking the District 10 Senior Major Little League Tournament at Sacajawea Park.
Renton North's Pat Demarr kept the locals hitless throughout the championship contest, but his eight walks and three Renton errors at critical times allowed the home folk to cross the plate four times.
However, Renton tagged home five times at take a one-run verdict.
Both teams had their problems in the field. Federal Way had four miscues on defense. Only three runs, a Renton tally in the fourth, were of the earned variety.

"It was a game where both teams were tense," FW coach John Thompson explained. "When you're playing for the district championship, you get a little more nervous."
Thompson credited his players for their endurance over the tourney, which started Tuesday. The title outing marked Federal Way's fifth game in four days. After losing their tourney opener to Renton North, 10-4, the Feds played under pressure the rest of the way, knowing that another loss would knock them out of the double-elimination tournament.
Federal Way faced the situation by stringing wins against Renton South, 6-1; Tukwila, 8-6, and Federal Way Steel Lake-National, 16-2. Thompson said the hard drive to the championship game possibly had an effect on his team's performance Friday:

"It's awful hard to ask the guys to come back and play hard through all those games, but it's their credit that kept their intensity all the way."
Federal Way pitcher Mike Meyers attempted to catch Demarr leaning off third. Meyers' throw zipped high of its intended mark, bounded off the screen and dribbled into left field. Demarr and Troy Larson skampered home before Federal Way recovered. Demarr previously poked only the fourth Renton hit off Meyers, and Larson moved him up with a walk. A balk call against Meyers advanced both runners.

Federal Way had the potential tying run on first in the bottom of the sixth and again in the seventh but could not push ahead on the base paths in either situation.
Three base on balls and two Renton shortstop errors accounted for Federal Way's 2-0 start in the first inning. Buzz Carter and Wayne Koonce opened the Federal Way's first at-bat with free passes. Renton's first shortstop bobble on Chris Williams hopper loaded the bases. Jeff Thomas forced Carter home with a walk, and Koonce came in when Greg Herring's grounder was flubbed at short.
Renton retaliated in the fourth. Don Eck trotted to first after being struck with a pitch and made the base circuit on Demarr's triple to deep left. Larson brought Demarr to the plate with a single, and three straight walks — issued to Greg Barney, Bill Schuver and Cephus Jenkins — capped Renton's three-run rally.

Federal Way regained the lead in the fifth. Ball-fours taken by Carter, Thomas and Herring loaded the bases. Then, a Meyers' grounder found its way past shortstop, allowing Carter and Thomas a trip home.
But Federal Way's

edge disappeared moments later.
Meyers' four-hit performance included six strikeouts, five walks and one hit batsman. Demarr fanned seven Feds, Greg Herring's strong hurling against Steel

Lake-National was a major factor in Evergreen-Americans drive to the title game. He struck out 13 and allowed just two walks during his mound stint in the Thursday semifinal affair.

There They Go!

Registering horses is an intricate process

Now that you've bought your horse through a carefully selective process and have him insured, you want to do more than just look at him in the trainer's pasture.

You want to be able to say to the other guys, "That's my bay colt out there with the star blaze on his forehead and the white blaze on his left hind foot." To be sure, you have to do more than this if you want to run him at a recognized track. He has to be registered with the New York Jockey Club and given an accepted name. All his markings must be carefully noted on his registration papers, even to a turned up toenail. Not only this but a zillion other things as well including his height, estimated weight and length.

Next he has to have his upper lip tattoo made with needles (it's painless) and the indelible ink. This is an alphabet letter showing foaling year and then a number similar to our social security numbers (for example: G-36894). Close to half a million horses are so marked for easy competitive identification.

A special polaroid camera has been perfected and is used to take a picture of the lip tattoo which becomes a part of the official papers. The Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau (TRPB) has a special ultrasonic sterilizer which insures that the lip tattoo will not become infected. Your Thoroughbred is now properly registered and identified. After some expert starting-gate training and conditioning he is now ready for his early morning gallops.

Next week: A new and novel method of identification. Is it practical and will it work? We'll see.
SATURDAY, JULY 21st: The inaugural of the Louella G. Stakes, at one mile for fillies and mares three years old and up for $20,000 added. It is a welcome addition to the distaff division. the Longacres Derby Aug. 19. Winner to be declared divisional champion. A handsome trophy for a divisional triple win.

Dale Fite

Dale Fite, a Des Moines resident, stroked a two-run homer in the fourth inning to give the Burien American Legion team a 2-1 win over Auburn in the opener of Saturday's double-header. Burien also took the second game, 4-3.

The 335-foot blast highlighted Fite's return to regular duty. The catcher is recovering from a knee injury. He will be a prime figure in Burien's battle with Federal Way for second place in the District 11 Southern Division loop.

"Having Dale Fite back makes life more entertaining," a happy Burien coach Lou Bomber noted.

Other top performances. Rick Mobley, of the Federal Way WIL baseball team, notched a complete-game shutout in the Feds 2-0 win over West Seattle last Sunday. He struck out 10 WS hitters.

Greg Herring, of the Federal Way Evergreen-American senior major Little League team, hurled 13 strike outs in his team's 14-2 win over the Steel Lake-National squad.

Butch Cratsenberg, of the Federal Way American Legion squad, scored the deciding run in a 6-5 win over Bellevue Foster Marshall last Friday night. After taking first on an error, Butch stole second and forced an off-target catcher's throw with a theft attempt at third. Butch came in on the errant toss to end the contest.

Jeff Borrer, a Peterbilt player, was named to the Longview Tournament All-Star team for his consistent play last weekend.

Pyramid women take second place

Pyramid Tire's Women's Softball team of Federal Way placed second in the sixth annual Green Lake Women's "A" Softball Invitational.

"In Spokane we have not seen any stronger hitting teams from top to bottom, but Bainbridge is the best hitting team we've ever seen. They just rammed the ball down our throats."

Pyramid marched through the tournament and into the semifinals on the strength of 32, while allowing only four. Victims included Traders Van's of Edmonds and Ships Restaurant of Seattle.

In semifinal action, Pyramid prevailed over Bainbridge Merchants, 7-4.

Pyramid then waited for Bainbridge to emerge from the losers' bracket but was trounced by scores of 16-6 and 15-5. Coach Frank Couont

"Where's the green?" is the most common question asked by everyone the first time out on the new back nine at North Shore Golf and Country Club.

The fresh layout is an exercise in switchback linksmanship... or dufferhood in my case and that of many others who participated in the recent "Grand Opening" of the new yardage. Six of the nine fairways take either a sharp left or right turn halfway to the hole.

The hilly terrain often leaves the golfer blind to the direction of the curve. Then, a thorough scan of the map on the back of the scorecard is necessary. Sometimes, a member of the group has to be stationed ahead from the tee area to monitor his companions' shots.

"We built it to go along with the lay of the land," North Shore manager Jim Bourne said with a sneaky chuckle. "The topography's different from the front nine, so it doesn't play the same."

Indeed! The opening nine features mostly straight-on tee-to-green holes. It's longer than its backside compliment — 3,210 yards to 3,025 — but what the back nine lacks in length it more than makes up for with its numerous hazards and swooping turns.

"The trees are bigger on the back, too," Bourne noted.

NUMBER-17 is a prime example of all these elements. The 250-yard hole's fairway takes a 45-degree dogleg left at the base of a steep hill.

A 250-yard par four; no sweat, you say. Wrong; there are a few obstructions that can make a player perspire in agony if they are not overcome. A line of 30-foot fir trees, picketing the fairway's left side near the tee area, makes cutting the corner a gamble. A big hitter must choose the correct club for his tee shot. A strong one-wood stroke may send the ball bounding across the elbow of the fairway's curve into a tree grove or into a sand trap strategically stationed at the base of the bend.

The green is guarded by three sand traps. Two others lie nearby. The green features a confusing combination of rolls and humps that make figuring the break a meticulous procedure.

Braving the unknown, a Robinson Newspaper contingent of Steve Botkin, Brad Broberg and myself challenged the back nine the day it opened. Each of us fell victim to entrapments of holes nine through 18. Some were not purposely implemented by the course planners.

BRAD, WHO used to be perched behind the typewriter I use before heading off to the Highline

Times, had the hole constantly jumping away from his puts all day. Bare spots and uneven grass lengths on the new greens assisted his short-range futility.

"You always open a golf course too early," Bourne said, admitting that some fairways and greens need more time to develop solid sod. "You put a lot of money into a new course or an addition, so you have to get people playing on it to get some back. With age it'll get better. By August, it ought to be in pretty good shape."

Steve, the editor of the Highline Times, was in bad shape after his drive hooked to the left on the dogleg right 12th hole. He found his ball, all right, but while walking through the rough, he also found an underground beehive. Cutoff jeans were no defense, as the six stings on Steve's legs attested.

MY DOWNFALL on 12 wasn't that physically pain-

Challenging North Shore's new back nine ful. Being a wicked slicer, I should have been able to master the fairway's curve to the right with ease. Just as I addressed my ball on the tee, Brad just had to mention, "There's water over the hill on the right."

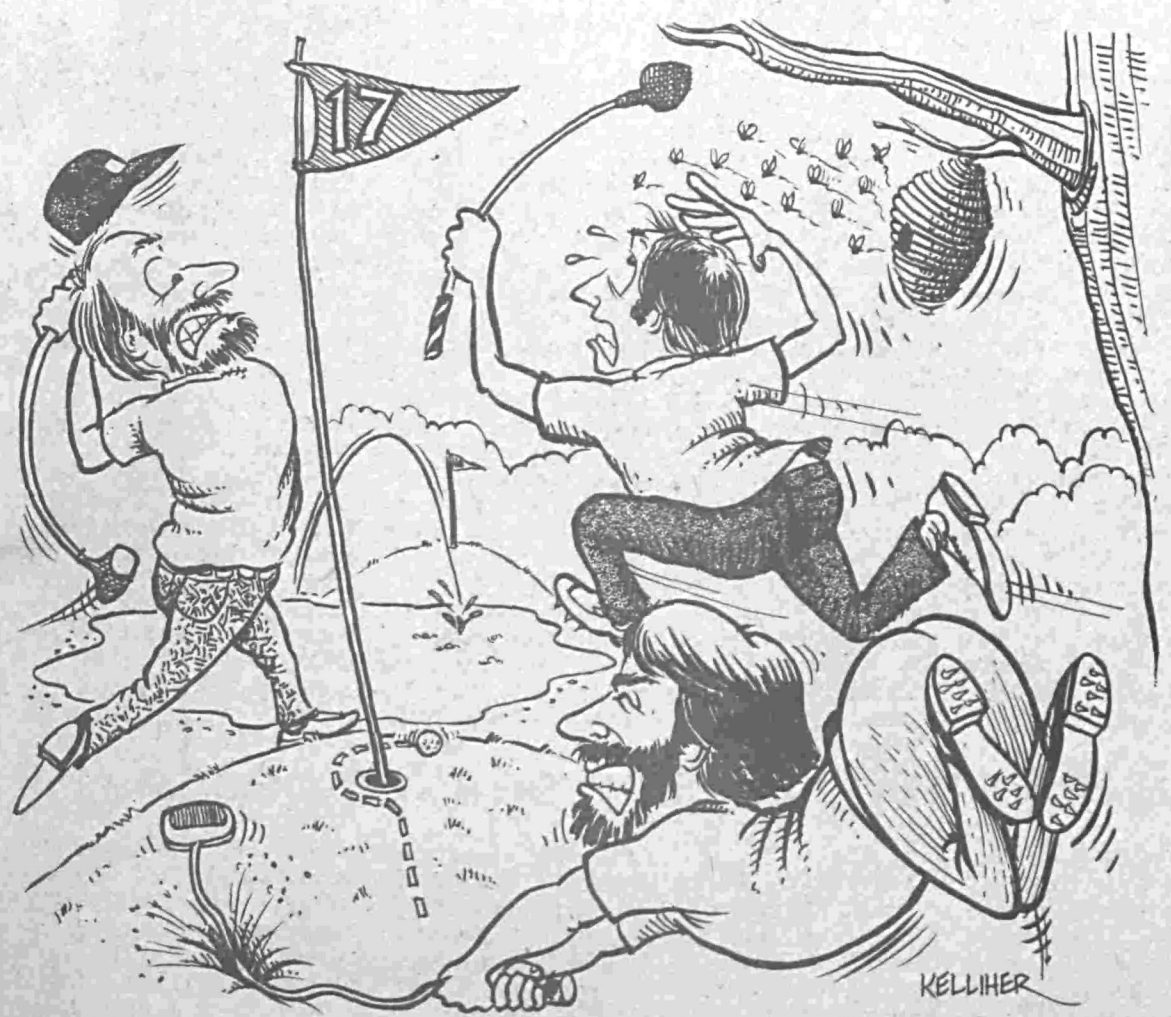

It was like a prophecy. Whack!! Off went a low liner. As it started over the crest of the upgrade, my standard fade took over.

There wasn't just a little water on the other side of the hill. It was more like a lake, and, of course, no ball was in sight.

"Well good; thanks for helping us out," Bourne said when hearing of my demise. He knows that the Titlist 6 probably will be fished from the watery lie to be sold in North Shore's used-ball basket where I bought it from in the first place.

A few bees and a couple bare spots don't detract from the interesting challenge presented by North Shore's back nine. The grass will grow and the buzzing little stingers will be vacated...

And maybe that blasted lake on 12 will dry up.

Athletics advance to state tourney

The Jim Moore Steak House Athletics took two Burien Blazer Pony League tournament victories last week, gaining a trip to state tournament action in Kent.

The Athletics of the Burien Pony's Blazer Red division, swept through Blazer White representative Andy's Fina Station Astros to become Burien's Pony victor.

The Astro squad is still eligible to enter the state tournament in Kent July 26, but must fight its way past regional tourney competition starting July 21 in Kent.

Valley Ridge fields was the sight of the first confrontation between the Astros and Athletics in a best wo-of-three series for the league crown. The Athletic bats cracked for 14 runs while pitcher Pat Flynn checked the Astros on two runs; Flynn hurled his way to an 8-0 record during regular season play.

The two division champions moved from Valley Ridge on Monday to White Center Stadium Tuesday for game two of the tourney. Bob Weisser took a 6-0 record with a 0.65

ERA for the mound and proved his worth by taking a 2-1 title-clinching victory.

Although Pony leagues have picked divisional all-star teams for state championship play in the past, a national ruling now allows only original teams into state tourney play. The new rules do allow the league victor to select two pitchers from any team in the champion's own division.

Athletics coach Ed Byquist and manager Willie Metzger have selected two hurlers, adding to an already impressive staff which has pitched the Athletics to a 25-1 overall record. Pat Peder of the Rams and Craig Sahlinger of the Dodgers will contribute to the A's arm power in state play.

The two Red division pitchers join an A's team which includes Flynn, Weisser, Forrest Allread, Tod Byquist, Craig Carlson, Todd Carper, Chris Davis, Andy Goranson, Rick Jones, Brian Rick, Scott Sacco, Adam Smith, Mike Thomason, Erik Weaver and Dave Zornes.

Flyers open sales on season passes

The Burien Flyers Semi-Pro Football Team, defending Northwest International Football League Champions, have placed season tickets for the coming season on sale to the general public.

The season ducat, good for all six Flyer games, is priced at $18 for adults and $9 for students ages 13 through 18. All kids 12 years of age and under will be admitted free to all Flyer home games when accompanied by their parents.

The Flyer home schedule this year will bring to Burien all three playoff teams in addition to the Flyers from the 1978 season as well as all three of the N.I.F.L.'s expansion teams.

The slate kicks off with an exhibition game on Aug. 11 against the Van-Port Thunderbirds. The following week the championship season gets under way with the Flyers entertaining the Seattle Cavaliers on Aug. 18.

Other home games in 1979 have the Kitsap County Chiefs 8n town on Sept. 1, the Edmonds-Lynnwood Lions invade on Sept. 8, the arch-rival Pierce County Bengals will be entertained on Oct. 6, and the expansion Spokane Goldenhawks make their first Burien appearance on Oct. 20.

All Flyer home games will begin at 7:30 p.m. and are played at Highline Memorial Stadium.

This year, the center sections of the stadium will be reserved for season ticket holders only. In addition to that incentive, the Flyers have a number of money saving packages on the season tickets for families. Those interested in season ticket information may write to the Flyers at 121 S.W. 153rd St. Seattle 98166.

Opening later this summer will be a 21,000 square foot Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers, Raff Shoe Store, New York Bagel Boys and United Apparel Distributors.

The 10 1/2 acre shopping complex was constructed by Baugh Construction, Seattle. The project architect was Dick Harnish of Lance Mueller and Assoc.

Beginning Tuesday, residents at the north and south ends of Sea-Tac Airport can expect some noticeable change in noise from flight patterns, caused by work on the eastern runway.

The new runway overlay being installed will be like an asphalt sponge, according to Bill Robertson, superintendent of Sea-Tac operations. This runway is west of the terminal.

"Water drops down through the surface and runs off to the end of the runway so we don't have hydroplaning," he explained.

"It will improve guidance control, braking and make a much safer runway."

The 1 1/2-inch sponge layer will be laid on top of a 6-inch overlay.

People living under approach and take-off patterns of the runway to the west of the one by the terminal will experience more noise, Robertson said. That's because traffic will be shifted there until the job winds up Aug. 20.

No time wasted in DC-10 return

by Pat Jenkins
DC-10s began flying out of Sea-Tac International Airport Friday afternoon less than five hours after the Federal Aviation Administration lifted its order that grounded the jumbo passenger jets for more than a month while their safety was determined.

FAA administrator Langhorne Bond announced in a Washington, D.C. news conference at 9 a.m. Seattle time that he was returning the nation's fleet of DC-10s to the air. And at 1:25 p.m., United Airlines flight 150 departed Sea-Tac on a non-stop flight to Chicago, making it the first DC-10 to fly out of the airport since the planes were grounded June 6 for inspections.

Those inspections were prompted by deficiencies in the wing-engine pylons on DC-10s. The deficiencies were suspected in the crash of an American Airlines DC-10 May 25 that was the worst aviation disaster in U.S. history.

BOND, in a statement at the press conference, said the inspections have "resolved to my satisfaction" the questions of the DC-10's safety.

"Hundreds of government and industry, experts put thousands of hours into the most intensive and exhausting inspection of its kind in aviation history. That effort has been a success," Bond said.

The FAA head said the inspections have led to the development of "strict measures" that "will allow DC-10s to fly safely."

No details were immediately available on what those measures are. Reports Thursday indicated that cracks discovered in the pylons resulted from maintenance performed by airline mechanics, while other reports did not rule out the possibility that a manufacturing defect in the pylon was to blame.

New cracks not previously discovered were found this week in five DC-10 pylons, forcing Bond to delay a decision he was to have made as early as Tuesday on resuming flights by the planes.

Though the date was July 13, the decision Friday to lift the grounding order was good news for airlines that operate DC-10s.

UNITED AIRLINES

spokesman Jack Gamble said United's DC-10 service would return to 60 percent of normalcy Saturday, and by today would be "at 100 percent."

Other airlines also expected to have their DC-10 service back to normal almost immediately, alleviating scheduling problems that developed while the wide-bodied jets were idled.

Larceny up in county

King County's Sheriff, Lawrence G. Waldt, last week asked for citizen cooperation in reducing the rising crime rate for larceny, especially those in the $200 or more category.

Waldt said the first quarter larceny statistics showed a 21 percent increase in the unincorporated King County area over the same period of 1978. During the same period, there was a reduction or only a slight increase in nearly every other category of Part I offenses, such as homicide, burglary, robbery.

"The department made an analysis of all larcenies in the $200 or more category at one precinct," Waldt said, "which revealed that 54 percent of the total were items taken from vehicles, mostly tape decks, AM-FM radios, guns, and other valuable items left in plain sight in an open vehicle. Many of the thefts occurred while vehicles were parked in the owner's driveway or carport."

Thefts of auto parts such as mag wheels or carburetors also were included in those figures. The next highest percentage loss came from items taken from carports, driveways, out-buildings, construction sites, yards, and fields. These items covered a wide spectrum of lawnmowers, bicycles, chainsaws, other tools, lumber, and miscellaneous items.

Waldt said that a theft-conscious public can make a significant impact on the crime of larceny by following some simple rules.

"Three factors that must be present for a crime to be committed are opportunity, ability, and desire. By removing one of the factors the crime will not take place. Some crimes can be stopped by simply locking the car even though it is in the driveway or carport." The sheriff added that if valuables must be stored in a car, they should be kept in a locked trunk.

"Open garages and items left in carports are an open invitation and actually encourage theft," Waldt said. "Close and lock the garage doors and put other valuable items in a closed and locked place. Use bicycle chains, even at home.

"Always remove your car keys and don't put your car license or home address on the keychain. A lost set of keys could lead a thief to your car."

Waldt urged the use of common sense in safeguarding property as one of the most important ways to prevent the crime of larceny. "This is one of the most productive areas for citizen involvement in reducing a specific crime," he said. "In the final analysis, the measure of police effectiveness is dependent on the degree of citizen concern for their own property and that of their neighbors. The police can do the rest."

A crime prevention unit is located in each of the three King County Police precinct stations.

Waldt urged citizens seeking additional information or wishing to sponsor prevention programs to contact these units.

Financial center fosters interest

by Sandra Thew
The appearance of Federal Way's business community is changing from a retail area to a financial and corporate center.

Ronald L. Gintz

According to Ronald L. Gintz, manager of the new Foster and Marshall, Inc. branch office, the local business area is expanding to include more professional centers. The investment broker foresees Federal Way developing in the same way as Bellevue.

"The suburban town began with shopping centers and families who were continually moving into the area. Now the city is developing a downtown area with a financial center," he said.

"Foster and Marshall see the potential growth of Federal Way, and this is its reason for opening a branch office. We are the first large member of the New York Stock Exchange to come into the area."

The new branch office is one of 43 located throughout the west belonging to the Northwest investment brokerage firm.

Gintz said more people are discovering the importance of investing their money and seeing the returns.

However, he said many people are afraid to invest in the stock market since they remember the 1973-1974 recession and the 1929 stock market crash.

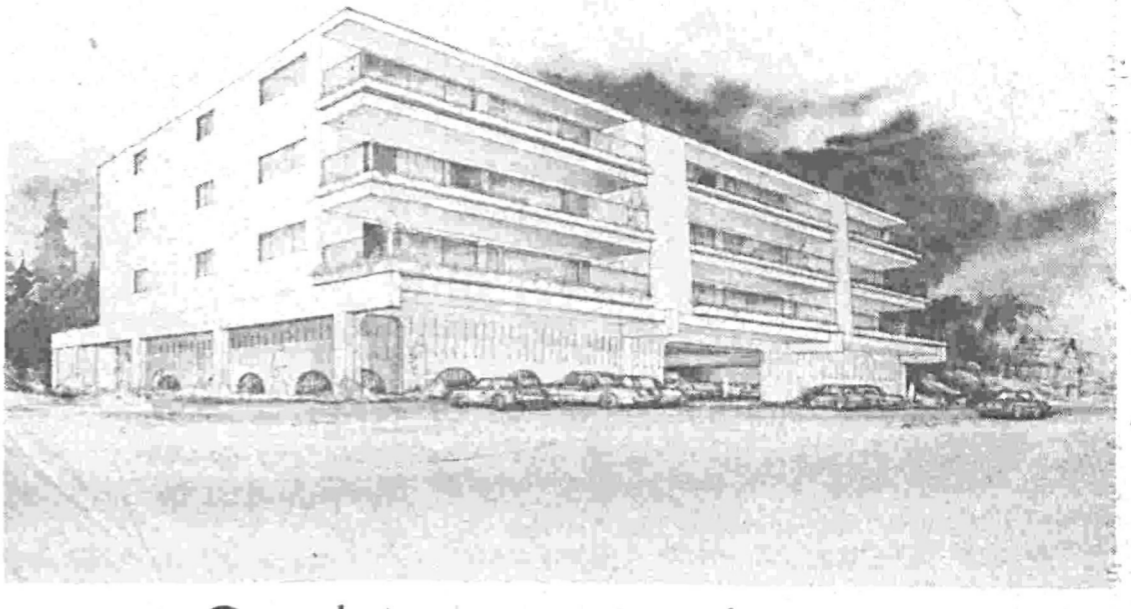

"The fear results from a lack of education," Gintz said.

Educating the community about investments is one aspect of the full service brokerage. Gintz said his staff will be holding seminars on financial and investment planning to acquaint the community with the world of finance.

"If any one has questions about investments we will supply the information," he said.

Gintz, a Federal Way resident, holds a masters degree in business from the University of Washington and has previously worked with other investment firms before coming to Foster and Marshall. Other staff members include an operations manager and three investment representatives.

The investment office is located in the Professional Center, 32123 First Ave. S.

Police seeking dogs

King County Police are seeking qualified German Shepherd dogs for duty in the K-9 Unit and donors are being sought throughout Western Washington to fill current and anticipated future vacancies.

Sgt. Larry Erickson, supervisor of the K-9 Unit, explains that the unit has needed one replacement for quite some time. Also, any future expansion of the unit would depend on the availability of donor dogs.

The dogs must be purebred male German Shepherds, nine to 24-months old and free of serious medical problems. Erickson said that a prospective police dog should have a strong instinct to retrieve and please his master. Erickson stressed that King County Police dogs serve the general King County area, assisting local police agencies on request. Their specific "beat" is unincorporated King County. "We think people will be more acceptable to the idea of donating a loving pet, if they know he will be used to aid police and citizens in their community," he said.

Persons wishing to donate a dog meeting these requirements are asked to call 344-5250 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or 344-3883 evenings and weekends.

TOT-Line advises parents

A free telephone counseling service offered by the Highline, West Seattle Mental Health Center can help parents determine if their child's behavior is normal, and if they themselves are "good parents," according to the education coordinator for the center.

Parents calling TOT-Line "want reassurance and support that they are doing a good job" of raising their children, Cheryl Cohen said. They can also get answers to questions and concerns regarding their child's behavior and development, Cohen said. Common concerns of callers (mostly mothers) include sibling rivalry, discipline, toilet-training, temper tantrums, and ways of handling home and school-related problems. Cohen said parents are sometimes "unsure whether their child's behavior is normal, and (they) feel relieved at having an opportunity to find out."

Child-family specialists will discuss confidentially problems parents are having with children up to the age of 12. The TOT-Line - 433-5765 — may be telephoned between 9 and 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Cohen said most problems may be solved over the phone. Callers with extreme difficulties are referred to appropriate public agencies.

Playwrights invited to submit scripts

Scripts are being accepted for four staged readings and post-play discussions to be held at the Intiman Theater Co. this summer. The events will be funded by a $3,850 grant from the Washington Commission for the Humanities.

Entitled New Plays Onstage, the series will take place at 8 p.m. at the 2nd Stage Theatre at eighth and Union in downtown Seattle on July 23, Aug. 20, Sept. 17 and Oct. 15. Reservations are not needed, and each event is free to the public.

In addition to members of the Intiman acting company, post-play panelists will include William Becvar, Associate Professor of Theatre at Pacific Lutheran University; Hamida Bosmajian, Associate Professor of English at Seattle University; Anthony Cornish, Director of the London Theatre Program at Tufts University; Paul Pascal, Professor of Latin, at the University of Washington; and Otis Pease, Professor of History at the University of Washington.

The series will focus on new literature for the theater. Scripts submitted for consideration should be sent to Intiman, P.O. Box 4246, Seattle, Wash. 98104. Submissions must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope for return of manuscripts or printed material.

Atkins & Assoc. celebrating 1st anniversary

by Kevin Stauffer
Atkins and Associates is beginning its second year as a real estate service. Located at 1725 Roxbury in White Center, Atkins and Associates celebrated its first anniversary on July 1. The office is situated in the Westwood Pacific Building.
"It started with just myself and a secretary," said Mike Atkins, broker for the firm which bears his name. "It grew to 10 salespeople and then went back down to six." Atkins reduced his sales staff to retain the best possible standards.
"The reason we went back down to six people is that we believe in 100 percent referrals and professionalism; we felt that the only way we could build a professional image is to keep only those who are 100 percent into real estate," Atkins stated.

"Referrals are the name of our game. The key to success comes from followups and making sure the customer is satisfied."
For Atkins, those salespeople which are "100 percent into real estate" are the ones who will also operate the best when it comes to followups.
"We feel that the people who are 100 percent involved not only help in real estate but help with remodeling, community involvement and giving pride of ownership to an area," Atkins said.
Atkins eventually plans to build the staff of Atkins and Associates in White Center to 15, the number employed at the Del Bianco office where Atkins began his full-time real estate career.
"I've been in real estate three and a-half years full time now," Atkins said. "When I started at Del Bianco; we had a nucleus of 15 people who helped each other and had a lot of pride."
After two and a-half years with Del Bianco, Atkins opened his own firm with the idea of staffing it with the proper people.

"We're trying to establish a nucleus of people who are professionals and who believe in people," Atkins said.
While building towards a solid nucleus, Atkins and Associates had a successful first year. "We've netted over two and a-half million dollars in sales from referrals since the first of the year. Starting off in a new company on a per man basis, that is excellent," Atkins commented.

Atkins looks towards establishing another office in Burien ("We feel Burien is centralized to handle the south end of King County) and West Seattle in the future. The West Seattle area has been the site of several new real estate offices, but Atkins feels that "professionalism" will again prove to be the key. "Those who believe in professionalism will be lasting, and those who don't won't."

Real Estate
By Bob Del Bianco REALTOR
A GREAT TAX SHELTER
Investing in real estate is one of the great tax shelters available to persons, especially in high tax brackets. What is a tax shelter? Basically, it's an investment that allows you to keep some money that you've earned rather than give it to Uncle Sam in the form of income taxes.
Real Estate investors of income property are allowed a depreciation allowance which has the same affect on your income tax as exemptions for your dependents. It comes right off the top. For example, a brick office building is "expected" to last 40 years. If you bought it for $100,000, you could deduct $2,500 per year. By using "accelerated depreciation," you can deduct more during the early years and less in the later years.
Also, there are many other tax deductions, such as interest on the mortgage, and taxes which can be very sizable. Above all, remember that these come off the gross income, and your tax rate is based on what's left after deductions. The lower the net, the lower the rate.
If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate please phone or drop in at your local DEL BIANCO REALTY INC., offices. We're here to help!

Front End Alignment

Wheels can get out of alignment when they strike a hard surface such as a road or parking lot divider. When suspension parts in the front end can also produce ill effects. When an alignment is performed all components in the front suspension are checked as to their condition and repaired as needed, then the alignment is performed. Alignment includes checking and setting the caster, comb and toe in. With the proper front end alignment your vehicle will handle safely and your tire life will be greatly extended. Don't forget, some cars also require rear end alignment too. Our service advisors are here to tell you just what your vehicle's requirements are. It is a good idea to have this work done at least once a year. Additional charge for Air Conditioned cars, and trucks.

Seniors who shop together, save together

While many families feel the pinch of increasing food costs, some seniors with limited incomes find it's more of a major bite.

However, the seniors can beat the jaws of inflation with the help of the King Country Senior Food Co-op. Working out of local community centers, the co-op offers basic food staples at discount prices. The Federal Way Senior Center houses the local co-op.

"Each week we have about 67 people buy food from us," said Vivienne Pence, local coordinator of the program. She says the shoppers line up on Thursdays with their shopping bags and carts. They save as much as 20 to 35 percent on their groceries.

By shopping at the co-op, the seniors can stretch their dollar power and receive special-diet foods and small portions without spending extra for the service.

Sharing foods purchased in quantity makes the cost for the foods about 75 per cent less than retail and that savings is passed onto the co-op member. Two program coordinators also make comparison shopping trips and look for special buys.

The program began in 1975 with a 100 pound sack of rice and 50 pounds of oatmeal. In 1978 the monthly sales were more than $8,900 and 123 different foods were offered. The Federal Way center also opened in the fall of 1978.

Although fresh meat and produce are not sold, occasionally bread, eggs and apples are available. The co-op carries canned meat, vegetables and fruits. Grains and dried fruits are also in stock.

"The seniors just love the small cans of fruit juices," Ms. Pence said.

Occasionally the co-op buyers find special sales, such as at Christmas time, when they obtain spices and dried fruits for baking.

Volunteers help run the program in trade-off time for purchase savings. They help slice the bulk cheese into small individual packages, weigh the packages, stock shelves and help distribute the food on shopping days.

"It allows retired people the chance to use their skills," Ms. Pence said. "We are always looking for more volunteers."

To go along with the food co-op, nutritional programs help inform the seniors on ways to prepare the foods for well-balanced and economical meals. Recipes that utilize special-diet foods are also handed out to the seniors.

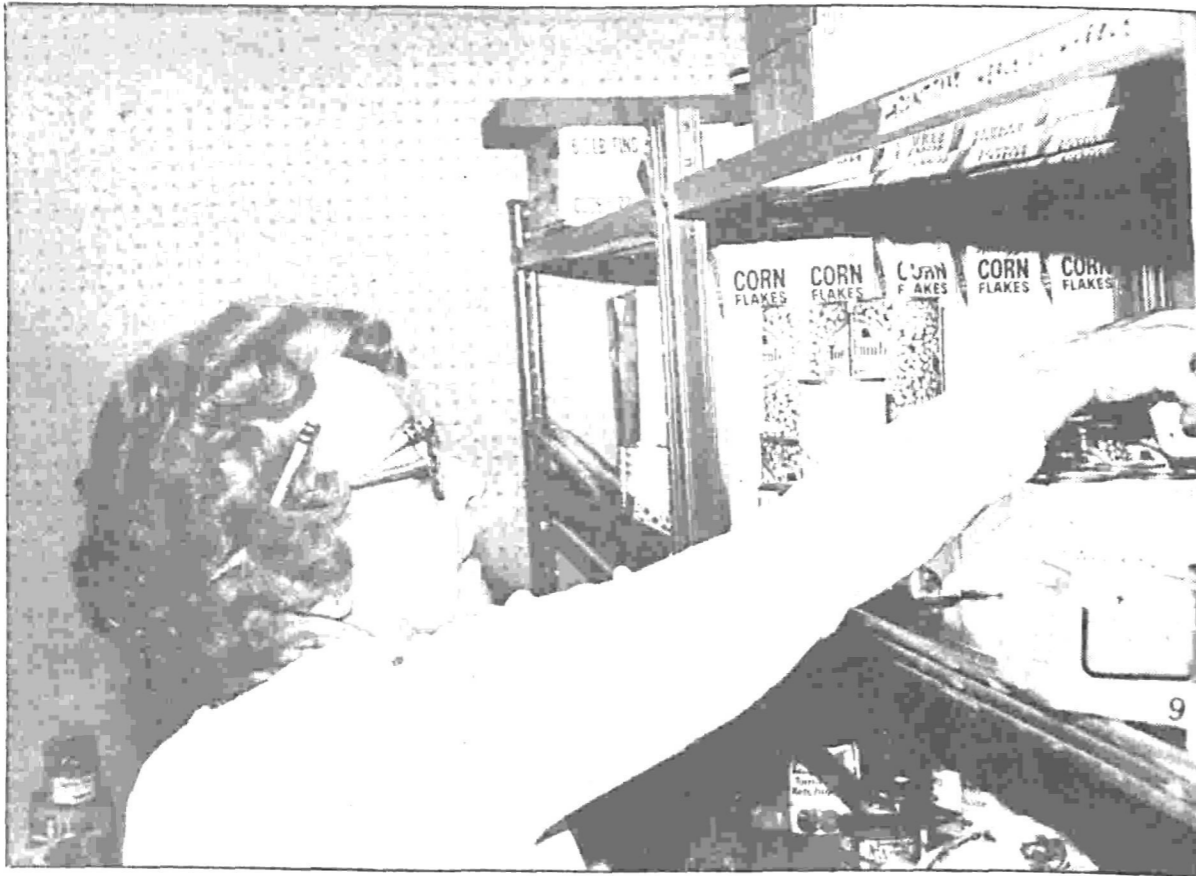

"We have instructions for sprouting alfalfa seeds, soy beans and barley," Ms. Pence said.

She also pointed out the senior center sells a cook book designed for individuals and couples who prepare small portioned meals.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of the Senior Food Co-op's specials, Wonda White (left) made her selection, while Jo Garrer consulted her grocery list.

Refreshing crowd pleasers

School's out, fun's in, and the best advice for Mom is "be prepared." For those constant demands for something to drink, the most convenient solution is a handy supply of instant soft drink mixes. The youngsters love the bright colors and flavors, and adults will appreciate the ease with which a pitcherful of thirst-quenching beverage can be prepared. Providing the treats for a crowd of active youngsters is easy with a container of refreshing Punch Cooler and a platter of Sweet Chocolate Double-Deck Brownies. The fruit juice punch is garnished with skewered strawberries and pineapple chunks for a special treat. Everybody loves brownies, better yet, these double-deckers with one layer of chocolate batter topped with a layer of coconut batter.

PUNCH COOLER (Yield: approximately 2½ quarts)

1 envelope orange or tropical punch flavor unsweetened soft drink mix
1 cup sugar
2 cups pineapple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
2 quarts water with ice cubes
Note: For pre-sweetened mix use one cup orange or tropical punch flavor sugar-sweetened soft drink mix; omit sugar.

Combine all ingredients in nonmetal container. Stir until soft drink mix and sugar are dissolved. Garnish with skewered strawberries and pineapple chunks, if desired.

FRUIT PUNCH
(Yields: about 2½ cups)

1 cup sugar-sweetened soft drink mix, any flavor any flavor
2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice or apple juice or orange juice
2 quarts water with ice cubes

Note: You may use one envelope unsweetened soft drink mix, any flavor, and add one cup sugar.

Combine all ingredients in nonmetal container, stirring until soft drink mix is dissolved. Serve in punch cups.

A REAL kid pleasing snack: Punch Cooler and a platter of Sweet Chocolate Double-Deck Brownies.

Glamorous strawberry pie

With the local strawberry crop at its peak, now's the time to bring out the berries for all to enjoy, including your budget. Dip them, shake them, freeze them, everyone loves them.

When the occasion calls for a special dessert, this Strawberry Glamour Pie is one of the easiest choices you can make. Select the sweetest of whole fresh berries to place in a baked pie shell. Then, blanket the berries with almond-flavored thawed frozen whipped topping, and garnish with additional berries.

Take advantage of the fresh fruit supply by keeping a baked pie shell in stock, along with a container of non-dairy whipped topping. Together they provide the makings for sensational desserts.

STRAWBERRY GLAMOUR PIE

1 quart strawberries, hulled
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled
½ teaspoon almond extract
3 cups thawed frozen whipped topping

Place whole berries in pie shell, reserving 10 for garnish, if desired. Blend extract into whipped topping; chill. Garnish with reserved berries, sliced, if desired.

Strawberry Glamour Pie

Pudding dessert

Are you one of those creative cooks who has some pet secrets, like making the most of convenient packaged foods when you know you can count on them for super results?

Lemony Crumb Squares is a dessert that will find a permanent place in your recipe file, and it's one of many ways of enjoying gelatin pudding and pie filling.

LEMONY CRUMB SQUARES

1 cup fine graham cracker crumbs
One-third cup finely chopped pecans
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 package (four-serving size) lemon flavor pudding and pie filling
½ cup sugar
2-¼ cups water
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Combine crumbs, pecans and two tablespoons sugar. Add one-fourth cup melted butter and mix well. Press two-thirds of mixture firmly on bottom of eight inch square pan. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for five minutes. Cool.

Combine pudding mix, one-half cup sugar and one-fourth cup of the water in a saucepan. Blend in egg and remaining water. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full bubbling boil and is thickened, about five minutes. Remove from heat.

Add one tablespoon butter. Cool five minutes, stirring twice. Pour into

Lasagna Gustoso

LASAGNA GUSTOSO

1 package (8 ounce) lasagna noodles
2 tablespoons butter
1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (8 ounce) pizza sauce
1 can (6 ounce) tomato paste
1 teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon leaf oregano
1 cup cottage cheese
2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Mozzarella cheese
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 can (8 ounce) pizza sauce

Cook noodles according to directions; drain. In a skillet melt butter; add beef and onion and brown. Add one can pizza sauce, tomato paste, garlic salt and oregano. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes. In a buttered shallow baking dish layer one-third of noodles; one-third of beef and one-third of the cheeses. Repeat once; then layer remaining noodles and beef. Spread with can of pizza sauce and top crumb-lined pan and sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Chill about three hours. Cut into squares.

Garnish with thawed frozen whipped topping, if desired. Makes nine servings.

with remaining cheeses. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Allow to stand at room temperature 10 minutes before cutting into squares. Yield: six to eight servings.

Grilled Lemon Potatoes are great with any barbecue meal. For six servings, cut three large, long baking potatoes in half lengthwise; deeply score cut surfaces. Cover skin side with aluminum foil. Melt one-half cup butter and mix with one-half teaspoon garlic salt, one tablespoon seasoned salt, one and one-fourth teaspoons lemon pepper marinade and one tablespoon lemon juice. Generously brush cut side of potatoes with butter sauce. Cook, foil side down, on grill, until tender, about 45 minutes. Toward end of cooking, turn cut side down.

Seafaring meals

Heavy winds, searing sun and running against the tide for hours can quickly tire any ship's crew. After all the hard work, it's time for the galley mate to fix up a seaworthy meal. While sailing along try preparing these recipes for navigable novelties:

SLOPPY JOES
(Yields: 6 sandwiches)
1 pound ground beef

½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (10½ ounces) beef gravy
¼ cup ketchup
¼ teaspoon salt
6 hamburger buns, split, toasted, and buttered.

In skillet, brown beef and cook celery and onion until tender; stir to separate meat. Add gravy, ketchup, and salt. Cook over low heat for 15 minutes;

stir now and then. Serve on buns.
WESTERLY RABBIT
(Yields: 4 to 6 servings)
1 can (10½ ounces) cheddar cheese soup
1 can (10½ ounces) tomato soup
¼ cup milk
Toast

In saucepan, stir cheese soup until smooth. Gradually blend in tomato soup and milk. Heat; stir often. Serve over toast.
SEXTANT SKILLET
(Yields: 4 servings)

1 pound (8 to 10) frankfurters, cut in one-half inch slices
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (26½ ounces) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

In skillet, brown frankfurters in butter. Stir in spaghetti and mustard. Heat; stir now and then.

WINDWARD STEW
(Yields: 3 servings)
½ pound frankfurters, sliced
1 can (one pound)

whole white potatoes, drained and diced
½ small onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup water
1 can (8 ounces) cut green beans, drained
Brown frankfurters and potatoes and cook onion in butter until tender. Add soup, water, and green beans. Heat; stir now and then.
COMMODORE'S POT
(Yields: 4 to 6 servings)

4 slices bacon
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (10½ ounces) cream of celery soup
1 can (10½ ounces) turkey noodle soup
1 soup can milk
1 soup can water
1 can (8 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
2 tablespoons chopped parsley (optional)
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento (optional)
Dash pepper

In saucepan, cook bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. Drain off all but one tablespoon drippings. Add onion; cook until tender. Blend in soups, milk, and water. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with bacon.

Whole chickens are your best buy. Not only do they cost less per pound, but they retain more of their juiciness and flavor. When you've cut the bird for cooking, unused backs and giblets can be frozen and reserved for making chicken stock.

Peachy freezer jam

If making a homemade jam intrigues you, now is the time to discover how easy it is with a recipe for freezer Minted Peach Jam. The fruit is not cooked — just mixed with sugar, mint, lemon juice and powdered fruit pectin. It's the pectin that assures a good "set" and helps capture fresh fruit flavor.

Put your flavor to work chopping the peaches. Use plastic containers with tight-fitting lids to store and freeze the prepared jam, which stores well up to six months. Jam, either freshly made or thawed from the freezer, can be kept up to three weeks in the refrigerator.

2-3/4 cups prepared fruit (about two pound fully ripe peaches)
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon ascorbic acid crystals (optional)
5 cups (2-3/4 pounds)

sugar
1 tablespoon chopped fresh mint
3/4 cup water
1 box (1-3/4 ounce) fruit pectin.

Prepare the containers: Use only containers one pint or less in size that have tight-fitting lids. Wash, scald and drain containers and lids; or use automatic dishwasher with really hot (150 degrees or higher) rinse water.

Prepare the fruit: To peel, pit and chop or grind very fine about two pounds peaches. Measure two and one-fourth cups into large bowl or pan. Add lemon juice and ascorbic acid.

Make the jam: By thoroughly mixing sugar into fruit. Add mint and let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Stir into the fruit. Continue stirring about three minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature until set (may take up to 24 hours); then store in freezer. If jam will be used within two or three weeks, it may be stored in refrigerator. Makes five and three-fourths cups or about 5 (8 fluid ounces) containers.

Blender method: Place fruit, a few pieces at a time, in electric blender container so blades are just covered. Cover and turn control from low to off several times until fruit is chopped or ground. (Do not puree.)

Note: Ascorbic acid helps maintain color and flavor of fruit; purchase at local drugstores.

Shopping for one

For singles and couples the supermarket can be a confusing maze. Though small-quantity cooks are finding more foods packaged in one or two-serving portions, there still are a few successful shopping tricks to learn.

Keep a pad and pencil in the kitchen to list food items you need. Pay particular attention to supplies of staple foods like dairy products, flour, sugar, oils, herbs and spices and condiments. Without any one of these foods, the simplest meal could be impossible.

Shop for groceries at one conveniently-located food store; avoid shopping after work when stores are crowded and you're hungry and tired.

Resist buying perishable foods in quantity. Buy small containers of condiments you use infrequently--even staples have a limited "freshness" life. You'll save in the long run by not throwing out food that is past its prime.

Get to know your butcher. Let him know that you would like small quantities.

Take advantage of seasonal bargains in produce. For instance, avocados currently are in good supply in your markets. Both the bright, green, smooth skinned fruit or the dark, pebbly-skinned fruit offer just enough to feed one or two without leftovers.

SALMON-AVOCADO WHOLE-MEAL SALAD

(Yield: 2 servings)
1 cup each, bitesize pieces leaf and iceberg lettuce
½ cup watercress sprigs
¼ cup fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 (2.3 ounce) can sliced black olives
½ cup croutons
½ soft avocado, peeled, seeded and cubed
1 hard cooked egg, sliced
1 (7-¾ ounce) can salmon, drained and flaked
One-third cup bottled Italian dressing

Combine lettuce and watercress and toss lightly to mix. Add mushrooms, olives and croutons and toss again. Gently place avocados and egg on top of the salad. Sprinkle salmon across the top, allowing it to remain as flaky as possible. Add dressing, toss lightly to coat entire salad and serve at once.

Popular cooking trend

Stir-frying is becoming increasingly popular in American kitchens for supplementing small portions of meat or poultry with a variety of vegetables to create. Oriental dishes that are economical, easy to prepare and tasty.

Stir-frying can be done in a wok or skillet and has caught on because it creates quick, nutritious dishes which are in vogue with America's health-conscious lifestyle.

When is chicken done? When a fork can be inserted with ease, the chicken is fully cooked. If you're roasting the whole bird, it's done when the leg moves readily if lifted or twisted.

Cheesy Buttery sauce gives wonderful effect

With the season of garden abundance upon us, fresh vegetables will be here to be consumed in whatever style we wish. One of the simplest and tastiest ways to steam them and serve with a well-seasoned butter sauce. And one of the simplest and tastiest sauces is made the English way, with a seasoning of Worcestershire sauce. The Worcestershire is combined with butter or margarine, lemon juice and Parmesan cheese. This has a particularly wonderful effect on green beans, carrots, cauliflower, broccoli, zucchini, asparagus and mushrooms. It can be made ahead, refrigerated, tightly covered, and heated before serving.

BUTTERY SAUCE

FOR VEGETABLES
(Yield: one-half cup)
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese (optional)
1 tablespoon original Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt

In a saucepan melt butter. Remove from heat. Add Parmesan cheese (if desired), Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice and salt.

Pour over cooked vegetables such as lightly cooked green beans, carrot slices, broccoli, asparagus etc.

Oriental food for athletes

Athletes at the Olympic Training Center here will eat Oriental foods as well as the more traditional training-table fare as they prepare for the American Games being held in Puerto Rico in July. Vegetable Quiche made easy

An ideal dish to serve during these hot summer months is a quick and easy Vegetable Quiche. To accompany this versatile meal, a low calorie chilled cucumber and bean sprout salad is suggested.

Quiches can be served hot or cold. They also can be prepared an hour ahead and served at room temperature, or can be baked ahead, refrigerated or even frozen, and reheated when needed. Chilled quiches make good snacks and appetizers, too.

With vegetables becoming plentiful and less expensive than during the winter months, a vegetable quiche and a cucumber-and-bean sprout salad are an interesting way of making sure the whole family gets the vitamins needed for their diets.

Most of the vegetables required for the quiche and salad can be grown in your garden. They include zucchini, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, and green peppers. The bean sprouts are readily available at your local supermarket.

1 green onion, sliced
1 medium clove garlic, minced
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 medium tomato, peeled and chopped (about one cup)
½ cup green pepper, chopped
¼ teaspoon salt, or to taste
¼ teaspoon pepper

¼ teaspoon each basil and thyme
1 can (16 ounces) bean sprouts, drained and coarsely chopped
9 inch pastry shell, partially baked, or unbaked and brushed with egg white, then dried
3 eggs
¾ cup half and half
½ cup Parmesan cheese

Saute zucchini, onion and garlic in butter about five minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in tomato, green peppers, salt, pepper, basil and thyme. Cook over low heat 10 to 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender and liquid has evaporated.

Mix bean sprouts in to cooked vegetables and spread evenly in pastry shell. Beat eggs and half and half until mixed but not frothy; pour into shell. Sprinkle with Parmesan. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes or until set.

Seasonal salads add variety to summer

Fresh fruit and vegetable salads can be low in calories and offer rich sources of vitamins A and C and fiber any time of year. A crisp salad of fresh greens or raw vegetables adds variety to a meal. Don't limit yourself to iceberg or Boston lettuce.

While they are the most popular greens, many others are seasonally available and provide a different taste sensation. Try young beet greens, endive, Chinese cabbage, dandelion greens, kale, bibb lettuce, romaine or young raw spinach.

Mixed vegetables salads go well with the main course or they may be served alone as a separate course. Combine two or more of the following--coarsely grated beets, tiny buds of broccoli or cauliflower, thinly sliced carrots, rings of green peppers, sliced mushrooms, wedges of tomato, or thinly sliced onion or zucchini.

After a hearty main course, a fruit salad is a refreshing change of pace. It is also delicious as a first course, salad course or dessert. Select a few of the following and serve in a lettuce leaf cup or small bowl--diced, pared apples, canned peach or pear halves, Bing cherries, red or green grapes, grapefruit or orange sections, strawberries and melons in season, banana slices or pineapple chunks.

The kind and amount of salad dressing you use should highlight the taste and texture of your salad. Creamy Fruit Salad Dressing is a smooth dressing with a delicate fresh flavor that doesn't cover the taste of fresh or canned fruits. It has a cooked fruit juice base that is folded into lowfat yogurt. Spicy Cooked Dressing is a creamy, mildly seasoned dressing that accents crisp greens or complements raw vegetable mixtures. Both salad dressings are made with egg substitute for those people who want to control their dietary intake of saturated fats and cholesterol. Any salad can be a winner when teamed with a fresh, healthful salad dressing.

of egg substitute mix into the hot mixture, stirring constantly. Cook three more minutes until thickened. Cool to lukewarm. Fold lukewarm mixture into yogurt. Chill thoroughly. Refrigerate unused dressing up to four days.

2 tablespoons sugar

Rhubarb Custard Pie

This recipe was brought to us by one of the girls in the NEWS front office who promises us "It's delicious."

Rhubarb Custard Pie

Unbaked 9- or 10-inch pie shell
4 cups cut-up fresh rhubarb
4 egg yolks
1 one-third cups granulated sugar
¼ cup flour
½ cup cold water
Meringue: 4 egg whites
¼ tsp salt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Wash rhubarb thoroughly before cutting it up. Place rhubarb into medium-sized bowl. Add egg yolks sugar, flour and cold water. Mix thoroughly. Pour rhubarb into pie shell. Bake in the preheated oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until a table knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Toward end of baking time prepare meringue. Beat egg whites and salt until very frothy. When egg whites begin to form peaks begin adding sugar gradually as you continue beating. Beat until stiff but not dry. Spread meringue over top of hot rhubarb filling spreading to the edges. Turn oven indicator down to 325 degrees. Place pie back in oven until meringue is delicately browned. Cool before cutting.

One delectable dessert can be the perfect way to dress up family or company occasions. Take two packages of pistachio flavor instant pudding and pie filling, a container of frozen whipped topping and some of those luscious fresh peaches that are so plentiful in your local markets - and you have the makings for Frozen Pudding Squares. Food wise suggestions for stretching a budget

Feeding a big family on a budget has always been a challenge - but now it is almost a job for a magician.

"As food prices soar higher and higher, homemakers need to become creative in methods of cutting food costs," says Pauline Hein, home economist for Chun King Oriental foods.

"One thing a homemaker with a large family must remember is that there are many ways to stretch a dollar. By making menu substitutions and using leftovers wisely, anyone can cut food costs," Miss Hein adds.

One of the first steps is planning menus that include necessary foods at the lowest possible cost. "Planning a week's menus at one time is a good idea. Shop on Friday, so that meals can be planned around the items on special at the supermarkets," she says.

When planning dinners for a week, include leftovers from one night's dinner in the next night's menu. "If ham is served on Sunday, then pea soup using the ham bone can be served on Monday with a vegetable or fruit salad," Miss Hein says.

Don't despair over serving leftovers. Many cooks - especially new ones - dread serving leftovers. There's no need to feel that way, just learn to spice them up by adding prepped foods like chow mein noodles or water chestnuts for added flavor.

Money can be saved by careful shopping. Learn to cook less expensive cuts of meats. "Experiment with various marinades to tenderize and add flavor to an inexpensive cut," she suggests.

Buy fruits and vegetables which are in season and freeze them to enjoy all year round. Don't buy damaged produce, Miss Hein warns, even if the price is reduced. Also, never buy more produce than can be stored properly because produce is perishable.

Spend time reading nutrition books. Tips included in these books will more than pay off. Review food charts and consider substitutions within the four basic food groups of lower priced items.

Serve chicken instead of sirloin, green beans instead of asparagus, nonfat dry milk instead of fresh milk and bread instead of seeded rolls.

Another key consideration in reducing food costs is accurately estimating how much your family will eat. "The main thing to watch for is waste - don't waste food or the time it takes to prepare it," she suggests.

"By planning ahead, watching food ads, serving leftovers and making menu substitutions most every homemaker can cut corners - no matter how many people you have to serve."

Cooling punch hits the spot

Whether your tastes run to a favorite picnic spot, the campground or your own backyard, good fun and plenty of liquid refreshment assure a pleasant camaraderie that is part of the outdoor season.

Transporting the comforts of home is easy with modern equipment, both for short or long term outings. A supply of lemonade flavor drink mixer comes in handy for on-the-spot preparation, whenever a cooling, thirst-quenching beverage is desired. A delicious complement to other juices, and for one of those special occasions, mix up a pitcherful of Pineapple Punch. When your refreshment invites company, share this beverage with some crusty french bread, assorted cheeses and the season's fresh fruits.

PINEAPPLE PUNCH
(Yields: 2 quarts)
4 scoops lemonade flavor drink mix
1½ quarts cold water
2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice

Dissolve lemonade mix in cold water in pitcher or bowl. Add pineapple juice. Chill well. Serve over ice, if desired.

APPLE-ORANGE QUENCHER
(Yields: 5 cups)
3 cups apple juice
1 cup orange juice
2 scoops lemonade flavor drink mix
1 cup quinine water or ginger ale
Ice cubes or crushed ice

Combine apple juice and orange juice in a pitcher. Add drink mix and stir until dissolved; chill well. Just before serving, stir in quinine water and serve over ice in tall glasses.

Ice Cream Scoops
Dippers or spoons used for scooping ice cream should be dipped cold water between scoops to prevent ice cream from sticking to them. Shake the water off after dipping so ice crystals won't form on ice cream.
