June-of-all-trades holds down the fort

by Ann Hagen

When you've got a backyard like June O'Brien's, it takes seven days a week, 10 hours a day to keep it going.

But, June, Camp Kilworth ranger, "probably the only woman in the states and perhaps the world with the job," she said, doesn't seem to mind a bit.

"You have to be plumber, carpenter, brick-layer, you name it, for this job," said the energetic woman in her early 60's who spent 24 years volunteering in scouts and riding clubs when raising her family. "But, I always have a good supply of tools and plenty of help."

For the last five years, it's been June's job to maintain the 63-acre facility and supervise work crews at the Boy Scout camp located just north of the Pierce County line on 1,000 feet of waterfront off Dash Point Road.

The camp, used for groups such as scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and community events has three lodges, a daycamp facility the size of "a large soccer field," 25 campsites, an archery range, many miles of trails and a recently finished amphitheater.

With obvious pride, she said the amphitheater overlooks the Sound with a view of "the whole Olympic Peninsula" and Mt. Baker. "It's probably the finest amphitheater in the Northwest," she said mentioning the wheelchair access at the top.

Built on the bank, with rows of seats placed in a semi-circle around a massive fire pit, it seats 300. It was built, without the help of heavy machinery by CETA and Washington Training Program (WTP) employees, scouts and Navy reserves.

WALKING TOWARD THE BEACH On a tour, June talked about projects that were either completed or in need of repair. She pointed out a recently finished brailled trail that allows blind children to understand nearby flora and fauna by listening to a cassette or by guiding their fingers over braille lettering posted along the way. It's 280 feet long.

The project of a Tacoma scout, she said "Even sighted children love this trail. They put on blindfolds and follow it right along."

Further down the road, flat enough to allow wheel chairs access to roadside plants, she paused at a group of tiny tree seedlings that will be eventually labeled as part of a nature trail.

"This is my baby," she said cradling a tiny Casara tree seedling in her fingers. "He's going to be all right." Passing Cedar, Douglas Fir and Pine seedlings, she said there would be 60 hardy species in by next spring. She is having them sent in from a West Coast firm.

Right now, much of June's time is spent with a WTP crew which is replacing a rotten 150-foot wooden ramp that drops 100 feet to the beach.

The 10-member crew and supervisor has been clearing brush, pouring cement footings and preparing trees for supports. "Most everything we use comes from the camp," said June in reference to needed materials. "The whole place is on a sustained yield and we replace everything we use."

AT THE BASE of the trail that ends on the beach, she has organized an effort to prevent further erosion of the bank. Two rows of rubber tires, donated by a friend, are strung with logs and ropes to break the action of the waves. "It's a problem we've all been facing down here on the beach," she said.

What's next? June said there's never an end to jobs. She's looking forward to remodeling the lodge kitchen on the upper activity field and running water from there to the fort on the bluff; she is building a map of the park to be outlined on wood; the archery site needs work and she wants all the plants in the camp to be labeled.

When asked if she ever dreamed she'd be running a camp, she said she never did, but she wouldn't trade it for anything.

The job, she said, keeps her busy, gives her a chance to enjoy young people and allows her to spend most of her time outdoors.

And she's surrounded by animals, both wild and tame. She referred to her burro, Jenny, who is occasionally harnessed to a cart for small loads, her German Shepherd who is used to deliver messages to her when she's away from the phone and her rabbits.

On her way back to the house, she stooped and chirped to a tiny grey squirrel that scampered up the trunk of an alder. "Hello there little guy," she said eyes twinkling at the corners as she held out her hand. "He's the one who robs me of my hazelnuts."

"You know, I can go up to most of the wild animals around here," she said. "The mountain beaver, the squirrels, the birds, they all know me."

FW precinct still pending

by Loren Bliss

Federal Way may get a King County Police precinct substation as early as next year, it was learned early this week.

And the substation, which would probably be set up next to the offices of the Federal Way District of King County Justice Court in West Campus, might be the first step in the creation of a separate police precinct to serve only the Federal Way area.

County police officials were reluctant to discuss the question, but Sgt. Don Christianson, an aide of Sheriff Lawrence Waldt, said that the idea is definitely under consideration.

But it is too soon, he said, to disclose any details.

A study of the proposal was begun last year by Capt. Jim O'Brien, the commander of the 3rd Precinct, the police unit which serves Federal Way and a huge section of the county that extends east to Enumclaw.

O'Brien's study, it was learned, showed that the police could save a substantial amount of time and gasoline if some 3rd Precinct officers were headquartered in Federal Way.

KING COUNTY Executive John Spellman said last May that the construction of a precinct substation in Federal Way was relatively low on the county's list of priorities.

Though Spellman couldn't be reached early this week, there was some suggestion that the fuel shortage and continued pressure from Federal Way residents may have softened his position.

And County Councilman Paul Barden, who has favored the construction of a substation all along, said that county has only about 60 days if it is to exercise an option on the property adjacent the courthouse.

"We have to take some action before September," Barden said, "but apart from that, it's too early for me to comment."

"The action to initiate (the substation proposal) will have to come from the executive's office," he added.

Barden said that the arguments in favor of such a facility are compelling. "Some of them are logistical, such as fuel supplies, and some of them are merely the benefits that would result from the presence of additional police in the community."

TO BEGIN site preparation, said Barden, a relatively small expenditure would be necessary this year.

Sgt. Christianson said that the expenditure next year, if the project is approved, would probably amount to $30,000 or $40,000.

He said that while the sheriff's office had made no formal recommendation concerning the substation, it was looking at the possibility of using a large mobile home-type facility.

Current police thinking is apparently that the trailer could be moved if Federal Way votes to incorporate. If not, the substation would be the logical first step in setting up a precinct to serve the Federal Way area exclusively.

Barden acknowledged that the substation could become "one phase of the development of a separate precinct."

"This has been a goal of mine for several years," he said. "Bellevue has a 75-man police department, and Federal Way has about the same population as Bellevue — but Federal Way has only a few cars on duty."

Filing light for county offices

In relatively light filing Monday, several persons declared themselves candidates for county office and local positions in minor taxing districts.

King County Assessor Harley Hoppe, Mercer Island, was among the first to file for office as a Republican. Hoppe is seeking re-election to the post he has held for two terms.

Hank McGuire, Democrat, also filed for the assessor's job which pays $41,500 a year. He is a resident of 1526 11th W., Seattle.

Two county council Positions drew candidates from both major parties the first day of filing. Position 2, now held by retiring Republican Bob Dunn, is being sought by Dick Kelley, a Democrat and former Seattle assistant to Mayor Charles Royer. State Rep. Scott Blair, a Republican, is also seeking the post.

In Council District 6, incumbent Patricia Thorpe of Renton filed for re-election to the post she was named to fill last December when Mike Lowry left to take his place in the U. S. Congress. Thorpe received an initial challenge from Bill Johnson, 8915 118th Ave. SE. Johnson is a Republican and the former aide of former Congressman Jack Cunningham.

In District 4, where Councilwoman Bernice Stern is also retiring, Democrat civic activist Art Skolnick, 1217 6th Ave. W., filed for the post.

Incumbent Councilman R.R. Bob Greive will seek re-election from county District 8 including West Seattle and much of White Center. Greive is a Democrat.

In other races: two Port of Seattle Commissioners filed for re-election. Normandy Park resident Jack Block filed Monday for Position 1 which he now holds.

Henry Simonson of northeast Seattle filed for re-election to Post 4 and was immediately challenged by Bill Sage, a Lake Union houseboat dweller.

Federal Way School District Position 3 drew one candidate Monday. Incumbent John Hickman, 32007 - 28th Ave. SW, filed for the position.

Filing for offices on the Sept. 18 Primary Election and the Nov. 6 General Election will continue through Friday in the King County Administration Bldg. The filing office is located on the 5th Floor. Only those offices which pay a salary require a filing fee of one percent of the salary.

94% want busing at pre-'76 level

by Loren Bliss

Ninety-four percent of the persons who have responded to a NEWS straw poll want the Federal Way School Board to restore school bus service to pre-1976 limits, a preliminary tally of the results showed Monday.

As of Monday's first mail pickup, a total of 135 persons had marked and returned a "ballot" that was published on Page A-1 of Friday's edition.

Of the respondents, 127 indicated that they favor restoring the service, while eight said they feel that the busing policy should be left as it is.

While a straw poll is not a scientific measurement of community sentiment, it does provide a clue as to the strength of feelings on both sides of a controversy.

And Monday's results show that those who favor the restored busing limits are clearly more willing to be outspoken than those who do not.

THE "BALLOT" briefly explained the issue and asked respondents to state their preferences and return the filled-out form to the NEWS.

"At present," it said, "only children who live two or more miles from where they attend school are provided with bus service by the Federal Way School District."

"Many parents want the service restored to its pre-1976 limits."

"This would mean that busing would be provided for elementary pupils who live one or more miles from school, and for secondary students who live 1.5 or more miles from school."

"How do you feel? Please mark the appropriate box and return this coupon."

The alternatives were "I believe that school bus service should be restored to the one and 1.5 mile limits," and "I believe that school bus service should be left as it is."

Ten of the forms favoring the restored limits included comments, and one was mailed in attached to a letter.

"NOTHING IS more important," said one of the respondents, "than our children's lives. Evidently the one life that was lost on South 288th Street last year wasn't enough for the board to realize the importance of bus service."

The respondent's reference was to a boy who was struck by a car and killed while walking to school.

Another wrote that "Priorities have changed since the survey was made. There was no fuel shortage then, and the cost of gas was considerably less."

School board members who oppose restoring the one and 1.5 mile busing limits have argued that two public opinion surveys show that bus service is relatively low on the public's list of priorities.

But as the respondent pointed out, the surveys were completed before the fuel shortage began.

A third respondent accused the school board of reneging on a promise. "You promised bus service with full funding," the person wrote on the "ballot."

Star Lake

County spraying ban appeal set

by Nathalie Weber

It appears King County's recent move to block herbicide spraying of Star Lake soon may be challenged in court.

Jim Carsner, owner of Aquatic Control which was hired by Star Lake residents to spray the lake to control Eurasian Milfoil, said last week that he plans to file an appeal to the county's stop work order issued July 18.

The order was issued, the county maintains, because the project did not have a Shoreline permit which is required when any activity interferes with the normal use of the water or shoreline. At the time the order was issued, Mark Mitchell, county shoreline management planner, told Carsner he was making no judgment on whether the project was harmful or not, "but a Shoreline permit is needed."

Carsner doesn't agree. He contends that the two days required to spray and let the herbicide — in this case endothol — work does not constitute an impacting interference with the lake. "I just don't see how we fall under the category of substantial development," he said.

THE KING COUNTY Council last week indicated it agreed with Carsner when it found that spraying would not interfere with normal use of the lake and therefore should be exempt from the Shoreline Management Act under which the permit is required. The adopted motion, however, is not backed by the force of law and, as of Monday, the county refused to act on the council's recommendation.

With that refusal, Carsner now is planning to file an appeal to the stop work order. While he said he doesn't know now if spraying would be feasible this late in the season, Carsner said the appeal is addressed at the principle of the issue.

That principle is whether the county has the authority to seemingly arbitrarily decide what activity is and is not subject to the Shoreline Management Act. "This could have grave effects on future spraying," he said. "It not only affects this county, but every county in the state as well."

CARSNER SAID that if his project is deemed to interfere with normal use of the lake, then every individual who has a float in the water also is interfering with normal use. "Our actions are only temporary, but a float always is in the way of general public use, he said.

This is the second government interference that has stalled the spraying of Star Lake this year. After some 70 percent of the homeowners on that lake requested the spraying to control the weed-like milfoil, the project was postponed about a month in mid-June when one resident, questioning the herbicide's safety, obtained a restraining order on the spraying. A Thurston County judge later removed the restraining order, allowing spraying in mid-July. That's when the stop work order was issued, apparently brought to the county's attention by the same individual's attorney.

"It's amazing what one individual on the lake can do when the majority want something done," Carsner said, adding that the conflicts over spraying Star Lake have both inconvenienced the residents who want to use the lake and imposed notable additional costs for him in wasted time and attorney fees.

Despite the residents' request for spraying and the work already devoted to the project, Carsner is skeptical whether any spraying will be done on Star Lake this year. "We'd have to look at it. We want to do the work. But the question is whether it will get done this year. Even if it still would be effective we may not have the time."

Carsner said he also is convinced that the herbicide is safe. "I've used it for nearly 20 years with no problems" he said. "We're professionals in the field and we deal with herbicides all the time. We know what we're doing."

The appeal to the stop-work order should be filed by this week, he said.

Robber escapes after heist at bank

The Federal Way Branch of the Puget Sound National Bank was robbed by a lone gunman at about 1:30 p.m. Monday, King County Police reported.

Officers said that the robber, a black man apparently in his early 20's, walked up to a teller's window, pulled a handgun and demanded cash.

The teller complied and the man wearing dark pants, a dark shirt and a gold-brown blazer, fled on foot.

He was pursued by the bank manager but managed to escape. A thorough search of the area by King County officers assisted by police dogs also failed to locate suspect.

The robber was said to be about 5 feet, 9 inches tall and to weigh about 170 pounds.

Persons who have any information about a possible suspect in the case are asked to call the Seattle office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at 622-0460.

Those who are responsible for the arrest and conviction of the robber are eligible for a $1,000 reward.

The Run for the Seats

Once again, it's time for politics

They're in the starting gates, they're set, and they're off.

The 1979 political season is officially underway this week as filings opened Monday for various elected offices.

Here's how the progression works: First, the various candidates must file by this Friday. Then they campaign for the Primary Election which will be on September 18.

The Primary narrows the field down to two candidates for each race. The November 6 General Election will determine the winners.

This is an off year politically — the most popular races such as those for president, governor, congressman and state legislator won't be until next year — but there should be a few interesting races to watch locally this fall.

One of those is the race for King County Assessor. Our flamboyant incumbent assessor, Harley Hoppe, is being challenged by Hank McGuire, a young engineer who is expected to campaign extremely hard to unseat the outspoken Republican. (McGuire is a Democrat).

Hoppe, who it seems is always campaigning for something, said this year he won't seek election to any other office while he is assessor, if he is re-elected.

It will be interesting to see if he sticks to his word. He has been known in the past to run for county executive and governor while serving as assessor.

We fully expect McGuire to give Hoppe a run for his money.

Another interesting race could be that for Port Commissioner. Positions held by Jack Block, the only local Port Commissioner (he lives in Normandy Park) and Henry Simonson will be up for election.

So far we know of one challenger to Simonson's position: Bill Sage, a Seattle attorney, who wants to make the Port "a good citizen." Good luck.

State Senator King Lysen, D-31st District, could make the Port race interesting with his recent mumblings about serving as a Port Commissioner and State Senator at the same time. Lysen may enter the race, but it's undetermined whether he will go for Block's or Simonson's seat. (Port Commissioners are elected at large, not by district, so Lysen has a choice.)

In Federal Way, a unique situation has two incumbent school board directors who served together for four years running against each other for a single seat. Until recently, John Hickman and Larry Van Sickle lived in separate board districts. Van Sickle then moved into Hickman's district and now they must face each other for one to return to the board.

Van Sickle's previous District 2 seat will be open to a newcomer.

Of course there are dozens of other races which will be decided in November. Four county council seats are up for election, including the District 8 spot now held by R.R. (Bob) Greive. Three seats on the Highline School Board will be open, as will two seats on the Seattle City Council.

Most of the minor taxing districts — the fire districts, water districts, sewer districts and so on — will have positions open.

Additionally, expect some important issues on the November ballot. The Metro-King County merger will be decided, and there will be another attempt to pass bonds to preserve King County agricultural lands. The farmlands bond issue, if you remember, just about made it last November. It failed, barely, because of lack of validation.

As it was last fall when less than 20 percent of the registered voters turned out in the primary, this will probably be the greatest obstacle for candidates this season. Getting people interested in local politics is always a problem in an off year, and we expect this year to be no exception.

However, we still will urge people to become involved. If you have a favorite candidate, get out and support him or her. Most important, when the time comes to vote, do so.

The people you elect may not make the headlines, but they can have just as much impact on your life and property as do the "big boys."

The Gay Blade
Scientist calms fears

It's a double whammy that makes us lucky to live in the state of Washington.

Nowhere else in this great land is there a governor who is a scientist and who takes her vast knowledge to town hall meetings to share with her constituents.

The purpose of these meetings in small communities throughout the state is to show the people that their governor cares about them. She wants to meet them. She wants to hear their concerns and provide answers.

A growing concern of her constituents is the matter of nuclear waste. Fears about this material brought several questions from the audience at the recent town hall meeting in Blaine.

Governor Ray, exhibiting the tact that has made her the darling of the younger set, made the following statement in answer to a question from a young woman who asked if it might not be best to have the people vote on whether or not Washington becomes a dumping ground for nuclear waste.

"In the first place, no nuclear waste is dumped. And to use the statement 'dumping ground' is again an example of a bias and a prejudice that is already established in your mind. Nuclear waste has never been dumped and never will be. It is managed, as should be the wastes from other kinds of activities, also."

This soothing answer from a S-C-I-E-N-T-I-S-T brought a sigh of relief from those present who have been needlessly concerned for three years over several articles that appeared in the Oakland (California) Tribune.

The Tribune reported that the federal government had dumped - oops - managed 47,500 drums of radioactive waste in 900 meters of water off the Farallon Islands near San Francisco between 1946 and 1962.

The stories, which appeared in

by Henry Gay

September 1976, revealed that the feds had discovered in August 1974, that the radioactive material was leaking out of broken barrels at the site.

A Check of about 150 containers indicated that as many as 25 percent of them might be broken, and a plutonium level 25 times higher than expected was recorded by federal officials.

The Atomic Energy Commission, ever mindful that ignorant citizens might be alarmed about the leakage, kept the matter secret for two years.

And well it might, for the chairman of the AEC in 1974 was Dizzy Lee Ray, who understood, even then, what "bias and prejudice that is already established in your mind" can do to upset a non-scientist.

With scientists such as Governor Ray looking out for them, the citizens of this state and nation have nothing to fear but fear itself. It is both foolish and immature to worry about leaking nuclear waste that the AEC determined is "being carried northward by deep ocean currents toward the state of Oregon."

It might be a problem if it had been dumped, but we have the word of the former chairman of the AEC that "nuclear waste has never been dumped and never will be."

Those 47,500 drums of radioactive waste were taken by ship to the Farallon Islands, then managed over the side into 900 meters of water.

It is expertise such as that, fainthearts, which assures Scientist/Governor Ray will not be managed from office in 1980.

Jeanne Sweeney

You'd think that after driving a car on a regular basis for the last eight years a person would develop a little confidence. But, just about the time when I'm convinced that my car and I can do anything, some other driver starts honking his horn at us and we shake and quiver in our boots. It takes days before we can merge smoothly into traffic without getting sweaty palms.

As kind of a test of my own driving skills I try to keep a record of how many times my car and I generate angry honking responses from other drivers.

We realize that the mere presence of a Volkswagen bug tends to make a lot of people, like some truck drivers, a bit hostile. Discounting those persons then, we attempt to count only those honks that are the result of some action of ours. For example, like changing lanes without warning, or merging when merging is not desirable (because of heavy and fast traffic) or stopping at a yellow light suddenly while driving in front of a large vehicle.

My Volkswagen and I spend a number of hours each week together. In exchange for car carrying me to my various destinations in reasonable time, I try to see that car is directed to those places in some safety. Horn honks indicate that disregard for our safety has been noted by others. A warning that our lack of driving skills is showing.

Lack of horn honks indicate that our skills are acceptable, that we are moving with some safety and that our actions are "professional."

When we first began the tests, the elapsed time between horn honks was less than 4 hours. We had driven to White Center to get our weekly supply of gasoline, and another Volkswagen, of all things, did not approve of one of our more casual lane changes.

Later that day, one of Metro's new buses indicated, not by horn, but by the loud voice of one of its drivers, that we should "get off the street."

Taking the advice, I chose to leave car at home for the weekend until we both regained our composure.

The press of business required that my car and I face the challenge of downtown driving, and so I set our goal at five days of honkless driving. We lasted three.

Exits and entrances to freeway ramps tend to be danger zones with horn honking in these areas more likely than, say in your driveway. So, I wasn't really surprised that my honkless three days ended on the Seneca Street exit.

Pay closer attention, I warned myself.

But the horn honking took its toll and it was only moments later that a series of honks caused me to park car in a downtown parking lot for several hours while we waited for the rush hour traffic to subside.

Through all of this, car has been faithful and loyal. It refuses to die in traffic, or on any of the high hills in Seattle. One day, however, after a particularly grueling entrance into downtown Seattle, it burst a tube connecting the windshield washing apparatus and fluid container. Most of the window washing fluid sprayed out all over my lap.

I forgave car. It has been nearly six weeks since the last horn honk, a shocking blast that made both car and driver extremely nervous. Vowing then to work harder to avoid a similar occurrence, we have established this long record of honkless driving. Proudly, we move on to week seven.

Pumping the feds for additional gas

The first of August tolls the beginning of the month in which the Federal Way area may have additional gas pumped into its service stations. The relief won't come too soon if it comes at all, a factor that will be determined by the federal government.

To those of us who have waited in gas lines or dragged ourselves out of bed early to avoid them, the need for a more balanced allocation of fuel is pronounced. For the federal government, which frequently not only seems intangible but unsympathetic as well, there are a few facts we would like to submit for consideration in future allocations.

Federal Way's reputation for being one of the fastest-growing areas in the state is not undeserved. According to a recent study conducted for regional post offices, the number of people living in the Federal Way-Auburn area has nearly doubled since 1975, with 4,000 families coming here from July 1978 to July 1979 alone.

Construction projects that pepper Federal Way also are testimony to continuing growth and, in fact, that same postal service study indicates that residences and businesses under construction — that is, only those that have at least broken ground — total 1,184 within the next four months.

Growth obviously won't quit then, either.

Despite this growth, Washington State showed a decrease of 3.38 percent in gas deliveries for May of this year over May of last year. That may not be a burden for those areas that have contained growth, as evidenced by supplies in several towns in Eastern Washington. But week after week the Washington Auto Association reports that fuel supplies are tighter in the Puget Sound area than in most other parts of the state. The equation is simple: more growth plus an inflexible gas supply equals less gas to share.

Jack Wood, director of the State Department of Ecology, is sympathetic with the area's plight, but skeptical about its chances for salvation from the federal government. He bases his fears on previous experience but, then again, maintains there is a possibility for more gas here. We should know sometime this month.

It's only reasonable to assume that the gas should be evenly distributed — the thriving pockets within the state should not be punished for attracting an increasing population. Let's get some equity into the allocation system and ease the fuel burden on the Federal Way area.

Parks info inadequate

Editor:

Your editorial regarding a King County Bond issue to fund park and recreation projects, (Federal Way News, July 25, 1979) was inadequately researched.

The editorial indicates that the County Council has a specific list of projects in the amount of $100,000 which will cost the owner of a $75,000 home $23 a year for the next 30 years, and that the council may either offer the bond issue for a vote or approve the bond issue without a vote of the public. The editorial concludes that since the cost of the $100,000 bond issue for the owner of a $75,000 home is $23 a year for the next 30 years, that to not place the bond issue on the ballot "would be a mistake." I would like to clarify this misinformation.

First, the County Council does not have a specific list of projects in the amount of $100,000; council discussion concerning a park bond issue has been only exploratory.

Second, of primary concern is the impact of any bond proposal on individual property owners and taxpayers. The figure of $23 a year for the next 30 years for the owner of a $75,000 home was derived by using as an example a $100 million bond issue financed over a 30 year term. The County Council has no specific collar amount in mind at this time.

Finally, the editorial fails to differentiate between the types of bonds which may be used to fund projects. The County Council could not assemble a major bond issue for new park and recreation facilities and then simply approve it without a vote of the people.

The type of bond that the County Council may approve without a vote of the people is called a councilmanic bond. The amount which may be funded by councilmanic bonds is limited by law and also limited by the ability of the county's annual operating budget to absorb all of the costs without raising taxes. The use of councilmanic bonds has been discussed by the council as one method to fund immediate needs for improvements to existing parks.

General obligation bonds would be required to fund a major new park and recreation bond issue. General obligation bonds require voter approval; the costs of such bonds are borne directly by the taxpayers in the form of an annual increase in property taxes. The original Forward Thrust Parks and Recreation Bond issue was for $118,000,000.

To successfully assemble a new park and recreation bond issue will require public understanding and public acceptance.

Sincerely,
Paul Barden

DANCING WITH FIRE is Kim Snively's specialty.

TROUPE DIRECTOR Tani Snively demonstrates the use of poi balls.

Hawaiian aloha

With a piercing scream, five dancers bounded on stage, all dancing to the pulse-racing beat of native drumming.

Dressed in colorful red and yellow costumes, the Polynesian dance troupe gave members of the Star Lake Community Club a look into the culture of the islands.

Three musicians, playing instruments such as drums, steel guitars and a Kalua Gold oil can, kept the rhythm fast and frantic as the troupe kept time with their feet and hips.

Presenting a lively one-hour program, dancers gave watchers a taste of the Samoan lapa-lapa (fronds of a Palm tree) dance, a war dance typical of the Maori tribe on New Zealand, and the dramatic Samoan fire dance where the dancer whirls a flaming stick around, tasting the fire with his tongue and back.

Using dances picked up in the islands during the last 10 years, troupe organizer Tani Snively said they try to keep the routines as authentic as possible.

Tani, a lively 41, who spends her daytime hours as a fulltime real estate agent for Benton-McCarthy's airport office said she travels to Hawaii every year to get ideas for the troupe.

A blond Norwegian, she said professional dancers take one look at her and never guess that she's in the business. They are often very willing to part with their secrets, she said. In costume, Tani, who tans to a golden brown, wears a waist-length wig to disguise her looks.

TANI, AN ANGLE LAKE resident for the past 20 years said she became interested in taking hula lessons 15 years ago. Always involved in dance, she signed up for lessons at the YMCA and began to dance professionally with a friend at Kent and Auburn Clubs.

After two years, she hired several people and formed a troupe that danced every Friday and Saturday night for eight years at the Golden Door in Seattle.

"My son has been listening to the beat of Hawaiian music ever since he was crib size," said Tani. Kim, now a 19-year-old sophomore at the University of Washington has been dancing with the group for the past three years. The fire dance is his specialty. "He remembers going to sleep to the sounds of the drums," said Tani chuckling.

Tani employs nine dancers and musicians, "all of whom have regular jobs on the side. They play grand openings such as the Federal Way Citizen Federal Savings and Loan where they are scheduled for Aug. 2, Moose and Elk Clubs, community functions and conventions.

The dancers change about every two years, but she hangs in there. "The girls come and go. I'm the old lady of the group and I stay on."

If her performance is any indication, she will be dancing for many years to come. She has a lively sense of rhythm and a relaxed interpretation of dance routines that make her a hit of the program.

LINED UP FOR ACTION, Tani Snively and Mike Dorman give their grass skirts a shake-up.

HALLIE ANNE Kennar (Tali Tana) gives a guest a hearty welcome.

Bus hours sought

The King County Council has passed and sent on to Metro a motion seeking an additional 100,000 hours of bus time on suburban routes. The motion recommends better feeder service to the express system and local and neighborhood service within communities to cut down on the number of transfers into the Seattle business district. If approved by the Metro Council, the county-suggested route improvements would give Federal Way over 17,500 new hours costing about $463,000. The total bill for the 100,000 proposed hours would be $2 million. The proposal now goes to the Metro service evaluation subcommittee for consideration.

Dyslexia SCHOOL

BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1979

Dear Mom,
 I no you worry about me because I don't read and rite so well. I'm not dum mom. Please believe me. I herd a big word today that rite to my problem.
 Love,
 Eddie

That big word, Mom, is dyslexia. It's a language disability that experts say may be the leading cause of school drop-outs, accounting for as many as 77%.

Catch your child up before the next school year. Help is now available for reading-spelling difficulties. Dyslexia is a term used for these problems, Leonardo Da Vinci had dyslexia - recognize it.

A special phonics program is now available; on an individual basis, also with the help of Christian School in Federal Way. Classes using the program are being held during August at Colonial Bible School in Federal Way, 1232 S.W. Dash Point Road, for anyone to help their child get a head start on the school year. Registration is limited.

FW crime report:

Police recover loot, arrest 2 suspects

King County Detectives served a search warrant on a Seattle residence and recovered about $10,000 worth of goods taken from Federal Way in a July 20 burglary, it was reported Monday. Detective Doug Jackson said the warrant was served during the weekend and that two suspects, a man and a woman, were arrested. The man is 43 and the woman is 30, he said. Including a sewing machine, an electric typewriter and a film projector, the goods were taken from a residence near the intersection of South

288th Street and Military Road South. The female suspect, said Jackson, is the former wife of the victim. IN OTHER crime news, larcenists struck nine times between Friday and Sunday and burglars hit four times. The only single incident in which the loss was $500 or greater occurred at a 39th Avenue Southwest residence, where an automobile valued at $1,000 was stolen from a garage. Police also arrested five Federal Way teenagers during the weekend on charges of illegally consuming alcohol.

Jury acquits soldier

by Darlene Himmelspach

A King County Superior Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated about six hours before voting to acquit a Federal Way soldier of the second-degree murder of a Tacoma prostitute.

Paul Manuel, Jr., 38, had been charged with the March 9 shooting death of Pheolia Pleasant, 33. The woman was shot once at close range and died immediately of the head wound. The incident occurred at Manuel's home at 35213-34th Ave. S.

The Army Master Sergeant testified during the trial that he met Ms. Pleasant at a bar and invited her back to his house for drinks because it was her birthday. He said the woman had asked to look at handguns he kept at his home.

When Manuel's girlfriend arrived at his house about midnight, an argument broke out over who would take Ms. Pleasant back to Tacoma. Manuel testified that Ms. Pleasant had become quite drunk and abusive by then.

He said she pointed the .357 magnum revolver at him, he grabbed for it and it discharged killing the woman instantly.

The state maintained during the trial that Manuel told his girlfriend, Louise Moore, "I'm going to show you something you have never seen before." Ms. Moore testified during the trial that Manuel then put his arm around Ms. Pleasant, put the gun to her head and fired once.

David Allen, Manuel's defense attorney, was successful in convincing the jury that there was no motive for the killing and that Ms. Moore "was so screwed up that night that she didn't know what she was saying" when she talked to police.

Police arrested Manuel at his home about two hours after the death and discovered Ms. Pleasant's body in the trunk of Manuel's silver Lincoln Continental.

'County Group' meets

The "County Group," a citizen-reform group, will hold its first public meeting Thursday since one held in Burien a few months ago adjourned after a struggle between "County Group" leaders and developer interests.

The 5:30 p.m. meeting will be held at the Swedish Club, 1920 Dexter Ave. N. Priority of issues and comment on the candidate rating process is on the agenda. The County Group plans to evaluate and rate County Council candidates up for election this fall.

Normandy Park hires new cop

Dave Schorr, a Des Moines resident, with Normandy graduated from Park's reserve police Highline Community force, Schorr has been elevated to a fulltime patrolman by the Normandy Park police department. Besides serving for United Airlines.

The hiring of Schorr, 24, is the second by the city's police in the past two months, and increases the force to five men.

An opening for another patrolman remains, and may be filled by the end of this year, according to department spokesman Sgt. Arnie Ytreide.

Ranger's life rooted in nature

RANGER June O'Brion supervises camp maintenance and construction.

EXPLORER SCOUT Brent Willie and scout Mike Johnson work together on building a fire pit for the activity field.

It's a big job, but one that spry June O'Brion, former fifth school bus driver and scout volunteer looks forward to each day.

As camp ranger, it's her job to coordinate the volunteer activities and maintain the 63-acre Boy Scout camp that is located just south of the Pierce County line on Dash Point Road Southwest.

Keeping a demanding schedule she plots out new ventures with the help of a committee from Mount Rainier Scout Council. Most of the supplies are either donated or taken from the property.

However, she said there is always plenty of help for the numerous projects that are continually coming up. She gets volunteer labor from the community, Scouts working on the badges, Navy reserves, CETA funded employees, Decatur students involved in the Distributive Education program and King County sponsored Work Training Program students.

The camp is used throughout the year by Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, leadership training sessions and neighborhood kids.

To marry in Utah

Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Smith of Federal Way announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynnnette, to David Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Paul of Enumclaw. Miss Smith is a graduate of Federal Way High School and studied for one year at Ricks College in Rexburg, Idaho. Her fiancé graduated from Enumclaw High School and served two years in the Nevada-Las Vegas Mission of the LDS Church. The couple will be married Aug. 13 in the Salt Lake LDS Temple and plan to make their home in Rexburg while continuing their education.

Application forms for early entry into kindergarten and first grade classes are now available at the Educational Service Center, 31455 28th Ave. S.

Early Entry is the title given to a free testing program to determine if children who are too young to enter school are advanced enough to warrant an early entry. Only those children whose fifth or sixth birthdays fall between Sept. 15 and Nov. 15 will be considered.

The program is designed to ensure a high probability of success, so parents are advised of the rather difficult standards for qualification, particularly since early entrants will be in a class with other children a full year older than they. Since only 10 to 15 percent of applicants have qualified in past years, it is not advisable for every parent to seek early entry for their child. Parents should attend one of two meetings to be held at the Educational Service Center for the purpose of further explaining the program, answering questions and making appointments for assessments. The meetings will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Friday, Aug. 17. The contents of both meetings will be identical. A parent need attend only one. Applications should be completed and mailed to Dr. Vincent D. Smith, director of special services. Applicants will be notified of an appointment time and place beginning Aug. 17. There will be an initial screening test and a final test for those who qualify. Successful applicants will be notified by mail of their acceptance.

Gardeners merit awards

As editor of "Smoke Signals," the official publication of the Washington State Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. J. Edmund Deming of Browns Point, has received national recognition for the excellence of the publication. Two Browns Point clubs, Madrona and Browns Point, received awards for their contribution to World Gardening. Both clubs are members of the Capitol District of Garden Clubs.

TOPS celebrate weight loss win

Mrs. Mary Wallace, TOPS 1976 State Queen, was the speaker when TOPS Club 642 held a special meeting July 16 to mark the end of the club's month-long weight loss contest. Following the meeting, members adjourned to Pizza Haven for chef salads.

During the competition, each member had a "buddy" and the one who lost the most weight won a free salad, compliments of that buddy. Winnie Digo, the club's newest member, won the over-all prize for losing the most weight. Mrs. Wallace, who lost 134 pounds to reach her goal, shared some her special tips with her listeners: Keep busy; don't feel sorry for yourself; be thankful for what you have; think positive; get involved; if you go off your diet, go back on the next day, and save the cake for others to share.

Women who are trying to lose weight and who are finding it difficult, are invited to join the club. Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. every Monday at Federal Way United Methodist Church, 29645 51st Ave. S. Babysitting is available. Call Marie at 839-9122.

 King County Iris Society will hold its summer plant sale from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 18 in Bellevue Square.

Plants that will be on sale will include a selection of colors in the various types of irises, among them, tall bearded, dwarf bearded, intermediate bearded, Siberian, Pacific Coast natives and species. Those who would like to have a specific variety or type dug should contact Ron Kessel, 939-1559, or Jayne Ritchie, 235-0548, before the date of the sale.

Stinson on honor roll

Raymond H. Stinson of Federal Way has been listed on the spring quarter Dean's List of Wenatchee Valley College.

The list includes students who earned at least a 3.4 grade average in at least 15 credits.

Parenting guide available

A free resource booklet written by the U.S. Office of Education, entitled "a Parenting Guide" may be obtained by writing to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009, according to information provided by Margaret Movius, King County Extension agent.

It is a difficult job to be a parent, Movius comments, and it is hard to know sometimes whether a parent is doing the right thing.

Fortunately, there is a lot of advice for parents to help them improve their skills. Although the advice is not always appropriate for individual situations, it may offer a different perspective, a new way to approach a problem.

In addition to the USOE booklet, the public library systems have numerous books on the subject.

Butler's ANNIVERSARY SELL-A-BRATION

Come in and help us celebrate our 3rd Anniversary

Now, one scanner monitors public service bands plus aircraft band frequencies. In fact, the Bearcat 220 covers seven bands. Low, and High VHF UHF UHF-Gov't and UHF-T, 2 meter amateur (Ham), and Aircraft. Up to twenty frequencies may be scanned at once. Or frequencies can be arranged into two banks of ten frequencies each, allowing the listener to choose the bank of most interest.

 Reg $399.95
 Expires 8/5/79

You haven't heard or seen anything until you experience the Bearcat 250 Scanning Radio in action. Program 50 channels at the push of a few buttons, it's crystal clear. The Bearcat 250 will search out new frequencies, remember them in its "non-volatile" memory, and retrieve them at your command. It will even count transmissions on programmed frequencies. But these are just a few of more than 30 amazing functions of the Bearcat 250. Put this space-age scanner at your fingertips.

Films, silkscreen in library plans

Federal Way Library has booked four films for preschoolers at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Scheduled are "Ugly Duckling," "Story of Ferdinand," "Red Ball Express" and "Foolish Frog."

On Wednesday, Aug. 8 at 1 p.m., the library will present a 60-minute film program for schoolage children.

Booked that day are "Really Rosie," which features the music of Carole King and the drawings of Maurice Sendak, "Mowgli's Brothers" and "Zlateh the Goat."

A free craft class in silkscreen printing for preschoolers will be given at 11 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 9.

Participants should bring washed polyester-cotton T-shirts on which designs will be printed. Pre-registration is required.

To enroll your child visit the library at 848 S. 320th St. or call 839-0257.

Spring colors used at wedding

Roses, carnations and baby's breath in shades of peach, white and yellow were used in St. Martin of Tours Catholic Church in Fife for the recent wedding of Kimberly Sue Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Weiss of Federal Way, and Richard Jordan Ereth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Ereth of Fife.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white polyester organza gown lined with taffeta. Cotton Venise lace trimmed the bodice and full, sheer sleeves and edged the scooped neckline. The flowing a-line skirt swept to a chapel-length train, and she wore a chapel-length veil. Along with her bouquet of white roses and carnations, the bride carried a handkerchief that was carried by her grandmother at her wedding 48 years ago.

Bridal attendants were Sharon Davis, Gaylene Elving and Chris Blais. Their dresses were light yellow, green and peach with empire waistlines and crystal-pleated skirts. Each carried three yellow silk roses with baby's breath. Becky Babcock was the flower girl, and Shane Belknap was ringbearer.

Larry Voight served as best man, with Kenny and Marty Ereth and Randy and Jerry Weiss as ushers.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held in the church hall with Mrs. Hospenthal catering. Assisting were Roberta Babcock, Kay and Stephanie Belknap, Bernie, Connie and Corrine Blais, Virginia Hatcher, France Lawler, Kathy Billings and Deene Carpenter.

Honored guest at the ceremony was Mrs. Evelyn Brand, the bride's grandmother, who flew here from Columbus, Ohio.

The bride graduated from Decatur High School in 1975. The bridegroom was graduated from Fife High School the same year.

The couple's honeymoon was spent touring the Northwest.

Wedding date set

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin of Marblemount, Wash. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ronda Lela, to Gary Lee Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Edwards of 1933 S. 244th St. The bride-elect graduated from Concrete High School in Concrete, Wash., in 1978 and from Carolyn Hansen's Fashion College in Seattle. Edwards, a 1975 graduate of Mt. Rainier High School attended Renton Vocational School and is employed by the Federal Way News. The couple has chosen a Sept. 8 wedding date.

Counselor visiting Renton Y

An apprenticeship counselor from the YWCA's Women's Information, resources and Employment Service will be at the East Valley branch, 231 Williams Ave. S., Renton, on Wednesdays during the month of August.

She will be available to provide career counseling and information to women seeking apprenticeships and/or non-traditional work.

Call 255-1201 for an appointment or drop in to learn more about job opportunities and the benefits of non-traditional work for women.

Woman's club to meet

The next business meeting of the Federal Way Junior Woman's Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7, in the home of Carol Nelson, 3310 S.W. 327th Place. Judy Eckhardt will serve as co-hostess.

Summer projects and events the club has participated in include a tupperware party, garage sale, membership luncheon, assisting the Federal Way Chamber of Commerce with its building fund project and making a quilt.

Wedding planned

Gayle D. Zachow announces the engagement of his daughter, Penelope Ann Clark of 2405 S. 204th St., to Frank Wayne Champion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank OI Champion of 33429 29th Place. S.W. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Federal Way High School.

Champion graduated from Lawton High School in Lawton, Okla., and attended Oklahoma City University. The couple is planning an Aug. 19 wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Quealey

Marriage announced

Mrs. Delores Borreggine of Federal Way announces the recent marriage of her daughter, Joanne Crouse, to Hipolito Valdes Sierra.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Debbie Fallor from Idaho Falls, Idaho. The bridegroom's best man was Steve Johnson.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother after the ceremony.

The bridegroom is in the US Army stationed at Fort Lewis. The couple will be leaving in August for Cidra, Puerto Rico, where they will make their home.

Couple to live in California

At home in Point Mugu, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harold Ellis who were married recently in All Saints Lutheran Church.

The bride, the former Joanne Marie Martinson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Martinson of 33211 38th Ave. S. Her husband is the son of Henry B. Ellis Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of forget-me-nots on silesta chiffon over ivory taffeta. She also wore a coronet of silk forget-me-nots and lilies of the valley in her hair and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, blue carnations and baby's breath.

As the bride's only attendant, Paula K. Franzke wore a floor-length gown of blue giana and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Kenneth W. Coomes traveled from Rhode Island to be best man at the ceremony. Del Simmons served as usher.

Assisting at the reception, held at the North Lake home of the bride's parents were Kristi Wells and Mary Ketchum, sister of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Pacific Lutheran University. Her husband, a graduate of the University of Washington, is a Naval flight officer with a squadron sup-

Wed in St. Theresa's

With Rev. Donald Piro officiating, Julie Ann Knobel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Knobel of 22 S. 197th St., was married recently to Larry Quealey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Quealey of 24052 13th Place S., in St. Theresa's Catholic Church at Dash Point.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace with a sweetheart neckline and stand-up collar and a lace, chapel-length train trimmed in seed pearls and banded with rows of ruffles. Her fingertip veil was attached to a headpiece of lace and seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of red and pink roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Bridal attendants were Diana Graff, matron of honor, and Susan Sorenson, Susan Knobel, Holly Knobel, Annette Stickles and Janiel Simons, bridesmaids. Jennifer Graff was the junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore light blue garden dresses and picture hats and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses tied with blue ribbons. Melissa Sorenson was the flower girl, and Brian Graff served as ringbearer.

Kieth Scott attended the bridegroom as best man, and Mike Knobel, John Knobel, Clyde Quinn, Glen Lamb and Norm

Stickler were the ushers.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Mt. Rainier High School. The newlyweds honeymooned in Canada and are at home at the Whidby Island Naval Air Station where he is stationed with the Navy.

Winning photos in library display

Winning entries in the recent King County Library System "Camera Classic" photography contest for young adults will be displayed at the Federal Way Library, 848 S. 320th St., from Aug. 1 through Aug. 15.

The top 25 photos in both color and black and white categories were chosen by a panel of three judges from the 328 entries received. These 50 prints comprise a traveling exhibit that will visit many county libraries over the course of the next several months.

Included in the show are photos of landscapes, still lifes and animals, in addition to abstract and portrait prints.

Actor more at home in theater than classroom

by Barbara Butts
Sixteen-year-old Leslie Hackett of Federal Way has never taken a drama class. But she will be the female lead in an upcoming production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" at Falstaff's Dinner Theater in Tacoma.

Miss Hackett, who will be a junior at Thomas Jefferson High School this fall, has had minor roles in school productions, however. And she says that there is a great difference between acting in a school play and being in a semi-professional production such as the Falstaff's. "In school it's really rigid and tense," she said. "Teachers get upset too easily, and it's not fun. But in the theater here, we really get to know each other and are constantly breaking up in laughter."

Not all of the laughs arise out of this popular comedy's lines, she said. "Theater people are so witty," Miss Hackett said. "And after you go over and over scenes, things have to be lightened up. Funny things just seem to happen."

Rubber chicken bits, for example, said the ingenue. "A rubber chicken is used in different methods of acting." Ironically, the production's director, and owner of the dinner theater, is a former high school drama instructor.

Rocke Wicks taught Falstaff's stage, she said. "The girl who played the queen in 'Cinderella' at my high school last year hurt her leg and couldn't perform," she said. "I had to learn the lines in one day."

That day in front of the audience was enough. When Van Prather, a substitute choir teacher at the school, suggested that she audition for the musical at Falstaff's, she did.

Miss Hackett landed the role of Philia, the virginal courtesan whose love for Hero is thwarted when she is sold to another man.

The musical opens Friday evening at the theater.

She will also appear in Falstaff's next presentation, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," in September.

That play seems a natural for the attractive daughter of Pat and James Hackett, who live at 3321 S. 255th St. The teenager, mature for her years, apparently is taking her first steps up the ladder of show business with relative ease.

Auburn getting auditorium

Construction of the new Auburn High School auditorium is continuing on schedule, according to the design firm of Waldron Pomeroy Polk and Smith, a Seattle architectural firm.

The auditorium is a major part of a $9.5 million project including new additions and remodeling of Auburn High School.

It will seat approximately 1,100 people, accommodating more than the Seattle Center Playhouse. The Auburn auditorium will be the largest theater in South King County.

Designed for both dance and theater, ac-ording to the firm's project manager, Bill Hook, it will be a complete performing arts center.

The fully rigged stage will be equipped with catwalks, a complete lighting system, a scene shop, green room and dressing facilities.

According to the architects, the auditorium can be utilized by the community without involving the entire school area.

A spokesman for the firm, William Polk, said: "We anticipate that the community will use the auditorium extensively. Its concept corresponds with the idea that the people of Washington want more utilization of the school facilities and will help bring the community into the education processes."

Actual construction of the project is being done by the R.C. Hedreen Construction of Bellevue. Completion of the auditorium is scheduled for January 1980.

Waldron Pomeroy Polk and Smith has also designed a multipurpose performing arts center for South Snohomish County at Edmonds Community College, which was a joint effort between the cities of Mountlake Terrace, Edmonds and Lynnwood.

Wick's style of "teaching" suits Miss Hackett also because she is allowed to concentrate on what she is interested in. "In school they give you training in all areas of the theater," she explained. "But I'm interested in acting and singing, especially by John Weaver, Jr.

Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc.

Within a few months we will be swamped with projections concerning the coming decade of the 1980's. I believe that the 80's will be almost as good a time for total return securities investing as the 70's was frustrating. There is plenty of time to explain the reasons why in this space over the coming months. But here are some gradually emerging investment ideas and themes that some analysts have developed for the 1980's.

Semiconductor technology with extraordinary proliferation of various applications. These include mass produced, low priced units and high value added industrial-commercial products. The personal computer is just a beginning. Autos which now have $100 semiconductor parts will have $500 within five years. The world electronics industry totaled $100 billion in 1977 and may be $325 billion 10 years from now, the 10th largest global industry after auto, steel and chemical.

The new migration idea which is the old Sun-Belt story. People are going rural. The national growth of 5.6 percent population since 1970 has been in smaller areas and is continuing. We've seen this in the growth of the Eastside in recent years. A geographic shift to decentralization is aided by growth of an information economy which is more adoptive and flexible.

The shifting of wealth to Indonesia, Iran, Kuwait, Mexico, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia and the UAE States is a long-term change. Infrastructures for these countries must be developed with the aid of the industrial countries, thereby recycling OPEC funds into the global system. Accelerating oil prices only hasten the trend.

The pendulum of increased government spending, more regulations, and bloated bureaucracy may have reached limits so that capital accumulation will intensify. The link between capitalism and freedom is difficult to document but basically every democratic nation has a capitalistic economy with a high regard for property rights and individual liberty. Any cutback in the expansion of government at this point in the pendulum swing has to have a good influence on the private sector. The British and Canadian swing to the conservatives and the passage of tax reform laws such as Proposition 13 may foreshadow the U.S. mood.

The demographic trend change supports a strong capital spending cycle for the 1980's. There will be a sharp drop in dependents. In the 1950's, 75 percent of the total population increase was under 18 and over .65. In the 1980's, a forecast 18 million population increase will be 10 million less than the 1950's and dependents will only be 20 percent of the increase. This facilitates less inflation and fewer demands on government services. Of course, the increase could be somewhat higher if birthrates, now generally low, begin to rise as early evidence indicates. Remember, however, that trend is not destiny and the future is never an extrapolation of the past.

Societies anticipate future dangers and take preventive steps against upheavals. When symptoms are well publicized in advance, it is unlikely they will occur as described.

Seattle Trust and Savings Bank's earnings for the quarter ending June 30 were $724,000 compared with $638,000 for the same quarter last year, an increase of 13.4 percent. For the 12 months ending June 30, the bank's earnings were $2,912,000 an increase of 12.5 percent over the same period last year.

Earnings per share for the second quarter were 88 cents compared with 77 cents per share for the same period in 1978. For the 12 months ending June 30, earnings per share were $3.54 compared with $3.14 share for the same period last year.

On July 2 the bank paid its regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share, an annual rate of $1 per share.

Total deposits on June 30 were $434.4 million, a 11.9 percent increase over $388.1 million at the same date in 1978.

Net loans were $331.6 million at quarter end compared with $296.5 million the previous year, an increase of $35.1 million, or 11.8 percent. Loans to businesses rose from $116.0 million in 1978 to $120.1 million in 1979, an increase of 3.5 percent. Consumer installment loans increased from $77.0 million to $98.2 million, or 27.4 percent, and real estate loans from $105.7 million to $116.2 million, an increase of 9.9 percent.

Time management seminar offered

For that "pressed for time" feeling and how to overcome it, the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the William Oncken Company of the Northwest will present "A Day with Bill Oncken," on Friday, Aug. 3.

Bill Oncken is a nationally recognized authority on the subject of time management. The Seattle Chamber will bring him to the Northwest to present a high-powered one-day program covering his four most prominent seminar topics on the subject of time management.

Oncken will present a capsulized version of his "Managing Management Time" course. In addition, he will highlight segments from his seminars on "Increasing productivity through leadership in communications," "Managing performance evaluation," a tool for management control, and "Making the principles of organization work for you."

"A Day with Bill Oncken" will be held at the Southcenter Theatre on Friday, Aug. 3, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tickets at $75 per person may be purchased from the Seattle Chamber. Contact Jean Swenson at 447-7214 for further information.

Real estate school offered

The Puget Sound Council of Red Carpet Corp. of America, located in Bellevue, has opened a real estate school which provides pre-licensing instruction for persons desiring to enter the real estate profession. The school offers classes in three locations in the greater Puget Sound area: North Seattle, Bellevue, and Federal Way, to help agents prepare for taking the examination administered each month by the state.

Red Carpet took more than one year to develop the instructional materials that are used. These materials encompass all areas of real estate that will be covered in the licensing examination, including any items that may be added to future examinations.

The cost of this eight-week course will be $120; however, through the month of August, the course will cost $99.50.

8-year drought ends

Pyramid Tire rolls to women's softball title

by Harry Brooks
Finally, Coach Frank Coumont and his Pyramid Tire softball team do not have to settle for the also-ran role.

Pyramid rolled over Carpet I, 10-5, and Sea-Tac Equipment, 6-5, to set up Friday's showdown with Pietros Pizza in the Federal Way Women's Softball Association Championship Tournament. Pyramid capped a success drive to the title with a 9-5 win in the finale.

Coumont termed his team's performance as "fantastic!" noting that it ended his team's eight-year championship drought. Pyramid Tire was an original member of the then four-team Federal Way Women's League nine seasons ago. The League has grown to 12 teams, split in two divisions.

Pyramid took the Gold Division with a 12-1 record. Pietros qualified for the title tourney by taking third in the Gold standings at 9-4.

Coumont added that the 1979 season was particularly satisfying as his team scored "the Grand Slam" by also winning the Federal Way Women's Softball Association Invitational Tournament last June.

"WE JUST came on," he said. "We lost our third game of the year (to Pietros 10-6) and got tougher the rest of the way."

Pyramid's success partially stemmed from a mixture of experience and youth.

"Our older players seemed to keep a smooth consistency going, and the new ones kept the spirit up when things sometimes weren't going well."

Pyramid players range in age from 18 to 42. The squad even has a mother-daughter act. Shirley Allar bats in the third position. Her offspring, Jean, scored the final run of the title game. Other team members, who have labored for Pyramid since the team's inception, are Muff Kranz, Nina Dowe, Dee Coumont and Susie Palmer. The team's youth element comes from Barb Moores, Nancy Snyder and Lori Paris. The trio came to Pyramid after contributing to Federal Way High's successful athletic program the past two years.

COACH COUMONT expects some of his elder players to call it quits now that Pyramid reached its championship goal.

"I think some of our players stuck with it until we finally won it all," he said. "Now, they're satisfied and can quit as champions. It gets too physically tough on some of the older players. Besides league games, we enter a lot of tournaments, and the constant play can really wear on you."

That wasn't the case Friday.

Pyramid erupted for an early lead and drove away from Pietros down the stretch run of the FWWSA title tilt. Diane Sansaver opened the contest with a single. Moores' grounder forced her at second. However, Moores advanced and scored on a Snyder hit. Kranz gave Pyramid a 2-0 lead by bringing Snyder home with a double.

Pietros retaliated to tie the score in the second frame. Consecutive singles by Lana Beuthe, Nancy Miller and Sharon Benson supplied the two-run rally.

Pyramid jumped to a 5-2 edge in the third as Snyder and Debbie Tidwell took advantage of previous Pietros errors with RBI singles. A walk to Gail Allard and a run-scoring hit by Vicki Wyman supplied Pietros with a single in the bottom of that inning.

PYRAMID TIRE began cementing its championship in the top of the fifth.

Moores started a three-run burst with a single. Shirley Allar walked but was forced at second on Snyder's hopper. Debbie Tidwell loaded the bases by taking ball-four. Moores sprinted home on Kranz's roller to first, and Dowe followed by smacking a single that scored Snyder and Tidwell. Jean Allar capped Pyramid's run total in the sixth by reaching first on a shortstop error and eventually coming around on Sansaver's second hit of the game.

Pietros made rumbles of a comeback in its last-chance, seventh-inning at-bat. Sharon Benson followed Nancy Miller's single with a lined home run down the left-field line, but Pyramid's Kranz exhibited her range in center field, snagging two of three putouts that assured a Pyramid win.

Pietros fought its way into the championship round of the double-elimination tourney after losing its tournament opener to Carpet I, 11-2. The Pizza team rebounded with wins over Fireside Tavern, 16-11, Unruh Realty, 15-13, and Sea-Tac Equipment, 11-7. Pyramid had to scratch out a 6-5, nine-inning win over Blue Division champ Sea-Tac Equipment on its road to the title.

Members of the FWWSA championship Pyramid Tire squad (not previously mentioned) are Shirley Christiansen and Nila Wilson.

Burienites fail to clinch third

Burien Legion falls to Foster Marshall, 7-2

by Bart Potter
The Burien American Legion baseball team lost a chance to clinch third place in District 11's Southern Division with a 7-2 loss Sunday to Foster Marshall of Bellevue at Hidden Valley Field.

The loss, combined with an 8-2 win over Georgia Pacific of Kirkland Friday, gives the locals a 12-8 mark, just one game in the loss column ahead of fourth-place Thousand Trails of Kentridge.

Burien faced a must-win situation last night as it faced Renton at Liberty Park (results unavailable). A victory meant undisputed third, while a loss might mean a playoff for the third-South playoff spot, depending on the outcome of Kentridge contests Monday and Tuesday.

Should Burien hold on to third, it will face Foster Marshall, the number two team from the Northern Division, in one half of a Friday 6 p.m. doubleheader at Kent Memorial Field in the District 11 playoffs. Federal Way South number two, will face Renton in the other half.

AGAINST Foster Marshall Sunday, Burien simply had an off day, coach Lou Bomber said. "We were just flat," he said. "They (Foster Marshall) were flat, too, but they still beat us."

Bomber was forced to go with a tired Kerry Boatwright on the mound, and he was raked for nine hits en route to his third loss in nine decisions.

Featuring

Joe Bolam

Frank Coumont

Joe Bolam, a Federal Way Colt pitcher, recently threw a no-hitter against eventual Valley League Champion Kent Sealand. Bolam struck out 11 and walked just one during his performance. Lane DeBriane, a shortstop, kept the no-hitter intact by fielding a grounder behind second base and completing a close-call putout at first in the sixth inning.

Other top performances: Dale Pac, of the Federal Way Pony baseball team, cracked nine hits in 15 official at-bats during last week's State Pony Tournament. He knocked in nine runs and scored three. Mark Tabrum, of the Federal Way Colt baseball team, poked six hits in seven at-bats during Saturday's double-header with Auburn. Jim Tinsley, of the St. Vincent fastpitch team, allowed just one earned run during 13 innings in St. Vincent's successful drive for the Federal Way Church Softball championship.

for a championship trophy at the tournament finals of the Northwest's only native sport.

Tournament games, open to the general public, will be held by the Seattle YMCA, August 11-12, and King County Parks, August 13-14. Tacoma Pickle-Ball tournament games are already underway; winners of all tournaments will advance to the championships at Ranier Square in downtown Seattle, August 24-25.

The concept of Pickle-Ball was born on Bainbridge Island 14 years ago, the brainchild of U.S. Congressman Joel Pritchard and neighbor Bill Bell. The sport combines elements of tennis, badminton and racquetball in a game involving perserverance rather than physical prowess.

The Pickle-Ball Championships constitute the first organized Pickle-Ball tournament in the country.

Kent takes title, FW 2nd

Auburn pulls the reins on Federal Way Colts

The Federal Way Colt baseball team, sponsored by George's Plumbing, had its hopes of a state tournament berth dashed with two losses in its final four games of the regular season.

After losing to Structural Instrumentation, 4-1, Thursday and beating Superior Fire Protection, 5-0, Friday, Federal Way needed a double-header sweep over Auburn last Saturday to tie Kent for the Valley League title. Alas, Auburn held off a late FW rally in the twin-bill opener to score an 8-7 win, which assured Kent the league's state berth. Federal Way came back to take the nightcap, 12-2.

"It's a shame the best team has to sit out the tournament," Federal Way coach Larry McCauley said of his club, which ended the year with a 19-5 record. "We just made too many mistakes (in the loss to Auburn) and couldn't quite make up for them at the end."

"But, I hope our players learned something about life from the experience. Maybe it will help them become better men more than better ball players."

JOE BOLAM, who pitched a no-hitter against Kent the week before, suffered control problems in the double-header opener. Auburn took advantage of the situation by drawing nine walks in the first three innings. Auburn took the field in the fourth holding a commanding 8-1 lead. The Auburnites tallied only one hit while gaining that edge. They ended the game with a total of three.

Singles by Mark Tabrum, Steve McCauley and John Batts gave the local Colts a run in the first inning, but the Federal Way offense really untracked in the fifth and sixth innings.

Tabrum began a three-run, fifth-inning drive with a single. An out later, Bolam moved him to second with a base hit. Batts' double brought Tabrum home and advanced Bolam to third. Bolam scored on a Dennis Kleiber single, and a Lane DeBraie hit brought Batts in. Federal Way took definite control of the game's momentum in the sixth.

The locals used a John Heath walk, a Tabrum single and Steve McCauley's ball-four to load the bases. Bolam scored Heath with a sacrifice fly to right, and Batts' second straight double brought Tabrum and McCauley scampering home.

However, Batts, the potential tying run, was left stranded by a short fly to right and a sky-out to left.

With two out, Heath took a walk in the last-chance seventh but was forced at second to end the game.

FEDERAL WAY vented its frustrations in the second game. The locals turned a 2-1 second-inning deficit into a 3-2 lead in the third and continued pouring it on the rest of the way.

Tabrum, Bolam and Kleiber each stroked three hits in a 14-hit attack. Bolam scored three runs and drove in another three in Kleiber knocked in two runs.

Tabrum had a good day with the stick Saturday. He stroked three hits and drew a walk in five at-bats during the opening game. He scored three runs in that contest. He added another four runs while stroking three singles, taking a walk and being struck with a pitch in the nightcap.

Tom Utz, McCauley and Bolam combined to hurl a one-hitter in Federal Way's Friday win over Superior Fire Protection. Utz smacked three hits as did Tabrum. Kleiber had a triple and a single, and Bolam supplied a two-run double.

Sunset hoop teams forming

Sunset Activity Center, in cooperation with King County Parks, will offer basketball league play for 9th and 10th-grade boys and men at Sunset Junior High School.

Boys' play will run from Sept. 10 thru Oct. 12. The league entry fee per team is $126; the league will be limited to eight teams.

Men's action, running from Sept. 11 to Nov. 10, will be limited to 10 teams at $120 per team.

Both leagues will play one round, with a playoff between the top four teams at the end of the regular league schedule. Team entry fees will pay for two association referees each game and trophies for the top three teams at the conclusion of the playoffs.

All basketball teams interested in either of Sunset's fall leagues must register with entry fee money no later than August 17 at Sunset Junior High, 1809 So. 140th, in Burien. Entry fee must accompany registration in order to guarantee a position in either league.

Additional league information can be obtained at Sunset Activity Center or by calling 246-7026.

Tennis tourney

A tennis tournament for adults and youth, sponsored by the City of Tukwila Recreation Department, will be held August 11-16 at Foster High School and Tukwila City Park. For further information or to register please contact the Tukwila Community Center, 4101 So. 131st, or call 243-5198.

FW Legions clinch second

by Bart Potter
Federal Way's American Legion baseball team wrapped up second place in the District 11 Southern Division with an 8-2, 6-2 double-header sweep Sunday over Auburn at Brannon Field.

The twin wins hiked FW's record to 14-6, two games ahead of Burien. By finishing second in the South, the Feds now move into first round play of the District 11 playoffs, which begin with a double-header at Kent Memorial Field Friday at 6 p.m. Federal Way will likely meet Renton in one half of the twin bill, while Burien and Foster Marshall of Bellevue are the likely combatants in the other half.

Federal Way finished its regular season last night against Thousand Trail (results unavailable). The game was relatively meaningless for FW, but for Kntridge it represented the last chance to grab a playoff spot. A Kntridge win coupled with a Burien loss would force a playoff for the third Southern Division berth.

THE LOCALS got on the scoreboard first in the initial frame on Pat Buckholz' RBI single.

Auburn came back to tie it up in the fourth. Meanwhile, Federal Way could get nothing going until the sixth inning. Bob Bolam led off with a double. Pete Weymiller reached on a fielder's choice, and Jeff McCauley advanced the runners with a sacrifice bunt. Ed Camden's fielder's choice grounder scored Bolam, and after Brent Hoene reached on an error to load the bags, another fielder's choice grounder by Dave Greening scored Weymiller. After a balk advanced the runners, an error on Jim Bendorf's grounder scored Greening.

Federal Way took a 5-1 lead into the seventh, and picked up three of insurance runs. Singles by Butch Cratsenberg, Weymiller and Greening sandwiched around a pair of walks and an infield out accounted for the tallies.

In the nightcap, Auburn notched a single run in the first before Federal Way got things going in the second. Weymiller reached base on an error, as did Bolam, and both runners advanced on a passed ball. Camden knocked in Weymiller with a sacrifice fly, and Bolam scored on a wild pitch.

Auburn tied it in the sixth inning. In the seventh Federal Way scored four runs on four straight singles by McCauley, Camden, Bendorf and Greening and a sacrifice fly to deep center by Buckholz.

Camden came on in relief of Scott Theiss in the sixth, and in the bottom of the seventh he squelched any Auburn comeback hopes by striking out the side.

Elk tags available at state dealers

Nearly 900 license dealers around the state have received their shipment of elk tags for 1979 from the Game Department license office.

Hunters are advised to buy their elk tags early and to carefully consider their plans for the coming season, as the regulations are changed considerably from last year.

Under the area-tag elk season concept approved by the Game Commission, a hunter may buy any one of five supplemental elk tags: A blue tag for the Blue Mountains area; A gray tag for the Colocokum elk area; A green tag for all westside areas; A salmon-colored tag for the early Yakima Area elk season and a yellow tag for the late Yakima elk season.

St. Vincent comes back for FW fastpitch crown

St. Vincent de Paul became the first team to come through the losers' bracket to win the playoff championship in the Federal Way Recreation Church Softball League.

After losing to Landgren Memorial 1, 7-6, in eight innings St. Vincent fell into the losers' bracket.

On Monday, St. Vincent faced St. Theresa. St. Vincent took an early lead, scoring twice in the first inning, once in the second and four times in the third inning. Dennis Olsen blasted a three-run homer to spark St. Vincent in the third.

St. Theresa came back with three runs in the fourth inning and six runs in the sixth to take a 9-8 lead. But St. Vincent scored twice in the bottom of the sixth against Jerry Hainline and held on to win. The loss was the first for Hainline in two years of pitching in the Church League.

That win set up a rematch with Landgren on Tuesday for the league title. St. Vincent had to beat Landgren twice to win the championship.

St. Vincent again started quickly scoring four runs in the third inning with Tom Franklin's triple being the big blow. Two runs in the fourth, and solo homers by Dennis Olsen, Russ Jensen, Tom Franklin and Bill Lewis in the sixth and seventh innings gave St. Vincent a 10-2 lead entering the bottom of the seventh inning.

Jim Tinsley who had pitched the first six innings was relieved but after Landgren scored five runs, Tinsley resumed pitching to get the final out with the tying run at the plate.

So, Tinsley got credit for saving the same game he won. The 10-7 win set up a second game with the winner being the titlist.

Tinsley started the second game and his defense let him down in the first and second inning as Landgren scored seven runs on only four hits.

After that shaky start, St. Vincent pulled itself together. The team scored eight runs in the fourth inning, seven scoring after two were out. Don DeMatteis hit a triple and a double in that inning. He had singled in the first and in the seventh inning he smashed a three-run homer to complete hitting for the cycle.

The Catholics scored five runs in the sixth and five more in the seventh inning to win the game, 18-8. Dennis Olsen hit his fifth homer of the playoffs for St. Vincent in the sixth inning.

Tinsley had a brilliant day pitching for the winners. In 13 and one-third innings, he allowed only one earned run, walked none and struck out seven. For the entire playoff series Tinsley had an earned run average of 1.20.

Bettesworths take honors

The Bettesworth sisters, Kris and Brynne, recently have been stroking their way to tournament success.

Brynne, eldest of the Twin Lakes Golf and Country Club sisters, was named the Outstanding Girls of the Inter-Club Golf Finals at Oakbrook Golf Club. She shot consistent scores of 94, 96, 95 and 97 for a 382 total. Twin Lakes finished fourth in the club competition with 434 points. Oakbrook won the club title with 564.

Kris, 13, won the fourth flight of the 24th annual Pacific Northwest Golf Association Junior Girls' Amateur Championships. She went through four flights undefeated in match-play competition. Brynne won her first match but lost her second in the third flight. Pam Mayer, of North Shore, also competed in the competition.

Oregon-Wash. plan All-Star hoop contest

Plans for a Washington-Oregon High School All-Star Basketball Game have been revealed by Marion Pericin of Portland and Doug McArthur of Tacoma, co-chairmen of the event which has applied for sanction with the Amateur Athletic Union.

The initial game tentatively has been scheduled for Richland, Wash. Aug. 30 of this year.

Richland recently hosted the second game of the Washington All-Star series and a crowd of 3,500 attended, further establishing the Tri-City area as the "prep basketball capital" of the Northwest. Richland won the state AAA title in Washington basketball action in March.

Coaches for the two teams have been selected. Richland's Phil Neill will team with Doug Helgeson of Kenridge, president of the Washington State Basketball Coaches Association, against Nick Robertson of McMinnville and John Roche of Central Catholic, outgoing and incoming presidents of the Oregon Association.

The players will be named by the coaches in the near future. The majority will be chosen from the ranks of All-Star games played earlier this summer in the two states. Two teams of 20 players met in divided All-Star settings in both states in June.

WIL Feds take 3-2 victory

The Federal Way WIL baseball team took a 3-2 win over Edmonds last Sunday.

Starting pitcher Rick Mobley held Edmonds down for eight and one-third innings before receiving relief help from Larry Monday. The two hurlers allowed Edmonds just two hits.

West side shackles Victoria, 2-1

Despite finishing the Northwest League fastpitch season at 4-32, one does not mess around with Westside Federal when the Feds have pitching.

WS proved that again last Sunday, with a well-rested Jack Lee firing a three-hitter to beat Pan American Games champion Victoria Budget 2-1 on Sunday at Ft. Dent. Victoria thought better of it the second game, winning 10-2.

Lee gave up only an unearned run in the top of the third inning, and his mates returned with two in the bottom of the stanza.

The second game was not nearly so pleasing. Victoria scored seven runs with two outs in the first inning and was never headed. The game was halted after five innings since the Canadians had to catch a ferry.

"We got off to that bad start," said Beyers. "We'd have loved to beat them twice. We made a couple boners there that didn't help us."

With the shrunken condition of major league fastpitch softball, Westside stands a chance to make the regionals in Olympia later this month.

The Seattle-Metro district gets two entry berths into the regionals, and defending champion Peterbilt Western gets a free trip back anyway.

Westside, Woodinville Lumber and the NF Hawks, a class A team that decided to give the big time a shot, will vie in White Center Aug. 11 and 12 for the final two spots.

Times for that playoff have not been decided, but the Feds have drawn a first round bye. NF and Woodinville will meet in the first game, with Westside meeting the winner. If the Feds can win that game, they will move on to Olympia Aug. 24-26.

Overall, Westside is 12-9 in tournament play, quite a step up from their league ledger. With pitching, the Feds are tough. Just ask Victoria Budget.

Machine falters in semis of State Pony Tourney

by Harry Brooks
The Big Red Machine ground to a halt in the semifinal game of the State Pony Tournament played Saturday at Russell Road Park in Kent.

The Burien Athletics proved to be the monkey wrench in the Big Red Machines' quest of a state title. The A's handed the Federal Way Boys' and Girls' Club sponsored Machine its first tourney loss Thursday by a 9-5 tally and knocked the locals out of the double-elimination tournament with a 5-2 blow Saturday. Burien lost the championship game to Kent Fairwood Greens, 4-2, Sunday.

The Federal Way Machine beat state-champ Kent twice during the regular season. The two teams played in the Valley Pony League. Federal Way qualified for tourney by winning the league title with a 13-1 record. Kent finished second at 11-3 but by entered the state tourney as the host team.

"WE BEAT them twice during the season, but I'm not frustrated that they took the state title," FW coach Lee Eilertson said. "They played the best ball of the tournament and deserved to win it."

The Machine turned on its hitting Thursday to win its first game of the tournament, 10-6, over Dick's Heating of Pierce County. But Burien bats proved hotter in the next contest as the A's dumped Federal Way in the losers' bracket in the following contest. The Machine lubricated its attack to beat Redmond Fredricks, 6-3, Friday and the Puyallup Medics, 7-4, Saturday, but a second meeting with the A's proved fatal to the Federal Way cause Saturday afternoon. Eilertson expressed some anguish at not making it to the finals:

"We would have been pretty confident playing Kent in the finals because we state title. The A's were used to playing against them in the league. Oh well, the final outcome proved that our league was the power," he noted, referring to Kent's first-place finish and Federal Way's third-place effort.

"You bet I'm pleased with our hitting," Eilertson stated. "I was impressed with the hitting of all the teams in the tourney. The hitters pretty well dominated all the way through, and that made for a lot of exciting ball games."

Dale Pac, a stocky third baseman, came through with a consistently potent bat through the state duals. He smacked nine hits in 15 times to the plate. He drove in nine runs and scored three. Clay Marrs was seven-for-15 with eight runs and three RBIs. Don Hall cracked six hits in 13 at-bats, scored five runs and powered four others across. Catcher Mark Roberts was seven-for-15 good for four runs and four RBIs, and Scott Eilertson poked six-for-16, scored five times and socked in four.

The Machine began its must-win drive through the losers' bracket by exhibiting clutch hitting in the late innings. The locals broke a 3-3 deadlock with Redmond via a run in the fourth inning and two more in the seventh to take that contest.

They entered the top of the seventh with a 4-3 deficit in the following game against Puyallup but came through with a four-run rally to force a rematch against Burien.

BUT THE Machine bats fell silent as Burien A's pitchers Pat Papsedero and Craig Schlinger limited Federal Way to four hits and two sixth-inning runs.

The Machine received some joy in that tourney ouster when Hall banged the club's only homer of the season, a leadoff blast past Burien's right fielder in the sixth. Moments later, Pac ended a tourney-long display of bat prowess by driving home Marrs, who had singled, with lined double.

However, Eilertson pointed to Federal Way's comeback, seventh-inning win over Puyallup as "the highlight of the tournament."

Pac and Roberts opened the inning with singles. Hall put the Machine on top, 5-4, by chasing both teammates home with a double to right-center. With two out, John Bowman singled, and Eilertson followed with a two-run triple to center. Pitchers Marrs and Eilertson combined to keep Puyallup from touching home in the final four innings. Eilertson assured the win by striking out three straight in the Puyallup seventh.

The lead changed hands five times in the preceding contest with Redmond. Eilertson singled, stole two bases and came in on a Pac single to give FW a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, but Redmond took a 2-1 edge into the third.

Marrs, Roberts and Bowman singled in the third as Federal Way re-took the advantage, 3-2, but Redmond pushed the tying run across in the fourth.

Federal Way scored what turned out to be the decisive run in the fifth. Marrs opened the inning with a single. He stole second and third and came in when Roberts stroked a hit.

Marrs and Roberts also figured in the Machine's insurance rally in the seventh. The former took first after being hit with a pitch. He swiped second and completed the base circuit on Roberts' poke through the middle. Todd McDonald moved Roberts to third with a sacrifice bunt, and Hall brought him home with a sharp single.

Hall performed a fireman's service on the mound. He hurled shutout ball during the final three innings, striking out four and allowing just one hit. Wayne Lewis aided Hall's effort with a defensive gem in the sixth inning. With two out and enemy runners on the move off second and third, he made a diving catch of pop between right field and second base.

Obituary

Rodney L. Kovalenko

Rodney L. Kovalenko, 19, of 3217 West Valley Highway, died Saturday, July 28, in Swedish Hospital in Seattle. He was born in Auburn and had lived all his life in the Federal Way area. He was a 1978 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School and a member of Evergreen Bible Chapel of Federal Way. At the time of his death, he was a student at Green River Community College.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cooper of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Robert (Roxanne) Boback of Black Diamond and Lorrie Kovalenko of the home; a brother, Keith Kovalenko of Auburn, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zander of Sumner, Mildred Fetscher of Missoula, Mont. and Lee Kenney of Enumclaw.

Memorial services will be held at 7 p.m. today, Aug. 1, in Our Savior's Baptist Church in Federal Way with Price-Helton Funeral Chapel in charge. Interment will be in Sumner Cemetery. Memorials to Children's Orthopedic Hospital.

Metro packet available

Metro bus riders who use public transit as a second car can now buy "The Second Car Owner's Manual" — a complete bus system map and information packet.

The Owner's Manual has a full-color map of Metro's 130 bus routes, instructions on how to ride the bus, descriptions of special transit services and a chart that lists the approximate interval between buses on each route.

New, experienced and potential bus riders can buy The Second Car Owner's Manual for 50 cents at major banks, Bartell's drug stores or at Metro's Customer Assistance Office at Second Avenue and Marion Street in Seattle. Riders who buy Metro monthly passes for September will receive the manual free.

Kirkland Mayor Bob Neir, chairman of the Metro Council's transit committee, said thousands of new riders are using public transit like a second car and saving available gasoline for recreational use.

Red Carpet to help Jerry's kids

by Kay Crane
Red Carpet real estate firms, each independently owned and operated, will be helping the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for children with muscular dystrophy by contributing $50 per home listed and sold through the firms. Southland Corporation's 7-Eleven stores are also participating as they have for several years.
Each office of Red Carpet has made a commitment to contribute $650 to the Telethon effort. The seller's name, with his or her permission, will be used.
Dan Garner, broker of the Red Carpet Sea-Tac Mall Realty, Inc., would like to see this become an annual event. He entered the real estate field in 1969 because he likes dealing with people, helping them. He says his greatest satisfaction on the job comes from finding a young couple their first home, and then helping them sell that home a few years later. "They may well make more just from that sale than they have with their jobs over the same time period," he says.
At the Sea-Tac office, each listing agent will match the $50 contribution to the Telethon made by the firm. Garner and Doug Woods, general manager, point out that this is just one of several community service activities in which the council of Red Carpet real estate firms has been involved over the years.
Two of the continuing efforts are helping the Lions' Clubs gather telephone books and acting as collection points for gifts the Marine Corps collects for its Toys for Tots programs. As Garner puts it, "We have a commitment to the community and are willing to help with the community effort."

Individual offices of Red Carpet sometimes sponsor ball teams of different kinds. Red Carpet Avalon Realty, Inc., in West Seattle, sponsors a women's bowling team, according to Don Dunkle. Sea-Tac Red Carpet has sponsored men's and girls' ball teams, "but we had the most fun with our Little League team," Garner says.
Val Saitta, sales manager of Saitta Red Carpet, also in Federal Way, says she has been kept busy letting sellers know that the $50 contributions will be in their names for the Jerry Lewis Telethon.
Connie Malesis of Red Carpet Auburn Realty, says he is proud to be part of the Telethon effort. "Our community is our best resource," he says, "and we are always pleased when we can offer help back to our friends and neighbors."
Similar ideas were expressed by Don Dunkle of Red Carpet Avalon. "It's a big commitment," he says, "but it will help everyone. We're all gung ho West Seattle here and this is a way for us to say thank you to our community."
Red Carpet Real Estate Plaza in Burien, of which Werner Otto is the broker, is also participating in the Jerry Lewis Telethon program.
As Doug Woods says, "After all, we're all in this together."

WATCH THOSE STATISTICS
You see the headlines in the newspaper quite often ...: "Home prices up 6%"... "Home prices up 10%." The situation looks discouraging for potential home buyers. But before you shake your head and say you can't afford those prices, dig a little deeper and see what's behind those statistics.
The prices that are quoted in the papers are usually MEDIAN prices. The median price is the middle price. Remember this when you read the real estate news. If the headline says "Median Price of Homes in West Northville Reaches $52,500" it simply means that half the homes sold went for more than that figure, and half went for less. Bear in mind that the median price figure only gives a rough idea of home prices. The only real way to know what's available and at what price is to find out. Remember that statistics view the whole picture, surveying a group of homes and arriving at a median figure. YOU are only interested in one home! There might be one out there just for you at the price you want to pay. Come in and talk to us about it. You might be able to laugh at those statistics as you move into your own home!

Realtor converts to franchise

A multimillion dollar expansion program is part of Clover Park Real Estate Company's conversion to RE-MAX, a national 100 percent commission franchise real estate firm.
 In purchasing the rights to RE-MAX, owner Bud Erickson said, "This is the first time a real estate firm has undertaken such a large program in this area."
 RE-MAX Clover Park Real Estate Co. has offices open in Lakewood, Olympia and Puyallup, with plans to open additional offices in Bremerton, Port Orchard, Gig Harbor, University Place, Federal Way, Auburn and Tacoma.
 According to Erickson a real estate firm traditionally takes years to develop such a wide service area. The firm plans to open a new office every 120 days. Approximately 300 sales associates will staff the offices.
 RE-MAX, which stands for real estate maximums, is designed to upgrade and professionalize the real estate business. Unlike conventional firms where agents split commissions with the broker, under the RE-MAX concept sales associates pay a monthly management fee and share equally in office expenses. In return, they keep 100 percent of the commissions earned. There is no commission split with the broker; RE-MAX sales associates are independent contractors. This concept draws top-flight professionals to RE-MAX and, nationally, the average sales associates has six years experience in real estate.
 Erickson ran his own conventional real estate company for seven years, and in 1974 switched to the 100 percent commission concept. He decided to join the RE-MAX franchise system because, among other benefits, it offered him national affiliation.
 RE-MAX was founded in Denver, Colo., in 1973 by Dave Liniger and Gail Main. The company began franchising nationally in 1977 and since then has grown to more than 225 open offices in 38 states and Canada. The total number of offices sold exceeds 400. RE-MAX has its own national referral program which handles more than 800 referrals a month.

Without your help, we can't afford to win.

Resident to greet visitors

Arvin VanderVeen of Federal Way has recently been accepted into the Seattle Seafair Commodores. Commodores volunteer their time to participate in airport greetings for visiting dignitaries and welcome them as official representatives of the Seattle Mayor's Office.
 Their primary function, however, is to raise money to finance Seafair each year.
 VanderVeen has lived in the Federal Way area with his wife, Karen, for about three years. He is the sales manager of Competition Specialties in Kent.

Farmers' markets - the pick of the valley

by Sandra Thew

Any farmer will tell you there's nothing quite like eating garden fresh fruits and vegetables.

Local residents are fortunate because they can also enjoy the fresh produce that comes from nearby farms located throughout the Puget Sound. From Pierce to Snohomish Counties, 62 farms and dairies help supply food for the table.

The produce is sold through open-air markets, roadside stands and U-pick farms. Throughout the summer, a variety of fruits and vegetables appear in the stands and fields as they become seasonal. Right now blueberries, beans, new potatoes, zucchini, Walla Walla sweet onions, carrots, beets, raspberries and cucumbers are available, just to mention a few.

For profit and fun, families can plan an outing to a farm and pick their own supplies for home canning or freezing. Neighbors may find it easier to carpool to the farms and save gas while they save on the produce.

For those who still want fresh produce but can't get out to the farms, convenient farmers' markets are located in various communities. Here the farmers display their products on special weekdays and most Saturdays. Shoppers can choose from a wide variety of produce, eggs, bedding plants, flowers, honey and crafts. Many outlying markets have additional goods which represent their area. For example, the Redmond's market offers small livestock and poultry.

The long established Pike Place Market in Seattle is a major center for fresh foods, but other locations include the Inner City Farmer's Market, Redmond Market, Carnation Saturday Market, Kent Saturday Market, Vashon Saturday Market, Hilltop Farmers' Market in Tacoma and the Plateau Farmer's Market in Auburn-Enumclaw.

Farmer Charles Heim, of Swan Creek Organic Farms said that he has observed the Hilltop Farmers' Market becomes very crowded on Saturdays.

"It's interesting to watch the shoppers," he said, "I find the senior citizens and the children are the best shoppers. The seniors know how to select the produce they want, and the children are adventurous enough to try something new. I see them asking their parents to buy something all the time."

Sitting beside Heim's stand was a cage of furry rabbits, "I sell them, but the children also like to play with them while they are waiting for their parents," he said.

When asked why people come to the farmers' market, Heim said it was because the produce is fresh. "It is sold the day it is picked."

He said the cost of the fruits and vegetables are comparable to that found in the grocery stores.

However, some consumers who buy their produce at the U-pick and roadside may stand my save money, but they must also account for the gas used and time spent picking up the food.

There are two maps available to consumers, Puget Sound Farm Markets Assoc. and "Country Fresh" Farms. Both maps provide farm locations and list the produce seasons. The "Country Fresh" map also lists the addresses of each farmers' market. Maps are available at local libraries and chambers of commerce.

WHERE THERE'S a garden, Peter Rabbit isn't far away. Charles Heim sells rabbits at Tacoma's Hilltop market, but he also lets the small children play with the soft furry pets.

LOCAL FARMERS' markets offer shoppers a wide assortment of fresh fruits, vegetables, honey, flowers and eggs. — photos by Leland Hilburn VEGETABLE PICKED fresh the day they are sold,"said Charles Heim, organic farmer. Along with his partners, Martin and Susan Ralph, he brings their produce to Tcoma's Hilltop market on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Entertaining apple crisp adds elegance

Whether it's a bridal shower, a birthday or an anniversary celebration out-of-doors, give the occasion a touch of elegance by adding wine to the meal. Apple Crisp Rose, delicately laced with rose wine, complements the feast. Decorate your table with flowers from your garden and bright, festive paper tablecloths. For a perfect sauce over ice cream, try Nectarine Rose topping. Elegant desserts for summer entertaining.

APPLE CRISP ROSE
(Yield: 6 servings)
One-third cup rose wine
6 tart baking apples, peeled, cored and sliced

1 cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup unsifted flour
One-eighth teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine

½ cup chopped pecans or toasted almonds
Sweetened whipped cream or vanilla ice cream
In bowl, toss wine and apples to blend. Add one-half cup sugar, spices and lemon juice. Mix lightly and spoon into buttered one and one-half quart baking dish.

Blend remaining sugar with flour, salt and butter until crumbly. Add nuts and sprinkle over apple mixture. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 45 minutes or until apples test done. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes six servings.

NECTARINE ROSE TOPPING
(Yield: 4 servings)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
3 medium nectarines or peaches, sliced
¼ cup rose wine
Vanilla ice cream
Toasted coconut

In skillet or chafing dish, combine butter, sugar and lemon juice. Cook over medium heat until bubbly. Add fruit and cook until heated through and glazed, stirring occasionally. Add wine and heat through.
Serve over ice cream. Garnish with coconut.

Don't play chicken with these recipes

The old adage about "a bird in hand" comes to mind with the announcement of a new basic product for the kitchen shelf, canned chunk white chicken, tender chunks of all white meat from the chicken breast, packed in its own broth.

Even without tuna recipes, chunk white chicken is so versatile that it lends itself to many delicious and unusual uses. Try, for example, from the Indian cuisine, cold chicken curry dishes like Taj Mahal Salad, which combines chicken with apples, curry, rice and onions, or Bombay Chicken Salad, an interesting combination of tropical fruit with chicken and curry.

Or for casseroles and oven dishes, try Macaroni and Chicken for a quick and tasty main dish which can be ready by the time the cheese is melted. For an impromptu reunion with old friends, a Chicken Vegetable Casserole topped with browned biscuits creates a welcoming atmosphere.

Another impressive recipe for easy entertaining is Chicken and Wine Casserole which combines whole green beans with Swiss cheese, white wine and chicken. Topped with potato sticks, it is as good to look at as it is to eat.

For sheer delight, try Creamed Chicken with Pimiento served in patty shells or on toast, an entree that will earn many encores, and become one of your own select recipes for easy but memorable chicken dishes.

Taj Mahal Salad
(Yield: 2 servings)
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons milk
1-½ teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 cup cooked rice
1 can (5 ounces) chunk white chicken
½ cup chopped apple
One-third cup toasted sliced almonds
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
Combine mayonnaise, milk, lemon juice and curry powder. Toss with remaining ingredients; chill. Serve on salad greens; garnish with apple wedges if desired.

Bombay Chicken Salad
(Yield: 4 servings)
1 small banana, sliced
Lemon Juice
¼ cup imitation mayonnaise
2 tablespoons orange juice
½ teaspoon curry powder
2 cans (5 ounces each) chunk white chicken, cut up
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange segments, drained
Coat bananas with lemon juice. Combine mayonnaise, orange juice and curry powder. Toss with chicken, oranges and bananas. Chill. Serve on salad greens.

Macaroni and Chicken
(Yield: 4 servings)
½ cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1-½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 can (5 ounces) chunk white chicken
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
In saucepan, cook celery and green pepper in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat until cheese melts; stir occasionally.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1-½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 can (5 ounces) chunk white chicken
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
In saucepan, cook celery and green pepper in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat until cheese melts; stir occasionally.

CHICKEN VEGETABLE CASSEROLE
(Yield: 4 servings)
2 cans (10-½ ounces each) chicken gravy
2 cans (5 ounces each) chunk white chicken
1-½ cups cooked carrots cut in one-inch pieces
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, cooked and drained
One-eighth teaspoon rubbed or ground sage
1 cup biscuit mix
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ cup water

In two quart casserole, combine gravy, chicken, carrots, peas and sage. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven for 15 minutes; stir. Meanwhile, to make biscuits, combine biscuit mix, parsley and water. Drop six spoonfuls around edge of hot casserole. Bake 15 minutes more or until biscuits are done.

CHICKEN AND WINE CASSEROLE
(Yield: 6 servings)
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen whole green beans, cooked and drained
2 cans (10-½ ounces each) condensed cream of chicken soup
One-third cup chablis or other dry white wine
2 cans (5 ounces each) chunk white chicken
½ cup shredded Swiss cheese
1 can (1-½ ounces) potato sticks
In two quart shallow baking dish (12x8x2 inches), arrange beans. Combine soup, wine, chicken and cheese; pour over beans. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 25 minutes or until hot; stir. Top with potato sticks; bake five minutes more.

CREAMED CHICKEN WITH PIMIENTO
(Yield: 3 cups)
1 can (about four ounces) sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10-¾ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1 can (5 ounces) chunk white chicken
2 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Patty shells or toast
Drain mushrooms, reserving one-fourth cup liquid. In saucepan, brown mushrooms and cook green pepper in butter until tender. Blend in soup, reserved mushrooms liquid, chicken, eggs and pimiento. Heat; stir occasionally. Serve in patty shells. Makes about three cups, three servings.

A sweet ending

Careful food budgeting may eliminate some family favorites from the dinner plate. That's the time for the psychological and nutritional impact of a pudding dessert made with milk, eggs, cheese, or ice cream.

SPICED APPLE PUDDING
(Yield: 4 servings)
1-1/2 cups cold milk
1/2 cup applesauce
Dash of salt, cinnamon and nutmeg
1 package (3 3/4 ounce) vanilla instant pudding and pie filling

Combine milk, applesauce, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg in bowl. Add pudding mix. Slowly beat with rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer until well blended — about two minutes. Pour at once into serving dishes and let stand to set — about five minutes.

PASTEL DESSERT
(Yield: 7 servings)
1 package (three ounces) gelatin, any flavor
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Spoon in ice cream, stirring until melted and smooth. Chill until slightly thickened; stir and pour into small dishes. Chill until set about one hour.

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING
(Yield: 5 servings)
2-1/2 cups cold milk
1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
1 package (3-3/4 ounces) vanilla instant pudding and pie filling

Gradually blend milk into peanut butter. Add pudding mix and beat as directed on package for pudding. Let stand to set.

MOCHA PUDDING
(Yield: 4 servings)
1 package (3-3/4 ounces) chocolate pudding and pie filling
1 tablespoon instant coffee
2 cups reconstituted nonfat dry or whole milk

Combine pudding mix with coffee and milk in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until pudding comes to a boil. Pudding will thicken as it cools.

PIQUANT PUDDING AND FRUIT
(Yields: 6 servings)
1 cup cold milk
1 cup sour cream or yogurt
1 package (3-3/4 ounce) vanilla instant pudding and pie filling
6 canned peach or pear halves, drained

Combine milk and sour cream in mixing bowl. Add pudding mix and beat slowly until blended—about two minutes. Let stand to set — about five minutes. Stir until creamy. Place fruit in dessert dishes; top with pudding.

Party ideas

Whether you entertain a couple or a couple of dozen, good organization is what you need to relax and enjoy your own party!

Use your washing machine to conserve refrigerator space. Fill it with ice cubes for drinks, and use it to hold bottles and properly wrapped foods. Don't forget to unplug it! The next day, when all the ice melts, remove cans or bottles, and then just rinse the water out.

When you entertain, put away your small, lovely ashtrays. Instead put out large ones. At parties people often use ashtrays for olive pits, toothpicks and napkins as well as ashes.

Nectarines make meats delectable

There's certainly nothing wrong with steaks, hamburgers and hot dogs as main attractions at patio or backyard meals. But this new quartet of eye-opening entrees enlarges your outdoor dining repertoire and at the same time glamorizes favorite meats.

In all four recipes, popular meats acquire fetching new flavor bonuses the nectarine way. Chicken, lamb, beef and ham go into the cooking business with one of man's oldest fruits, and the resulting culinary dividends make wonderful warm-weather eating.

Busy homemakers find cooking with fresh nectarines a breeze. A real convenience fruit, there's no need to remove the skins for most recipes. They are fuzzless, and their lovely red and gold hue brings a sunny touch to foods. Nectarines dress up an array of main dishes, salads and desserts. And of course, they are ideal summertime out-of-hand eating.

GINGER NECTARINE CHICKEN
(Yield: 6 servings)
1/2 cup flour
1-1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
1 teaspoon paprika
6 servings frying chicken (about three pounds legs and thighs or quarters)
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 teaspoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons chopped candied ginger
One-third cup water
3 large fresh nectarines
1 green pepper

Combine flour, salt and paprika; coat chicken in mixture. Heat butter in large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Cut one 22x18-inch piece of heavy duty foil or six squares 12 inches each. Place all chicken side by side on large piece of foil or one serving on each square. Add to butter in skillet brown sugar, soy sauce, ginger and water; bring to boil, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Spoon sauce over chicken.

Fold ends and sides of foil over chicken, envelope-style, to form tight seal, but leave a little room for steam to expand in baking. Place in shallow pan; bake in preheated 425 degree oven 35 to 45 minutes or until fork-tender.

Cut nectarines into slices and green pepper into rings. Open foil and arrange nectarines and green pepper over chicken. Fold foil loosely; bake about five minutes longer or until nectarines are warm.

Serve in foil in basket or on serving plates as you wish.

GILDED LAMB BLOCKS
(Yield: 4 servings)
4 lamb blocks or double thick shoulder lamb chops (about three pounds)
Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 or 3 fresh nectarines
1-1/2 cups beef stock or two bouillon cubes and one and one-half cups water
1-1/2 teaspoons flour
1 teaspoon summer savory
1/2 cup water
Hot mashed potatoes or noodles

Season lamb blocks with salt and pepper. Heat butter in large skillet; add meat and brown on both sides. Reduce heat; cook uncovered 50 minutes or until tender, turning several times.

Meanwhile, cut enough nectarines into chunks to measure one and one-half cups. Remove lamb from skillet; keep hot. Drain all but three tablespoons fat from skillet. Add beef stock; bring to boil, stirring to loosen brown particles from bottom of skillet. Mix flour with savory; blend in water. Stir into skillet; cook, stirring until mixture is thickened and comes to boil.

Mix in nectarines; heat through. Spoon mashed potatoes onto serving platter; arrange lamb over potatoes. Pour nectarines and sauce over all.

BUBBLY BEEF-NECTARINE PATTY
(Yield: 4 to 6 servings)
2 or 3 fresh nectarines
2 or 3 slices white bread
1-1/2 pounds ground beef
3 tablespoons sliced green onion
1 egg
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom pieces, drained
2 tablespoons bottled barbecue sauce

1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1 jar (5 ounces) pasteurized blue cheese spread

Finely chop enough nectarines to measure one cup; save remainder for garnish. Crumb bread finely to measure one cup. Combine chopped nectarines, crumbs, beef, onion, egg, mushroom pieces, barbecue sauce and salt; mix lightly but well.

Shape into eight inch round flat patty. (An inverted eight inch round cake pan makes a good base for shaping.) Place patty on rack in broiler pan; broil several inches from heat six to eight minutes, or until top is well browned. Turn with wide spatula; continue broiling until cooked as desired.

Spread top of meat with blue cheese spread; return to broiler just until topping is hot and bubbly. Transfer to serving plate. Slice remaining nectarine and garnish top.

GLAZED HAM

(Yields: 6 servings)
1 center cut slice cooked before-eating ham, about one and one-half inches thick
3 to 5 ripe fresh nectarines
One-third cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Dash salt
Dash nutmeg
Hot cooked rice

Snip or slash edges of ham with scissors or knife to keep it from curling. Place in shallow baking pan; cover. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven one hour. Meanwhile, peel and coarsely grate or very finely chop enough nectarines to measure one cup; mix in saucepan with syrup, lemon rind, salt and nutmeg. Bring to boil; reduce heat and boil gently eight to 10 minutes. If you wish, whirl in blender or press through sieve for a smooth glaze.

When ham has baked one hour, remove cover; turn ham and spread top with about one-third of the nec-tarine mixture. Set oven thermostat for several inches from broiler. Repeat spreading and broiling twice to use all of nectarine mixture and obtain good glaze. Place ham on platter. Cut several nectarine slices and arrange over top for garnish if desired. Surround ham with rice. Serve at once.

Pasteurize home produced milk

Milk from privately owned cows or goats must be pasteurized or the owner's family's health will be endangered, says Jan Grant, King County Extension agent. Pasteurization does not change the protein, calcium fat, carbohydrate or vitamins in milk, says Ms. Grant. But it does make it safer to drink.

Foods for family get-togethers

Lifestyles today are far-removed from those of our grandparents. Families are scattered across the country, often across the world. Hectic schedules, limited free time, and the difficulties of assembling even nearby family members make it even more trying to set aside one time or place for frequent gatherings.

The result is that many families make the most of those other special family "happenings" when clan members are going to be in the same town, on the same day. Graduations, weddings, birthdays, or special anniversary celebrations are just a few of the events that can bring families back together — although briefly — to exchange news and revive happy memories.

The recipes below are designed for adaptability...whether you cook for a few or for a crowd. They're easily prepared in advance and are portable for short distances if that's required.

CHATTANOOGA CHEESE SPREAD
(Yield: 5 cups)
4 cups (16 ounces) shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
2 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese
1 (20-ounce) can crushed pineapple, drained
6 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
Combine cheddar cheese and softened cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with assorted crackers.

CORN RELISH
(Yield: 7 cups)
3 (17-ounce) cans whole kernel corn, drained
1½ cups chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 (8 ounce) bottle French dressing
One-third cup chopped pimiento
Combine ingredients; toss light. Chill overnight.

CRUNCHY VEGETABLE MOLD
(Yield: 24 servings)
3 (3 ounce each) packages lemon or lime flavored gelatin
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups boiling water
2 cups milk
¼ cup vinegar
1½ cups real mayonnaise
2½ cups finely chopped cucumber
1 cup finely chopped celery
One-third cup finely chopped green pepper
Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water;

cool. Gradually add gelatin mixture, milk and vinegar to mayonnaise, mixing until blended. Chill until partially set, stirring occasionally. Fold in vegetables. Pour into lightly oiled 3-quart ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate. Surround with lettuce, if desired.

Variation: Substitute 3-quart bowl for ring mold. Do not unmold; serve from bowl.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN FARMESAN
(Yield: 3 to 4 servings)

½ cup (2 ounces) grated parmesan cheese
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2½ to 3 pounds broiler-fryer, cut up
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon milk
¼ cup margarine
Combine cheese, flour and seasonings. Dip chicken in combined egg and milk; coat with cheese mixture. Place in baking dish; pour margarine over chicken. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, one hour or Note: This recipe can easily be doubled or tripled for a crowd.

COLONIAL PUMPKIN BARS
¾ cup margarine
2 cups sugar
1 can (16 ounce) pumpkin
4 eggs
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup chopped walnuts
Vanilla Frosting (see recipe below)
Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in pumpkin and eggs. Add combined dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in nuts.

Spread mixture into greased and floured 15 and one-half x 10 and one-half-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 30 to 35 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool.
VANILLA FROSTING
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
One-third cup margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla powder
3 cups sifted sugar
Combine softened cream cheese, margarine and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Gradually add sugar, mixing well after each addition.

Variation: Omit nuts.
To Make Ahead: Bars can be frozen.

Thaw at room temperature before serving.

CRISPY CHEESE WAFERS

(Yield: 4 dozen)
2 cups (8 ounce) shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
One-third cup margarine
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
Thoroughly blend cheese and margarine; stir in Worcestershire sauce and salt. Add flour; mix well. Shape into two rolls, one and one-half inches in diameter. Wrap securely; chill several hours or overnight.

Cut rolls into one-fourth-inch slices; place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven, 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

FAMILY REUNION POTATO SALAD
(Yield: 24 servings)
4 quarts chopped cooked potatoes
3 cups celery slices
8 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1½ cups radish slices
1 cup green onion slices
4½ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
½ cup salad dressing
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Lettuce
Combine potatoes, celery, eggs, radishes, onions and seasonings. Add combined salad dressing and mustard; mix lightly. Chill. Serve in lettuce-lined bowl. Garnish with radish roses, if desired.

Note: Two pounds potatoes will yield approximately one quart chopped cooked potatoes.

RIBS RANCHERO
Spareribs
Barbecue sauce
Orange slices
Indoor Method: Place ribs on rack of broiler pan. Brush with barbecue sauce. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, one hour and 30 minutes, turning and brushing with barbecue sauce every 15 minutes. Brush orange slices with barbecue sauce; bake with ribs last 15 minutes.

Outdoor Method: Place ribs on greased grill, bone side down, 5 to 7 inches from coals. Grill over low coals (coals will be ash gray) — 30 minutes. Turn; grill additional 45 minutes, turning and brushing with barbecue sauce every 10 minutes. Brush orange slices with barbecue sauce; grill last 10 minutes.

MEAL PLEASING BURGERS
(Yields 24 sandwiches)
6 pounds round beef
3 cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups chopped onion
1 cup barbecue sauce
3 eggs
1 tablespoon salt
24 American singles cheese slices
24 tomato slices
Pickle chips
24 white bread slices, toasted
Combine meat, bread crumbs, onion, barbecue sauce, egg and salt; mix lightly. Place meat mixture in three 15½x10½-inch jelly roll pans; press mixture evenly to within one inch of edge of pan.

Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 20 minutes; drain. Top each pan of meat mixture with eight cheese slices and eight tomato slices; continue baking until process cheese food begins to melt. Cut into squares; garnish with pickle chips. Serve on toast.

3 tablespoons granulated sugar
3 tablespoons margarine, melted
4 packages (8 ounces) cream cheese
1½ cups packed dark brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
4 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
¾ cup finely chopped pecans
Combine crumbs, granulated sugar and margarine, press onto bottom of 13x9-inch baking pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 10 minutes.

Combine softened cream cheese, brown sugar and flour, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in vanilla and nuts. Pour mixture over crumbs. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 35 to 40 minutes or until knife inserted one inch in from edge comes out clean. Chill. Brush with maple syrup before serving, if desired.

Homemade breads brighten meals

Are homemade breads reserved for very special occasions at your house? They need not be if you take advantage of the convenient mixes on the market. Homemade bread seems to add just that little extra touch to family meals. Take biscuit mix, for instance. It's a staple in many homes, ready not only for quick and easy biscuits but also as the basis of creamy onion bread. Beer adds a subtle flavor to the bread as the liquid ingredient, and green onion dip mix seasons the sour cream topping.

Popular cornbread mix takes on new dimensions with the addition of deviled ham and beer.

CREAMY ONION SQUARES
 ¾ cup dairy sour cream
 1 package (one-half ounce) green onion dip mix
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 3 cups biscuit mix
 1 cup beer

Blend sour cream, onion dip mix and egg; set aside. Combine biscuit mix and beer, stir till dough forms. Lightly pat dough into greased nine-inch square baking pan. Spread onion mixture over top. Bake in preheated 450 degree oven 20 minutes or until done. Cut into squares and serve while hot.

DEVILED CORN BREAD

1 package (10 ounces) corn bread mix
 1 can (2-¼ ounces) deviled ham
 1 egg
 ½ cup beer

Combine cornbread mix, deviled ham, egg and beer; blend well. Proceed according to package directions. (Bake in eight-inch skillet if desired). Best when served warm.

HOMEMADE BREADS will seem easy when making Creamy Onion Squares and Deviled Corn Bread.

Getting more for your money

Let's face it, consumers! Food is very expensive today and the future does not look much brighter. But a smart shopper armed with a knowledge of nutrition and some helpful hints can cope pretty well.

Less expensive meats and simple desserts can be dressed up with a special sauce made from everyday ingredients, such as frozen concentrated grape juice. It is always on hand in the freezer and not only makes a delicious breakfast or snack drink, but is a versatile recipe ingredient.

The Grape Serendipity Sauce suggested here can be served with a pork roast or ham. It will enliven French toast made with leftover bread, or can be used as a topping for angel food or pound cake, for sherbet or ice cream.

By making this multi-purpose sauce yourself, you can save the money you would otherwise spend on expensive, ready-made sauces and syrups.

GRAPE SERENDIPITY SAUCE

(Yield: 2-½ cups)
 2 cups orange juice
 1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated grape juice, thawed and undiluted
 3 tablespoons cornstarch
 ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1 medium orange, cut-up

 1 teaspoon silvered orange peel

In medium saucepan, combine orange juice, grape juice concentrate and cornstarch; blend to dissolve cornstarch. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened and clear. Reduce heat and simmer several minutes. Add orange pieces and peel. Serve warm with French toast, meat, cake or ice cream.

Easy and elegant omelets

Omelets are easy to make. Although you may have heard that they require special pans, Cordon Bleu skills and as many steps as disco dancing, it just isn't so!

All you need to make an omelet are eggs, water, seasonings and ter, a pan with sloping sides, a pancake turner and just a little motivation on your part. Look to the step-by-step pictures below and let them be your guide. (Remember — an unsuccessful omelet is still scrambled eggs.)

The ancient Romans supposedly made the first omelet, and sweetened it with honey. They called their creation omevele (eggs and honey). Some insist this was the origin of the word omelet. Others maintain the word was derived from amelle, meaning blade, describing the long flat shape of an omelet.

Whatever its origin, an omelet is a terrific vehicle, carrier, or envelope, deliciously ready to enclose any food from caviar to leftover meatloaf. For a main dish you might fill an omelet with a hearty combination of sliced beef and diced potatoes (hash by any other name). The list of filling possibilities is endless, limited only by your imagination and the contents of your refrigerator.

Omelets take different forms, depending on how you cook them. Quick and easy on top of the range gives you the French, or plain, omelet. Separate the eggs, beat the whites and move the omelet to a conventional oven and you have a Puffy or Souffle omelet. You can even prepare both these omelets in an appliance the ancient Romans never knew — a microwave oven. After one omelet, be it French, Puffy or Microwave, you'll know how simple it is to make an omelet. And by mastering just this one you'll increase your cooking repertoire incredibly. The secret to a successful puffy omelet is in beating the egg whites and yolks separately. An ovenproof pan is essential, too, since the omelet must bake a short time after its initial top-of-the-range puffing.

PUFFY APPLE OMELET

(Yield: 2 servings)
2 tart apples, sliced
3 tablespoons butter, divided
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange peel
One-eighth teaspoon cinnamon
4 eggs, separated
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 tablespoon sugar

In small saucepan combine apple slices, two tablespoons butter, brown sugar, orange peel and cinnamon. Cook over medium heat, gently turning apple slices until tender and glazed, about five minutes. Keep warm while preparing omelet.

In large mixing bowl beat egg whites, water and cream of tartar until foamy. Add sugar, beating constantly until sugar is dissolved (rub just a bit of meringue between thumb and forefinger to feel if sugar is dissolved) and whites are glossy and stand in soft peaks. In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored. Gently but thoroughly fold yolks into whites.

In 10-inch ovenproof (to ovenproof handle, wrap with foil) omelet pan or fry pan heat one tablespoon butter over medium-high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in omelet mixture. Gently smooth surface. Reduce heat to medium and cook until puffy and lightly browned on bottom, 3 to 5 minutes. Lift omelet at edge to judge color. Move omelet to preheated 350 degree oven and bake until knife inserted halfway between center and outside edge comes out clean, 10 to 12 minutes.

To serve: Loosen omelet edges with spatula. With a sharp knife cut up surface down center of omelet but do not cut through to bottom of omelet. Spoon warm apples over half of omelet. With pancake turner, fold omelet in half and turn out onto platter with a quick flip of the wrist. Serve immediately.

For a perfect brunch or supper, this puffy omelet is baked in a pie plate in a microwave oven, topped with cheese and a tomato sauce and cut into wedges for serving. Though the flavor combination is Mexican, don't worry — it's not too hot!

MILDLY MEXICAN OMELET

(Yield: 2 servings)
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 to 3 tablespoons chopped green chilies
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
One-eighth teaspoon cumin
4 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon butter
½ cup (two ounces) shredded cheddar cheese
Shredded lettuce
Corn chips

In large mixing bowl beat egg whites, water and cream of tartar until foamy. Add sugar, beating constantly until sugar is dissolved (rub just a bit of meringue between thumb and forefinger to feel if sugar is dissolved) and whites are glossy and stand in soft peaks. In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored. Gently but thoroughly fold yolks into whites.

In 10-inch ovenproof (to ovenproof handle, wrap with foil) omelet pan or fry pan heat one tablespoon butter over medium-high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in omelet mixture. Gently smooth surface. Reduce heat to medium and cook until puffy and lightly browned on bottom, 3 to 5 minutes. Lift omelet at edge to judge color. Move omelet to preheated 350 degree oven and bake until knife inserted halfway between center and outside edge comes out clean, 10 to 12 minutes.

microwaveable bowl combine tomato sauce, chilies, onion and cumin. Microwave on full power until very hot, about two minutes. Stir, then cover tightly with plastic wrap and set aside.

In large mixing bowl beat egg whites, water, salt and cream of tartar until stiff but not dry, just until whites no longer slip when ow is tilted. In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored. Gently but thoroughly fold yolks into whites. Put butter into 9-inch microwaveable pie plate.

Microwave on full power until melted, about 45 seconds. Spread to cover bottom of plate. Pour omelet mixture into plate. Gently smooth surface. Microwave on one-half power until top of omelet feels firm or set when lightly touched but is still glossy, about six and one-half to eight minutes, rotating one-fourth turn each two minutes. Quickly run spatula or knife around sides and bottom of dish. Carefully turn out onto microwaveable serving platter. Pour reserved tomato sauce over top of omelet. Sprinkle with cheese. Microwave 45 seconds on full power to heat cheese.

Arrange lettuce and corn chips around edge of omelet. Cut in wedges and serve immediately.

Crisp-tender Chinese vegetables turn a plain omelet into an honorable creation worthy of the most discriminating dinner guest.

ORIENTAL OMELET
(Yield: 4 servings)
1 package (6 ounces) frozen Chinese pea pods, thawed (about 2 cups)
2 tablespoons oil
1 can (16 to 19 ounces) Chinese vegetables, drained (about 2 cups)
2 tablespoons soy sauce
¼ teaspoon onion powder
One-eighth teaspoon ginger

8 eggs
½ cup water
4 tablespoons butter, divided
Soy sauce, optional
In 10-inch fry pan or wok cook pea pods in oil over medium, high heat until crisp-tender, two to three minutes. Stir in vegetables, two tablespoons soy sauce and seasonings. Heat to serving temperature. Keep warm while preparing omelets.

Mix eggs and water with fork. For each omelet: heat one tablespoon butter in eight inch omelet pan or fry pan until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in about one-half cup egg mixture. Mixture should set at edges at once.

Turn pancake turner over and use it to carefully push cooked portions at edges toward center. Tilt pan as necessary so uncooked eggs can flow to bottom. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and sliding freely.

While top is still moist and creamy-looking, spoon about three-fourths cup vegetables over half of omelet. With pancake turner fold omelet in half or roll, turning out onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist. Keep warm while preparing remaining omelets. Serve with additional soy sauce, if desired.

Step by step to a perfect omelet

1. Mix 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons water and a dash each of salt and pepper with a fork or whisk just until blended. Or, if you have a blender, combine all ingredients in it and whirl a few seconds. Tip: a half-eggshell of water is about 2 tablespoons.

2. Heat 1 tablespoon butter in an 8- to 10-inch omelet pan over medium-high heat until butter foams. If you sprinkle a drop of water in the pan it will sizzle. Pour in egg mixture.

3. The mixture should set at the edges at once. With a pancake turner, carefully draw cooked portions at edges toward center.

4. As you draw cooked portions to center, tilt skillet so uncooked eggs can get to the pan surface. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and sliding freely.

5. While top is still moist and creamy-looking, fill the omelet with almost any food: chopped cooked meat, or vegetable, chopped fruit, even leftovers. Slip spatula under one side of omelet and fold it over the filling.

6. Turn omelet out of pan onto a heated plate. Don't worry if your omelet tears on top as you fold it, because when you turn it over and out the top becomes the bottom.

Kitchen safety

The shock of your life could occur in your kitchen unless you're aware of safety practices. To avoid a jolt when working in the kitchen, heed these hints:

1. Don't use electric appliances while standing in water, touching plumbing fixtures or any other metal objects.

2. Keep all electrical equipment away from the sink where extra cord length may dangle into a water-filled sink.

3. Don't overload outlets. Always unplug appliances when they are not in use and when they are being cleaned. Likewise, when an appliance has a detachable cord, unplug it at the wall outlet first.

4. Cover unused taps on extension cords by wrapping them tightly with electrical tape. Use snap-in plastic covers on unused wall or baseboard outlets.

5. Never throw water on a fire involving electricity, such as a grease fire in an electric fry pan. Instead, pull the plug first, then use a Class C fire extinguisher. Water travels through electricity and would cause dangerous shocks.

6. Have the wiring in your kitchen checked by a qualified electrician.

With the proliferation of electrical appliances in many kitchens, older homes may not have enough circuits to handle the extra demand. Circuits can be added and divided, so don't take chances!
