Police file charges against Jack Cunningham

Charges have been filed against former Congressman Jack Cunningham for simple assault resulting from an incident occurring last Friday near South 222nd Street and 19th Avenue South.

Originally charged in the incident were Mike Mangrum, 18, and his older brother, Carl, 22. Charges against the younger Mangrum brother will stand, according to Des Moines Police Chief Martin Pratt. However, charges against Carl Mangrum will be dismissed by City Attorney Jim Gorham at the next Des Moines Municipal Court.

The City of Des Moines filed charges against the former 7th District Congressman after a follow-up investigation by Det. Jerry Berger and a review of the case by the city attorney.

"Based on the evidence from independent witnesses, it appears that Cunningham threw the first punch and therefore should be charged," Gorham said. "Based on the same evidence, it appears Mike Mangrum returned to the scene of the incident and therefore he cannot claim self defense because he then became the aggressor."

The incident resulted from a traffic confrontation in which Mangrum was turning onto South 222nd from a service station as Cunningham was turning onto that same street from Marine View Drive.

The descriptions of what occurred next differ sharply according to who is telling the story.

Mangrum said Cunningham was tailgating him. After making a gesture, Mangrum said he pulled over, allowing Cunningham to pass. He said he continued up the street to about 19th Avenue South where both vehicles pulled over. The 6'4" Cunningham walked to his car, Mangrum said, and told him "to come on out of my car and do something about it."

After a verbal argument,

Mangrum alleges Cunningham struck him in the neck, a fact which has been verified by at least two witnesses. Mangrum then went to his brother's house and returned to the scene with his brother and a friend.

Mangrum said Cunningham told them "I'll whip all three of you." The two men again became involved in a verbal argument which erupted into a physical confrontation.

"I hit him twice in the face and put him on the ground (with a wrestling hold)," said Mangrum, a 5'4", 140-pound wrestling champion at Mount Rainier High School "Then I let him up. I figured that would be it."

Cunningham allegedly came after the youth "so I put him down again." Cunningham's wife, Maggie, reportedly exited their vehicle and began kicking Mangrum, but his brother, Carl, lifted her off the two fighting men.

The fight broke up when a passerby arrived.

Descriptions of the incident as told by the majority of the witnesses essentially agree with that told by Mangrum.

However, one witness, the one interviewed by police at the scene, said he saw three young men on top of Cunningham hitting him continuously.

Based on that information and what the Cunninghams told police, Des Moines Officer John Aldrich placed the Mangrum brothers under arrest for simple assault.

Aldrich resigned from the Des Moines Police Department the following afternoon, but according to Chief Pratt, it had nothing to do with the incident involving the Cunninghams.

Pratt denied charges by a Seattle daily that he had told Aldrich to change his report.

"The only reference that involved the case report was that there was not one for me to refer to," Pratt said, explaining "Officer Aldrich did not follow normal police procedure which requires that he file a report on all incidents at the end of the shift." However, Aldrich was not officially reprimanded, Pratt said.

When Mangrum was asked how he felt about the Cunningham charges, he said he hoped they put him through what they put him through.

"It's the first time I've ever had that happen to me."

Stained glass -

Couple uses art of the past to create designs of the future

by Cathy Stone

What took nature a century to dismantle, Peni and Gary Miller can restore in a matter of weeks.

The two stained glass artisans, who operate a studio in Des Moines, spent 18 months working with master craftsman Frank McGowan on the restoration of stained glass windows in churches throughout the country.

Most of the windows were very old, including one in a Montana church originally built in the 1890's in Europe.

In addition to restoring the windows to their original beauty, they also installed a protective cover so the next hundred years won't be quite so hard on the aging glass.

The Millers were also among the crew who made the windows for St. Philomena Catholic Church in Des Moines, with Gary serving as foreman.

Working on the church windows gave them a feeling somehow akin to a religious experience partly, they said, because they were working on beauty and partly because they were high up in the fresh air and had a terrific view.

One recent experience made them feel even more like someone was looking down with a caring eye. While working at St. Philomena's, Gary fell about 45 feet from the scaffolding. He hit the ground so hard, he left an impression which stayed for some time afterward, yet he suffered only a dislocated shoulder.

"It was miraculous," Peni said.

While the Millers enjoy restoring and creating church stained glass windows, their main focus right now is the creation of individualized pieces for the home and business.

The custom-made pieces allow the couple to branch out from traditional styles. They like to experiment with different forms, Gary said, adding "I tend to be more abstract."

Unlike most other stained glass artisans who take their designs from a book, the Millers prefer using original designs drawn by Peni, who was a painter before turning to stained glass.

Some of her ideas were developed before the Millers came West while they were living in a backwoods cabin near Berkshire, Massachusetts. The couple built the cabin on the site of an existing shack and lived the pioneer life, without electricity or water.

"It sounds sort of strange to people, but you don't really need all that much," Peni said.

Before moving to the cabin, they lived in North Carolina where they learned the art of stained glass. Gary, who has been working with stained glass for six years, learned it through a friend.

At the time, he was a youth counselor working with low socio-economic youth, age 14 through 21.

"Stained glass sort of became a therapy from the job," he said.

It also ultimately helped him in his job, he said, when he brought some glass to his office.

Sometimes the youths were reluctant to talk with him, so when he caught one staring at the stained glass, he would talk about it. It served to break the ice, Gary said.

About the same time, U.C. was working toward her art education degree at the University of North Carolina. One of her summer jobs could be considered on-the-job training. She worked with junior high school age kids in a cultural enrichment program.

"The funnest thing to do was get them interested in art," she said.

After graduation, Peni taught kindergarten, substitute taught and worked in alternative schools.

Both her parents are involved in education, she said, so teaching ran in the family, but "art was really my passion".

It was her interest in art which drew her to stained glass.

"The art seemed to go along with stained glass," she said.

Both Millers have ideas on where the art of stained glass should be going.

"I'd like to see a combination of techniques in glass," Peni said, for example setting jewelry or stones in the design.

"I see something different for glass," Gary said. "I really admire those in 'new glass'. They're right on the frontier, breaking away from the traditional. There just has to be a new expression made."

Both Peni and Gary have been doing a lot of expressing in their Marine View Drive studio. It's not uncommon, in fact, to find them bent over their work tables until the early hours of the morning.

But then, long hours aren't unusual for those on the edge of the frontier. (For more stained glass, see page A-3.)

Piledrivers complete work

WITH THE piledriving completed, the new fishing pier should begin to take shape within a few weeks. The project, which isn't expected to be completed until the first of the year, will include benches, a special wheelchair section, and fish pole holders. Additional development adacent to the pier will include landscaping, restrooms and picnic tables. The City also hopes to include braille plaques or an auditory system so blind persons may also enjoy the pier.

Acid-carrying truck topples

A tanker truck carrying 97 percent pure sulfuric acid overturned on Pacific Highway South at Kent-Des Moines Road Monday night, closing the intersection for more than an hour.

The 75,560-pound truck toppled as its driver, James Kroll, attempted to turn left from Kent-Des Moines Road onto the southbound lane of Pacific Highway. Although the liquid chemical did not ignite, the intersection was blocked to through traffic until the acid was pumped from the overturned truck.

State Trooper Don Pratt, officer in charge of investigating the accident, said the incident occurred at about 10 p.m. Kroll, the driver, said the truck went out of control when the liquid in the tanks began to shift. Pratt determined the accident resulted when the driver "failed to negotiate the turn."

In addition to the State Patrol, Des Moines Police, Kent Police, the State Department of Ecology and several area fire departments responded to the accident. There were no injuries.

Totem roof bid rejected

The Federal Way School Board has voted unanimously to reject the only bid it received for the proposed re-roofing of Totem Junior High School, thereby putting the project off indefinitely.

Taken at Monday night's regular board meeting, the decision followed disclosure that the one bid was for $493,000 — nearly twice the $250,000 that school officials had estimated the job would cost.

Because of the discrepancy in the bid and the administration's estimate, the board agreed that the specifications should be reviewed and possibly changed.

The decision was a blow to those who had hoped for an early start on the Totem roof project. The roof on the building leaks badly and has been in need of repair for some time, but because of repeated levy failures from 1974 through 1978, funds were not available.

In other action, the board heard progress reports on steps that are being taken to obtain accreditation for the junior high schools and on introducing new report cards at the elementary level.

The new cards will use the A-B-C system of grading students in grades 1 through 6, replacing the former method of evaluating students' work as "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory."

Board members also heard Superintendent Milton L. Snyder report on the first seven weeks of his administration.

Snyder urged the board thoroughly study the high school counseling program and to "make an immediate shift in the communications effort" to reach local parents.

Death on 18 wheels

Results of the recent State Patrol safety checks of trucks on Interstate 5 prove conclusively that a majority of them are little more than death on wheels.

What the inspection teams are finding are not minor flaws but major defects such as brakes, tires and safety valves.

A recent inspection in Vancouver, Wash. resulted in 36 arrest citations out of 58 trucks checked. Sixty-one percent were put out of service — deemed unsafe to continue.

And those are just a handful of the trucks that pass through this state every day. The Patrol estimates that it needs an additional 50 inspectors to do the job.

That sounds like a lot of inspectors, but last year trucks, including pick-ups, were involved in 34 percent of the highway fatalities. The 50 additional inspectors could probably be funded from the heavy fines we hope the courts will levy against these rolling killers.

A voting shame

It's a shame, an insult to the system and should be an embarrassment to anyone over the age of 18 years.

There are scores of countries in the world which do not have a free election system, but here it is a right — a privilege — that thousands have fought and died to preserve.

Yet last Tuesday nearly 80 percent of the eligible voters couldn't be bothered — they yawned, said ho-hum, and turned to the television set.

Granted, the Tuesday ballot was not a glamorous one — just a $50 million bond issue, some King County Council and Seattle City Council races, a few school board positions and a bunch of small service district commissioner races.

Only one in five — 20 of 100 — cared enough about who sets the water and sewer rates, who sets the governing policy for their city or county, to exercise their voting franchise.

And, because of the nonsense of the law, some non-voters were rewarded by staying away from the polls. Those opposed to the farm land preservation bond issue were victorious in spite of an overwhelming 77 percent favorable vote.

Why? Because the most populated county in the state couldn't muster up a measly 144,000 votes necessary to validate the election. Last time out the measure fell to another quirk in the law — enough people voted but it fell a few votes short of the necessary 60 percent supermajority needed for passage.

We feel that those who do not vote should have absolutely no say in the outcome of an election. To not vote is their right but to have a power in silence over those who do vote is not fair.

If 100 people vote on a candidate or a bond issue and 51 of them are in agreement then that's the way it should be.

The Legislature should do away with all validation and super-majority stipulations in the voting laws.

The outcome of any election should be determined by a simple majority of those casting ballots.

Responsible County land control landed

Editor:

Councilmen Paul Barden and Gary Grant should be commended for the support they have given to the proposed revision of the Federal Way Community Plan. With their stubborn determination most of the critical zoning policy issues remaining have been resolved in favor of community interests.

Those of you who know the history of Twin Lakes Vista are aware that this plat was the one in 1977 which triggered the long fight to gain King County Council recognition of (1) the significance of environmental concerns, (2) the requirements of state law that public services must be adequate prior to plat and building approval, and (3) the legal status of community plans established by county ordinance.

It is not much comfort, probably, to the Twin Lakes Vista community to realize that in a sense it was a martyr sacrificed in the long process of gaining government accountability to communities rather than private interest groups. Had the community had the money to fight, Twin Lakes Vista would not have existed in its crowded state and Dumas Bay would have been cleaner.

The next step is to gain public support to insure that the ordinance which revises the Federal Way Community Plan requires compliance with the plan.

After that, there is still a long way to go. It's true that a lot of Federal Way has already received plat approval but vested rights begin with the building permit, and thus citizens concerned with their community can still fight for environmental and service protection at the building permit stage.

With Gary Grant, Paul Barden and the Federal Way community Council on your side there is still a chance for King County accountability and responsibilities.

Sincerely,
Dr. Eric Carson, director

President lacks ability

(The following is a letter addressed to President Carter and submitted for publication in the NEWS.)

We have runaway price inflation, but we have zero growth in productivity because of government policies and regulations which discourage the investment of capital in our economic system. So stop the printing of more dollars and pumping it out in the vain hope of delaying a depression. Printing press money causes depressions.

Try to concentrate on the fact that the average business is not a fiasco such as your peanut business, with government subsidies and marginal loans from a banker friend and surrounded with accused dope users. We, the public, don't need your preaching on moral issues. Clean up your own house, because you are no Messiah and your use of religion to gloss over your lack of leadership and business acumen does not work. As far as your wife and family: you were the one elected to the office of president to lead the country and represent us at the bargaining table on foreign affairs, not run around and leave the office vacant while you're out double-talking.

And yes, your blatant deals with Panama, Egypt and Israel, Rodesia, Iran, Nicaragua. Remember, Mr. President, the world isn't ready for a one-man world government with you at the head, so forget it and work to get our nation headed in the right direction. Keep your preaching to yourself and your White House Staff and your own family. We, the American public don't think you're a Billy Graham, as we all have our own religious affiliations.

And as for moral issues you relate to in your speech: How about Old Joe Kennedy, John, Bobby, Ted and Martin Luther King? Oh yes, your own with the peanut business: Bert Lance and our stand to give aid to our friends, not lip service and then let them go down to defeat. Your credibility has been less than poor and you are dragging our nation down with you. You speak of your honesty; where have you displayed any? Since you have been entrusted to head up this great country of ours, remember: Just because you have eaten out of the public trough mostly since high school days, you're still the servant of the people.

Take a lesson from General Motors, Ford, U.S. Steel, Dupont, Goodyear, Firestone and other large and small corporations. You don't see them running around with their wives and 12-year-old kid in tow, expanding half-baked thoughts. They stay in their office or board room alone with their thoughts and staff as they have to, or the stockholders would be down their neck. If you need your wife and child to act as an admiration party of two, to bolster your ego, it shows your lack of ability to cope with situations as they arise.

I respect the office of president of the United States of America, and will fight to death for its honor, but it's like the officer in uniform; you salute the uniform, not the person who may be wearing it.

Transit, art needed

Editor:

Loren Bliss' article on the potential for reasonable rents for studios and such for artists and artisans in Tacoma, plus the prospect for a rapid railroad transit system (Sunday, Sept. 9) was most encouraging. The prospect seems reasonable and well planned.

There is no question that we need rapid transit in this area and any society that encourages its artists to pursue and use their talents is rich beyond measure.

PENI MILLER applies an artist's eye.

GARY MILLER'S creation begins to take shape.

SOMETIMES the Millers' craft takes them to high places.

GARY MILLER served as foreman of the crew which worked on this stained glass window at St. Philomena's in Des Moines.

Stained Glass

Age-old art lives again

The ancient art of stained glass has taken on new life.

More and more people are blending stained glass creations into their environments both at home and work.

Two persons breathing new life into the art are Gary and Peni Miller of Des Moines. Before opening their studio on Marine View Drive, they worked with Seattle's Frank McGowan, one of the most recognized masters on the West Coast.

They traveled around the country restoring century-old stained glass windows in churches, some of which were later named historic landmarks, partially due to their work.

They didn't spend all their time repairing windows though. Gary lead the crew of artisans who created the windows for St.

Philomena Catholic Church which were installed last Spring.

In fact, it was their work at St. Philomena's which eventually drew them to Des Moines. "We hadn't seen a community like this for a long time," Gary said.

While the Millers are still open to restoring and creating church windows, they're spending most of their time these days designing and building custom-made windows for private homes, businesses and new construction.

Most of their windows start out as a sketch on Peni's pad. The design, which is enlarged to the actual size of the finished window, serves as a pattern, called a "cartoon". The next step is the selection of the lead sizes and more important, the glass colors.

"That's where you can make your mistakes," Peni said, adding you have to be able to visualize how the colors will blend and contrast in the completed piece.

The piece, cut according to the "cartoon", is fitted together with the lead like a jigsaw puzzle.

After soldering, the nearly finished product is puttied, cleaned and left untouched for at least a week to dry.

The entire process on a large job can take several weeks, which in today's fast-paced world may seem like a long time.

But to an ancient craftsman, it would seem the project was completed in the blinking of an eye. In his time, it could take up to a year to create a masterpiece in stained glass.

Water, sewer, fire candidates advance

King County election division officials Monday released the results of water, sewer and fire district races in those districts where more than two candidates filed for the post making a primary election necessary.

In the Federal Way School District William R. Miller, with 1,108 votes, will face James Mawson who drew 588 votes.

Eliminated in the primary election was David S. Porter who garnered 540 votes.

Incumbent Commissioner Max Dodge lost a bid for re-election in Water District 54 by polling only 10 votes. Martha Simmons, with 18 votes, and Frank Jovanovich, with 13 votes, will appear in that order on the general election ballot.

The incumbent was also unseated in Water District 75 where Eurce Retynski managed to draw only 499 votes. Also defeated in the primary were John D. Kessler and Joseph Sienko. Sharon R. Mason, with 810 votes, and Dan N. Caldwell, with 799 votes, will face each other in the general election.

Peggy Judd and J. R. Stockdale will be on the general election ballot for the commission post in the Des Moines Sewer District. They outpolled other primary candidates Thomas E. Powell and Jerry P. Harris.

Those districts in which fewer than three candidates were running will appear on the general election ballot Nov. 6.

Seminar to have drug experts

Organizers of a series of seminars on drugs and drug abuse that will be held here in October have announced a program that includes presentations by experts, panel and small-group discussions and two films.

The seminars will be held on Oct. 10, 17 and 24, with each session beginning at 7 and concluding at 9:30. All the sessions will be held Decatur High School, and parents and teens from throughout the school district are invited.

Each night the focus will be on a different aspect of the drug problem.

During the first session, the emphasis will be placed on drug abuse — which includes alcohol abuse — as it occurs in Federal Way.

The second session will emphasize the effects and symptoms of drug and alcohol abuse, while the third will enable the participants to draft resolutions suggesting possible local solutions.

A GOOD BIT of the emphasis throughout the program will be placed on reducing and discouraging drug abuse by improving the relationships and communication between teens and parents.

The seminar has been set up by Federal Way Organizations Serving Youth (FWOSY), an umbrella group that includes the Federal Way School District, the Federal Way Youth Service Bureau, local Parent-Teacher-Student Association representatives and a number of interested individuals.

It is part of a series of seminars and workshops that will be held throughout the year, all of them dealing with helping families survive the stresses of modern living.

FWOSY officials are hoping for a large turnout at the drug seminars in particular, and say they have announced it far in advance to enable persons to attend without disrupting other plans.

Empty wrappers not worth a dime

People collecting empty cigarette packages in hopes of providing a patient with time on a dialysis machine should be warned that it's just a rumor. A crumpled up package won't by anyone a dime's worth of time.

The Northwest Kidney Center said that the rumor circulates each year and they get a lot of phone calls from people who have generously saved 100's of wrappers.

"It's neat to realize that the support is available and that people are so willing to help," said Liz Rankin, foundation employee. "But, all we can tell them is to throw them away."

Instead, Rankin suggests that people have aluminum such as pop and beer cans, clean aluminum foil and TV dinner trays taken to a recycling center and weighed.

They may then be donated through them to the Northwest Kidney Foundation, P.O. Box 3000; Seattle, Wash., 98114.

Paper can also be recycled through Fiber Internation, 1533 120th N.E. in Bellevue. They will accept some computer cards, and newsprint. The price fluctuates and has dropped from $40 to $14 a ton within the past six months.

As a service to donors, the truck, van, or car will be weighed before and after delivery at the Bellevue facility. Donors will be given a receipt that can be used for tax purposes.

Family forums to begin this evening

Tonight's kick-off session of the Federal Way Family Forum series marks what organizers hope will be the beginning of a new chapter in community politics — one in which adults and teens will work together to solve a variety of complicated social problems.

The first of six, tonight's discussion will focus on the topic of "families surviving change" and will keynote the entire series.

Milton Snyder, Federal Way's new superintendent of schools, will be among tonight's principal speakers.

Topics to be discussed at future sessions include "Kids and Drugs" in October; "Kids Growing Up" in November; "Teens and Parents Relate" in January; "Teens and Sex" in February and "Families Getting Their Act Together" in March.

PANIC BUTTON

Is this when you think about church?

When you're ready to hit the panic button give us a call. We know Somebody who's used to handling big problems. He knows all about the troubles caused by drugs and alcohol. He knows the heartache that goes with divorce. He gives help when you lose your job and comfort when there's a death of a loved one. No problem is too big for a personal God who really cares about you.

We believe that a personal relationship with God does more than solve a lot of problems. It gives hope and meaning to life. A life that doesn't end with death.

Wouldn't it be nice to know Somebody who's bigger than your problems?

FW crime report:

Police arrest six in variety of incidents

King County Police officers and detectives had a busy but productive weekend, arresting four juvenile burglary suspects and nailing an additional two youths in connection with a rowdy drinking party that brought a flood of complaints to headquarters.

Two of the burglary suspects were collared on Friday after sharp-eyed neighbors spotted a pair of teenagers trying to pry open the doors and windows of a 10th Avenue Southwest residence.

The crooks fled as police arrived, but Officer Howard Gordon spotted a 15-year-old boy hiding behind a hedge and took him in for questioning.

Police said the boy later admitted to attempting to burglarize the house. His suspected accomplice, also a 15-year-old, was picked up later the same day.

Both suspects attended Lakota Junior High School.

Two other teens were picked up Sunday in connection with an unrelated pair of burglaries that occurred during the past two months.

POLICE SAID both boys, one a 16-year-old Decatur High School student and the other a 15-year-old Lakota Junior High School student, admitted the crimes.

A .270 caliber rifle taken in one of the burglaries was recovered and returned to its owner, but a shotgun stolen from the same residence remains missing.

The loud party where the remaining two arrests occurred was at a 43rd Avenue South residence.

Police say they were called to the house by complaining neighbors on three separate occasions.

During their second visit, officers spotted a 19-year-old wandering drunkenly along a nearby street and cited him on charges of underage drinking and possession.

But during their third encounter with the revelers — apparently they were celebrating the 20th birthday of the hostess — a 22-year-old man became involved in an altercation with officers and was finally doused with Mace and handcuffed.

He was later charged with obstructing officers and resisting arrest.

The party was broken up after the incident, and officers said they intend to cite the owner of the residence for operating a public nuisance.

Most of the noise complaints were telephoned to police headquarters between midnight and 2 a.m. Sunday.

Woman raped at park

A 26-year-old Federal Way woman was raped at knifepoint in Steel Lake Park early Friday evening, King County Police records disclosed Monday.

The woman was said to have been walking near the lake at the western side of the park when the attacker grabbed her from behind and hurled her to the ground.

Brandishing the knife, he told her that if she resisted, she might not live to see another sunrise.

The incident occurred at about 7:30 p.m., just after sunset but well before dark.

Police records describe the rapist as a black male in his late 20s or early 30s with a gold earring in his right ear. He is said to be about 6 feet tall, very dark complected and of slender build, weighing perhaps 165 or 175 pounds.

Council moves on jail site purchase

The King County Council has taken the first step toward issuance of $8 million in councilmanic bonds to help fund a proposed new jail for the county.

The council agreed to spend up to $3,200 to hire the law firm of Houghton, Cluck, Coughlin and Riley to act as bond counsel in connection with issuance of the jail bonds. Payment is contingent upon actual issuance of the bonds.

The move to councilmanic bonds was made last week when King County Executive John Spellman bowed to the wishes of some council members and withdrew his request that a $10 million bond issue for the jail be placed on the November general election ballot.

Councilmanic bonds do not require a vote of the people because they do not impose a direct tax on property.

Councilman Paul Barden said Monday he "would favor a public vote on this matter" and called for a special election for February 1. It was learned, however, that the deadline for the county to acquire the site for the jail facility is January 31. The bond money would be used for site acquisition which is not covered in a funding package the county is expected to receive from the state. Total cost for the facility is expected to be about $44 million with $35 million earmarked for the project from the state.

The county is expected to dip into a projected current expense fund balance of $15 million at the end of the year to purchase the jail bonds.

Blood center in dire need of transfusion

The Federal Way Lions, under the direction of chairman, Jim Olson, are involved in an all-out effort to ease the panic at the Puget Sound Blood Center.

The center, that has facilities in Southcenter, Bellevue, and Seattle is currently suffering from a lack of blood that has resulted in discontinuing service for elective surgery. "We're in a very precarious position," said Marian Halliday, administrative assistant to the director at the Southcenter. "The donor base is too small to provide for our exploding population and the exceptional medical care available."

Olson sent sign-up sheets to area businesses and received replies from the Federal Way Elks, Puget Sound Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, Poverty Bay Historical Society and the Federal Way Knight Lions.

An effort is being made to assure that each person who signs up is a bona-fide donor. "I don't want to twist my arms," said Olson. "But, signees should be prepared to give blood."

In previous attempts, the blood center has been troubled about the number of prospective donors who sign up and then fail to show on a given date. The center comes prepared to deal with a specific number and find they have too much equipment and a surplus of personnel.

Olson said an effort will be made to beat the Blood Center's all-time high collection of 186 pints per day. "With 70,000 people in the area, we shouldn't have any trouble beating that record," he said optimistically. On an average day, 400 donors are needed to provide blood products to 38 hospitals throughout the eight-county region the program supports.

However, Ms. Halliday said that it's impossible for the same six percent of the population to carry the load for everyone. As an example, she mentioned that they recently were low on blood type O positive and had only 18 pints on hand. They try never to have less than 150 pints available for use.

"That makes this an extremely dangerous place to live," she added commenting that practically half the users were classified in that category. However, she added that people should come in regardless of their blood types. The center's aim is to keep a minimum number of positive and negative blood types in each category.

Now, because of advance technology, each pint of blood can be used for as many as three patients. Once taken, the blood is sent to the center in Seattle where it is separated into units of red cells, cryoprecipitate and platelets. RED CELLS ARE USED BY 40,000 surgery patients, accident and burn victims; platelets are used for 2,800 children and adults with cancer, leukemia or special bleeding problems and cryoprecipitate is needed to control or prevent bleeding in approximately 100 persons with hemophilia. Patients may need as little as one unit or as many as 10 or more.

Requirements are simple. Donors need only be healthy, between the ages of 18-70, weigh 110 pounds or more and have never had hepatitis or jaundice. Eager to bring the blood center's units back up to at least a working level, Ms. Halliday said that the giving is a simple and easy procedure. "People are running around with more blood than they need and there's someone out there who needs that blood to live."

EACH YEAR, Mrs. McGillicuddy makes one set of Raggedy Anne and Andy, but she really prefers to make animals, she said. "I just got interested in animals. Anyone can make dolls but it isn't too many that make animals."

ALL THE features on Mrs. McGillicuddy's animals are handsewn.

Toymaker's creations - Each one has its own personality

When octogenarian Margaret McGillicuddy played with dolls as a child, she was never the mother.

"I was the dressmaker," she said.

Many years later, she is still playing the seamstress as she uses fabric and thread to create charming stuffed animals, each different from the next.

In the 60 years she has been making the animals, she has never made two alike, she said.

"I might have one basic pattern, but from it I'll probably get six or seven different toys. It might be the turn of the head, the shape of the eyes, or a tail, but they will all be different."

Mrs. McGillicuddy makes about 125 of the animals a year, many of them finding a home at the Children's Orthopedic Hospital. She also sews them for Wesley Terrace's Fall Festival. Any leftovers from the Festival also go to the COH.

"I don't want them to be parked and left for a year," she said. "I want them to be used."

Mrs. McGillicuddy also knits animals, including a cow complete with horns and udders. She started her hobby as a teenager when her father bought several dolls for the Washington Children's Home in Spokane. It was up to her to dress them, she said.

Later she made toys for her children, then her grandchildren and now for her seven great-grandchildren. A demand for her toys started after a woman she was babysitting for saw one of the animals she was working on and asked if Mrs. McGillicuddy would sell them.

Eventually the woman bought 12 of them, sending the animals as far away as Australia and Sweden.

Mrs. McGillicuddy can't even guess how many of the animals she has made over the years, but if she has averaged 125 a year for 60 years, that's 7,500 toys.

That's a lot of joy for one person to spread.

BEFORE hand-sewing the features on her animals, she sews the bodies on the sewing machine. Mrs. McGillicuddy says she's rather possessive about her patterns. "I won't let anyone else use them as long as I'm using them."

WHEN Mrs. McGillicuddy first started making toys, all she had to stuff them with were old rags, she said. Then she used nylon. "I begged everyone for their old nylon hose or panties." Now she uses polyester to stuff her animals, unless she wants them to be very stiff. In that case, she uses upholstery stuffing.

What is the best treatment after coming in contact with poison ivy, oak or sumac?

Answer...

As soon as possible after the exposure, clean the skin with soap. Any soap will do. This is the most effective way for removing the oily resin. The best treatment is prevention. If you are going to be in an area where these plants are located, wear protective clothing.

Immunization forms due soon

Parents of elementary school children in the Highline School District will receive state immunization forms by mail in early October. These forms must be completed and returned to the student's school before Oct. 19.

A new state law requires that elementary school children be immunized against common childhood diseases. A record of these immunizations must appear on the state form, signed by the parent or guardian, and on file in the school within 45 days of a student's enrollment.

Highline schools started Sept. 5, making Oct. 19 the deadline date for students enrolled at the beginning of school.

Barbara Russell, head nurse for the school district, said that instructions on how to complete the forms will be included in each mailing. She asked for parent cooperation in helping the schools comply with the new law. Next year, the law also becomes effective for seventh through 12th grade students.

The law provides for a parent to reject vaccinations for their children on medical, religious or philosophical grounds. However, parents must still complete the state form, stating their objections, Mrs. Russell said.

Under the new law, a child for whom the school does not have a parent-signed immunization form will be excluded from classes until the form is completed. Mrs. Russell hopes that parent cooperation will make it unnecessary for any child to miss school for lack of an immunization form.

HERE'S A COZY WAY TO SUPPORT THE OLYMPICS.

Say hello to Mischa the Bear. He's the official mascot of the 1980 Summer Olympic Games in Moscow. And he's all yours — free — when you invest in a $500 one-year Guaranteed Income Bond at Puget Sound National Bank. If you don't happen to have that much handy, you can still take Mischa home for only $7. Either way, everyone wins. Because a part of the proceeds is donated to the U.S. Olympic Committee. You don't need an account with us to get Mischa. But Puget Sound National Bank is the only place in town you'll find him. He stands 12 inches tall in his bear feet. So he really goes over big with little people. And you couldn't ask for a better guy to hibernate with. So come on in. Save some money. Help send an athlete to the games. And go home with a new friend. From the hometown bank. With love.

Auburn woman to head 79-80 WSMA Auxiliary

Mrs. Jan McLean, of Auburn, will be installed as the new president of the Washington State Medical Association Auxiliary at the WSMA annual meeting scheduled for Oct. 4 through 7 at Seattle's Washington Plaza Hotel. The Auxiliary will meet Oct. 3 and 4 in conjunction with the WSMA conference.

Mrs. McLean, wife of Dr. Robert McLean of Auburn, is a graduate of the University of Washington. She taught high school and has been involved in many community volunteer activities including working for the Auburn branch of Planned Parenthood, branch chairman of the American Cancer Society for six years, and vice-chairman of a successful drive to defeat Initiative 322 (remove flouride from all public water). She has been a member of the WSMA Auxiliary for a number of years, climbing through the hierarchy of governing positions to take the job as state president. She has also been involved in her children's activities through Camp Fire, Boy Scouts and PTA. The McLean family of six are avid sportsmen and have enjoyed tennis, water and snow skiing, fishing and camping together through the years.

Mrs. McLean's new position will see her traveling nationwide. The Auxiliary coordinates and promotes various health education projects throughout Washington State which are implemented by the 17 component county auxiliaries. She said she hopes to increase the level of Auxiliary effectiveness in community health activity.

Many of the presentations at the WSMA meeting next month will focus on care of children in conjunction with the International Year of the Child. Violence in the home and against women will also be discussed by a special panel of physicians, attorneys and social workers. Many out-of-state medical lecturers will be featured, including Dr. Edwin L. Kendig, president of the American Academy of Pediatrics and Dr. Robert B. Livingston of the department of oncology (cancer specialists) at the University of Texas. Dr. Lenora Walker, of Colorado Women's College will also be on hand to speak.

Last Time in 79!
Learn to read faster
Teenagers and adults can invest $89 in a program that makes reading and homework go more quickly.
The Institute for Reading, Education and Development (I-READ), in cooperation with the Highline YMCA, is offering a seven session Speed Reading course beginning Tuesday, October 2.
Mark van Gorder, one of the designers of the program, says teenagers usually enter the class reading about 200 words a minute. They often finish six weeks later reading 1,000 words a minute. And van Gorder says the students progress from seventh grade levels to college reading and learning levels. Thousands of adults have shown similar gains.
In fact a recent study ordered by the Pierce County Commissioners showed that the average student taking the I-READ course improved the equivalent of four and a half years schooling in one month. Van Gorder pointed out that no commercial or public program can show equivalent results.
The class for teens, between 12 and 16 years old, will be offered weekly on Tuesdays from 4:00 to 6:00 PM. A similar program for adults over 16 is on the same days from 6:30 to 8:30 PM. The cost is $74 which includes all materials. However, the YMCA is allowing those who register before September 29, to receive a $5 discount. The Highline YMCA is located at 17374 Des Moines Way SW.
For more information, call I-READ at 722-7335.
The teenage program is a unique opportunity to supplement your child's education. Parents are encouraged to attend the first session. This program is so different and successful that the City of Seattle, King County, and Pierce County have been using it to improve the reading and educational skills of their Manpower program enrollees.
The first lesson is free to those wanting to inspect the program.
I-READ's workshops are also given to the employees of many local organizations, including hospitals, government agencies, other colleges, and the military.
Call I-READ, day or night, at 722-7335 for more information and a free newsletter.

Displaced Homemakers billed for HCC again

A second Displaced Homemakers program — this one with a few new wrinkles — will begin next month at Highline Community College.

HCC, which hosted a similar program last summer, has received a grant of $37,949 from the state community college system's Commission for Vocational Education, enabling Displaced Homemakers director Jan Reha to initiate another program.

Reha said she will begin registering women Oct. 1 for the 12-16-week program scheduled to begin Oct. 29.

Women who are widowed, divorced, or have disabled husbands will receive free training and counseling in image-building, vocational education, job hunting, and basic math skills.

New to the program is a section on physical fitness and a part-time counselor, Reha said. "We'll also have more instruction on how to look for jobs," she said.

The participants will meet each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Women may register by telephoning Reha at extension 384 at HCC (878-3710).

Reha will register 15 participants "and maybe a few more."

New tax credit available

Employers qualifying for the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit program can get a substantial tax break, according to IRS District Director Arturo A. Jacobs. Unlike the New Jobs Credit which it replaces, the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit is not subject to the $100,000 limitation.

Claiming the Credit on a federal income tax return may be worth up to an additional $3,000 per certified employee for the employees first year of employment and up to $1,500 per certified employee for the second year. The program is based on the wages of certain workers hired after September 26, 1978 and is a percentage of wages paid them between January 1, 1979 and December 31, 1980.

"These employees must be certified as members of any of seven economically or socially disadvantaged groups before the Credit may be claimed," Jacobs said. Generally, these groups include certain handicapped individuals, Vietnam-era veterans, welfare recipients, ex-convicts and certain groups of young people. Local agencies which will certify members of these groups are the Washington State Employment Security Agency and qualified schools offering a qualified cooperative education program.

More information about the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit is available in Publication 906, "Targeted Jobs Tax Credit and WIN Credit", free from the IRS by calling 1-800-542-7890.

Fenton-Schuster

Wearing a designer wedding gown bought by her parents in Acapulco, Camie Sue Fenton was married to Keith B. Schuster in an evening ceremony, August 10 at St. Theresa's Catholic Church at Dash Point. Deacon Mike McGillicuddy officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry E. Fenton, 2634 S. 302nd, Federal Way. Schuster is the son of Ralph and Evelyn Lewis of Kent.

The bride's gown was handmade in Mexico and featured cotton voile scallops with hand-embroidered cotton lace panels in front and back. She wore a wreath of white daisies and baby's breath in her hair and carried a small bouquet of yellow rose buds, white carnations and baby's breath. Her maid of honor, Joann DeGrande, wore a full length gown in rust Qiana and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Kirk Schuster. Barry and Brent Fenton were ushers. Carolee Ostrom sang a medley of favorite songs of the bridal couple accompanied by her husband Robie on guitar. The Ostrosms dedicated an original composition to the couple.

The yellow and white color theme of the wedding was carried through in decorations and flowers at a reception at the Brown's Point Community Club. Assistants included Jennifer and Shanon Elzner, cousins of the bride, and Becky Fenton and Gail Ladenburg. Guests danced to the music of D'Variations.

Following a honeymoon during the month of September in Mexico, the couple will make their home in Dash Point. Mr. and Mrs. Schuster are both graduates of Thomas Jefferson High School. The bride attended Instituto de Allende in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico and is a 1979 graduate of Burnley School of Professional Art in Seattle. Her husband received an Associate of Arts degree from Green River Community College and completed his bachelor's degree in Business Administration at the University of Washington, where he played varsity tennis.

an opportunity to follow their student's class schedule and meet the faculty.

"This will be a fine opportunity for parents and friends of the school to see the building, meet the staff, and ask questions," said Jim Linker, principal.

Grass Roots Gardening

by Ginna Koontz

A U T U M N GARDENING is not complete until the spring flowering bulbs are planted. The general rule reasons, first to bloom in spring, first to be planted in fall. The minute gems of spring gardens are known as minor bulbs. Minor only because most do not fit into any of the major bulb classifications. But their spring blooms certainly play a major role even though their flowers are diminutive and daintier than the daffodils, tulips and hyacinths.

It is advisable to purchase bulbs as soon as they arrive in garden centers as the longer they remain in the store the greater the tendency for bulbs to deteriorate. Purchase "good" bulbs that are plump, solid, clean and free of blemishes. In most instances the size of the bulb has a decided bearing on the size of the flower produced in spring. The larger bulb usually produces a larger bloom.

BULBS ARE NOT particular about soil type but improve heavy soil structure by adding peat moss, rotted compost and/or sand to planting areas. The beds should be cultivated to a depth of at least ten inches and good drainage is absolutely essential. Drain tile can be laid under poorly drained areas before planting bulbs or plant bulbs in raised beds. Work in five pounds per 100 square feet of 5-10-5 fertilizer. Use a trowel or bulb planter tool to dig holes for each bulb. Bulbs are set at a depth three times their diameters, with pointed end up.

Some gardeners excavate entire beds to the proper depth, arrange all bulbs in artistic patterns and then cover them with soil. Set minor bulbs about three inches apart. However, for a large colorful display, they may be planted an inch apart. For a lovely carpet of color use 25 to 100 inexpensive minor bulbs.

PLANT BULBS IN rockeries, in front of evergreens, in pockets by steps and paths and always in full sun. Immediately after planting water well and if the fall season remains dry, further watering will be required. Minor bulbs that remind us spring is just around the corner blooming in February and early March are: Chionodoxa (Glory-of-the-snow) with blue and white flowers; Galanthus (Snow drop), white, nodding, bell flowers; hardy Anemones (Wind flowers), St. Bridget being a favorite type with semi-double blooms in a variety of colors; Scillas, or squills, have bell-shaped, sometimes star-like flowers in blue, purple or pink shades and white, borne in terminal clusters on leafless stems, favorite types include Spanish bluebell, blooming in late spring, and S. sibirica with dainty flaring intense blue bell flowers on three to six-inch stems; Muscari (Grape hyacinths) are everyone's favorite with urn-shaped tiny flowers covering the stems and, on close inspection, urn-shaped bells. Muscari foliage appears in autumn, is hardy and rarely damaged by cold. BY PROPERLY STAGGERING, gardeners can achieve crocus flowering seven months of the year but most settle for the spring harbingers. Crocus blooms are white, yellow, purple, lavender, blue and striped variations of these colors. Don't overlook planting drifts of species of crocus. They have smaller blooms but often produce many more flowers per corm than the large Dutch crocus.

There are about 500 species of allium, part of the onion family. Ornamental allium bear their flowers in compact or loose, roundish clusters at the tips of leafless stems. The most popular allium include: A. afghanense, May blooming species with sturdy two-foot stems topped with a dense spherical cluster of lavender flowers; A. albopilosum (Stars of Persia), have round cluster reaching a foot in diameter, metallic, deep lilac color; A. Giganteum, a giant with dense bright flower head of lilac over a foot in diameter; A. karataviense (Turkestan allium), a unique species with large dense round flower head in varying colors from pinkish-beige to reddish-lilac; A. moly, shining yellow blooms on one to two-foot stems and A. ostrowskianum, with loose, clustered rosethued flowers on twelve-inch stems.

MINOR BULBS MAY be planted up into late October but the sooner the better for versatile jewel-like rainbow of hues and forms announcing suddenly it is spring.

Breast cancer detection clinic concludes research project

Virginia Mason Medical Center's Breast Cancer Detection Clinic (BCDC) has completed six years of operation as one of a network of 27 clinics sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute. The national project was designed to demonstrate the effectiveness of mammography, x-ray and other screening techniques in the early detection of breast cancers.

Since it opened in 1973, the BCDC has screened 10,000 women between the ages of 35 and 75 from King, Pierce, Snohomish and Kitsap counties and has detected 190 cancers.

"Many of these women have an excellent prognosis because of the early stage in which their cancer was found," Dr. Thomas Carlile, director of BCDC, said.

The clinic's primary concern has been to increase public awareness of breast cancer through demonstration of methods and techniques for early detection, including the use of mammography and physical examination in large scale screening programs, educational programs for the public and medical profession and follow-up procedures for women who were found to have suspicious symptoms.

"Women have been greatly sensitized to breast problems through the teaching of self-examination and the great influx of public information available on breast diseases. They are far better informed that at the beginning of the program and are able to make wise choices as a consequence," Project Coordinator Evelyn Hadaway said.

While the clinical testing aspect of the program has come to an end, women who have been found to have breast problems will be followed by telephone and mail interviews for an additional five years so that research data can be collected and analyzed. Results of the data compiled thus far will be released this year. Mammography screening is still available at Virginia Mason Medical Center.

Schools close; memories linger

A committee of Highline School District principals appointed to consider how memorabilia from closed schools could be displayed publicly made several suggestions to the school board, which approved the proposals.

The recommendations included:

— Secondary schools that have been closed and converted to an elementary school should have a display case in that elementary school for exhibiting some of the major trophies and other significant articles as an historical reference.

— Schools that are closed and not used as an educational site for the Highline School District should be provided space at the Sunnydale Historical Museum for notable articles.

— A showcase could be designed and placed in the first floor hallway of ERAC to display selected memorabilia on a rotating basis.

— Certain types of materials could also be provided to the Cultural Art Center at Chelsea Park for display.

These recommendations will be carried out in the next few months.

Breakage (again?) haunts Markley at Fallnationals

The Gaines Markley "Assassin" just off the trailer.

GAINES MARKLEY (STP jacket) and crew seem in good spirits before Sunday's eventually disappointing effort at the Fallnationals at Seattle International Raceway.

by Bart Potter
The mechanical misfortune of the Gaines Markley-Rob Bruins racing team has been a season-long comedy of errors, but at this point it is far from a laughing matter. The Federal Way racers have been plagued since the National Hot Rod Association season began with breakage of one part or another in national races around the country. Never has the problem been more painful than at last weekend's Fallnationals at Seattle International Raceway. After qualifying in the fifth spot Saturday with a 5.927-second quarter-mile time, Bruins matched up in Sunday's first round against Mike Palmer of Puyallup, the number 13 qualifier. Just off the mark, the rear end and the clutch broke one after another on the local car. The big effort in front of the hometown crowd had come to naught. What made the early knockout all the more painful was the fact that it allowed Kelly Brown of Calabasas, Calif., to gain considerably on Bruins in the race for the world championship. Brown lost to Don Garlits of Seffner, Fla., in the finals when his clutch broke. Brown earned 800 points for the weekend's work, while Bruins came up with 200 qualifying points. Markley-Bruins now lead Brown by just 535 points with one national event remaining. All of which makes that one event, the Winston World Finals in Ontario, Calif. Sept. 30 - Oct. 2 just that much more important if the locals are to hang on and claim their first-ever world championship. Markley, owner and crew chief of the car, had a one-word summation of that event's significance: "Quite." Markley was disappointed and spoke in quiet tones about the day's events. He expressed frustration about the rear end breakage, in large part because the crew had worked overnight to put in a new rear end after the first broke in a Saturday qualifying run. "It's a mess," he said of his car. Markley and crew will have less than two weeks to come up with a competitive machine for the World Finals. That is not a lot of time, and Markley knows it. "It's gonna be close."

FW wins 5 of 6 Jr. football games

by Judy Laws
It was the last day of summer and the third week of competition as three Federal Way Junior Football teams traveled to Maple Valley to meet the Raiders Saturday. An undefeated Hawk 89er squad earned its first mark in the loss column after being routed by the Raiders, 26-6, in the day's opener. Coming off a tough, last-minute loss to Des Moines, the FW Sweetpeas surprised Maple Valley with an on-side kick attempt to open the day's second game only to have an unobliging pigskin refuse to travel the required 10 yards. Maple Valley returned the re-kick to the 50 but were unable to gain ground and turned the ball over on downs. Two exchanges later the Raiders made what would prove to be the most costly error in an error-riddled game when a MV 21 yard TD sweep was called back for a clip. Federal Way forced the ball over on downs to end the quarter. A second quarter of dropped passes, fumbles and interceptions would frustrate both teams and the half ended, 0-0. Federal Way was on the receiving end of two fumbles and a pair of interceptions plus holding Maple Valley to two first downs in the second half but neither team could score in the superb defensive duel.

Overtime in junior football means the Kansas tie-breaker, wherein each team has a series of downs at the 10 yard line. Federal Way was up first but could not move on three downs and were intercepted on the fourth. The Raiders got their chance but incurred a 15 yard penalty that was too much to overcome. In their second effort, facing a fourth and five, the Hawks found paydirt on an off-tackle squirt to the endzone. The point attempt was stopped short but the 6-0 win was insured when the orange-and-black defense held the next MV offensive effort. The Federal Way Bantams got a third leg up on a successful season in the last confrontation of the day but conquest of the Raiders did not come easily. Setting the scene for exciting things to come, Federal Way regained its own opening kickoff on the MV 35. Wasting no time the Hawks passed on a fourth and five situation for the TD only to have the score nullified by a penalty. Maple Valley took advantage of the discouraged Hawk offense, sacked the quarterback and regained possession of the ball. However, both defenses were stubborn and the ball would exchange hands three more times before the quarter ended in a 0-0 tie. Defense once again dominated in the second quarter. The Hawks longest gainer came on their first possession with a 37 yard aerial, only to have to turn ball over on downs four plays later. Late in the quarter, MV penetrated to the FW ten but the threat ended with the halftime buzzer. Federal Way executed a reverse on the third quarter kickoff to return the ball to the MV 39, then passed to the 25. But the Raider defense popped the Hawks offensive bubble at the 20 yard line forcing the ball over on downs. The same see-saw battle would outlast the game clock forcing the days second overtime. After winning the toss, an inspired Raider offense scored on second down, punched in the point after and led 7-0. Federal Way countered with an off-tackle surge on its first play from scrimmage for six. As Hawk fans held their breaths a perfect hike, hold and kick earned the local gridgers 2 and the 8-7 victory. Sunday, the FW Midgets Hawks devastated Puyallup on the Rough Riders home turf, 46-0. In the first half the Hawks intercepted four passes, returned one 70 yards for a TD, passed for two other scores and kicked three two-pointers to lead 24-0 at halftime.

In second half action the Hawks ran in two TDs, passed for one and netted two more kicks. Winless on the season, the Federal Way Peewees looked to be facing another d o o m s d a y a s Puyallup dominated action in the first half. Although the quarter would end 0-0, the Rough Riders scored on their first play from scrimmage in the second. The kick was blocked but the 6-0 Puyallup lead held to the half-way gun. A renewed and overwhelming Hawk defense forced a turnaround in the third quarter. Holding Puyallup to no yards gained and covering the ball at the Rough Rider 12 after a short punt the Hawks were able to run in for six, convert and lead, 7-6. A hustling Hawk kick-off team covered their own boot on the Puyallup 38. The offense earned 20 more on a first play pass to end the quarter. Coming back with a pass, QB keeper and sweep FW earned another six. The point after attempt was good and the FW lead was extended to 14-6. Puyallup fumbled the kickoff at their own 30 but regained possession immediately on an interception. Undaunted, the Hawk defense once again forced the Rough Riders to kick this time from their own endzone. The pressure boot was covered by FW on the 10. Facing a fourth and three for a TD the offense responded, converted and went on to win, 21-6. Capping a victorious FW weekend, the Junior Hawks defeated Puyallup in another defensive duel. Puyallup marched the kickoff ball to the FW one yard line before the orange and black would say "no." Taking possession, the Hawks executed a perfect flare pass on their first play of the game, good for 90 yards and the TD. The point attempt was no good. The defensive show was at its peak late in the third when Puyallup scored on a

FW fumble to tie the game, 6-6. The point after was no good. Federal Way pulled it out of the fire in overtime. After holding the Rough Riders four downs, a shot-up the middle found the winning turf for the local gridgers. Final FW 12, Puyallup 6.

Edwards' record round leads Gators

The Decatur Gators, who are looking more like a South Puget Sound League golf power with every match, stopped the outmanned Jefferson Raiders 85-47 last week at Twin Lakes Golf and Country Club.

In other SPSL action, the Federal Way Eagles won their second match of the season, 72-62, over Curtis at North Shore.

DAVE Edwards ripped through the Twin Lakes' front nine in a four-under-par 32 to score 22 points for Decatur. The point total established a Decatur school record and a Federal Way school district mark. Edwards had four birdies and five pars.

Jefferson's Mark Nygren was nearly as hot, carding a one-under 35 for 19 points.

The Gators are now 3-0 on the season, while Jefferson slipped to 0-3.

Gator coach Terry O'Donnell also praised ed the play of David Utz, who shot a 39 for 16 points. O'Donnell noted that every Gator golfer scored in double figure points, an encouraging factor as the Gators face tough Bethel tomorrow at Lake Spanaway. The Braves lost 88-85 to perennial powerhouse Lakes last week.

"We'll have to play well," O'Donnell said, "but there's always a shot." Jefferson faced

Clover Park Monday (results unavailable at press time) and will host Curtis tomorrow at North Shore. Coach Ed Erikson pointed to steady improvement on the part of his golfers in each of the first three matches. "I expect to be in the 50s soon," he said. Other Decatur scorers were Rich Price, 41 for 13 points; Mike O'Donnell, 42 for 12; Mike Anderson, 43 for 12; and Mark

Scuderi, 45 for 10. Behind Nygren for Jefferson were Brian Myers, 44 for 10; Terry Cash, 53 for eight; Lane DeBriac, 52 for five; Pam Mayer, 52 for three; and Tim Griffith, 47 for two. FEDERALWay got a two-over par and said some of his other golfers have not yet played up to potential, which leads him to believe the 80s are in reach for his team.

Scott Hatch scores second 'You Pick 'Em' perfect

For the second week in a row, a perfect score topped the Federal Way — Des Moines NEWS "You Pick 'Em" football contest.

Scott Hatch

In fact, Scott Hatch, a 32-year-old investment counselor, insured a contest victory by correctly predicting the three-point margin of the Seahawk loss to Denver.

Hatch, an avid football follower, who enters all football predicting contests produced by newspapers in the area, was surprised with his win in the "You Pick 'Em" contest.

"To be honest, I never really thought about it," he admitted. "Saturday's college games blew me out of the other contests, so I thought they put me out of this one too. This is my first win, and it feels good to finally win one."

Sunday's pro football outcomes proved the spoilers for other contest entrants. Hatch was the only one to pick the three winners—Denver, New England and Kansas City.

"I go a lot on home-field advantage," Hatch explained. "Kansas City has been playing good at home, so I thought they'd beat Oakland. San Diego was due for a loss, and Seattle...well I don't know what happened there."

For his perfect score, Hatch received a $15 gift certificate from Fisher Drug in Federal Way.

Looking at this week's contest, which offers a $15 gift certificate to Scott's Athletic Supply, Hatch picked Federal Way vs. Clover Park and Ohio State vs. UCLA as "the tough ones" but added that Seattle will rebound against Kansas City.

Predictors, with one wrong in last week's contest, were J. H. Webb and Ron Smith, both of Federal Way.

Outriders Off-Road Vehicle Club (second Wednesday, each month, dinner at 6:30 p.m., meeting at 8 p.m.) Fog Cutter South, 31211 Pacific Highway S., for additional information call Dick Luznick at 839-1234 or Don Emerson at 839-2459.

Raiders tank a win, FW's Thomas stars

The Jefferson Raiders, who usually struggle through the South Puget Sound League girls' swim schedule, may be on the verge of changing tradition.

The Raiders girls opened their SPSL swim season with an 86-52 victory over Rogers Wednesday under the direction of new coach Jennifer von Doehren.

"We have sixteen swimmers on the team, and nine are sophomores," von Doehren said. "We really did well for such a young group, who mostly had no meet experience."

Federal Way, in retrospect, suffered an unfamiliar season-opening loss to Lakes Friday, but coach Al Hoppenrath wasn't dismayed by the 116-56 setback.

"Lakes is exceptionally strong," he noted. "They only lost one girls from last year's team and are by far the strongest team in the league."

Federal Way now enters "a battle for second place," Hoppenrath said, referring to today's 3:30 p.m. meet with Curtis at the Federal Way Pool. He predicted Federal Way, Curtis, Sumner and Clover Park will be in the competition for the league's runner-up spot.

Tracy Thomas highlighted Federal Way's effort by setting school records in the 50 and 100 freestyle events. She took first in the 50 with a 25.7-second clocking and won the 100 in 56.4.

JEFFERSON took seven of 11 events against Rogers.

The 200 medley relay team of Deanna Crabtree, Teri Layton, Ann Robinson and Kathy Jones posted a first-place 2:32.86 time. Crabtree wired the 200 individual medley in 2:36.41. Robinson won the 100 butterfly in 1:44.01. Jones touched first in the 100 backstroke in 1:29.08. Teri Layton bested the 100 breaststroke in 1:34.28, and Karen Owens placed first in the 100 freestyle at 1:27.66.

Jefferson will attempt to post win No. 2 today at Sumner. That meet will start at 3:30 p.m.

Rams split with KR in cross country

The Mt. Rainier girls' cross country team edged Kentridge last Thursday on the Ram course, while the boys were defeated.

The girls edged the Chargers 26-29, while Kentridge had little trouble with the boys' team, 17-48.

Bruce Stobie turned in a 16:47 time for the three-mile course to finish fourth, the top Ram finisher.

For the girls, Gina Gerlitz was third, Sherilyn Traub fourth, Cindy McCarthy fifth, Sandy McCarthy sixth and Jodi Holmes eighth.

Friday the Rams host Auburn and Highline on the Mt. Rainier course.

DM jr. grids get 'Beached'

The Des Moines 89ers ran into heavy opposition from Rainier Beach last Saturday.

Rainier Beach took early lead in the first quarter. Des Moines highlight of the game came when Mike Blanscet ran a 60-yard touchdown on kickoff return in the third quarter. The final score was Rainier Beach 20, Des Moines 6.

The DM Sweetpeas went into two overtimes but suffered a 12-6 loss.

Other scores were: (Bantam) Rainier Beach 6 Des Moines 2; (Midget) Des Moines 12, Rainier Beach 7; (PeeWees) Rainier Beach 43, Des Moines 0; (Juniors) Rainier Beach 13, Des Moines 6.

This weekend Des Moines travel to Mt. Tahoma to meet Maple Valley.

Raiders, Eagles, Gators score X-country wins

A Darin (g) run

DARIN McKEOWN, a Federal Way harrier, keeps a lead on a Lakes opponent during Friday's cross-country action. McKeown, a junior, took first place in the boys' race with a 15:30.4 clocking over Federal Way's new three-mile course. The Federal Way boys' and girls' teams each took a win over Bethel but lost to Lakes during Thursday's tri-meet.

The Federal Way Eagles, Decatur Gators and Jefferson Raiders scored cross-country wins last week.

Decatur posted wins in the boys' competition (26-29) and the girls' sector (20-41) over Tye Tuesday. Federal Way and Jefferson competed in double-dual meets

Huskies favored

The Washington Huskies will be heavily favored this weekend when they entertain the Fresno State Bulldogs of the Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. The first-ever meeting between the two schools is set for Husky Stadium this Saturday, Sept. 29 at 1:30 p.m. (PDT).

The Huskies have never lost to a PCAA team, leading abbreviated series with San Jose State (4-0-0) and Pacific (2-0-0). Don James has met one PCAA team in five years at Washington, defeating San Jose State in 1977, 24-3 at Husky Stadium.

Fresno State has one of the fastest growing NCAA Division I football programs in the country, reflecting the growth of the PCAA. The Bulldogs were only 3-8 last year, but won the 1977 conference title with a 9-2 season record.

Second-year coach Bob Padilla is committed to upgrading Bulldog football, just as the Fresno State and conference administrators plan to improve the overall athletic programs. Padilla has moved toward a mix of freshmen recruits and talented junior college transfers to stabilize the program.

Friday. The Eagle girls and boys beat Bethel but lost to Lakes. Jefferson's boys suffered losses to Clover Park and Rogers. The Raider girls topped Rogers but fell to CP.

Although last Tuesday's meet against Tye was a warmup regular SPSSL campaign, Decatur coach Joe Anderson was extremely pleased with the results.

"It's the best we've ever finished," Anderson said of Decatur's five placements from third to eighth places in the boys' race. "We need a couple of girls to come up in the placings, and we'll be all right."

Kerry Johnson, a sophomore, took first place in the girls' race by completing the 1.8-mile course in 11:19. Lori Morgan took third at 12:48, and Mary Grady placed fourth at 13:01.

Other Gator girl finishers were as follows: Anne Grossman, fifth, 13:38; Teresa Till, seventh, 14:21; Geannette McMonigal, eighth, 15:10; Gina Nelson, ninth, 15:24; Lauri Robnett, 11th, 16:40; Kim Madri, 13th, 18:25; Tara Rhodes, 14th, 23:00, and Trudy Till, 15th, 25:06.

The Tye boys took first and second places, but the Gators dominated the rest of the race. Richard McMonigal was the third finisher on the 2.87-mile layout with an 18:09 clocking. He was followed, in order, by Roger Johnson, 18:26; Todd Grossman, 18:34 and Richard Vander Wouden, 18:38.

Other Gator boy finishers were as follows: Sean Minahan, eighth, 18:57; Mark Seymour, 14th, 20:23; Marty Tillman, 16th, 22:00; Jim Taggart, 17th, 22:14; Kevin Grim, 18th, 22:22; David Ray, 19th, 24:17; William Duft, 20th, 24:26; Scott Gish, 21st, 28:38, and Mark Weitzel, 22nd, 29:17.

Coach Anderson said his Gators are "hoping for the best" in their SPSSL opener against Sumner Friday on the Decatur course. He noted that Wes Whitbeck and Mark Allman, who both missed the Tye meet, will be back for Friday's race.

THE FEDERAL Way girls' team suffered its second loss in three years as Lakes, led by defending state champion Sheila Kaskie, took a 25-31 win over the Eags.

"We're very disappointed," Federal Way coach Bill Harris said. "We didn't expect that would happen. It was a matter of for or five seconds here or there. Lakes won all the close races."

The Federal Way girls, however, managed an easy 18-57 victory over Bethel. The Federal Way boys lost to Lakes 22-39 but topped Bethel 15-48.

Michelle Ballentine and Chris Calhoon followed Kaskie to the finish line in the girls' race Kaskie finished Federal Way's new two-mile course with an 11:48.3 clocking. Ballentine came in at 12:55, and Calhoon logged a 13:18 time.

Other Eagle girl finishers were Lisa Tylor, seventh, 13:49; Angie Alberto, 10th, 14:05; Jennifer Adiar, 12th, 14:09; Brenda Asbury, 13th, 14:10; Nollie Alberto, 14th, 14:14; Kim Triplett, 15th, 14:18; Nancy Storey, 16th, 14:32, and Candy Sanders, 17th, 14:35.

Darin McKeown, an Eagle junior, won the boys' race with a 15:30.4 time, which stands as a record for Federal Way's new three-mile course.

Kevin Syrstad took fifth at 16:35, but the next Eagle did not cross the finish line until Barth Merrill took 10th at 17:26. Lakes filled in between Syrstad and Merrill which made the difference in the boys' outcome.

Other Federal Way finishers were Dan Weedman, 11th, 17:40; Pat Crawford, 17th, 17:40; Mike Elliot, 14th, 18:12, and Jim Konop, 15th, 18:24. Federal Way and Sumner travel to Tuesday for a tri-meet.

TRACY HONSONGER highlighted Jefferson's girls' effort with a first-place finish in 13:17 on the two-mile course at Fort Steilacoom. The Raider girls beat Rogers 24-31 but lost to Clover Park 27-32.

Other Jefferson placements in the girls' side were as follows: Robin Pallett, third, 13:38; Linnea Puua, sixth, 14:05; Carol Barron, 16th, 18:18, and Dee Anna Alsters, 17th, 19:11.

The Jefferson boys suffered a pair of defeats. The Raiders were stormed by Clover Park 16-46 but came close in a 23-32 defeat by Rogers.

Bob Plummer, a senior, took Jefferson's highest finish with a sixth over the three-mile course, 17:26. Other Raider finishers were Albert Frank, 12th, 17:57; Peter Hauglum, 13th, 18:08; Todd Peterson, 16th, 19:10; Jim Baughan, 17th, 19:24; Tim Payne, 20th, 20:41, and Brian Nasset, 21st, 21:31.

Jefferson's next SPSSL outing is a tri-meet competition with Lakes and Curtis on the Curtis course.

Dean DeMulling Mike Hagen

Mike Hagen of Decatur and Dean DeMulling of Jefferson showed strong ball-carrying talent when their team collided at Federal Way Stadium Friday night.

Hagen led all runners in the contest with 113 yards in 14 carries, an eight-yard-per-carry average. DeMulling smashed the middle for 61 first-half yards on 15 totes. He scored two one-yard touchdowns in that time period.

Other top performances:
 Tracy Thomas, a Federal Way swimmer, broke two girls' records in a meet against Lakes last week. She set marks of :25.7 in the 50 freestyle and :56.4 in the 100 freestyle while taking first in both events.

Dave Edwards, a Decatur golfer, completed the best golf round in Gator golf history Thursday by scoring a four-under-par 32. His low stroke total garnered 22 of Decatur's 85 points, a Decatur team scoring record.

Girl harriers Tracy Honsinger of Jefferson and Decatur's Kerry Johnson took first places in recent cross-country meets. Honsinger finished Ft. Steilacoom's two-mile course in 13:17. Johnson completed Tye's 1.8-mile in a zippy 11:19.

Darin McKeown, a Federal Way junior, took first place in the Eagles' tri-meet with Lakes and Bethel. He took 15:30.4 to finish Federal Way's new three-mile layout.

Local high schools show ability in early matches

Healthy hit

BARBARA BEEM, of Decatur, smashes a spike through the block of block of Mt. Rainier's Pam Gossman during Thursday's match. Decatur took a three-set win with a come-from-behind effort. Both coaches, Mt. Rainier's Neil Hutchinson and Decatur's Toshiki Kamakura, were pleased with their respective team's performance in the preseason match. All local high schools continue warm-up matches this week. The North and South Puget Sound Leagues begin official play next week.

Each of the four local high school volleyball coaches reported encouraging results from last week's preseason action.

The Jefferson Raiders appear to be a threat for the South Puget Sound League title as they took fourth in the 16-team Curtis Invitational Tournament.

Jefferson scored a 15-9 win over North Thurston, beat Lakes 15-9 and topped Federal Way 15-2. Bellarmine beat Jefferson 15-12 in TJ's second match of the tourney, overcoming a 10-3 Raider edge.

Jefferson coach Nancy Thompson lauded the efforts of spikers Peggy Halwachs and Lisa Hackett and setter Teri Keller.

After Saturday's Curtis Tournament, Jefferson had three warmup matches remaining before beginning its SPSL campaign. The Raiders played Bellarmine Monday (results unavailable). They travel to Lakes today for a 3:30 p.m. match and end their preseason tomorrow with a 7 p.m. clash with Federal Way.

FEDERAL Way began its preseason with a 15-1, 15-6 victory over Capitol High Tuesday and played well in a 15-10, 16-14 loss to highly-touted Auburn Thursday. Federal Way then split four games in the Curtis Invitational Tournament.

The Eagles opened the tourney with a 15-6 win over Foss and beat Clover Park 15-11 in their third match. Curtis and TJ topped Federal Way by 15-2 scores.

Coach Kathy Harris is pleased with her team's development.

"I'm surprised that our skill level is a lot better than I thought it would be," she said. "Our setters are playing particularly well considering their experience."

"I'm not surprised that we're playing inconsistently because we're young, but our serving has been terrible. That's something we'll work on."

Harris pointed to a team effort being responsible for Federal Way's recent strong play. Patty Davidson, Jane Snyder, Mar Wining and Jamie Nix are hitting at the net, and four sophomore setters, Darcy Vallala, Tina Mahar, Gretchen Hughes and Teresa McLeod, are supplying setting support.

Federal Way continued its tuneup for its SPSL campaign with a match against Highline last Monday (results unavailable at press time). The Eagles host Jefferson in a 7 p.m. match tomorrow.

MT. RAINIER and Decatur battled through a three-set match Thursday, and both teams' coaches came away satisfied. Decatur took an 11-15, 15-12, 15-13 victory in the preseason contest.

The Gator girls fought back from a 13-7 deficit to take the deciding game.

"Both teams played good volleyball," MR skipper Neil Hutchinson said. "It was encouraging for us. We showed a lot of hustle."

"Now, we have to concern ourselves with eliminating basic mistakes and with displaying better floor coverage."

The Rams travel to Hazen tomorrow for a 3:30 p.m. contest, the last trial before the regular season. Hutchinson pointed to strong competition for starting positions as a positive element of this year's Ram contingent, "a better team than last year's," he added.

Kamakura will work on "getting the offense moving more aggressively" in matches today and Friday.

Mt. Rainier golfers notch win

The Mt. Rainier Rams evened their North Puget Sound League golf record at 1-1 last week with a 54-42 win over Hazen at Maplewood.

The Fickes brothers — senior Mark and ninth-grader Steve — earned co-medalist honors for the Rams with 41, good for 11 points each.

Ram coach Mel Command was pleased with his team's improved effort over the previous week's disappointing loss. He praised the Rams' cool in the face of extremely wet course conditions.

"The kids started right out and hit the ball better all the way around," he said. "They didn't let the condition of the course bother them."

The Rams faced a strong Kentridge team yesterday at Tye (results unavailable at press time) and tomorrow Rainier hosts Evergreen at Tye.

Other scorers for the Rams were John Finnegan, right behind the Fickes brothers with a 42 for 10 points; Ron Averill, 43 for nine; Jeff Belvill, 44 for eight; and Keith Wise, 47 for five.

Game Dept. sets land-use survey

How many people use Game Department lands? What percent of the visitors are hunters and fishermen? What number of visitors come for reasons other than "wildlife recreation?"

These are some of the questions the Game Department hopes to answer during a year-long use survey being conducted through Sept. 15, 1980. About 500 access sites and wildlife recreation areas will be included in the survey, making this the most comprehensive study ever made by the department. Game farms and fish hatcheries, popular family and school tour attractions, will also be sampled.

Cars will be counted at randomly-selected sites across the state and carloads of visitors interviewed. Survey questionnaires printed on post cards will be placed on vehicle windshields when the occupants are absent. Days and times of the samplings will be staggered to get a more accurate estimate.

The need for the survey came out of the last session of the state legislature when the Game Department tried to get general fund money to supplement hunting and fishing license fee income. The legislators rejected the request, but asked for more information on use of department lands.

Field Project Leader Frank Dammarell says public reaction to the preliminary sampling done so far has been very favorable. "We're particularly pleased with the help and encouragement we're getting from the organized sports clubs across the state," said Dammarell. Many sportsmen have volunteered to help in the survey and more are expected to join the ranks of the interviewers as the project progresses.

Outdoor tips and tales

by Herb Williams

One of the most important things to keep in mind when hunting doves or pigeons is to be sure they're in range.

The pattern of your shot spreads out a lot between 30 and 50 yards and a dove or pigeon is a small bird. A pattern which is dense enough to bring down a duck or pheasant at the longer range can be thin enough to let some of the smaller birds slip through.

Look at it this way: a dove or pigeon, minus its feathers, is not much bigger than a baseball. Think of that as flying through your pattern and you see the wisdom of waiting for a closer shot, when your pattern is more dense.

Another important thing is how much you lead them. If you're missing passing shots, try shooting well ahead of where you think you should. These small birds are hard to judge.

Readers Write:

Dear Herb: For years I've used borax and sugar to cure salmon or steelhead eggs in their skeins. Is there a way to cure them for use as single eggs? Signed: A longtime Egg Angler.

Dear Egger: Yes, there is a simple way to convert skein eggs into single eggs. With the price of a jar of single eggs these days, it's worth trying.

Put a couple of tablespoons of sugar (brown or white) and a couple of tablespoons of borax (not boraxo or one of the household cleaners) in a small pan of water and bring it to a boil. Turn down to simmer and put your skeins of eggs in the pan. Keep turning them with a wooden spoon or a dull fork, which won't puncture them. They will separate from the skein, the skin that holds the eggs together.

Work them around gently so the hot liquid gets to them as evenly as possible. Pull the fibrous connecting tissue from the water as it separates. The eggs will begin to harden. You can make them hard enough to bounce like a golf ball, or just hard enough to stay together on a hook. Check one now and then, pricking it with a pin or squeezing it. You want them to stay on a hook, but you also want some of the juice to milk out to attract fish. When they're done to your preference, drain the water and store them in jars.

Leave enough liquid in the jars to keep them moist. They will keep in a refrigerator for months. Or you can freeze them, the same as you freeze skein eggs which have been rolled in borax. The ripest eggs are best for this single egg process.

Fish laws enforced

Southwestern Washington sports fishermen felt the impact of increased enforcement of state fishing laws last weekend as Washington Department of Fisheries patrol officers issued scores of citations to violators in Clark and Cowlitz counties.

Fisheries Patrol Chief Sandy Miller reported that his officers arrested violators as they stepped up their patrol activities on the Elokomina, Cowlitz, Toutle, Kalama, Washougal and Lewis rivers and Abernathy Creek.

"We caught fishermen snagging, gaffing, violating possession limits, using unlawful fishing gear, using expired licenses, having no licenses and other violations," said Miller.

Miller reminded Washington fishermen that, "It isn't necessary for a Washington Department of Fisheries patrol officer to be in uniform to issue a citation."

Everything but fleas at flea market

by Barbara Butts
Tired of nightclubs, theaters and music halls?

For a change of pace, entertainment seekers might try the Sea-Tac Flea Market on weekends.

On Saturday and Sunday, the second-hand haven at 34300 Pacific Highway S. offers abundant amusement to treasure lovers.

It's chock full of everything from antiques to collectibles.

By definition, antiques have to be at least 100 calendar years old, but a collectible is "almost anything that doesn't smell bad," said one of about 40 dealers who rent space in the 8,000 square-foot building.

Collectors abound in the population, said the dealer, who asked to remain unnamed.

"I've never seen anything that people didn't collect," he said. "I knew a guy that collected wipe rags. He had more than a thousand of them. And he wouldn't let his wife wash them or nothing."

For the collectors, the market has been cans of an incredible variety, Kewpie dolls, stamps and just about anything one can think of.

And there is variety in cost as well as in selection, said owner Dean Grefthen.

"We have items for a quarter and a few for as much as $1,000," he said. "And they're much lower in price than the same items in retail stores."

The prices are generally open to "dickering," said the shy dealer. "When you come in the gate here," he added, "you got a chance."

In addition to being a joy for bargain hunters, the market also can provide pleasure to those who just like to hear a good story.

"I once had a little old lady, she must have been over 70, who picked up a pair of high-buttoned shoes, antique shoes, dealer. "And she asked me just as seriously as could be, 'Do you have these in 5A...'"

And he tells of the woman who asked for the price of a piano stool.

"Twenty five, I said, assuming she would understand that it was dollars," he said. "So she snaps open her coin purse and pulls out a quarter."

This dealer is an independent man, representative of the people who sell their wares at the market, said Grefthen.

"They're different from most people," he said. "They're independent, work for themselves; they like their freedom and their privacy."

Many of them are in the business because they too are collectors, he said.

The dealers at the Sea-Tac Flea Market make an emphatic distinction between a flea market and a swap meet.

"A swap meet is just a glorified garage sale," said the anonymous dealer. "This is not a swap meet, swap-a-rama or swap-o-la, as they are called."

"This is a flea market in the sense of European flea markets; it's loaded with good stuff. We don't swap anything." Except for a good story, of course.

PLU set a year's theater agenda

"The Sound of Music," Rodgers and Hammerstein's award-winning, record-smashing musical hit, will open the 1979-80 stage season at Pacific Lutheran University.

The production, directed by drama professor Bill Parker with musical direction by music professor David Robbins, will be staged in Eastvold Auditorium from Oct. 18 to 20 at 8:15 p.m. each evening. A 2:15 p.m. matinee will conclude the run on Sunday, Oct. 21.

Along with the popular musical, the drama season also will provide a broad range of comedy, satire and tragedy. It will feature scripts by John Guare, Jules Feiffer and Alan Ayckbourn as well as two children's theater productions.

"The House of Blue Leaves" is a Guare satire on modern society, revolving around a middle-aged Tin Pan Alley "left-over." It will run from Nov. 29 to Dec. 1 at 8:15 p.m. with a matinee on Dec. 2. The director will be William Becvar.

"Lisa Johnson will direct Feiffer's fast-paced comedy 'Hold Me!' A series of vignettes dealing with men and woman and their often mystifying relationships spark the production, which will run Feb. 7 to 10 with a Sunday matinee.

Parker will direct "Ghosts," an acclaimed Ibsen work which will be on stage March 13 to 15 and 21 to 22 with a matinee on March 23. This family tragedy deals with questions of social and personal "ghosts" as the sins of the father return to haunt a mother in the destruction of her son.

Ayckbourn's comedy, "Absurd Person Singular," will come to the PLU stage on the final two weekends of the school year, May 8 to 10 and 16 to 17 with a May 18 matinee. Bill Becvar will direct this examination of 20th-century prosperity and position.

Eric Nordholm will mark his 25th year at the helm of PLU's children's theater program. On Jan. 26 to 27

he will direct public matinee performances of "Yankee Doodle," an Aurand Harris script which chronicles many of the large and small events in American history from Paul Revere to Charles Lindbergh.

Public performance of Tolkein's popular "The Hobbit" will be presented by the children's theater April 19 to 20. Phil Holte will direct the stage adaptation of the classic.

All PLU drama productions feature reduced rates for students and senior citizens. Further information is available from PLU's Department of Communication Arts at 531-6900, extension 305.

Artist series to spotlight internationally known stars

Performers from around the world will be featured during the 1979-80 artist series season at Pacific Lutheran University. They include internationally acclaimed Hungarian pianist Lili Kraus and soprano Cynthia Clarey as solo artists, as well as the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company; Opera Piccola from Vancouver, Canada; Fana Mannskor, a Norwegian male choir from Bergen; and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band.

Fana Mannskor will open the season on Tuesday, Oct. 9, in Olson auditorium. Currently on its third tour of the United States, the 60-voice choir has been acclaimed in both Norwegian and international choir competitions. It was founded 38 years ago.

Soprano soloist

Angum Skage will perform with the choir. Another soprano, Cynthia Clarey, will appear at PLU on Nov. 7, in cooperation with the Tacoma-Pierce County Civic Arts Commission.

Under the auspices of the commission, she is being sponsored as an affiliate artist by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Clarey has performed with numerous opera companies, including the New York City Opera, and has appeared as a symphony soloist in major East Coast cities and in England. Her concert will be held in the PLU University Center.

Hungary's Lili Kraus, scheduled for an Olson auditorium appearance on Nov. 28, is considered by some as the foremost living interpreter of the keyboard masterpieces of the Viennese classical school, particularly those of Mozart.

A 90-minute National Educational Television special, "Lili Kraus and the Mozart Piano Concerti," has been shown around the world.

The Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company was the highlight of the 1970-71 PLU Artist Series season. Since that time the troupe has performed around the world.

Featuring 28 dancers and 13 musicians, the company will perform in Olson auditorium on Jan. 17.

Opera Piccola will perform on PLU's Eastvold auditorium stage on Feb. 8. The program will include Rossini's "The Marriage Contract" and Walton's "The Bear," a farce in an English setting and a satire with a Russian setting.

The Vancouver-based troupe, directed by Pierrette Alarie, features a cast of six, accompanied by a four-piece instrumental ensemble.

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band, appearing in Olson auditorium on April 15, also has performed previously at PLU and has built a following in several Northwest appearances.

The band has made musical history with New Orleans jazz and has been playing it for 50 years.

PLU artist series season tickets are available at the PLU University Center for $15. For further information, call 531-6900, extension 403.

Cable television coverage to expand in Federal Way

Cable TV Puget Sound has announced an expansion of cable service to many outlying areas of Pierce County and lower King County, including the Federal Way area.

The growth is attributed to the purchase of a new, larger transmission tower.

More than 600 miles of new cable system will be built during the next three years, if all goes as planned, according to Richard Erwin, general manager of the firm.

Approximate areas of expansion locally, said a spokesman for the firm, include those south of 288th Street down to 304th Street, east of First Avenue South; south of 288th Street down to 298th Street, east of Interstate Highway 5; S.E. 228th Street south to about 347th Street, west of 21st Ave. S.W. and an unspecified area near Lake Dolloff.

Coverage in the area now is generally west of Interstate 5 and north of West Compus (which is included) to about 292nd Street, although there are pockets within this area which does not have access.

Construction reportedly will be done over the next few years, but a definite schedule of completing and transmitting tower from its old site

Plans also call for new programming, which will include sports, children's government affairs, Park.

Atlanta's Channel 17 and religion.

All new programming will be in addition to present broadcast channels now carried.

On Sept. 12 Cable TV Puget Sound moved its central receiving and transmitting tower from its old site at 56th and Orchard to the company's headquarters in Tacoma's Tribune Business Park.

Movie review:

'North Dallas Forty' a winning combination

by Bonnie Huckins

By giving a realistic view behind the glamour of professional football, "North Dallas Forty" has become one of the biggest hit films of the year.

Starring Nick Nolte and Mac Davis, the film is about a football team called the North Dallas Bulls. The story centers around Nolte's character, a wide receiver named Phil Elliott.

Elliott plays the role of the rebel. He tries to fight the pro football machine and to go against the rules at every opportunity. Although he is the antagonist in the film, Elliott is the character the audience sides with, because the system he is fighting is a corrupt and brutal one.

He becomes the underdog, and seems to be the only member of the team with any scruples, sense of responsibility or feelings at all.

"North Dallas Forty" was produced by Frank Yablans, and was done quite well with only a few exceptions.

The film is rated R-

17 (restricted), and for good reason. There is some nudity, and a lot of spicy locker-room vocabulary. For the most part, both are inoffensive and necessary to add meaning and realism to the story.

Only one scene could have been a bit less explicit without detracting from the film, and that was just a short scene of Nolte and a girlfriend in bed.

Both Nolte and Davis have been highly acclaimed for their roles in this film, and although both gave fine performances, it is Nolte overall, "North Dallas and his portrayal of Forty" is quite comical. A number of stingingly witty characters with perfect timing really have the viewers' him as a lackadaisical, holding their sides immature, spoiled from laughter. Nolte excels at this also.

As the football season is now under way, the movie probably will grow in popularity. It seems to have something for everyone: drama, romance, humor and a lightness that lets the viewer leave the theater with a good feeling.

Crossroad theater announces season

The Crossroad Ecumenical Theater Company of Seattle has announced its upcoming season.

In October and November for seven weeks, "Noah" by Audre Obey, the Old Testament story of the flood, will be staged by the company.

In "A Runner Stumbles" by Milan Stit, scheduled for seven weeks also in January and February, a young priest is assigned to an isolated parish because he is popular with parishioners and therefore an aggravation to his senior priests.

From March 1 to April 5, "Family Portrait" by Lenore Coffee and William Joyce Cowen will be presented.

The final play in the season (for seven weeks in April and May) will be "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" by Clark Gesner. A cast of six adults will portray the Peanuts characters with song and dance.

Season tickets are $10 for general admission and $7 for students and seniors.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Your Money

by John Weaver, Jr.
Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc.

One of the best places available to put your cash or savings today is in a Money Market Fund.

These funds pay a high rate of interest with the liquidity benefits of a checking or a savings account.

Money Market Funds are relatively risk-free and generally are available through brokerage firms without charge on either end of the exchange — that is, depositing or withdrawing funds. In most cases, especially with our Dean Witter Liquid Asset Fund, the interest on your funds will compound daily in your account. Currently, the Liquid Asset Fund yield is 10.36%.

Brokerage Firms use the money invested in these funds to buy very large-denomination, short-term debt securities such as treasury bills, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, and bankers acceptances. The brokerage firm obtains its fee from the investment proceeds and you benefit by getting a higher interest rate than is ordinarily available on a short-term basis to an individual investor.

Yields on Money Market Funds fluctuate daily and are currently very high. This year, the Liquid Asset Fund yield has been as low as 9.5% and as high as 10.4%. These yields follow the prevailing general interest rate trend.

Some other facts about Money Market Funds of which you should be aware are:

Money Market Funds are not insured by the Federal Reserve. It is, therefore, wise to protect yourself by dealing only with a reputable firm. A legal prospectus accompanies each fund and you should read it before investing.

Most funds require a minimum initial deposit of $5,000, but this can vary. However, once you make this initial deposit most funds do not require you to maintain a minimum balance.

Depositing and withdrawing funds is a simple procedure.

Accounts can be opened by depositing a check with the firm and filling out a signature card. The account begins accruing interest the day after the deposit is made. To withdraw money, you can either write a check against the account, have the fund wire a transfer of funds to your local bank, or call your broker who will arrange for immediate next day delivery of your funds.

In addition to being a good place for personal cash reserves, Money Market Funds are often used for business cash reserves, profit sharing and retirement funds. You can even profit by placing extremely short-term reserves, possibly generated from the sale of real estate, in a Money Market Fund. As interest rates drop and the yield on Money Market Funds decreases, you may want to shift some money into high-yielding fixed income vehicles such as corporate bonds or municipal bonds.

For further information about Money Market Funds, write to the Federal Way NEWS, 1634 S. 312th St., Federal Way, Wash. 98003, or call 1-800-562-6650.

Burien Shopping Center unveiled

by Carolyn Logan

A five-acre shopping center is expected to open in downtown Burien next spring.

It will bring some familiar names to the doorstep of Burien shoppers, like the first Pay 'N Pac ever established here. It will provide new quarters for Melody TV and Appliance, Budget Tapes and Records and J-Teeze Denim Warehouse, all local stores currently.

And the center will bring in some new faces: Command Performance, a national hairstyling chain; Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers; and Straw Hat Pizza.

They will all occupy the mostly undeveloped land facing First Avenue South, midway between South 158th and 156th streets.

In announcing the shopping center, Basil Vyzis said only 30 percent of the space is yet to be leased, and most of that is under negotiation.

Vyzis is one of three men in the Burien Development Group, which owns the land and the prospective buildings. Other members are Steve Panos, Seattle, and Maurie Schenkar, Bellevue, according to Vyzis. Vyzis, who represents the group, is with Grubb and Ellis Commercial Brokerage Co., Seattle.

VYZIS sees a revitalization of Burien ahead.

"The tide has changed," he said. "The energy crisis creates a pattern. All the people in Burien are not going to whip down to Southcenter. They won't burn up a couple of gallons going to Southcenter."

"In four or five years, downtown Burien will be really nice."

"Eventually, the chamber will do what they did in Ballard — put in trees, landscaping. We rehabilitated a center in Lake City, an area which was like Burien."

"Burien is not a 'Cinderella market.' It is not on everyone's map, like Bellevue, Federal Way and Southcenter."

"Federal Way, by 320th, looks clean and shiny; what we need in Burien is to get new investment in here."

And that's precisely what Vyzis is doing.

Winning cake at mall

In a gala celebration last week, the SeaTac Mall celebrated their fourth anniversary.

Shoppers were treated to a piece of cake that was 103-feet long, an attempt by baker Alma Claar of the Golden Oven to find a spot in the Guinness Book of Records.

Cake decorators, in four divisions entered their cakes that were designed to fit in with the fourth anniversary theme. They were displayed throughout the week.

The cakes were judged according to tube work, border designs, color coordination, originality and general appearance.

In the professional category, first place went to Sandy McNicol; second and third place went to Cafe Patisserie. In the amateur division, first place went to Wendy Marty; second place to Alice Perka and third place to Pamela Pardee.

THE WINNING cake in the professional category accurately the mall atmosphere complete with shoppers and stores. It was entered by Sandy McNicol.

In the junior division, 13-17 year-olds, first place went to Kim Taylor and second place went to Troy Hoss. Of those children 12 and under, Wendy Nuffked came out with a first place;

Marci Hull received a second.

The entrants received merchandise certificates valued from $5 to $25.

As part of the festivities, there were visits from Enchanted Village characters, the Pizza Haven dog, Mr. Peanut from Planter's Peanut and the SeaTac Thunderbird. Children also had the opportunity to have their picture taken with that web-spinning character dressed in vivid blue and red, Spiderman.

Banking easier for deaf

Washington Mutual Savings Banks has made banking by telephone easier for audibly impaired customers with specially designed communication systems.

The bank has installed special devices called Porta-Tels, which resemble portable typewriters. Each instrument includes a keyboard similar to that on a normal typewriter, a mount for a telephone receiver and a small screen designed like a miniature moving readerboard. The equipment is the same as devices owned by many audibly impaired individuals.

Workshop slated for auto repair industry

In an effort to help businesses improve customer relations by heading off complaints, the Seattle Consumer Action Network (SCAN) is sponsoring a workshop for businesses of the auto repair industry, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Oct. 3.

SCAN is a local consumer group who provides assistance to citizens with consumer problems. They have found that in many instances of complaints, the problem was essentially a misunderstanding of legal rights and obligations for both the consumers and the business.

This workshop for the auto repair industry was developed to answer the recurring problems that commonly occur. A panel of legal experts consisting of Seth Armstrong, Kirk Griffin, and James Deal, will present information regarding the regulations which govern the repair industry. Topic areas include estimates, negligence, warranties, and bad checks. A reference manual has been written which includes sample formats and detailed information on the laws.

The workshop will be held in the evening at the Norse-lander Norway Center at 300 Third W. in Seattle, just west of the Seattle Center.

Pre-registration is requested due to space limitations. The registration fee of $20 will include the reference manual and the presentation and open discussion. This workshop has been endorsed by the Automotive Service Council, Seattle Chapter.

A similar workshop will be presented later this year for consumers. The emphasis will be the legal rights of a consumer and how to prevent and resolve a complaint.

Scholarships to be offered

Graduating seniors at Decatur, Federal Way and Thomas Jefferson high schools soon will be able to apply for scholarships offered by the Harry C. Wirth Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Aid will go to one student from each school.

Contributions being deposited in the Federal Way Branch of the Pacific National Bank are encouraging us to plan ahead," said Betty Warnock, chairman of a local committee dedicated to memorializing Wirth. "This is an opportunity to memorialize Harry Wirth for all he has done for our Federal Way youth."

GENERAL VS LIMITED PARTNERSHIP
Buying commercial real estate differs in one respect from buying a family home. The time and opportunity may be right to buy a piece of commercial property, but one buyer may not be able to raise enough money. In this case, additional money may be found by forming a partnership with one or more other persons who will share the financial load.
There are two kinds of partnership arrangements. The general partnership and the limited partnership. The basic difference is in the degree of financial responsibility. In a general partnership, all partners share in profits and losses. There is no limit of liability. With the limited partnership, one partner must be a general partner, but the limited partner's liability is limited to the amount he has invested. Be sure your lawyer advises you in this area for your own financial and legal well-being.

Pork-A versatile beef alternative

by Sandra Thew

What is a versatile meat, but isn't beef? Pork is the answer, Janet Kenkel will tell consumers.

The attractive 18-year-old Iowa Pork Queen who is a spokesperson for the Iowa Pork Producers Assoc. recently visited the Federal Way Safeway stores promoting the meat product.

After trailing behind beef in popularity, pork is coming into its own, Ms. Kenkel said. "It is economical and rich in nutritive values."

"For something elegant, you can serve a pork loin roast or for economy's sake ground pork," she added.

Instead of cooking the traditional hamburger patty, she suggested trying a pork burger. "They're really great and have a different flavor that is refreshing."

For years pork has been misunderstood, said Ms. Kenkel who as a spokesperson for the meat producers, is out to set consumers straight on the subject.

"Erroneous myths have been built up around the use of pork," she said. "Years ago hogs were raised mainly for the lard, but today they are scientifically bred to be leaner. The pork today has 22 percent more protein and 57 percent less fat."

When shopping for a good piece of pork the Iowa Pork Queen advised choosing pink meat with a little marbling which gives the meat its flavor. However, she warned against too much marbling which makes the meat overly fat. The fat around the edges of the meat helps keep it juicy while cooking.

In her travels Ms. Kenkel hears consumer questions and concerns. "Many people are worried about the nitrates and trichinosis," she said.

Trichinosis is killed at an internal temperature of 140-degrees, therefore the old rule of thumb for cooking pork at 180-degree is obsolete.

"However, for a good flavor, pork should be cooked at an internal temperature of 170-degrees with an oven temperature of 325-degrees," she said. "Some of the older cookbooks may still instruct cooking the meat at the higher temperature."

With the concern for nitrates, she notes only the bacon and smoked products have the preservative, not the fresh pork products. Ms. Kenkel also pointed out that research is still taking place on the preservatives linkage to cancer and feels consumers should not worry about the small amounts that are in the meat.

"A good buy at the supermarket, pork is very nutritious," she said explaining that 98 percent of the meat is digested by the body. An average three-ounce serving provides 25 grams of protein. It is also a major source of the B vitamins, especially thiamin, riboflavin and niacin.

With an interest in home economics, Ms. Kenkel knows how to create successful meals that include the variety of pork and special hints for cooking it.

"When barbecuing ground beef or chops," she said. "small bubbles will form on the meat when it is time to turn it over. This way you don't have to guess or cut or prick the meat, thus losing the juices."

Iowa produces 25 percent of the nation's pork and about 65,000 farms provide the meat. The corn fed meat is available in local grocery stores.

WHILE WATCHING pork chops being readied for the meat display case, Iowa Pork Queen Janet Kenkel chats with meat cutter Tony Abeyta.

Arrange pork chops in shallow dish, pour sauce over chops and marinate three to six hours or overnight in refrigerator. Drain chops and save sauce.

To broil, place chops on rack in broiling pan. Place in broiler so top of meat is about four inches from source of heat. Five ways to learn about pork

There are many myths and misinformation when it comes to buying and cooking pork.

One such misconception is that pork is tough stuff. It was long believed that the meat needed to be cooked to 185-degrees for a long time to make it tender. According to the Iowa Pork Producers, today's pig goes to market at a young age, between five and six months, therefore consumers get tenderer pork. The meat only needs to be cooked to an internal temperature of 170-degrees.

Here are pork recipes to serve guests for dinner, parties, cookouts or potluck.

SESAME STUFFED PORK CHOPS
(Yields: 6 servings)
6 pork rib chops, cut one and one-fourth to one and one-half inches thick
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups toasted bread cubes
¼ cup toasted sesame seed
1 teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
One-third cup water
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Make a pocket in each chop by cutting into chop along the rib bone parallel to surface of chop. Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine slowly for five minutes in large frying-pan. Stir in bread cubes, sesame seed, sage, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Lightly stir in combined egg and water.

Fill pockets in pork chops with stuffing; lightly brown on both sides in lard or drippings; season with one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper and place in baking dish or pan 9-by-13-inches. Cover with foil, securing edges around rim of pan.
Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 30 minutes longer or until done. Season with one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper, if desired.

PORK ROAST LOUISIANA STYLE
(Yield: 12 to 16 servings)
6 to 7 pound boneless pork loin roast
1 cup soy sauce
1 cup red wine
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
3 cloves garlic, minced

Combine soy sauce, wine, vinegar, lemon juice, mustard and garlic. Place the roast in a heavy plastic bag; pour marinade over. Fasten the bag securely and marinate overnight in refrigerator.

Insert spit through center of roast, using prongs to hold meat in place. Insert meat thermometer at slight angle so bulb is centered in roast but not resting on spit. Place on rotisserie and cook over low glowing coals two and one-half to three hours or until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees F. Brush with marinade several times during cooking.

DELICIOUS PORK CHOPS
(Yields: 6 servings)
6 pork rib or loin chops, cut at least three-fourths inch thick
1 medium onion, chopped
1 tablespoon lard
½ cup water
1 can (10-½ ounces) cream of mushroom soup
1 can (10-½ ounces) cream of celery soup

In skillet, brown chops and onions in lard. Pour off drippings. Stir in water and soup. Cover; cook slowly for 30 minutes or until tender. Stir occasionally.

GRILLED PORK LOIN YOUNGER'S STYLE
(Yield: 4 to 6 servings)
2-½ to 3 pound boneless pork loin, split lengthwise

1 cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
Combine soy sauce, sherry, salt, ginger, dry mustard and garlic powder. Place pork loin in a shallow pan. Pour marinade over pork; cover and marinate two hours or more, turning the meat occasionally.
Place loin on grill six to eight inches above low coals. Grill one to one and one-half hours, turning frequently. Brush with marinade several times during cooking. To serve, cut in thin slices. Serve with hot mustard, if desired.

1 cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
Combine soy sauce, sherry, salt, ginger, dry mustard and garlic powder. Place pork loin in a shallow pan. Pour marinade over pork; cover and marinate two hours or more, turning the meat occasionally.

Place loin on grill six to eight inches above low coals. Grill one to one and one-half hours, turning frequently. Brush with marinade several times during cooking. To serve, cut in thin slices. Serve with hot mustard, if desired.

SWEET-SOUR PORK
(Yield: 4 to 6 servings)
1-½ pounds boneless pork shoulder, cut in strips (¾-inch thick-by-½-inch wide-by-1-¼-inches long)
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (one pound, four ounces) pineapple chunks in pineapple juice
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
One-third cup vinegar

1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup thinly sliced green pepper
½ cup thinly sliced onion
In large skillet, brown pork on all sides in shortening. Meanwhile, drain pineapple, reserving juice. Combine brown sugar, cornstarch and salt; stir in reserved pineapple juice, water, vinegar and soy sauce. Remove browned meat from skillet; blend cornstarch mixture into pan drippings. Cook, stirring constantly until clear and thickened.
Add meat to sauce and cook covered over low heat until meat is tender, about 45 minutes. Add pineapple, green pepper and onion; cook three minutes. Serve over cooked rice. Pass additional soy sauce.

1 cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
Combine soy sauce, sherry, salt, ginger, dry mustard and garlic powder. Place pork loin in a shallow pan. Pour marinade over pork; cover and marinate two hours or more, turning the meat occasionally.

Place loin on grill six to eight inches above low coals. Grill one to one and one-half hours, turning frequently. Brush with marinade several times during cooking. To serve, cut in thin slices. Serve with hot mustard, if desired.

PORK STEW ITALIANO
(Yield: 4 to 6 servings)
2 pounds boneless pork shoulder, cut in one-inch cubes
2 tablespoons shortening
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (15 ounces) meatless spaghetti sauce
1 cup water
½ teaspoon oregano
½ cup large shell

macaroni
2 packages (6 ounces each) frozen Italian vegetables with seasoned sauce
In Dutch oven, brown pork cubes on all sides in hot shortening. Add garlic and onion; cook until tender. Stir in spaghetti sauce, water and oregano. Cover; simmer 45 minutes.
Add macaroni and simmer 30 minutes more. Add vegetables, breaking them apart with a fork. Cook five minutes, stirring occasionally to blend sauce.

Kiddies creations

Childhood is many things and many adventures. Adventures in the kitchen are part of growing up and soft drink mixes provide delightful introductions to the wonders of the kitchen. Apart from teaching youngsters an instructive skill, simply recipes provide harried mothers a measure of relief on rainy days when there's nothing to do!" Banana Freeze may require a little help from mother or an older brother or sister but most children of school age can manage this recipe unassisted.

Into a blender container, pour one cup water, three-fourths cup sugar, one envelope cherry flavor unsweetened soft drink mix. Add two large fully ripe bananas and blend at high speed until smooth. If a blender isn't available, mash the bananas in a bowl and blend in the remaining ingredients. Pour into a shallow container or bowl and freeze for about three hours. Spoon into individual dishes or ice cream wafer cups. There's enough for five and imagine the thrill of serving your very first dessert.

Party refreshers

Start off your next dinner party with this cool, refreshing Appetizer Parfait: Combine three-fourths cup cottage cheese and two teaspoons lemon pepper marinade or pinch of herbs. In tall parfait glasses, layer the consomme or aspic, green pepper and seasoned cottage cheese. Repeat layering sequence until glass is full and chill thoroughly. Garnish with a lemon wedge for consomme parfait or cherry tomatoes for aspic parfait. Makes four servings.

Apple-delicious Independent Price Survey Shows Lucky Meat Prices are Lower!

EASY APPLE DUMPLINGS

(Yield: 5 to 10 servings)
 Apple pieces are wrapped with biscuits and baked with cinnamon sugar for an easy dessert treat.

5 small apples, halved, or 10 quarters, peeled and cored
 Two-thirds cup sugar
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 can (10-ounces) refrigerated flaky biscuits
 3 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
 2 tablespoons water

Blend sugar and cinnamon. Roll apple pieces in cinnamon sugar mixture. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits; press or roll each to a four and one-half-inch circle. Place sugared apple piece, rounded side down, on center of each biscuit; stretch dough around apple completely covering fruit.

Dip each filled biscuit in melted margarine, then in remaining cinnamon sugar mixture. Place seam side down in ungreased 12-by-8-inch baking dish or 9-inch square pan; sprinkle any remaining cinnamon-sugar over biscuits. Add water to baking pan. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until deep golden brown and apple is tender. Serve warm with cream or ice cream.

Greek cooking

Visitors to the St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church Festival and Bazaar can learn to prepare, as well as sample delicious Greek specialties this year in a series of cooking classes Oct. 12-13.

Pre-registration for the one and three-fourths hour lessons may be made by sending $15 to Mrs. Kalsounis, 5839 N.E. 181st St., Seattle, Wash. 98155. Specify date and lesson hour. Deadline is Oct. 5.

Fruity pie is prize winning

Creating a prize pie often means making the most of seasonal fruits. While fresh blueberries are in local markets, select the best of the berries for this sensational pie with a fluffy filling.

Measure one cup and fold into blueberries. Spoon one-third of the plain topping mixture into a baked and cooled 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust; top with half the blueberry-lemon flavor gelatin topping mixture. Repeat layers and add remaining topping mixture. Zigzag spatula through filling to marble. Chill two hours. Garnish with additional berries, if desired.

Save your money

Buying convenience foods—particularly meats—may be taking a good-sized bite out of consumer's food collar, says Jan Grant, King County extension agent.

There is one convenience food that's less expensive than homemade. Ground beef patties with soy protein added will cost less than if the soy protein is added at home. That's because the manufacturer can buy soy protein in bulk—and the consumer will have to pay a higher price for the same protein in smaller sizes.

Ole!
Zesty Mexican pie

"Some like it hot, some like it cold." These recipes combine zesty flavors for distinctive tastes.

Mexicali Pie makes a hearty treat to serve after the high school football game or anytime at all. A tortilla chip and bacon crust are the secret to this winning dish.

After school, what would replace Mom's warm kitchen and fresh baked ginger bread? Bring back nostalgic memories with Raisin Ginger Muffins. They're quick and easy to serve, warm, right from the microwave oven.

MEXICALI PIE
(Yield: 6 to 8 servings)
6 slices bacon
1 cup finely crushed tortilla chips
1 (8 ounce) package American process cheese, cubed
½ cup half and half
3 tablespoons chopped green chilies
2 tablespoons chopped black olives
One-third cup onion, chopped
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon chili powder
4 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons tomato paste

Cook bacon between paper towels five minutes on Full Power or until crisp. Crumble and sprinkle on bottom of 9-inch glass pie plate. Add crushed tortilla chips. In large glass bowl, combine remaining ingredients.

Cook, uncovered, five minutes on Full Power or until bubbly, stirring twice. Pour into prepared pie plate. Cook, uncovered, eight to nine minutes on Simmer-Defrost or until firmly set around edges. (If your microwave does not have a carousel, rotate one-third turn every two minutes.)

RAISIN GINGER MUFFINS
(Yield: 10 to 12 muffins)
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup oil
¼ cup molasses
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup water
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ cup whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins
½ cup nuts, chopped (optional)

In medium bowl, combine eggs, oil, molasses, brown sugar and water. Set aside. Sift dry ingredients into large bowl. Stir in raisins and nuts. Stir molasses mixture into dry ingredients only to moisten. Do not over stir.

Insert paper lined muffin cups into round microwave baking tray. Fill six muffin cups two-thirds full with batter. Cook, uncovered, four to four and one-half minutes on Simmer-Defrost. (If your microwave does not have a carousel, rotate one-half turn after two minutes.) Repeat until batter is used. Serve warm or chilled.

Note: Simmer-Defrost setting is equivalent to 50 percent power.

Cooking times given are based on the use of a 650 watt oven. For use in ovens of different wattages, consult your cookbook.

What's Cookin' in Ruth's Kitchen

by Ruth Jurich

Despite inflation and the high cost of eating we occasionally can see a ray of hope on the horizon.

This week it's the price of pork, and I'm hoping I can find room in my freezer for a few pork loin roasts and packages of country spareribs. Those are the cuts we use most frequently.

Loading the freezer is like playing the stock market. If you can load up when the price is right, you're ahead of the game, and I doubt if pork prices will soon dip below those that were advertised last weekend.

Pork prices are much more responsive to the age-old law of supply and demand than beef prices. The reason is that it takes three years to raise a steer, but a farmer can decide one year to raise pork and have pigs going to market the next.

BARGAINS IN PORK couldn't possibly have arrived at a better time, because it's a perfect meat for autumn menus, no matter how you cook it.

A pan of baked country spareribs, juicy on the inside and crusty on the outside, goes well with baked squash and a pan of baked apples, and they can all go on the oven at the same time and at the same temperature.

Bake them all at 350 degrees. Allow an hour and a half for ribs and either marblehead or hubbard squash. Halves of Danish squash and baked apples should be done in 45 minutes to an hour.

It's all so good and so easy. Arrange your pans for maximum heat circulation, and you may even find room to slip in a pan of cornbread for the last 20 to 30 minutes of baking.

Country spareribs need only to be rubbed lightly with salt and pepper and placed in a shallow pan with a little space between pieces. Regular spareribs may be cut in serving size pieces before placing in the pan.

ALL PORK must be well done, and pork roasts, whether loin, leg or shoulder, are best done with a meat thermometer inserted into a meaty portion but not touching the bone.

Charts that tell you how many minutes per pound to bake a pork roast are never totally accurate, especially if the roast has been frozen. It may still be partly frozen when you put it in the oven, which is all right if you're using a meat thermometer to tell you when it's done through.

Roasts of any kind are usually done in a 300 or 325 degree oven, although 250 or 275 degrees is fine if you want to spread it over a longer period of time. In any case you can rely on a good meat thermometer to tell you when it's really done.

Any roast should be placed in an open, shallow pan with no water or liquid of any kind. If you want to add potatoes, peel and cut them in half lengthwise, and place them under the roast for the last hour and a half to two hours of cooking. Turn them over in the drippings as you place them in the pan.

COUNTRY SAUSAGE patties are favorite fare with our breakfast eggs, especially on a Saturday or Sunday morning when life is more leisurely than on other days. Patties are usually patted out in a size to suit each appetite and approximately a half inch thick.

As in frying anything, it's best not to crowd the skillet. Put patties in a moderately hot skillet, and then turn the heat down so that the meat cooks through by the time the first side is well browned. They should need to be turned only once and should be cooked at least 20 to 25 minutes. Like all other pork, they must be well done.

If there's a little more sausage in the package than I want to use at one time, that's fine. Wrapped in plastic and put in the freezer, these small morsels come in handy later to add to meat loaf, spaghetti sauce, cabbage rolls, stuffing for green peppers and many other uses.

PORK CHOPS and steaks are probably the most popular cuts of all, and like most steaks and chops, we prefer them broiled. But after they are browned on both sides it's a good idea to close the oven door and turn the thermostat to 300 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes to make sure the meat is cooked through. If there's any doubt, cut into one with a sharp knife, and if there's any pink, cook them some more.

For stuffed pork chops, ask the meat cutter to cut them extra thick and then slit a pocket in each chop. The pockets may be filled with a regular bread stuffing or with well seasoned mashed sweet potatoes or yams.

Arrange the stuffed chops in a lightly oiled baking pan and bake an hour or more at 325 to 350 degrees. If they were well browned but you suspect they may not be done through, cover the pan with foil and leave them in the oven for 20 to 30 minutes more.

SELECTING PORK from packages in the counter is important, and whatever the cut I usually look for the package with the least fat. You can usually tell good quality country sausage or little pig sausages by the color. If there's a lot of white, you're not getting much lean meat.

We've barely skimmed the surface of basic recipes for good pork dishes. Pork hocks lend fine flavor to a pot of lima beans, and all the other seasoning you need is salt and pepper and a bunch of green onions and a sliced green pepper added when the beans are tender. And for a fine one dish meal, top your next casserole of escalloped potatoes with pork chops. Chops help season the potatoes, and they're all done at the same time, with an hour or more of baking at 350 degrees.

Autumn snack

Popcorn will become the most popular snack at your house when you combine garlic salt with melted butter and pour over freshly popped corn.

The cold facts on preserving summer's freshness

Nothing may lift winter-dulled palates and spirits more than an indoor "picnic" of fresh salads, vegetables and fruits. And, it can be a snap to serve an out-of-season garden-fresh repast if you do a little summer harvesting and freezing. Whatever quantity you freeze, the quality of the food is of first importance. Be aware that food quality is largely determined by the time and condition of the harvest. If fruits and vegetables are picked at the peak of ripeness and then frozen, the result can be more nutritious than food that has spent days in transit and storage to the supermarket. One of the most important things to remember about freezing is packaging. How well you package food today will determine the quality of your frozen food several weeks or months later. - When selecting a package, be sure to choose the one that will insure an absolutely moisture- and vapor-proof seal, both to protect food from drying out and to keep odors from penetrating into the freezer and causing off-flavors in the food. - There are three different kinds of packages you can use to store frozen foods - nonrigid, and rigid containers, and heat-sealing pouches. Each keeps a particular kind of food better than the others, so be sure to do your "freezing" home work. - Problems in freezing occur when the wrong package or container is used to store food. Improper packaging usually results in "freezer burn." This is a dry, flaky appearance on the surface of food caused by moisture loss. With moisture loss comes a loss in nutrients, taste, and texture. Planning a winter

"picnic" during the summer months is a great way to please the family, so be sure to consider Admiral's tips for the best packaging

Cabbage is very extensively cultivated all over the world. From the original strains stem several of our present vegetables - brussel sprouts, cauliflower, kale, broccoli and kohlrabi. The amount of vitamin C varies with the variety, the season of the year in which it is grown and the part of the head which is used, but in all, cabbage is a good source of vitamin C and retains it better during storage than most leafy vegetables. It has a fair content of vitamin B1 and is also a good source of minerals. One cup, cooked, contains about 29 calories. Well trimmed, reasonably solid heads that are heavy for their size and show no discolored veins are your best buy. Fall and winter strains are suitable for storing. Wrap cabbage well with wax paper or plastic wrap and store in the refrigerator at 32 degrees and 90 percent relative humidity are considered ideal. When properly prepared, raw or cooked cabbage retains a high percentage of its vitamin C. Prepare as close to eating time as possible. The smaller pieces, the faster the cooking and the better for flavor and nutrition. When cutting, the best way to save the vitamins is to use a sharp knife and avoid bruising the pieces. Cook in very little water for short-time only until tender. Cabbage can also be stir fried, baked, steamed, or served raw. One pound yields four cups shredded (about three to four servings).

Freezing is not recommended for raw cabbage. It is best preserved as sauerkraut. After three weeks of fermenting in a crock, remove and heat to simmering. Then pack it into hot jars, cover with hot juice, seal and process in boiling water bath canner (20 minutes for quarts).

For drying enthusiasts, cabbage can also be dried. Shred one-eighth inch thick, steam - blanch five to six minutes, and dehydrate until dry and brittle. It can be rehydrated later to use in soups and casseroles.

Cabbage -- an international favorite

Award winning fall favorite

Nothing can beat the traditional two-crust apple pie, you say? After you try this fluffy spicy pie with apples and nuts, you'll give it first prize.

For Amber Apple Pie: Dissolve one package (3 ounces) lemon flavor gelatin and two tablespoons sugar in two-thirds cup boiling water, stirring three minutes. Add one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg and two cups ice cubes; stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about two to three minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in one container (8 ounces) non-dairy whipped topping, thawed; then whip until smooth. Fold in one and one-half cups coarsely chopped peeled apples (about two medium) and one-half cup chopped pecans. Chill, if necessary, until mixture mounds. Spoon into a baked and cooled 9-inch graham cracker crust. Chill two hours.

GAARNISH WITH ADDITIONAL CHOPPED NUTS AND APPLE SLICES, IF DESIRED.

Seasonal fresh fruits are meant to be enjoyed in a variety of ways, and that includes a great pie. Whether you select fresh peaches, blueberries or strawberries, this recipe is a basic for a fluffy textured pie you can rely on for delicious eating.

For Fluffy Fruited Pie: Dissolve any fruit flavor gelatin in two-thirds cup boiling water, stirring about three minutes. Add two cups ice cubes and stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about two to three minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in one container (8 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed; then, whip until smooth. Fold in one cup fresh fruit, such as blueberries, sliced banana, diced peeled and pitted peaches, diced orange sections, or strawberries. Chill.

Rub out the garlic

Garlic and onions figured strongly in the ancient Egyptians' diet. It is said that a daily ration of the two gave workers the strength to build the great Pyramids and tombs of the Pharaohs.

if necessary, until mixture mounds. Spoon into a cooled, baked 9-inch graham cracker crust and chill two hours. Garnish with additional fruit, if desired.

Ground pork adds creativity

Ground pork can add a new dimension to meal planning. Its versatility makes it easy to serve a variety of appealing dishes — stuffed peppers, cabbage rolls, sauces, loaves na dpatties. For best results the pork should not be (1) ground too fine nor (2) overmixed when combined with other recipe ingredients. The flavor of ground pork patties is enhanced by browning them before seasoning and limiting the seasoning to salt and pepper, if desired.

TASTY PORK TURNOVERS

1-½ pounds ground pork
1-½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground savory
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup chopped cooked potatoes
¾ cup chopped cooked carrots
1 large onion, chopped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
¼ cup catsup
Pastry for Turnovers (see recipe below)
Brown ground pork in large frying-pan; pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt, savory and pepper over meat. Add potatoes, carrots, onion, sweet pickle relish and catsup; stir lightly to combine.

Divide pastry in half and roll each portion into an 11-by-16-½-inch rectangle. Cut each into six 5-½-inch squares. Place approximately one-third cup meat mixture in center of each pastry square, brush edges with water, fold into a triangle and press edges together with a fork.

Place turnovers on baking sheets and bake in preheated 425 degree oven for 30 minutes or until pastry is lightly browned. Remove from pan immediately and place on wire rack. Yields six servings of two turnovers each.

PASTRY FOR TURNOVERS

3-¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup lard
¼ to two-thirds cup ice water
Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour mixture with fork or pastry blender until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add water, a small amount at a time, mixing quickly and evenly until dough just holds in a ball.

ORIENTAL PORK

(Yield: 6 to 8 servings)
2 pounds ground pork
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ cup water
1 can (13-¼ ounces) pineapple chunks in syrup
One-third cup soy sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 medium green peppers, cut in strips
1 can (8 ounces) water chestnuts, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
Chow mein noodles
Lightly brown ground pork in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt over meat. Combine cornstarch and ginger, blend in water and add to meat. Drain pineapple chunks; reserve syrup. Stir syrup, soy sauce and garlic into meat mixture.
Cover and cook slowly 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in green pepper strips, water chestnuts, pineapple chunks and onion. Cook, covered, five minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp. Serve with chow mein noodles.

PORK PONE PIE

(Yield: 6 biscuits)

1-½ pounds ground pork
1 medium onion, chopped
1-½ teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (15 ounces) pinto beans
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
½ cup raisins
2 teaspoons sugar
Cornmeal topping (see recipe below)
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese

CORNMEAL TOPPING

1 cup cornmeal
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons lard, melted

Lightly brown ground pork and onion in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle chili powder and salt over meat. Add tomatoes, pinto beans, tomato sauce, raisins and sugar and cook slowly 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Prepare Cornmeal Topping while meat mixture is cooking. For Cornmeal Topping: Combine cornmeal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in milk, beaten egg and melted lard.

Note: Topping can be prepared with one package (8-½ ounces) corn muffin mix if desired.

After Cornmeal Topping is prepared stir cheese into hot meat mixture and turn into 2-quart casserole. Drop topping by tablespoonfuls on top of meat mixture to make six biscuits. Bake in preheated 425-degree oven for 15 minutes.

PORK STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS

(Yield: 6 servings)
1-½ pounds ground pork
1 medium cabbage
2 quarts boiling water
1-½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon dill weed
½ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 egg
1 can (11 ounces) condensed cheddar cheese soup
1 cup cooked rice
¼ cup boiling water
Flour for gravy, if desired
Paprika, if desired
Cut core from cabbage, place head in saucepan, add boiling water and cook three to four minutes. Drain cabbage and remove and reserve 12 leaves as they become flexible. Sprinkle salt, dill weed and pepper over ground pork. Add onion, celery, egg and one-half cup of cheese soup; stir lightly to combine. Stir in cooked rice and divide meat mixture into 12 equal parts. Place one portion of meat mixture in each cabbage leaf. Roll leaves and fold ends to enclose filling; place rolls, seam-side down, in large frying-pan. (Rolls can be secured with small round wooden picks, if necessary.)
Add one-fourth cup water, cover tightly and cook 30 minutes. Add remaining cheese soup and cook, covered, 10 minutes or until cabbage and pork are done. Remove rolls to warm platter; thicken cheese sauce with flour, if desired, and serve over rolls. Sprinkle with paprika, if desired.

GOLDEN PORK NUGGETS

(Yield: 6 servings)
2 pounds ground pork
1-½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 medium-sized hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Sprinkle one and one-half teaspoons salt and the pepper over ground pork. Lightly combine and divide into six equal portions. Remove shells from eggs and pat with paper towel to dry completely. Form a nest the size of an egg with each portion of ground pork. Place egg in each nest and press the meat around each egg to close nest and evenly cover egg.
Place on rack in roasting pan and bake in preheated 375-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. For sauce, melt butter or margarine; stir in flour, three-fourths teaspoon salt and mace. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook five minutes, stir in parsley and serve with pork nuggets.

Dieting can be beautiful with pork

Dieting doesn't mean you have to serve on raw celery and water while the remainder of a Palstaton feast. On the contrary, the weight watcher can still have the delicious meal and eat it also just by observing a low calorie, well balanced meal.

To aid in the dieting program, the new leaner pork is high in protein and lower in fat. This leaner pork is a result of the new technology in breeding and feeding pork. The meat is a major source of protein and of vitamins B₁, thiamine, iron, zinc, phosphorus and magnesium.

The Weight Watcher Food Program incorporates pork in its specially designed meals.

HAM KABOBS WITH SAUERKRAUT SUPREME

(Yield: 2 servings)
 8 ounces boneless "fully-cooked" ham
 1 can canned pineapple chunks, no sugar added, divided
 1 tablespoon steak sauce
 1 teaspoon cider vinegar
 Dash ground cloves
 1 medium tomato, cut into six wedges
 1 medium green pepper, seeded and cut into eighths
 ½ teaspoon paprika
 ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
 Dash white pepper
 Sauerkraut Supreme (note recipe below)
 Chopped fresh parsley to garnish

In blender container, combine one-half cup pineapple chunks and reserved liquid, steak sauce, vinegar and cloves. Process, at medium speed, until smooth. Pour into small saucepan; cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thoroughly heated. Alternate remaining pineapple chunks, ham, tomato and green pepper on skewers.

In a small cup, combine paprika, garlic powder and pepper; sprinkle over kabobs. Place kabobs on rack in broiler pan; broil four inches from source of heat, three to five minutes. Turn kabobs; broil until meat is thoroughly heated, about three to five minutes longer. Serve kabobs on bed of Sauerkraut Supreme topped with heated pineapple sauce. Garnish with parsley.
