County will tally till Friday

The results remain unofficial but as of Friday, the vote tally for Federal Way's incorporation election could be called definitive, elections officials said.

It's possible a few votes postmarked by midnight March 14 still could drift in, but not in any numbers likely to change the percentages, even in Woodinville, where an incorporation try that was passing by 15 votes last Tuesday was falling by 23 votes Friday morning. Federal Way voters were more decisive in their voting. By Friday 10,911 votes had been tallied in favor of cityhood, for 69 percent, and 4,925 were cast against it, for 31 percent.

Of the 23,630 ballots delivered to Federal Way registered voters (another 2,879 were returned to elections officials by the post office as undeliverable), 15,836 were returned by voters for a 67 percent turnout rate.

Those numbers pleased Bob Bruce, elections superintendent. "If they make it over 50 percent (turnout), I feel a lot better about the vote. It means at least a majority was heard from," Bruce said.

He added that the vote went as expected, but that he was surprised at the number of last-minute votes. Normally, he said, people mail their ballots in right away. This time, although a majority of the votes came early, many trickled in throughout the two-week period that began Feb. 27.

More than 1,600 votes arrived after the initial ballot count Tuesday night. Bruce said any ballots with the proper postmark received between now and March 24, when the election is validated, will be counted.

In Woodinville, late-arriving ballots turned that incorporation election around. Friday's count in that north-end community was 3,526 against (50.2 percent) and 3,503 for (49.8 percent). On Tuesday the numbers had been 3,030-3,015 in favor of incorporation.

The Sea-Tac incorporation vote also was close, although election officials say the pro-cityhood victory should stand. Friday's tally there was 2,370 for incorporation, for 51 percent, and 2,710 against, for 49 percent.

Foster residents voted 137-91 to be annexed to the city of Tukwila. So did voters in Riverton (221-123) and Thorn-dyke (315-236). All three of those annexation areas voted not to assume the city's bond indebtedness.

Fire district seeks city kinship

By MELODIE STEIGER
Cityhood steered the course of conversation, and decision making, for the local fire department last week.

Two days after Tuesday's successful cityhood election, the commissioners of Fire District 39 (Federal Way) agreed that Chief Bud Thorson should lobby for annexation of the new city into the fire district. Thorson has long maintained that annexation would be the easiest immediate answer to fire protection for the new city, since it would leave district operations largely unchanged.

Annexation will be urged by chiefs

Although annexation would eventually require approval by district voters, Thorson said he would first encourage annexation among members of the Federal Way City Council. That council has not yet been chosen — seven representatives will be elected Sept. 19.

The commissioners also figured the new city into their plans for the old Station 4, a now-unused facility at South 312th Street and 28th Avenue South.

KING COUNTY has had an off-and-on commitment to purchase the property and its building for $175,000, probably for use as a parks storage facility.

But the commissioners agreed that if the county still wants the place, it had better move quickly — the fire department will inform the King County Council that it must commit to the purchase within 90 days, and close the deal within 120 days, or another buyer will be sought.

And don't think about buying the station and reselling it to a developer for a higher price, the commissioners cautioned. Part of the deal is that King County could only let go of the facility by transferring it to the new city of Federal Way. The commissioners made no specific stipulations about the potential transfer of the property, such as any purchase price or date of sale. Fire department chiefs set the price of the property and

Gator gusto

FOR THE SECOND year in a row, the Bud Hatley Spirit Trophy was won by Decatur High School. The announcement was greeted with typical Gator gusto by (left) senior cheerleader Alison Lavin and Sandy Griste, the school's cheerleader advisor, at an assembly Thursday. The trophy is named after a former athletic director of the school district and is awarded to the local school that displays the most spirit and sportsmanship during the basketball season. For more details, see page A-7.

Council examines its post-city role

By KURT HERZOG

Community Council President John Hale got several phone calls the first day after Tuesday's incorporation election from people who want to work for the new city.

Many of those callers thought that Federal Way had become legally incorporated overnight and that the Federal Way Community Council was the new governing body.

Not so.

The community council currently acts as an advisory body to the King County Council. The community council has no governing powers. It is a volunteer group of Federal Way residents, from inside and outside the city boundaries, elected and appointed to look at issues facing Federal Way.

However, those municipal job-seekers raise an interesting question: What will the community council's role be after a city council is elected Sept. 19, 1989?

After a May 16 primary election and the subsequent September final election, seven residents will be elected to the city council. The city council then will be the governing body of Federal Way.

THE CITY council will set up the new city's administrative framework and will decide which services to provide and which to contract for and how much to pay for them. Federal Way has until March 10, 1990 to officially incorporate.

However, community council members think it's certain the community council will still exist to advise the city council.

"If the new city council think they're going to get rid of the community council they're in for a big surprise," Hale said.

Hale predicted the community council still will take an active role as a watchdog of the new city council and will continue to be a forum for discussing such issues as land use and transportation.

The council also wants to take an active role in the transition process from county to city government and also plans to take a part in the election of the city council.

Portable fumes prompt concern for class

By MELODIE STEIGER

Joseph Burnett started listening when his son, Michael, complained of headaches and nausea he suffered after English classes.

He really listened when Michael told him the portable that housed his English class at Sacajawea Junior High experienced a short in its wiring, making it necessary to call the local fire department. Although no fire began, smoke billowed from the ceiling and students had to be evacuated.

"There's just no way anybody could study in that," Burnett said.

The portable classroom, brought in from Decatur High School to house students during Sacajawea's modernization construction, has formaldehyde in its walls. Formaldehyde is a compound once frequently used in the construction of mobile homes and portable classrooms. Reactions similar to Michael's, as well as possible liver damage after long-term exposure to the chemical, forced manufacturers to discontinue its use.

The shorted wire wasn't due to formaldehyde, but it was the final straw for Burnett, who said his son would not go back into the classroom until the students were moved.

And the students were moved. Teacher Rob Lyle, who had used the classroom for weeks before the move, said Sacajawea principal Judy Seiwath moved the students as soon as it was apparent the district could not im-

Rail study builds steam

By VALERIE DROGUS

A multimillion dollar study the Metro Council approved Thursday may determine the fate of light rail in King County.

The study, which could get light rail work started by 1995, will consider rail and other alternatives to easing transportation problems in the area.

The cost for the study could add up to $15.4 million over the next four years, of which Metro has already committed $1.1 million to begin. Metro will seek $5 to $8 million of the total from the state.

The proposal passed Thursday differs from one approved by the transit committee in January. That proposal focused only on rail planning and did not provide for considering alternatives, which could include HOV lanes, more park and ride lots or dedicated busways.

Eastside community leaders, headed by Bellevue Mayor Nan Campbell, objected to the lack of planning for alternatives, however. Campbell submitted a substitute ordinance that required a look at the other mass transit options, asks the Metro executive director to report quarterly to the council on progress and allows for more citizen input.

Campbell's substitute passed with little discussion from the council after Auburn Mayor Bob Roegner, who had opposed looking at alternatives because of the time it would require, said he is satisfied the problem has been solved.

Light rail differs from commuter rail, which is a project to run a train along the Burlington Northern tracks from South King County into Seattle through the valley. No corridor has been chosen yet for light rail, but earlier Metro discussions focused on a southern leg along I-5.

In dreams begin great communities

The first classified ad for the city of Federal Way: HELP WANTED. Dreamers and planners needed to create a new city.

Cities are only collective dreams, after all. Making them come true is a dreamer's obligation. "In dreams," wrote the poet Delmore Schwartz, "begin responsibilities."

Having urged the dream, the dreamers are on call to sustain the vision. Like digging for gold, it will be a practical problem. Like starting a family, it is a philosophical challenge, too.

On one hand the city must have help from skilled managers who can run a complicated and public organization. Just as crucial will be elected leaders with vision and principle. More than the managers, they will have the task of nurturing the dream beyond the level of city services and zoning laws.

Someone must keep asking the question, "What kind of city?" or the prior question, "What values do we cherish?" Cities may be accidents of history, born out of necessity where avenues of commerce made them possible. Or they may be expressions of the desire for order and the hope that in cities we can live most humanely.

In creating a city, we have the privilege and the opportunity to participate with others in an idea that expresses our hopes. In its institutions and its decisions, the city will give shape to some shared vision.

Before the election, the arguments dwelt on roads and parks and zoning laws. But those are not what we think of when we think of great cities. Great cities — even small ones — are the tangible expression of communal ideals.

While we haggle over every park bench the city installs, and debate every stoplight and sign ordinance and municipal code, let's remember that America, too, began with a few dreamers.

Council candidates are welcome here

Whether you favored cityhood or not, this newspaper welcomes announcements from those seeking election to the new city council.

Brief notices will be published before the official filing. After filing has closed, lengthy stories will be run, in which candidates discuss issues and credentials.

We will separately hold editorial endorsement interviews with all candidates who seek them. In those interviews candidates will be asked about their knowledge of the community, about government, and about their qualifications to handle decisions about matters as diverse as zoning, finance, the hiring of city staff, and negotiation of labor and service contracts.

Common sense will be our highest priority. All interested residents are welcome.

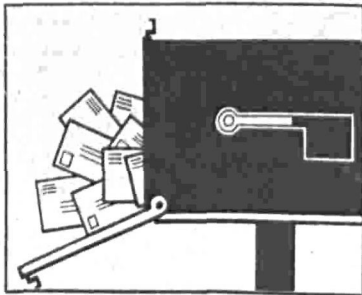

We moved here to escape cities

Editor:

I feel sorry for Chuck Hastings after reading his letter (March 12). I mean, here's a fellow who obviously wants to live in a city, yet finds himself stuck in a rural area. The only possible explanation is that when he bought his home, some slick realtor conned him into thinking that his area was already part of some city. By the time he discovered the truth, he was locked in.

My situation is different. I bought out here in 1955, because I wanted to get away from the city. Had I wished for city life, there were plenty of choices. Big ones like Seattle and Tacoma, medium ones like Auburn and Kent, or small ones like Algonia and Pacific.

My reason for preferring country life has to do with personal freedom. I am constrained by the laws of the United States, the state of Washington, and King County. Some misguided souls want to subject me to those of the United Nations. The last thing I wanted was one more layer of restrictions.

Area already has too many chiefs

Editor:

It is about time the people of King County give some thought to what they are creating.

An area of crime such as this county has never seen, and at a cost to taxpayers that is beyond comprehension. As we create city after city, we add to the cost of the police bureaucracy for each small area with a cost of overhead that is in no way justified.

We already have many police jurisdictions, each of which has a chief, dispatcher, as well as all the other non-productive members.

Common sense should tell us that a countywide police force with an elected sheriff, as we once had, is the most reliable way to fight crime. Computers do not solve crimes. It takes competent detectives, the kind that did not learn from a book. Detectives are born, not made by being on the promotion list.

This is only one example of how charter government has taken away peoples' rights. When you take away an elective office, you move one step closer to dictatorship.

Your recent coverage of historic events and feature articles on the history of Federal Way have been splendid. It is a pleasure to read such interesting and well-written stories.

As this is written, we await the outcome of the incorporation vote. Whichever way it turns, it is important to our sense of community that we understand our heritage and appreciate our history. To see photographs in the historical society exhibit covering more than a century of life in this area is a delight.

Your articles have contributed to an increased awareness of this important subject.

It's city's birthday, and you're invited

A hundred years from now this city will celebrate its centennial, a birthday party the founders will attend only in spirit.

They'll be caked with history by then, like the names of Denny and Meeker and Mercer in Seattle. The folks who owned those names will be remembered in bronze, replaced by libraries, parks and other civic mementoes.

The lively faces, the human charms and foibles that endure them to us now will be irrelevant, important only in the anecdotes that appear in feature stories about famous folks.

But this is history. Right now. What council candidates say in their effort to be elected is as much a part of our history as the stories they tell about Marcus Whitman or George Vancouver.

Even before that first council meeting is called to order, history will happen in Twin Lakes and West Campus and Adelaide and Marine Hills, wherever candidates hunch over coffee cups, talking campaign strategies.

We ought to preserve as much of this as possible. If I could, I'd record every conversation, tape every phone call, save every letter, the whole crazy quilt of incidents, formal and informal, spontaneous and planned, that surround the birth of a city.

We have a chance to do that. Our elementary teachers have a chance to send fifth graders home with assignments that read, "Write a letter to every city council candidate, asking them to tell you why they want to run for public office."

High school teachers can urge their students in social problems classes to do a project based on the drafting of the city's charter. Better yet, they could request funding for a videotaped project on the formation of a new government, from the election of the council to the passage of the first law.

The local chamber of commerce has an opportunity to create a unique relationship with its inevitable partner. It might sponsor a forum in which suburban cities discuss their common problems, or another in which architects and city planners talk about how to make the city both sensible and beautiful in its storefronts and its layout.

As the city labors to be born, local clubs and organizations might be thinking about how to join the city in creating public events, annual celebrations, that will stir pride in the community and attract visitors to build revenue.

As local government emerges here like a photo in a darkroom tray, private developers will hurry to exploit the existing laws, to carve whatever is left of our valuable open space. Individual citizens ought to keep an eye on that, and use every measure available to protect themselves. For at least six months, perhaps a year, the new city will be vulnerable.

If anyone expects cityhood to work miracles in solving local problems of growth and traffic, that's too much to ask. If anything, the transition to local control will take us around some curves we could not predict and will throw us into conflict with other governments: the county, neighboring cities, even the ports and the state.

This newspaper will neither coddle nor condemn the human beings who take on the tasks of creating the city. We will report, analyze, and comment as needed. That includes giving our own opinion on what's happening in the council chambers — even if it's only a rented room in a local elementary school.

We are excited here by the prospect of reporting to this community about this historic change, and will not forget that the story has a human dimension, that governments are limited as human beings are limited.

But governments also can exceed themselves, as individuals do, can rise above pettiness and the grinding wheel of daily life. Like any of us, governments can do remarkable things.

It was a government that gave us our Constitution. A government built our federal highways. Government led us through the Great Depression, built our national parks, put men on the moon.

Those great achievements may seem to overstate the case where a small city government is concerned. But in the effort that led to those achievements all governments — and all persons in government — ought to find inspiration.

Students' symptoms blamed on vapors prove the portable's air quality. Lyle said several students complained of headaches and nausea during and after class, although the school district tried to clear the air with an ozone generator. And the class continued to smell. "A burning, dead smell," he said.

Lyle himself was ill with headaches and throat problems when the class finally was moved March 8.

Judy Wall, communications director for the Federal Way School District, said the portable had been used for storage at Decatur until it was moved to Sacajawea for use during modernization construction there. Wall said the portable classroom was built at least 20 years ago, when formaldehyde was commonly used in such buildings.

Ray Nye, a spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency, said formaldehyde is stirred by moisture and heat, and was probably brought to life in the classroom by students' breathing and activity. Formaldehyde usually breaks down and disappears after years, he said, so the school district should search for it in newer parts of the 20-year-old portable, such as the carpeting.

Nye said the European standard for formaldehyde is .1 parts per million in the air. No standards have been set in Washington, although some states have adopted that guideline.

Wall said the classroom was closed as soon as district administrators learned of the problem. Students will not be returned to the portable until its problems are thoroughly inspected and solved, she said. Air samples will be taken, she said.

Wall said the district would be on the lookout for similar problems, but that portables of the same age have been used for some years without problems.

City figures into fire station's future building at $175,000, based on a two-year-old appraisal. They said they believe a higher price could be had if the property was open to bid by private developers, but the department has decided it would prefer to keep the building in public hands.

Thorson said the county has set aside $175,000 for the purchase, included in $880,000 earmarked for parks here in the 1989 budget.

WHAT THE COUNTY HAS may not be enough, however. Mike Wilkins, associate manager for the King County Natural Resources and Parks Division, said the $175,000 set aside by King County takes into account some funds the fire department would not receive, for services such as staff time, closing costs and appraisal fees.

"As it stands now, (the sale) couldn't work. The county would have to appropriate more money, or the price of the property would have to change," Wilkins said.

Wilkins added that the stipulation that the property could only transfer to the city of Federal Way would have to be considered more closely by the county. King County is not yet certain how to handle matters that pertain to new cities such as Federal Way and Sea-Tac, he said.

If the county decides to forgo the station purchase, the value of the land probably would be reassessed and it would go to the highest bidder in a sealed-bid sale, said Bob Hash, deputy chief of the department.

IN ANOTHER matter, Thorson described the benefits to the new city of annexing into the fire district. Annexation would effectively absorb the city into the district, making it unnecessary to change operations, ownership of the department or the boundaries of its service.

Thorson said the main advantage of annexation over two other options — contracting for service and starting a municipal fire department — is that it would create one less headache for new city leaders. Operations of the department would remain the same for at least three years. Then the city could change operations, choosing instead to contract for services or create its own department.

It could also stick with annexation if it likes, a move that would require no additional action on the part of the city, said Thorson.

Pot roundup lassoes Federal Way couple

A Federal Way married couple were among 12 people arrested Wednesday during a wide-ranging raid on marijuana-growing operations.

The Eastside Multi-Agency Narcotics Task Force served nine search warrants simultaneously in two counties

Wednesday morning, capping a month-and-a-half long investigation spearheaded by Bellevue Police Department detectives, said task force leader Lt. Roy Gleason of the Bellevue police department.

The task force employed 50 officers from Bellevue, Redmond, Kirkland and Mercer Island to serve warrants on rental homes suspected of housing grow operations in Seattle, Federal Way, Mercer Island, Bellevue, Woodinville and Lewis County.

The Federal Way couple were arrested for investigation of drug violations when several pounds of marijuana plants and loose marijuana were discovered in their home on the 3400 block of 28th Place Southwest. Charges should be filed this week, Gleason said.

All told, the raids busted five grow operations and netted nearly 900 mature marijuana plants and 900 starter plants valued at roughly $1.9 million, police said. Also seized was $6,500 in cash, three vehicles and 15 weapons.

Gleason said in some cases, additional charges of theft might be filed because growers were diverting power to the grow operations and not paying for the electricity. Conspiracy charges against those involved also will be filed, because the operations were all related and involved more than two people, he added.

All of the arrests were made without incident, Gleason said.

Chow tops applicants for Kent's top job

Kent Mayor Dan Kelleher announced Friday that he will recommend to the city council that Ed Chow be hired as the new city manager.

Chow, 49, would replace Brent McFall, who resigned at the end of last year to go to work for a private consulting firm. Chow currently works for the Veterans Administration in Seattle and was a part of former Gov. Dixy Lee Ray's administration. He served as director of the Department of Emergency Services when Mount St. Helens erupted in 1980.

That experience is one reason Chow beat out 364 other candidates, Kelleher said.

"He has been tested under fire and had successful experience under fire," the mayor said.

Kelleher said the Kent City Council must confirm Chow's appointment and that could happen as soon as its next meeting Tuesday. But, he added, he is not going to rush the council and it could be two weeks before it votes on Chow's hiring.

The salary range for Kent's city manager is $55,000 to $78,000 a year. Chow's salary has not been set, pending his approval by the council, Kelleher said.

Four students win honors from PTA

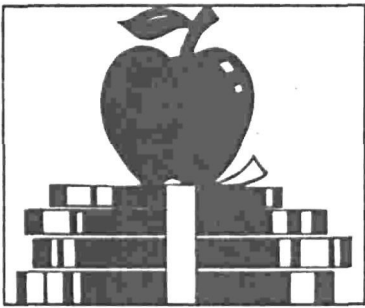

Four Federal Way students earned standings in the recent statewide PTA Reflections contest for their artwork and literature.

Elizabeth Dargie, a fourth-grader at Adelaide Elementary School, tied for second place in the visual arts category of the contest, with her pastel drawing of a kitten's first climb up a tree. Dargie has taken art classes for the past two years.

Bret Hendrickson, a sixth-grader at Nautilus Elementary, won third place in the literature category of the statewide contest. He wrote an essay about a golf tournament that he entered and won last summer at North Shore Golf Course.

Brian Roy, a Lake Grove third-grader, received honorable mention for a drawing of various sports balls. Roy is active in several sports, including soccer and softball, said his mother.

Janna Merryfield, a Twin Lakes Elementary School fifth-grader, received honorable mention for her poem about fall, which talked about the change of weather, fall sports and politics.

Reflections is a cultural arts project for elementary school students sponsored by the state PTA. All contestants entered and placed high in Reflections contests at their local schools before moving on to state competition.

The theme of this year's Reflections contest was "proud experiences." All four Federal Way winners were invited to receive their state awards in Olympia earlier this month.

Sunnycrest study indicates normal absentee rate

A study of absentee rates at an elementary school near the Midway Landfill indicates no relation between the school's proximity to the former dump and the number of days students there stayed home from school.

Results of the study, conducted at Sunnycrest Elementary by the state Department of Social and Health Services, were presented to the Federal Way School Board at its Monday meeting.

Using Lake Dolloff Elementary as a control for the study, DSHS concluded Sunnycrest's absentee rate was not significantly different than Lake Dolloff's.

Lake Dolloff was chosen as the control school because it is far away from the landfill but shares many demographic qualities with Sunnycrest, said Frank Westrum, who performed the study for DSHS.

Westrum cautioned that the study should not be construed as clearing the landfill from having any effect on the health of people living near it, only that an increase in absenteeism at Sunnycrest could not be detected.

Westrum said the study had been requested by the Health Action Committee, a group of landfill neighbors worried that the dump has made people sick. Landfill activist Marilyn Favro, who has attended committee meetings but is not a member, repeated Westrum's warning that the study does not necessarily give the landfill a clean bill of health.

She said the study did not take into account the number of children who went to school with sore throats, sniffles and headaches that could have been caused by landfill gases.

"I just feel that it does not really show what we're looking for," she said.

Seattle operated Midway as a dump from 1966 until 1983. Two years later, methane gas was found in nearby homes and businesses in potentially explosive levels.

Seattle has launched a massive cleanup of the dump, building a new gas-extraction system, installing surface-water controls, and grading and covering the site with clean soil.

Landfill neighbors have filed numerous suits and claims against Seattle over the landfill. Some have been settled while others await court dates.

Man tells boy he's half-man, half-bear

A Federal Way teen-ager told police a man tried to cut him with a knife when he said he did not believe the man's story that he was half-man, half-bear.

The 13-year-old boy told King County police he was playing basketball with friends and the unknown man at a court in his apartment complex at about 6 p.m. Tuesday. When he asked the man his name, the man responded only that he was half-man, half-bear and lived in the woods near the complex at 21st Avenue Southwest and South West 352nd Street.

The youth said after the game ended, he went home, only to find the man at his door a short time later, asking if he believed that he really was half-man, half-bear. The youth said he told the man he did not believe the story, and the man became angry.

At that point, the youth said, the man pulled a knife and said he would prove his unusual species, and began slashing at the youth.

The youth said he shut the door and the man kicked it hard enough to damage the frame before fleeing. The teen-ager had several scratches on his arm, but the skin was not broken, police reports state. He did not require medical treatment.

Burglars use board to break into store

Burglars used a 2-by-4 to break out a glass door at the J.C. Jean Co. and make off with several pairs of jeans and sweaters.

King County police reports state that a security alarm went off at 3:51 a.m. Thursday and an officer arrived two minutes later to find the door broken and merchandise missing. Whoever bashed the door stole a dozen pairs of jeans, sizes 7, 9 and 11, and six sweaters. Money left in the cash register was untouched.

There was no sign of the burglar or a suspect vehicle at the scene and a K-9 search turned up nothing.

Council hopes to be city watchdog

and potential city council candidate John Metcalf suggested the community council organize one or two candidate forums.

"There is really going to be a need for a strong (community) council," said the council's Mary Ehliis.

"All the people who have concerns really don't have anywhere to go to except us," said council member Pearl Alspach.

EVEN AFTER the city council takes office and eventually passes a resolution officially incorporating Federal Way, there still will be large sections of unincorporated Federal Way east of Interstate 5. That area still will be governed by the King County Council.

Some community council members suggested that unincorporated areas have more representatives after official incorporation. No decision was made on the representation issue.

Members also briefly discussed if it will be appropriate for someone to have memberships on both the community council and the city council. There is no law prohibiting double membership. No decision was made on that issue, either.

Several members of the community council are considering running for the city council. It can be assumed that much of the community council's time will be taken up with incorporation issues for quite awhile. However, Ehliis reminded members not to forget other council projects, such as the spring cleanup planned for April 22. Hale cautioned members to keep a perspective on incorporation.

"There are going to be a lot of mistakes and this is going to be a frustrating couple of years," Hale said.

Council disagrees on committee positions

By KURT HERZOG

Proposed committee chair appointments on the Federal Way Community Council set off some heated arguing, finger pointing and even some strange election results Thursday.

Council President John Hale proposed newly elected council member Ray Tomlinson replace Jim Cron as chair of the council's transportation committee.

Cron said he was not told he would be replaced and wants to continue as chair of the committee.

"I think this is all wrong," Cron said to Hale. "You said nothing to me about this."

Hale also proposed that newly elected member Dennis Cory replace Bob Roper as planning and community development chair, Ron Moe replace Fred Jaber as social services chair, and that Mary Ehliis continue as community relations chair.

"These people seemed like they would do the job," Hale said.

ACCORDING to the council's by-laws, all committee chair appointments must be ratified by the general membership of the community council.

Apparently, however, somebody voted more than once because 29 ballots were cast even though only 26 members were present.

Despite that mix-up, results for all the appointments except Tomlinson's were so in favor of ratification that they were allowed to stand.

Tomlinson's initial ratification vote was so close, however, that a second vote was held in which he was not ratified.

No one is quite sure how three extra ballots were included. The council's voting process in the election was somewhat disorganized.

Slips of paper were passed out to those present. Later an empty grocery bag was passed around for members to place their ballots in.

A group of about four members, and non-member King County Police Maj. Ollie Moore, head of Precinct 5 (Federal Way), counted the ballots at least twice.

Vote totals were kept secret, but one vote counter said the number of votes for and against Tomlinson's appointment were very close.

Vote totals have traditionally been kept secret to avoid embarrassing those candidates who aren't approved, Hale said.

THE ISSUE of the appointments set off a debate among members about the qualifications of the appointees and Hale's criteria for selection.

"I'd like to know the basis of how you appointed people to these committees," said Dave Kaplan.

Another member said past committee chairs had gained valuable experience over the last year.

"Bob Roper and Jim Cron are well-versed," said Dale Roper.

"I know nothing about transportation," responded Tomlinson. "But neither did anyone else when they started."

State champs have sights set on SPSL title

By CHUCK MINGORI

Although the Thomas Jefferson boys' soccer team enters this season as the defending Class AAA state champions, at least the Raiders won't have the pressure of defending a league title.

"We don't have to try to defend anything in the league," said Jefferson head coach Jim Judson, whose team relinquished the South Puget Sound League title to Lakes last year. "We just have to try to go out and regain something we lost a year ago."

Despite seeing a 68-game SPSL unbeaten streak end with a 1-0 sudden death overtime defeat to the Lancers last year, Jefferson, which went on to capture the school's fifth state title in six years, undoubtedly will be in the running for the SPSL crown in 1989.

"We definitely would have to be considered one of the favorites to win the league championship," Judson said.

The Raiders are returning 11 players off a team that went 16-3-1 last year and ended its season with a 4-3 victory over Cascade in the Class AAA state championship game.

While the question of possibly winning another state title always arises at the beginning of the soccer season at Jefferson, Judson explains, "That's a little too far down the road to be considering."

THE COACH said that the first thing his team must think about is "continuing to get better and maintain a very intense work rate when we're on the field."

As far as shooting for a league title, Judson said, "It's not going to be easy. We're going to have to come out and earn it. That's the kind of attitude I like to instill in my players."

Jefferson has played two preseason games so far this season. The Raiders opened up their 1989 season with a 1-1 tie against North Thurston on Monday and then came back to beat Interlake on Wednesday, 4-1.

Three of Jefferson's top three players — Daryn Ditmore, Shannon Seelig and Brad Kolbo — were absent from Monday's game because they did not have enough practices in.

The game was also played under poor weather conditions.

SOPHOMORE DARREN Sawatzky scored the lone goal for the Raiders, while sophomore goalkeeper Brian Wallace came through with a number of crucial saves to preserve a 1-1 tie. North Thurston scored its only goal on a penalty kick.

Wednesday, the Raiders were at full strength and it showed.

Ditmore scored two unassisted goals to lead the way for Jefferson, while David Davis had another on an assist from Seelig and Danny Parnell tallied on a penalty kick.

The Raiders graduated goalkeeper Jason Prenovost, fullback Matt Mills, midfielders Todd Murray and Jason Sarver and forward Erik Kenyon off last year's squad and they also are missing Lawrence Buckley due to academic reasons.

"I've got a lot of new faces," Judson said.

Defensively, the Raiders are returning junior Tim Tilbury and seniors Matt Dillon, Seelig, Kolbo and Del Luna.

Competing at goalkeeper are sophomore Brian Wallace and senior Marc Doble.

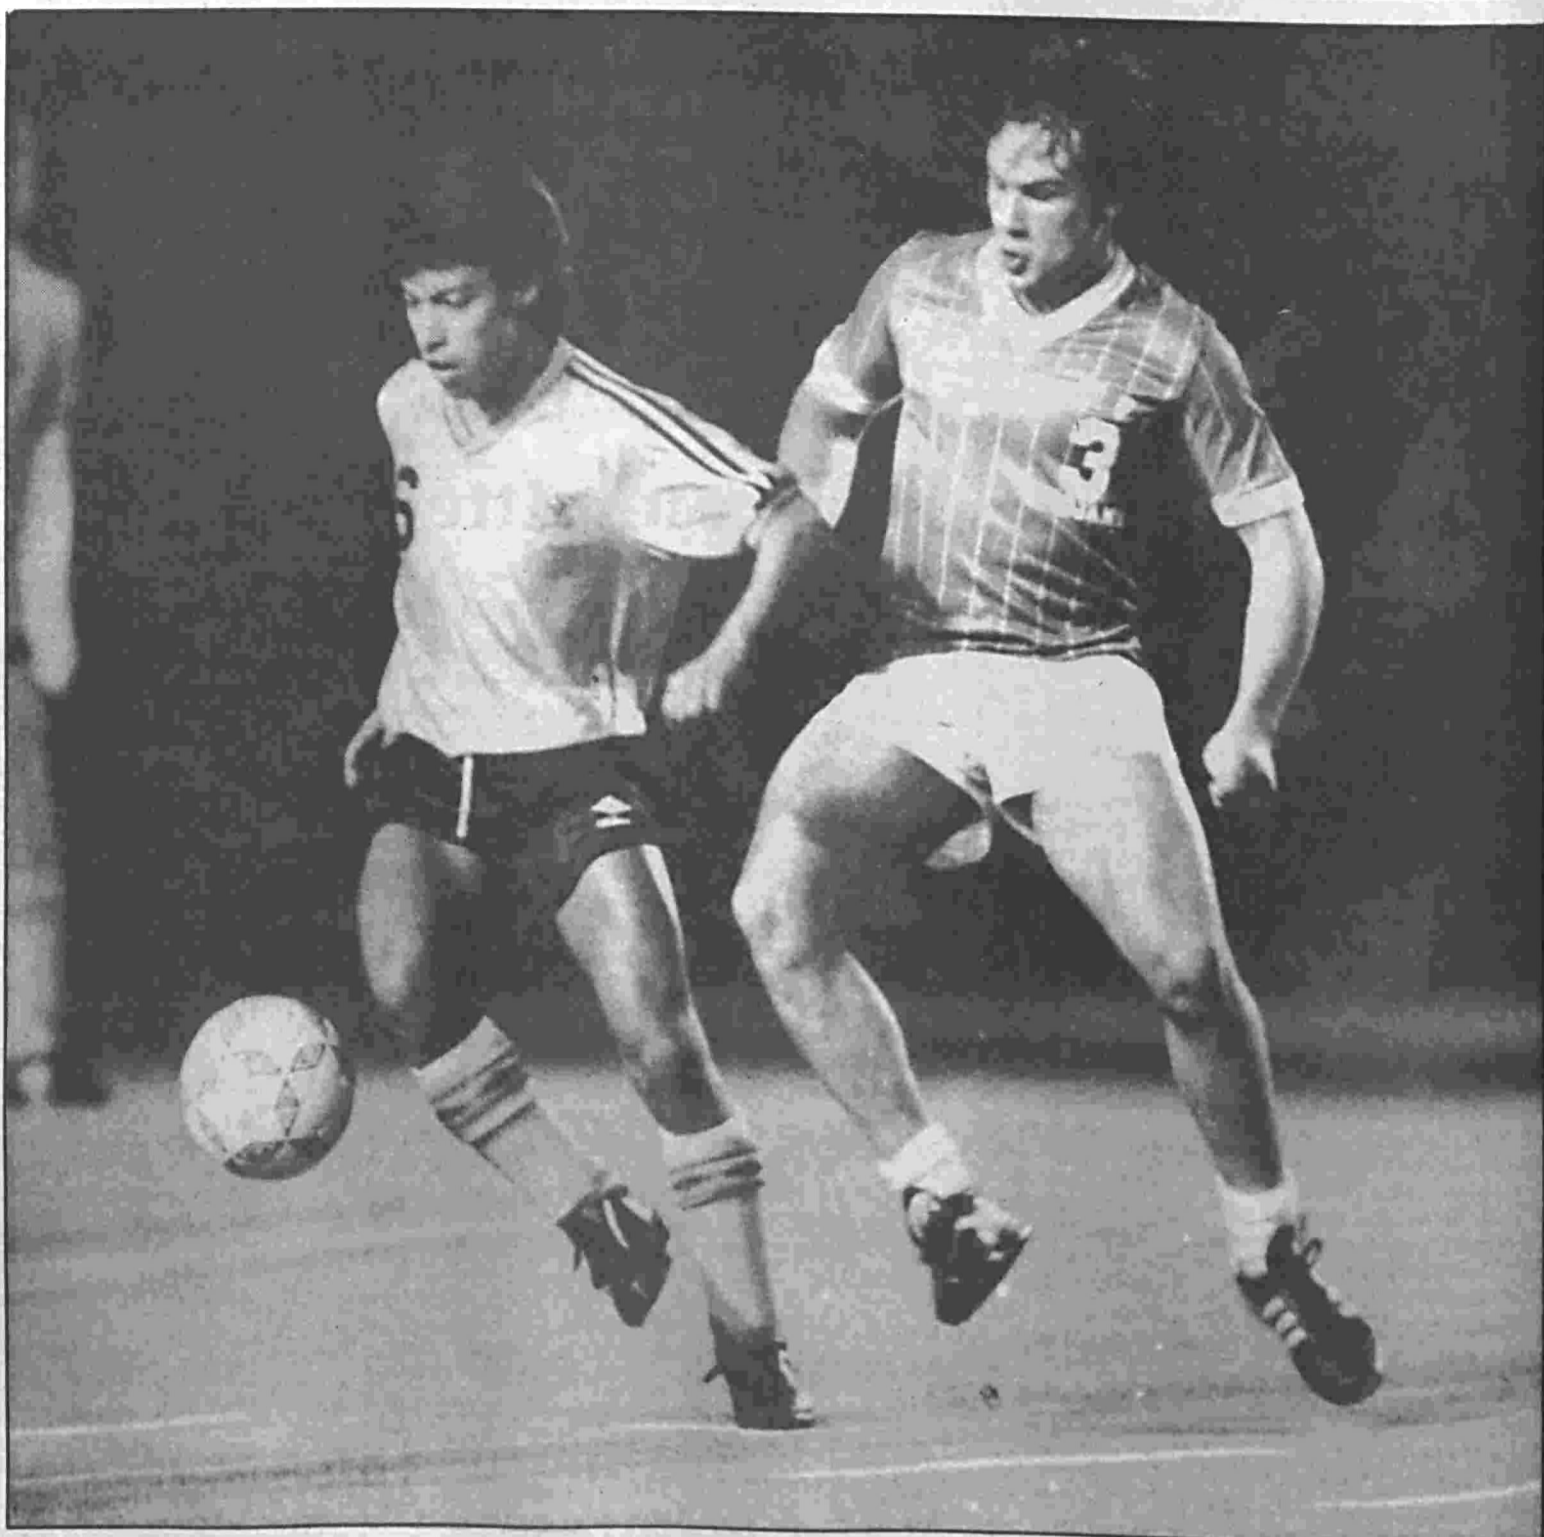

In the midfield, the Raiders return senior Danny Parnell and Jason Bowers and have been bolstered by the addition of sophomores Shawn Bowers, Darren Sawatzky and David Zumwalt, junior Mike Middlebrooks and first-year seniors Jeff Clayton and Ed Revelo.

Up front, the Raiders are returning three of their four players. Ditmore has moved up from his midfield position from a year ago to join seniors John Pouley and newcomer David Davis along with junior Aaron Van Dusen.

JUDSON SAID that among his team's immediate tasks are shaping up overall team play and working on taking one game at a time.

"I don't like to look too far down the road. The immediate tasks at hand need to be addressed," he said. "As we address the immediate tasks and accomplish tasks, then we can set ourselves up for something bigger and better down the road."

One immediate task will be playing the Mount Rainier Rams, the two-time defending Class AA state champions, at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at Highline Stadium. The Raiders will participate in a jamboree at Federal Way Memorial Field this Tuesday beginning at 5 p.m. with Decatur and Federal Way. League play opens March 28 at Puyallup.

Gator booters improve to 4-0 mark

By TIM CLINTON

The Decatur soccer team's magic number for Thursday was 4-0, as the Gators blanked Fife, 4-0, to put their preseason record at 4-0.

"That's a nice start," said Decatur head coach Rick Dennison. "We have not played the most formidable of teams and no perennial powers. But we're a young team and we wanted to do it that way."

The Gators will be put to the test this week, as they play Federal Way and defending state champion Thomas Jefferson in an all-district jamboree starting at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Federal Way Memorial Field, before visiting Metro League power Roosevelt at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Seattle Memorial.

Dennison feels his team could be up to the task, though.

"We'll see," he said. "I think we're as good as any team in the district. But we'll see who gets the lucky bounces."

A key for the Gators so far has been their balance, according to Dennison.

"What's nice is there's no one dominating player," he said. "(Senior Sean) Young stands out at forward, but if anyone concentrates on him they will get beat by someone else."

DECATUR held Fife to only three shots on goal Thursday, while pounding the Trojan net. Only a strong defensive effort by the AA Pierce County League team prevented more damage on the scoreboard.

The Gators did not find the back of the net until just 8:24 remained in the first half, as Sisto Pina fielded a cross from Scott Mendenhall and drilled it into the left corner.

Decatur struck again with 32 seconds left before halftime, as Jeff Hamling scored on a corner from Pina.

With 11:29 to play in the game Young did the honors for the Gators, rocketing one in off the underside of the net. Sophomore Dan Heidal picked up the assist on the play.

Heidal and Young played reverse roles on the next goal only one minute later, as Heidal took a feed from Young and blasted it in.

This week's jamboree and trip to Roosevelt will conclude Decatur's preseason schedule. South Puget Sound League play is scheduled to begin March 28 with a 7 p.m. visit from Clover Park at Federal Way Memorial.

Decatur nine opens with a new cast

By TIM CLINTON

For the past four years, the Decatur baseball team has been playing a game of dynasty.

The Gators have made the state playoffs all four seasons, and fell only one game shy of making it the year before.

Last year's squad went the farthest, finishing fourth in the state.

Decatur finished in a four-way tie for first in the South Puget Sound League at 14-6 with Rogers, Bethel and Clover Park, then won a playoff with Bethel to earn one of two state berths.

The Gators took the Region II title with a 14-13 win over North Puget Sound League champion Kennedy and an 8-3 victory over Rogers to reach the state final four at Tacoma's Cheney Stadium.

They were not so fortunate once there, however, losing to eventual state champion Walla Walla, 9-4, and then to Wilson, 5-2, to settle for fourth place and a 17-8 overall record.

Whether or not the tradition continues depends on how well one standout pitcher and a cast of younger players can perform, since the most glaring thing about this year's team is who is no longer there.

Gone are All-SPSL second baseman and All-SPSL center fielder Ky Steincipher, as well as the rest of the starting position players — shortstop Jason Wallis, third baseman Toby Weymiller, right fielder Greg Farris, left fielder Jeff Whiteman, catcher Butch Carda and first baseman Marcus Hentschell. Also gone are pitchers Dan Gullikson, Todd Seiber and Terry Holbrook.

All but Hentschell and Holbrook were lost to graduation, with Hentschell out with knee surgery and Holbrook no longer being with the team.

"IT'S A brand new team," said Decatur head coach Gary Holmboe. "We're trying to get there (the state playoffs). I don't know if we'll do it, but we're trying."

In spite of all the losses, there is still some reason for optimism for Holmboe and his Gators.

The biggest reason is returnee Brady Nelson, a senior who was the team's top pitcher last spring.

Nelson finished with an impressive 8-3 record and a stingy 2.30 earned run average, and Holmboe feels he is throwing even better now.

"He is tough this year," he said. "He can throw hard, and he's strong. He is one of the best in the SPSL. He's as tough as any right-hander we've ever had here."

Nelson can also hit, racking up a .397 average last year.

Aside from Nelson, the rest of the pitching staff also shows promise in spite of a lack of varsity experience.

Tony Lockhart is a senior Holmboe terms as "a good player" at pitcher and center field, and Sur Johnson is a senior lefty. Josh Austin is a junior pitcher and the probable starter in left field, while Chris Langston is a junior transfer from Federal Way who has a knee problem but should contribute later in the year.

"The secret is if we can hit the ball," said Holmboe. "The pitching isn't too bad."

Kevin Dahl is a senior up from the junior varsity team who is expected to start at third, and Kevin Caldwell a senior transfer from Federal Way who plays second, catcher and the outfield.

The rest of the varsity roster consists of juniors, with the exception of sophomore first baseman Matt Leamer, who will probably start.

Suk Sung plays second base, and Donnis Henry has recently transferred in from Federal Way to play the outfield.

Greg Landskov is a promising junior shortstop and Bill Ludwig the probable catcher, with Preston Larson battling Henry for the right field spot and also looking at action at other outfield positions.

AS OF Friday, the Gators had only been able to take the field for practice twice because of wet weather, with a game against Clover Park to be rescheduled after a rain out Wednesday.

"Usually it gets to 2 or 2:30 and we get all excited that we'll be able to practice, then it starts raining," said Holmboe.

Next on Decatur's schedule is a 3:30 p.m. non-league home game with Clover Park Wednesday, before hosting Wilson Thursday, Ytee Friday and Tahoma Monday. The Gators are also home for their SPSL opener March 28 against Rogers.

This year the SPSL has been divided in two divisions for baseball, allowing for non-league action and post-season playoffs.

Decatur is in the North Division along with Federal Way, Thomas Jefferson, Rogers, Puyallup and Sumner and the South Division consists of Curtis, Clover Park, Lakes, Bethel and Spanaway Lake.

The top two teams in each division go to the SPSL playoffs, with the winners going at it for the No. 1 berth to state and the loser of that game playing the winner of a game between the runner-ups for the second.

During the season, the Gators play teams within their division twice and teams outside once for 15 total, allowing for five non-league contests to complete the possible 20.

Softball banquet will honor Pak's Boyer

Bill Boyer, outfielder for the Pay 'N Pak softball team, will be presented with the Chapman Award April 1 at the Seattle-King County Hall of Fame banquet at Eagles Aerie No. 1.

The banquet, which is sponsored by the Seattle-King County Executive Committee, will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The purpose of the banquet is to honor new Seattle area inductees to the Hall of Fame. The new inductees are Ralph Crowe and Rich Fredrickson. Boyer started his softball career in 1979 playing for the Ski Tavern out of Tacoma before playing for Colonial Cedar in 1980, Peterbilt in 1981, 1982 with Colonial Cedar and the past six years with Pay 'N Pak. In 1987 he was the Northwest League MVP and in 1988 he played on the US team, batting .514.

For ticket information on the banquet, call 362-7937. Tickets are $16.

Jefferson posts wins in opener

The Thomas Jefferson boys' and girls' track teams opened their seasons on a high note Thursday with a victory at Bethel.

The Raider boys came out on top by a 77-59 margin, while the Jefferson girls captured first place in every event to post a 114-10 victory.

Glen Morgan won three events for the Raider boys as he captured first place in the 3,200 (10:22.1), 1,600 (4:43.8) and the 800 (2:09.4).

Steve Mitchell took part in four victories as he won the 100 meter (11.5) and 200 meter (23.7) sprints, and joined Tim Carter, Chris Field and Chris Monson to win the 1,600 meter relay (3:51.0) and Carter, Dan Meade and Willard McDaniels to capture the 400 meter relay (45.9).

Other winners for the Jefferson boys were Field in the 110 high hurdles (17.50), Carter in the 400 meters (54.4) and Chris Coleman in the triple jump (38-1/2).

For the girls, Jenny Miller won the 3,200 meters (13:49.2), while Barb McCarthy had a winning effort in the 100 meter hurdles (17.3).

Brooke Porter won the discus (98-8) and Jesse Casbere took the 100 meter sprint (13.0).

Darcy Neil was first in the 1,600 meters (5:59.1) and Karrie Marton, Michelle Clifton, Amy Cannon and Casbere were victorious in the 400 meter relay (53.4).

Track and Field

BARB BEESLEY came in first in the 400 meters (1:01.7) and Neil captured first in the 300 hurdles (51.1).

Marton won the shot put (30-5 1/2) and McCarthy took the long jump (14-11). Beesley was the winner of the triple jump (31-2), which is a new event for girls' track teams this year.

She also won the 800 meters (2:36.5), while Casbere won the 200 meters (26.8). McCarthy had outstanding effort of 5-4 to win the high jump after qualifying to state last year with a 5-3 mark.

Marton, Clifton, Stephanie Criswell and Cannon combined for a winning time of 2:02.8 in the 800 meter relay, and Neil, Casbere, McCarthy and Beesley won the 1,600 meter relay with an impressive time of 4:18.2.

Jefferson track coach Sam Beesley was pleased with Raiders' season opener.

"We have a lot of flu going around," said Beesley. "I was really proud of the kids. They stayed in there and competed."

The Thomas Jefferson girls' and boys' track teams will return to South Puget Sound League action March 28 at Federal Way Memorial Field with a dual meet against crosstown rival Decatur.

Gators keep Spirit Trophy for another year

By CHUCK MINGORI

For the second year in a row, the Decatur Gators have captured the Bud Hatley Spirit Trophy.

Decatur was presented with the award at its spring sports assembly Thursday afternoon during an announcement by Gary Brines, Federal Way School District athletic director.

The competition included Federal Way and Thomas Jefferson and was based on school spirit and sportsmanship during the boys' and girls' basketball season.

"I'm very excited about it and I think the whole school is excited about it. That's the whole purpose of it," said Doug Wenk, Decatur High School assistant principal and activities coordinator, moments after a rousing Gator pep assembly.

Wenk said that Decatur set a goal at the beginning of the year to try to keep the trophy at Decatur.

"This just means we emphasize positive spirit at our athletic events and at all of our other events as well," said Wenk.

Fun in the Sun Run is scheduled

A 24-hour Fun in the Sun Run is scheduled to take place at Federal Way Memorial Field July 28-29 to aid in the fight against cancer.

Teams of eight to 10 runners or walkers from local businesses, hospitals, schools and other organizations will run a relay with all teams staying at the track, camping out in either tents, motorhomes or campers. One runner/walker from each team is on the track at one time for a 30-minute shift (or longer).

Sponsored by the American Cancer Society's Federal Way/Sea-Tac Unit, organizers of this second annual event have set a fundraising goal of $35,000.

The Fun in the Sun Run began in 1985 when Dr. Gordon Klatt, a Tacoma surgeon, ran and walked on a Tacoma track for 24 hours. He traveled a total of 81 miles and raised $27,000 in direct sponsorships and from community members who ran or walked beside him in half-hour shifts.

From that experience, Klatt deemed it feasible for many to participate in the run against cancer — thus was born the current relay-style event.

Last year, approximately 200 participants raised $18,000 in the southwest King County area. More than $200,000 was raised by 24-hour run events throughout the state.

Team registration forms may be obtained from the American Cancer Society's Federal Way/Sea-Tac Unit by calling Kevin Williams at 852-9695.

Registration fee per team is $125 if paid by June 1. After that date it's $150 and is due by July 15.

Workers needed for youth corps

The Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission's Youth Corps is currently recruiting young people between the ages of 14 and 21 to participate in a work program this summer at two state parks.

Youngsters who are selected will work this summer at a Youth Development and Conservation Corps camp either at Fort Worden or Flaming Geyser State Park.

These camps provide an opportunity to work out of doors, learn how to properly use and care for hand tools and develop safe working habits.

Flaming Geyser, located east of Auburn, will host the women and the men will be at Fort Worden, just outside of Port Townsend. Both camps run from July 10 through Aug. 18.

Applications will be accepted through April 30, and 12 names and 12 alternates will be selected for each camp through random selection from each of the legislative districts.

For an application or more information, contact the Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission, Office of Youth Programs, 7150 Clearwater Lane, KY-11, Olympia, Wa., 98504-5711, or call 753-5775.

Wenk said that the spectators need to strike a balance between positive spirit at games and showing good behavior.

"We want students to get excited, we want them to be loud," he said, while also adding it's important for fans to act in an "appropriate manner."

Negative behavior has not been a problem among Gator fans, though, at either home or away games.

"I know they're going to act in a positive way," Wenk said.

THE PRESENTATION of the 5-foot high Spirit Trophy, named after Bud Hatley, who was the Federal Way School District's athletic director from 1968 to 1982 and is now executive secretary of the West Central District, is good for the school, Wenk explained.

"It's great for our student morale and it's great for our school," he said.

The trophy has served as "kind of a rallying point" for Decatur, Wenk said, adding that capturing the trophy also has helped "re-establish some pride at Decatur."

Although the Gators have won the Spirit Trophy during its first two years of existence, Wenk said, "I think it's good for all three high schools."

WENK NOTED that he hopes the positive behavior students have learned will have a long-lasting effect.

"Hopefully this will be behavior some of them take with them when they leave here," he said. "Our goal is to win it next year."

The Bud Hatley Spirit Trophy is sponsored by The Federal Way News and Rick Drouet of L & L Vending.

Students, parents, players and coaches were evaluated at games on observance of South Puget Sound League rules, presentation of colors and the national anthem, responses to player introductions, cheerleader enthusiasm and leadership, responses to rulings and appreciation of players' performances by students and parents.
