Senate hangs EIS mandate over burner

By ANN SEIDNER

Washington state senators have agreed with a growing number of Northeast Tacoma and Federal Way residents that Tacoma's incinerator should be subject to a full environmental

The Senate approved HB 1671 33-12 last Thursday with an amendment introduced by Sen. Peter von Reichbauer (R-30th) that would prohibit incinerators from operating without first completing an environmental impact statement (EIS). The bill now returns to the House for concurrence.

The Dash Point legislator introduced the amendment in response to citizen complaints that the $48 million plant under construction on the tideflats never received the scrutiny required by the State Environmental Policy Act. Instead, the city, which owns the plant, declared that the environmental effects of the plant are not expected to be significant.

THE INCINERATOR is scheduled to begin producing electricity by burning sorted garbage, wood and coal by the end of this year. But if the bill with von Reichbauer's amendment also clears the House, Tacoma may have to delay the plant's opening date while it completes the EIS.

Though HB 1671 passed the Senate by a wide margin, von Reichbauer had to fight off several attempts on the Senate floor to delete the amendment from the bill.

Sen. Mike Kreidler (D-22nd), responding to heavy lobbying from Tacoma and Tacoma Public Utilities, tried to convince other senators that the amendment technically lies outside of the bill's "scope and object." HB 1671 is a broad bill that would mandate increased recycling throughout the state, and the amendment is inappropriate for the bill, Kreidler

The bill addresses all aspects of the collection, transportation and disposal of solid waste, so the amendment is well within the scope of the bill, von Reichbauer argued.

Sens. Slim Rasmussen (D-29th) and Lois Stratton (D-3rd) then tried to dump the amendment, arguing that requiring Tacoma to stop the project midstream would be unfair and costly. The city complied with all state regulations and determined that an EIS was not necessary, they said.

Just don't call him a gardener.

"I'm a student gardener," corrected Dr. Bertold Bruell. A soothing Austrian accent and twinkling eyes removed all sting from the admonishment.

The distinction is necessary, he explained because his wife, Edith, deserves credit for the couple's handsome yard.

"She's really the master gardener," he said. "She grows the largest, most beautiful edelweiss."

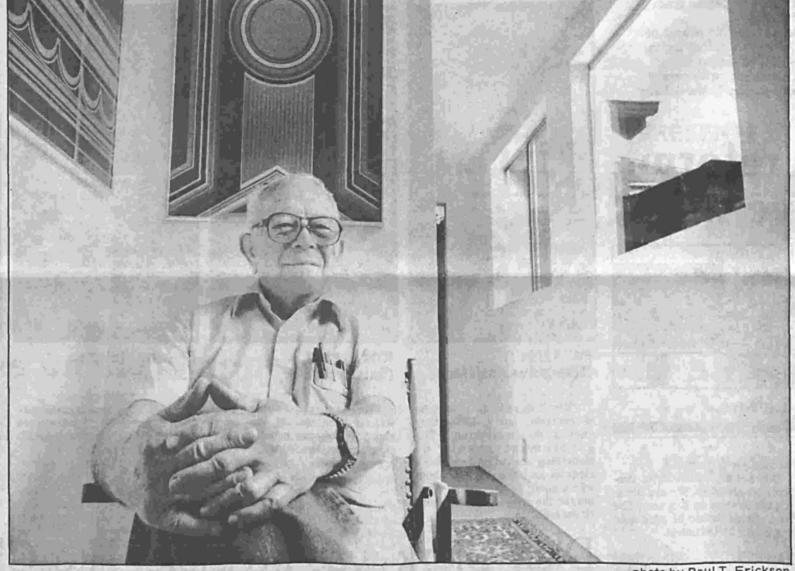

Now, after 38 years of delivering babies and removing tonsils, Federal Way's first physician hopes to have time to hone not only his gardening skills, but take painting lessons and learn about computers.

Deadline extension helps Highline Hospital buys out Riverton last-minute tax-returners Procrastinators have been given more time to practice their craft.

Because the normal April 15 Internal Revenue Service (IRS) deadline for tax returns fell on a Saturday, late filers have been given until midnight tomorrow, April 17, to mail in their taxes.

The Federal Way and Auburn post offices are preparing for a rush of late filers and are setting up two special mail boxes at each office tomorrow night for tax returns, said Ben Meservey, postmaster.

The post office will collect the mail in those boxes at midnight, Meservey said, and make sure it has an April 17 postmark.

Fines for late filings can amount to 5 percent of the total tax due for each month a return is not filed or not filed completely, up to a maximum of 25 percent.

Extensions are available for those who can't get their 1988 taxes done by tomorrow, but they apply only for the paperwork, and not tax payments, said Gerhard G. Mueller, president of the Washington Society of Certified Public Accountants (WSCPA).

Late filers must use Form 4868 and file it by tomorrow to receive an automatic fourmonth extension. But to receive that extension, the filer must estimate the tax due and put at least 90 percent of the amount in the mail by tomorrow.

Taxpayers who make mistakes in their filings can use Form 1040X to correct mistakes. The WSCPA recommends making copies of tax returns to check for accuracy as well for personal records.

For more tax information, call the IRS hotline in Seattle at 442-1040.

After years of unsuccessful courtship, the owners of Riverton Hospital have agreed to sell it to Highline Community Hospital.

Highline's board of directors signed purchase agreements Wednesday morning with Universal Health Services, the Pennsylvania-based corporation that owns Riverton. Auburn General Hospital, also owned by Universal Health Services, will not be sold.

The sale will not become final until Highline receives approval from the state Department of Social and Health Services to acquire Riverton. Fall is the earliest it could happen, said Paul Tucker, administrator for Highline. Both hospitals will continue to operate separately until Highline receives the goahead from DSHS.

The decision to sell Riverton wasn't a short-term necessity, but came as a result of longterm planning, said Kirk Gorman, senior vice president and treasurer at Universal Health

Services. "We saw the competition between ourselves was detracting from our ability to provide costeffective service," Gorman

"This is not a situation where a derelict or insolvent hospital is being taken over," he added. Gorman said that Riverton turned a profit last year, though he wouldn't say how much.

"EVER SINCE I've been here, we've had a desire to buy Riverton," said Tucker, who was hired in 1978, just before Highline's board of directors purchased its assets from California-based Monterey Life Systems Inc., and turned nonprofit. "It's a pretty big event for us - we're real pleased."

"I see it as a step forward for both (physicans and patients)," said Dr. Stephen Bunch. Like many physicans in the Highline area, Bunch has privileges at both hospitals. The sale will alleviate a scattering of energies and allow the hospitals to eliminate the duplication of expensive equipment, Bunch

Some of his patients who feel loyal to Riverton will feel saddened by the sale, Bunch said. But he has other patients who already use both hospitals.

Tucker said the most common question he gets asked is whether Riverton Hospital's name will change. That hasn't been decided yet, and other details about how the hospitals will operate after the sale must still be worked out, he said.

However, he added that very few Riverton employees would be laid off as a result of the sale. Those in high managment positions at Riverton will be replaced by Highline people, he said. Universal Health Services indicated that some top management people may be offered jobs in other hospitals owned by the corporation.

Tucker declined to give the Jet noise group sets meeting this week

Two south-end community groups involved in Sea-Tac Airport's noise mediation project will hold meetings this week.

Both the South/Southwest and Part 150/Close-In community caucuses invite the public to express their views about airplane

The South/Southwest group will meet Wednesday, April 19, at 7 p.m. at the Vashon Island

Temple Johnson of the Federal Aviation Administration will talk about the "fourposter" landing pattern concept. The caucus will also discuss the mediation process.

The South/Southwest caucus covers the area from the city of Seattle border south to Federal Way, including Vashon, Des Moines and the Burien area. The Vashon Library is located in Ober Park at the north end of the town of Vashon, about two miles from the ferry terminal along the main highway.

The Part 150/Close-in caucus will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, April 17, at the Port of Seattle's Noise Remedy Office in the old Maywood Elementary School

The office is located at 1410 S. 200th St., just east of the intersection with Des Moines Memorial Drive.

Pendulum swings in abortion debate

ecause they are potential human beings, unborn children in America are treated as likely citizens, as if they could already enjoy the bless-

Born elsewhere, they might face instant poverty, famine or religious war. Here, they are assumed to deserve a high standard of living, two cars in the garage and a charge card, even before they enter the world.

The trouble is, even in America, some of those embryonic citizens face a bleak future, because the expectant mother is too young, too poor or too limited in her skills to provide for the child.

Between those two poles — the right to life and liberty and the expectation of a life of comfort and dignity, neither of them guaranteed by nature or by fate, the argument over abortion is strung.

It hinges on religious convictions which are not shared by every American, and not guaranteed by our Constitution. So the abortion debate is a Constitutional debate in spiritual clothing.

Since the Constitution puts personal liberty on equal footing with religious liberty, current law allows a woman to decide for herself whether to carry an infant to term.

If that offends anyone, it is equally offensive to impose on the unborn child a life of obligatory poverty or shame or neglect. Even if that might happen only to a quarter of the unborn children, a law that bans abortions would also amount to a prison sentence of sorts for both the expectant mother and the expected child.

Lately, the pro-life movement has suffered two setbacks. One was the vivid evidence - a protest march showing national sentiment in favor of a tolerant policy

The other was the judicial ruling that threatened harsh penalties for anyone who blocks another person from getting treatment at a medical clinic.

The backlash was predictable. Civil rights cannot be made a function of mob rule. Once you use that tactic, you sacrifice the most precious liberty we have.

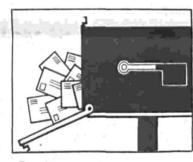

Let the contest continue, but humanely, with regard for the rights and motives of both parties to the debate.

Abortion reform would save lives

In the days of back alley abortions, birth control methods were primitive and scarcely available. We live in the era of medical breakthroughs. Birth control methods are widely available in varied methods and are very successful.

Last year approximately 1.58 illion abortions were performed. Abortion is being used as a method of birth control. Prochoice and pro-life groups should educate the public about our pre-pregnancy birth control choices.

Abortion should be illegal after the first trimester. In one room of a hospital, premature second and third trimester babies are saved and life sustained. In another room of the same hospital, second and sometimes third trimester fetuses are terminated.

Our society needs strict controls on abortion. We are abusing the system as it is now. The first choice should be education regarding birth control.

Cityhood is a chance to start over

Dick Clark was invisible, like Clearasil

Dear Dick Clark,

Saying goodbye to a cultural icon is never easy. I want to say something profound, something upbeat and clever, something about pimples.

Sorry, Dick, but that's how I remember you, as a flack for acne medication, a pimple-pusher.

Your beaming face would float across my living room and I'd automatically think of my own facial disasters, the craters between my eyebrows, the rosy volcanic wart on my nose.

While beautiful blondes twitched and dipped, I'd be scowling in Seattle, thinking rude thoughts about Dean and Justine- or whoever was the couple of the week.

I'd lust after the girls and scorn the guys. "Look at the beak on this guy," I'd say to myself, "like a cross between a zucchini and a drawbridge"'

Unable to dance myself, barely able to walk through my high school without drenching the hallways with sweat, I could not understand or tolerate the easy fame those Philadelphians got, just for living back East and owning a suit.

But you understood me, I know. You were the original voyeur, trapped in time and surrounded by raging adolescence. Your formula for fame and wealth was classically simple: play a record and turn the camera on the kids and make ego

Mike Robinson

To tell the truth, you were pretty boring, but boredom is the milieu of adolescence. Poisoned by his own glands, a teenager sees life in melodramatic terms. Most of the time, it seems that everyone else is having fun while the victim looks on.

And that was the format of your show. You'd interrupt with a sappy interview, giving us a chance to linger over Fabian or Frankie or some one-hit bimbo we'd never see again.

You'd hold up some zit cream, mention some lipstick or trendy cosmetic, but mainly you pointed at the stars and evaporated, like a Cheshire cat, a phantom dee-

I have tried to remember something you said, some catchy phrase that became a trademark, like Bob Hope's tune or Carson's golfswing. No luck.

Your gift was for fading out, signing off, melting into the background, to be smothered in chiffon while the Supremes took the stage.

Twenty years later, you were still there, hosting nostalgia shows, tributes to aging rockers that were really little snapshot albums of our own longings. We'd see Fabian on the screen, but we'd remember some girl who jilted us in 1959.

Later still you worked with Ed McMahon, in a strange format that was intended to prove that two invisible men equal one meaningless show. Ed would say something dumb, and you would say something bland, and Ed would come back with a oneliner he must have retrieved from a wastebasket. Then we'd watch some famous person do something stupid.

Really, it was the Bandstand all over again, without the music. The illegitimate offspring of your original show have been the Gong Show, Newlywed Game, Dating Game, and Real Peo-

Hosted by guys who look like they bought their teeth at a Dick Clark recycling bin, these shows flatter the viewer by suggesting that any of us might have a chance on television if we just teach our pets to eat pudding from our ears or can do exotic tricks - maybe stuff our heads into pencil sharpeners.

That's the Dick Clark tradition: All-American, pleasant but not obtrusive, hinting that we're all a little lonely and weird (even the famous among us).

Since we made you what you are, tuning in all those weeks, I guess you must have been right. I guess we're just what you thought we were: hungry for affirmation, willing to take it intravenously if we have to, through the tube of television.

I guess you were doing something nice for us, even if we didn't know it at the time. When I think of it that way, I feel almost grateful, Dick.

When we look back, from old age, on those who made a difference in our lives, you'll be among them, not hogging the spotlight, but standing just off camera, waiting for your cue, your smile primed. So long, Dick. Be good.

an open house held in his honor at St. Francis Community Hospital.

THE OPEN HOUSE was hosted by the man Bruell calls his best friend - Dr. Robert Lundeen.

"He is like a brother," said Bruell. "We've been together since 1954. Although we're not partners financially, we're friends and used to share calls." It's not surprising Bruell holds Lundeen in such high regard. After all, when Lundeen became Federal Way's second doctor in 1954, it allowed Bruell to take his first vacation in three years. The early days were difficult, but that is when Bruell forged what became long-term relationships with many of his pa-

The doctor, who will turn 77 next month, said he does not feel as if he has lost any of his medical abilities, but he wanted to quit while he was still on top.

In a previous interview he said he left Austria in 1938, motivated by "my dislike for Adolph Hitler and my lack of desire to serve in the German army."

Just before he left, Bruell found himself listening to a radio broadcast of the historic heavyweight boxing match between American Joe Louis and the German champion, Max

While the Nazis were stunned by the American's first-round knockout of the German, "I was quietly rejoicing for Joe Louis," said Bruell.

Besides gardening, painting and learning about computers (he calls them "fascinating"), Bruell hopes to perform medical missionary work abroad.

"And last but not least I'll try to do whatever I can for St. Francis," he said.

No one waited longer and few worked harder for the hospital than Bruell.

During the dedication ceremony two years ago, Bruell was given the shovel used during the hospital's groundbreaking in 1985.

When Bruell arrived, only about 3,000 people lived in Federal Way, but it wasn't long before he could foresee the growth that has swelled the population to more than 80,000.

"That's why I tried to be so forceful about getting a hospital for Federal Way," he said. "I'm proud that I was able to help a Bruell said he has heard from many patients since his retirement was announced.

That's not surprising, said Dr. Lundeen.

HB 1370 also takes care to ensure that during the transfer of taxing authority, other taxing districts, such as fire and library districts, will not lose any money and that taxes will not be duplicated, Brough said.

The bill passed easily out of the House, Brough said, and was adopted by the Senate Monday. It now goes back to the House for approval of amendments tacked on by the Senate. That process will be smooth, she said, because those amendments were suggested to the Senate by those who worked on the House bill as an afterthought to make the language even more clear.

Brough said she expects the bill to be on the governor's desk

Woman appreciates boys who saved her daughter

Teen-agers take a lot of flak these days, says Belen Foltz, so when they do something good, she'd like everyone to know about it.

Foltz is particularly thankful two teen-age boys - whose identities are unknown to her - happened along at the scene of an auto accident April 6 in which her daughter, Emilia Carter, 26, of Federal Way, was injured.

The boys found Carter, who had been ejected from her car, face down in a pool of water and pulled her out. She was unconscious from injuries sustained when her car was struck and knocked off the road and into a fire hydrant and fence.

According to King County police, the accident occurred about 11:30 p.m., when a man suspected of threatening a woman with a gun fled the scene of that incident and ran a stop light at South 272nd Street and Star Lake Road. Carter was in the intersection at the time and her car was hit nearly head-on by the suspect's car. He was arrested by King County police.

Carter broke a vertebra in her neck and took 20 stitches to the forehead, Foltz said. She's recovering at home, but the damage could have been much worse if the two teen-agers hadn't decided to get involved, she added.

Foltz, a counselor at the state's Echo Glen youth detention center, said she sees and hears plenty about what is wrong with today's youth, but believes that most kids will do the right thing.

"I don't know who they are, but I want them to know that whoever did this, I will pray for them until my last days," Foltz

Mobile home owners may get relocation assistance

By LYNN FRANCISCO
Residents of South King County mobile home parks who suddenly find themselves evicted could receive relocation help from the county, under a program proposed by county Executive Tim Hill.

Hill's plan would provide $121,500 in emergency assistance to move the displaced mobile homes, or, for those who cannot find another mobile home park, to pay short-term rental subsidies.

King County police report that at 8:23 p.m., a patrol officer saw the 23-year-old Des Moines man driving fast and out-of-control near South 324th Street and 28th Avenue South. As the officer tried to stop the man, he took off toward Interstate 5, cutting off other drivers to get to the northbound on-ramp at South 320th

The officer said he chased the man up the freeway to the Kent-Des Moines Road exit, where the driver, after passing other drivers on both shoulders, cut across several lanes to exit. Once on Kent-Des Moines Road, the driver headed westbound in the eastbound lane, hit one car and tried to ram another police officer's car, reports state.

The driver finally crossed back over the median, but lost control of his car and drove into a ditch. He tried to flee on foot, but was captured by police at

The proposal was prompted by a recent study, which Hill said showed that mobile home park residents were being forc-low-income households.

IF THE PROPOSAL is approved by the King County Council, owners of a singlewide mobile home would be eligible for up to $1,500 in relocation expenses. Owners of a doublewide home could receive up to $2,500. The money would be matched by owners of the mobile home

Rental assistance of $300 a month would also be available for a four-month period.

The plan would pay for the relocation of 35 homes and would provide rental assistance for 23 households, families that Hill calls in need of immediate

Hill said the county could be reimbursed for the program if the Legislature approves a pending mobile home relocation

Under the proposal, the county would also set aside $40,000 in earnest to begin developing a publicly owned mobile home park. Hill said that facility could provide needed space as mobile home parks in the county continue to close due to develop-

A blood alcohol test was taken and the man was booked into King County Jail for investigation of felony flight and seconddegree assault, for trying to ram the police car.

Suspicious noise is nighttime intruder

A woman babysitting her sister's children thought the thing she heard go bump in the night was one of the kids, but it turned out to be a burglar. The woman told King County police she had just turned out the lights and was about to go to sleep at about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday when she heard a noise upstairs. Thinking it was one of three children sleeping upstairs, she went to investigate. She found one child on the floor and assumed it had fallen out of bed, making the noise she'd heard,

But as she was putting the hild back to bed, the woman said she heard someone run down the hall, down the stairs and out the front door. She did not see anyone, she told police, but found the front door standing

Upon further investigation, she discovered a window in a bedroom where two children were sleeping was open. Police say it appears the intruder climbed a tree, climbed onto the roof and then climbed through the window without waking the

A police K-9 unit searched the area and came up empty, and no fingerprints or other physical evidence was found.

Student confronted by youth with gun

A 13-year-old Illahee Junior High Student told police another youth threatened him with a handgun Wednesday.

The student said the other youth approached him on the playfield at about 11 a.m. and asked his name. When the stu-dent answered, the other youth pulled a black semi-automatic handgun, pointed it at him and asked why he had told on another boy.

The youth with the gun fled on foot when he heard teachers approaching, promising to "get" him later, the student said.

The student said he did not know the other youth, but gave police a description and said he would be able to recognize him

The armed youth is described as a black male, about 14 years old, standing 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing 150 pounds. He wears his hair short, with a figure-eight shaved on one side. It is not known if the youth is an Illahee student.

Man accosts girls in pulic bathroom

Two 8-year-old girls told King County police a man followed them into the restroom of a local athletic complex and then grabbed one of them.

The girls were at the complex at about 8:45 p.m. Monday when they went into one of the women's restrooms. They said the man followed them into the restroom, looked at them and said, "Oh, I must be in the wrong bathroom."

But instead of leaving, he grabbed one girl and tried to fondle her as she fought him. Both girls were able to go into bathroom stalls and lock themselves in. They said the man tried to reach under the stalls to grab them.

He finally left the restroom when an adult woman entered. The woman did not see the incident, but told police she would be able to identify the man if she saw him again.

He is described as white, 20-25 years old, 6 feet 3 inches tall with brown hair and a brown mustache. He is athletic-looking and wore a dark blue T-shirt and

Restaurant's safe emptied overnight

As he was opening for business Sunday, the assistant manager of Skippers in Federal Way discovered someone had stolen money from the restaurant's safe. The employee told King County police that the money was taken sometime between shortly after midnight and 9:30 a.m., when he came to work.

Police reports state an officer responded to an audible alarm at the restaurant at 1 a.m., but no signs of an entry were found. An employee reset the alarm.

Nothing else was missing from the restaurant, and no signs of forced entry were found.

By CHUCK MINGORI
The Federal Way girls' slowpitch team wasted little time in getting back on the winning track as the Eagles defeated crosstown rival Decatur, 5-2, Thursday night at Sacajawea

"It was really an excellent game on both sides," said Federal Way coach Doug Baldwin. "Good hitting, good fielding. I was really pleased to see the intensity of my girls after yesterday."

Federal Way fell one run short of Bethel on Wednesday, 7-6, after thumping Lakes on Monday, 20-7, and Spanaway Lake on Tuesday, 9-1. But the Eagles boosted their South Puget Sound League record to 5-1 with the victory over Decatur.

Meanwhile, the Gators are now even in SPSL play at 3-3. Decatur lost to Rogers on Monday, 24-6, and to Bethel on Tuesday, 5-4, but beat Sumner Wednesday, 7-4.

Federal Way and Decatur waited through a brief delay Thursday evening before the lights finally came on at 8 p.m. The game was halted in the third inning as darkness began to set

Umpire Phil Hartwick explained, "It got too dark to play decent ball without the possibility of somebody getting hurt."

After approximately 10 minutes of delay, the lights came on at 8 and the game con-

FEDERAL WAY reached Decatur pitcher Michelle Aman for one run in the bottom of the Leadoff batter Erin Pellant doubled and then scored on Eileen Aki's single.

Decatur's Jana Medges had singled and Tanya Fischer doubled in the top of the first, but two Gators were left strand-

A fine defensive play by Fischer at short after play resumed from the delay stopped the Eagle rally short in the bottom of the third.

She went into the hole between second and third to make a play on a hard smash by Aki and then tossed to Heidi Bertch at second to make a force out on Kathy Badgley, who had singled. Tara Boe, who had reached base on an infield hit, was left stranded at third.

BUT THE EAGLES came back with a four-run rally in the bottom of the fourth inning after getting out of a basesloaded jam by the Gators in the top half of the fourth frame.

Ginger Hines led off with a single to left center and then Nancy Jetton doubled to the same area. Jennifer Wise was intentionally walked to load the bases. Then pitcher Megan Despain delivered a two-run scoring single to left field to score Hines and Jetton.

Despain later scored on a single by Pellant and Shannon and Sehlin came through with an RBI single as well to drive in Boe, who had reached base on a fielder's choice.

The Gators rallied in the top of the fifth, however, to close the gap to 5-2.

Aman walked to lead it off and Kim Houston followed with a double over the left center fielder's head to score Aman. At the urging of Gator teammate, Kim Fullerton, who said, "C'mon on (Shelley) Richter, put it on the Richter scale," Richter knocked in Houston with a sacrifice fly to left center. But the Gators left the bases loaded

DECATUR THREATENED again in the top of the sixth. Adkins led off with a single to left. After two outs, Houston hit another double that bounced up onto the bank to put runners on second and third. Medges hit a liner toward left, but Sehlin made a diving catch to end the

The Gators' hopes ended in the top of the seventh as Jetton made three catches on long fly balls to left center by Kathy Laky, Fischer and Richter.

Softball fans came out in droves to see the two teams play Thursday night, and that did not go unnoticed.

"This is a really good crowd," said Hartwick. "It's good for the program to see this kind of a crowd show up. It was a beautiful night for a ballgame."

The Eagles had 25 hits in Monday's victory over Lakes. Pellant had three hits and four RBI with a triple, Sehlin was 3for-4 with a triple and two RBI, Aki was 4-for-5 with a home run and five RBI, Hines was 4-for-4 with a home run and four RBI, Despain was 3-for-4 with two RBI and Heidi Saheli collected three hits in four at-bats.

Against Spanaway Lake, Pellant was 3-for-4 with a home run and three RBI, Aki was 2for-3 with one homer and three RBI and Badgley was 2-for-3.

Pellant had three hits in a losing effort against Bethel, as the Braves outhit the Eagles, 19-16, in a slugfest.

DECATUR'S Medges had three hits in a losing cause in the Gators' 5-4 defeat to Bethel. Houston had three hits and Laky five RBI in Decatur's 7-4 victory over Sumner.

TJ baseball team remains unbeaten

The Thomas Jefferson baseball team ran its South Puget Sound League record to 2-0 with an 8-3 victory over Lakes Thursday.

The win at home put the Raiders into a tie for second in the North Division standings with Rogers, just behind first place Puyallup (3-0) and ahead of Federal Way (3-1).

TJ, which stands at 3-1 overall, will host Federal Way (5-1 overall) for a crosstown showdown at 3:30 p.m. tomor-Thursday the Raiders outhit

"McNally did a pretty good job for pitching his first varsity game," pointed out TJ head coach Jim Gard. "He has only thrown one inning before."

Aaron Martin hit 2-for-3 with a triple and two RBI and Pete Persons 2-for-3 with a double and three RBI to pace the Raider hitting attack.

sacrifice fly brought in Steele. The Raiders had the bases loaded in the bottom of the second when Lakes performed one of the rarest feats in baseball - the triple play. Steele lined the ball to Lancer shortstop Torrey McDonough, who tagged Persons off the base at second and then threw Aaron Martin out trying to get back to first in the slow-developing play. "We should have scored more, but our runners were asleep on the triple play," said Gard. "It was so slow."

JEFFERSON did score three times in the third, however.

Chris Martin and Jamie Sonnenfeld singled in the rally, while Persons and Aaron Martin walked to force in runs and Nielson was hit by a pitch to force in the other.

Nielson got on base three of four times in the game, including a double to lead off the second, to put his season on-base totals at 13-for-16.

KELLY CZUBIN captured first place in three events for the girls' team.

She won the high jump with a 4-8 effort and the long jump at 14-5, and followed with a victory in the triple jump at 33-034.

Molly McGraw took the 200meter dash at 26.8 and the 400 at 62.9 and Sujata Dev the 1,600 at 6:16.0 and the 3,200 at 13:04.2. Amita Dev was the winner of the 800-meter run with a 2:38.7

Sarah Baird, Amita Dev. Czubin and McGraw won the 800-meter relay at 1:56.1.

Sara Munson was second to Sujata Dev in the 1,600-meter run at 6:38.0, and Keri Stablein second in the 100-meter dash at 14.0 in front of Baird (14.1).

Other second-place finishes were turned in by Jenny Davis in the shot put (27.4) and Krissy Mazzeo in the discus (82-3).

Baird was third in the 400meter dash (73.7) and Sujata Dev third in the 800 (2:49.9), while Munson was third in the 3,200 (13:57.9) ahead of Christina DeAustria (14:43.1). Vicky Smith was third in the long jump (12-111/2).

Smith was also fourth in the triple jump (29-0) ahead of Davis (28-43/4).

DeAustria finished fourth in the 1,600 (6:46.2), while Tricia Fuller was fourth in the 100meter hurdles (19.9) and Jana Woodworth fourth in the 300meter hurdles (53.9).

Eagles edge Braves in 10 innings

By CHUCK MINGORI

Good defense wins ballgames, but so does good pitching. The Federal Way baseball team used both to defeat the Bethel Braves, 3-2, in 10 innings Thursday.

Floyd French pitched the final 61/2 innings for Federal Way to get the win after getting a save in Tuesday's 9-5 win over Curtis, and he also drove in the winning run with a single to left center in the bottom of the 10th. Federal Way had started Luke Almaden against the Braves, and the tall right-hander worked the first 3% innings prior to making way for French after giving up two Bethel runs.

"I thought (Luke) Almaden did a pretty good job for not pitching for 2 1/2 weeks," explained Federal Way coach Gary

French's hitting, pitching honored

Floyd French had a big week for the Federal Way baseball team to take home the Federal Way News' Athlete of the Week

French started out the week by pitching two innings in Federal Way's 18-3 victory over Decatur Monday. Tuesday, French hit a three-run homer and collected a save on the mound to lead the Eagles to a 9-5 win over Curtis.

French continued his heroics on Thursday in the Eagles' 3-2, 10-inning victory over the Bethel Braves. French pitched the final 6# innings to get the win as he struck out eight batters and allowed only one hit. If that wasn't enough, he also drove in the winning run With a single to left in the bottom of the 10th innMogensen. "He came in and was a little shaky at first...He was kind of in trouble every inning, but he hung in there and Was more in control of his self con-

After French relieved Almaden with two outs in the fourth inning, the game deVeloped into a pitcher's duel. Neither team could get much going offensively, but the Eagles relied on outstanding fielding skills and the right arm and bat of French to collect their third win in four South Puget Sound League outings.

"We won on defense," said Mogensen. "Our kids played super defense. That's what won the game for us, kept us in the game, because we had several times to win the game when we couldn't produce offensively.

"Floyd came in and held him with his pitching and our defense held them with the good defense."

BETHEL OPENED up a 1-0 lead in the top of the seventh inning when Dan Vicente beat out a grounder to short for a single, stole second and then scored on a double to right center by Curt Sampson. But Federal Way responded with two of its own in the bottom of the second to go on top, 2-1. Doug Conzatti, who was hit by a pitch, scored on a single up the middle by Steve Crevling and

Sugg hit a sacrifice fly to center to bring home Treg Vandenberg, who got aboard on a fielder's choice. Bethel tied the score with a run in the fourth. Mark Daniels singled to right field, went to second base on an overthrow and then scored as Sampson got a single to left field off the handle of his bat. With two on and two out, French came in to get Kevin Smith swinging. Alert defensive plays by the Eagles and poor baserunning by Bethel kept the Braves off the scoreboard in the sixth. With a runner on first, pinch hitter Shaun Moore hit a grounder to Marty Mogensen, who bobbled the ball at second but managed to nail baserunner Daniels as he tried to keep going around second base to third. Then Eagle catcher Conzatti gunned down Moore on his attempted steal of second.

While the teams were kept in check at the plate, both squads played well defensively, especially Federal Way.

Marty Mogensen went out to short center field from his second-base position to make a nice running catch on a little looper that could have caused problems in the ninth inning.

And French came off the mound to pick up a bunt and throw a baseunner out at second on an attempted sacrifice in the top of the 10th inning. That same inning, Sugg jumped up and tagged a runner out at first on a throw from Vandenberg at third on another bunt by the Braves for a key out.

"We just had some real key defensive plays that really helped us out. The kids hung in there," said Mogensen, praising the fine defensive efforts of his son at second, Conzatti behind the plate, Vandenberg at third and French on the mound.

FEDERAL WAY won the game in the last of the 10th. With one out, Allen Hensley walked and then went to second when Jeff Wagner ripped a single to

A. Evaluate highway, transit, traffic, marine and rail operations with "com mitted" and enhanced improvements during the 1994 "Opening Year.

B. Evaluate highway, transit, traffic, marine and rail operations with additional improvements by the 2010

TRANSIT AND NON-STRUCTURAL ALTERNATIVES - Transit and other non-structural actions (HOV lanes, staggered work hours, signal timing, etc.) will be evaluated as possible after native or mitigative actions as part of the above three identified alternatives. OTHER ALTERNATIVES - It is antici pated that other possible alternative may be identified through public inpu or through the environmental impac study process, such identified alteran tives will be evaluated for both the 1994 "Opening Year" and the 2010 "Design

PROPONENT: Washington Department of Transportation, City of Tacoma, and the Port of Ta-

LOCATION OF PROPOSAL: The project is generally within an area bounded to the West by A Street and I-705, to the South by Puyallup Avenue, the East by Marine View Drive, and to the North by East 11th Street in an area of Tacoma referred to as the 'Tideflots.'

LEAD AGENCY: The proponent Agencies are co-Lead Agencies for the Environmental Impact Statement. Functionally, the project is being jointly administered by all the agencies under a Memorandum of Understanding

EIS Required: The lead agencies have determined this proposal is likely to have a significant adverse impact on the environment. An Environmental impact statement (EIS) is required and will

PURPOSE OF PUBLIC MEETING -The purpose of this meeting is to identify areas for discussion and study, to acquaint the public with the identified alternatives, to introduce the personnel responsible for developing the Environmental Impact Statement, to solicit initial public comment, and to initiate a public involvement process that will insure that interested individuals, groups, and associations will have full participation in the development and evaluation of alternatives, SCOPING: Agencies, affected tribes, and members of the public are invited to comment on the scope of the EIS. You may comment on alternatives, mitigation measures, probable significant adverse impacts, and licenses or other approvals that may be required. FOR MORE INFORMATION Contact: Mr. Jerry Ficklin, Project Manager, (206) 383-5841 or (206) 265-8500. Port of Tacoma, P.O. Box 1837, Tacomo, WA 98410-1837; Mr. Dave McEntee, Enviromental Planner, Port of Tacoma, (206) 383-5841; Mr. Bill Pugh, Traffic Engineer, City of Tacoma,

Gators visit Hong Kong

Decatur High School students Karen Seymour and Shelly Harmon were also part of the Washington state contingent that travelled to Hong Kong recently for an international swimming invitational and to mainland China for an exhibition meet.

An article in the Federal Way News on Friday inadvertently omitted the names of Seymour and Harmon, who joined other Federal Way residents David Kahler of Decatur, Mary Carr of Kennedy and Vince Riggio from

Bellarmine Prep for the trip

A group of 29 Washington swimmers participated in the trip that was sponsored by the Washington State High School Coaches Association and sanctioned by the Washington State Cultural Exchange Program.

The athletes visited Hong Kong as well as Tokyo, Japan; Seoul, Korea; and Canton, China; during their trip overseas. The swimmers left Sea-Tac Airport on April 3 and

New librarian challenged by volume of local demand

Federal Way's new head librarian brings a variety of related job experiences with Jim King, 44, has been the Federal Way head librarian since early this year. He replaces Dee Dubois, who asked to take a less active role because she wanted to cut back on the stress of running one of the county's busiest libraries.

Dubois was head librarian since 1975. She still works at the library as head of the reference section.

This is not the first time King has run a branch of the King County Library System, of which Federal Way is a part. His most recent job was director of the Kirkland Library.

He has also worked as a coordinator of adult programs and worked in library public relations for the county.

King said he's still getting the feel of the Federal Way Library and doesn't have any changes planned yet. He'd like to hear from anyone who has any ideas for improving the library.

THE FEDERAL WAY Library building is the same size as Kirkland's - 25,000 square feet. However, Federal Way's circulation is about 50 percent larger than Kirkland's.

It's sometimes tough to squeeze enough resource material into the library to please everyone, he said. And in Federal Way's case, residents have a wider variety of interests than many other suburban libraries, King said.

The Federal Way Library serves not only students working on school projects, casual readers and others, but it also has a large business reference section.

"This is much more of a crosssection here than many suburban communities," King said. "There's something of everything here."

Also, Federal Way's library is quite a distance from other "When they come here, this is it," King said. "The nearest library is not close."

Jim King

King County has six regional resource libraries, of which Federal Way is one. However, Federal Way is the smallest of those regional even though it has a circulation second only to

The county is trying to remedy that and plans to build two new libraries in Federal Way by

NO SITES have been chosen for those libraries, but library officials tentatively plan to build a new 25,000-square-foot regional library to the south of the existing library at 848 S. 320th St. in 1991.

The other could be built to the north in 1996. One option is to locate the second library on the current site by rebuilding or remodeling. And it's also possible that continuing growth in Federal Way could warrant building two new libraries and keeping the existing one, too.

Those libraries - and others - will be paid for with a $67 million bond issue approved by voters in the September 1988 primary election.

year for the next 25 years to pay for the bonds. Construction of the new libraries will not be affected by Federal Way's incorporation.

> King hopes to have a role in deciding what services will be included at those new libraries. Library system officials have promised to hold local meetings at the Federal Way Library to hear what residents want includ-

KING SAID he sees the services provided by libraries changing. More patrons want technical services such as computers, he said.

"Libraries are a mirror of the communities they serve," he said. "We're always interested in knowing what kind of services people want." However, books and printed material always will be the cornerstone of libraries, he predicted. It's no surprise that one of King's favorite pastimes is

"I'm fascinated by information," he said. "It's a field that's never recognized by the amount of variety in it."

per $1,000 of property value per Police pact may benefit cities

In what could be called a precedent-setting agreement, the King County Council on Friday unanimously approved a measure to provide interim police protection to the newly annexed areas of the city of Tukwila. Some are calling it a financial bargain for that city, and concern is building that other newly formed cities, such as Sea-Tac and Federal Way, could ask for the same break if they negotiate with the county for short-term police services. Under the measure approved Friday, the county agreed to provide police protection to the areas of Thorndyke, Foster, and Riverton for 45 days at a cost to the city of $97,225. On Friday at midnight, those areas became part of the city of Tukwila. But city officials told the county they needed more time to ready a new police force, so the county agreed to continue

A daughter was born to Wendy and David Kim, Federal Way, Feb. 23 at St. Francis Community Hospital. Jessica Michelle weighed 6 pounds and 11 ounces at birth. Her grandparents are Christine Good, Polson, Mont., Jung Bai Kim, Bremerton, Sun Kwon Kim, Bremerton.

IDLER Teri and Mark Idler, Auburn, welcomed their second child Feb. 22 at St. Francis Community Hospital. Darcy Marie weighed 8 pounds and 1 ounce at birth. She has a brother Derek, 21/2.

GLEAVES Mary and Curt Gleaves, Federal Way, welcomed their seventh child March 17 at Tacoma General Hospital. Courtney weighed 5 pounds and 4 ounces at birth. She joins Patrick, 10, Natalie, 9, B.J., 7, Nicholas, 5, Andreas, 3, and Brittits police protection.

John McFarland, Tukwila city administrator, helped hammer out the agreement with the King County Council. He said his city negotiated a good price and that ther newly formed cities may ask for the same break.

"THE LIABILITY for assuming patrol problems (for those three areas) probably exceeds the $97,000 cost. I know the county was looking hard at the cost because whatever they do for Tukwila, they will probably have to do for other jurisdictions," he said.

KING COUNTY Councilman Greg Nickels agreed that the fee being charged Tukwila may not cover all the county's costs, but he still called it "a fair agreement."

"If this were permanent, we would not have the same arrangement. But for the short term, it is fair.

"The county provides a lot of regional services, such as arson and homicide investigations, that smaller jurisdictions cannot afford, and those costs aren't covered in this agreement. In the future, we may have to look at how those services are going to be paid for," he added.

Nickels insisted that this agreement does not set a precedent for Sea-Tac and Federal

The measure still has to win approval from the Tukwila City Council. That group was expected to OK it at a meeting set for Friday night, after this paper's deadline. It also needs King County Executive Tim-Hill's signature before it can go into effect. Tukwila Police Chief Ron-Waldner said the city will not need to extend the agreement beyond 45 days. He expects to have 17 new officers and support staff on board and trained by
