Lake taps County eyes flow controls

By BRAD BROBERG

Two days after last weekend's downpour, the ripples off Lake Geneva lapped gently at the edge of Gil Longley's lawn.

In other words, everything was as it should be about this time of year.

"That's about as high as it gets," said Longley.

Whether it gets any higher could hinge on a study being performed by King County's Surface Water Management (SWM) Division.

SWM officials recently sponsored two neighborhood meetings in Federal Way — one for Lake Geneva residents and one for residents of Lake Dolloff — to discuss installing tap-like devices at the outlets of the lakes.

The devices are the most promising, but not only, option being explored by county officials anxious to prevent ongoing ero-

Fire-service choice goes to the voters

By KURT HERZOG

The Federal Way City Council has finally resolved its stickiest subject to date by deciding to put a proposal to annex the city into Fire District 39 (Federal Way) on a Feb. 6 ballot.

After delaying the decision three times, the council voted 5-1 Tuesday to put the issue to a vote. All residents of the fire district, both inside and outside of the city, will be eligible to cast ballots.

If approved, annexation will maintain the status quo for fire service both inside and outside the city.

In a separate action, the council voted unanimously to put city annexation into the King County Library System on the ballot as well.

Only two of the approximately 55 people who attended the Tuesday council meeting spoke on service. Fire service was the primary issue of debate both in the audience and among council members.

Councilman Joel Marks was the lone dissenting vote on fire annexation. Councilman Bob Stead abstained from voting because of an apparent conflict of interest. Stead has done legal work for the district.

Marks voted against annexation because he favors contracting with the fire district. Marks said the city should contract for fire and other services because it gives the city a more active role in directing how those services are provided.

District may take DIRE donation

A months-long holdout could end Monday when the Federal Way School Board decides whether to accept money procured from developers by a land-use watchdog group.

Members of the watchdog group DIRE (Development Impact Resistance Exercise) will be at the school board's Monday night meeting to hand over about $40,000 it has collected from local developers to benefit schools.

The exact amount of the contribution will not be known for certain until Monday afternoon, said Rich Hamlin, assistant superintendent for the Federal Way School District.

The money has been a bone of contention for some time. DIRE had threatened to appeal some large area developments, but chose instead to accept money for schools from the developers. The group said the money would help offset the costs of educating the children who would move into those developments.

But, although the district has suffered from enrollment surges boosted by additional development, the school board worried that it could not legally accept the money.

"We could not accept it simply because we were not certain what the agreement was between DIRE and the developers," said Nancy Robertson, board president.

District lawyers recently agreed the money could be taken, as long as it is added to the general fund and not earmarked for particular purchases, said Robertson. The general fund pays for the bulk of district operations, from textbooks to teachers.

The school board meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Board Room of school district headquarters, 31405 18th Ave. S. Veteran board members Gail Pierson and Mary Weis will be sworn in for their coming terms at that same meeting.

Similarities pique police interest in murders

Pierce County Sheriff's detectives are looking into some basic similarities in the deaths of Federal Way teen-ager Tracy Jean Whitney and Amanda Stavik of Acme, who disappeared while jogging Nov. 23.

Whitney, who was 18 when she disappeared Aug. 27, 1988, was discovered in the Puyallup River where it joins the Stuck River, a day later.

Stavik, also 18, was discovered in Nooksack River east of Bellingham Nov. 27.

An autopsy showed Stavik died from drowning, but Pierce County officials never said how Whitney died. A family member, however, said she had been beaten and strangled. Both bodies were discovered nude.

The surface similarities beg for comparison, said Curt Benson, public information officer for the Pierce County Sheriff's Department.

"We are just comparing notes if you will. We would be remiss if we didn't. There's always a far-side chance there is a relationship," Benson said.

Whitney was last seen by friends leaving a Burger King in Federal Way the night of Aug. 27. She lay in the Pierce County morgue for two months before she was identified through dental records. Because she lived away from home and was not seen often by her family, there was a delay in reporting her missing. She was identified just one day after her parents reported her missing to King County police. That delay hurt Pierce County's investigation, Benson said. Detectives had to start with a cold trail and were able to make little progress. A Crime Stoppers announcement of a $1,000 reward offered in May for information about Whitney's murder did not turn up any new information, Benson said.

"Basically, our investigation has gone as far as it can go and theirs is just starting. We're looking for new leads through their case," he said.

Game time

It's time to get down to business for the Decatur boys' basketball team, which will open South Puget Sound League Sound Division play at home tonight against the Kenridge Chargers. Decatur will bring a 1-2 overall record into tonight's game, which gets underway at 7:30. Kenridge is 2-0. The Gators beat the Foss Falcons, 74-55, for their first win of the season Tuesday while the Chargers upended Woodinville, 54-44, that same night.

Now playing

Lots of little mistakes mar the Avenue Act 1 production of "Scrooge," but some good performances and fine singing keep the story moving. The theater's annual rendition of the holiday classic, "A Christmas Carol," is playing evening and matinee shows through Dec. 23. See page A-6.

Inside

The two softball fields at Steel Lake Park will be put to more efficient use this coming season thanks to the installation of lights by King County. Construction could begin by the end of the month. See page B-1.

Weird Stuff

Rig remodeled for retirement

By BRAD BROBERG

Ralph and Barbara Thompson envision it as their dream machine, but right now it looks more like "Weird Stuff" on wheels.

Our weekly forage for loony landmarks caused us to do a double take on our way past the Thompson residence on Trout Lake.

Parallel-parked alongside their home rests a 40-foot bus once used to transport workers to the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

Gutted on the inside and blanketed on the outside by sheets of blue plastic, the bus keeps Thompson busy when he's not working as an engineer for the Weyerhaeuser Co.

Transforming a bus into a motorhome for your retirement sounds like a flight of fancy doomed to fizzle at the launch pad, leaving behind an unfinished eyesore.

Don't bet on that happening this time, though. Ralph can finish what he starts.

The proof is the couple's modern, two-story 3,000-square-foot home. Ralph designed and built almost all of it.

Ralph bought the bus two years ago for $31,500. He figures by the time his rig is ready to roll in another 18 months, he will have sunk $60,000 into the project.

Before Ralph's through, the bus will have all the comforts of a condo with cruise control — bedroom, kitchen,

Annexation would maintain the status quo

ation will lose accountability," Marks said. "This is a point in history that will never come back again."

SEVERAL PEOPLE in the audience spoke against annexation, including former city council candidate John Ridley and resident Lyle Goodrich, who said he has been involved in fire protection at local and state levels for 35 years.

Goodrich told the council he favors a city-run department and that once the city annexes into the district it will stay annexed forever.

However, fire district and city officials said state law allows an annexation election every three years. Council members said that if annexation is approved by voters and the fire district does a poor job, another annexation election could be held.

The reason most of the five pro-annexation council members said they voted for annexation is because the district is well run and is likely to remain that way.

"I don't buy the contracting argument," said Councilman Lynn Templeton. "When my house is burning I want to know we have adequate service in place."

"To muddle the fire service issue...would be unwise," said Councilman Jim Webster.

Mary Gates, who is chair of the council's Budget, Finance and Insurance Committee, cited budget reasons for annexation into the district. Annexation means the city doesn't have to worry about collecting fire district property taxes.

"I like being able to say we can predict fire service for the next three years," she said.

IF ANNEXATION is approved, fire service will remain business as usual for residents inside the fire district, which encompasses the city. Annexation allows the fire district to continue to collect the $3.25 million it currently collects in property taxes inside city limits.

It also allows the district to keep all of its five commissioners. If annexation isn't approved, the four commissioners who live within the city will lose their seats, according to state law. Trying to run the district with four new commissioners would be difficult, said district Chief Bud Thorson.

If annexation is not approved by voters, the city council will have to consider contracting or creating its own fire department.

'I don't buy the contracting argument,' said Councilman Lynn Templeton. 'When my house is burning I want to know we have adequate service in place.'

In that case, the city would then collect the $3.25 million the district now collects and would negotiate with the district for service.

However, creating a city fire department is considered too costly and time-consuming for now by the city council.

If annexation is approved, the council has until the end of 1990 to arrange for fire service. If it does nothing, there would be no fire service to the city, but obviously that isn't going to happen. While council members Templeton and Webster were strongly in favor of annexation, members Jim Handmacher and Debbie Ertel voted for annexation but still want more information.

"I still feel like there's not enough information," Ertel said guarantee from the library system's board that it will follow through with plans to build two new libraries in the city by 1996. It also guaranteed that it will keep the existing library open, or even build another one after that, so there will be three libraries in the city, said Bill Ptacek, system director.

The library system's board held a special meeting earlier Tuesday to vote on guaranteeing the three libraries.

One Federal Way resident spoke against annexing into the district, saying Federal Way has been paying far more into the library system than it's been getting back from its one under-sized library.

Handmacher agreed, but said the new libraries make up for that. Besides, the library system has raised its contracting rates so the city wouldn't save any money by contracting.

"Federal Way has been short-changed by the library district for years," Handmacher said. "But with the prospect of two new libraries in a few years, this will correct that."

Annexation means the library system will continue to collect the 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed property value it collects now. While fire annexation must be approved by all voters within the fire district, library annexation will be voted on only by city residents.

Like fire annexation, library annexation also requires approval by a simple majority of voters.

THE CITY council still has one more special district to deal with: the Federal Way Water and Sewer District. However, it's unlikely the city council will do anything with the district for some time, perhaps even years. Service is not automatically affected by incorporation.

The city council could take over all, or part of the district, by passing an ordinance. Such a move doesn't require an election.

However, unlike fire and library service, the city is under no compulsion to act on water/sewer service before its Feb. 28 incorporation date and probably won't do so for some time.

Gunman gets cash in store robbery

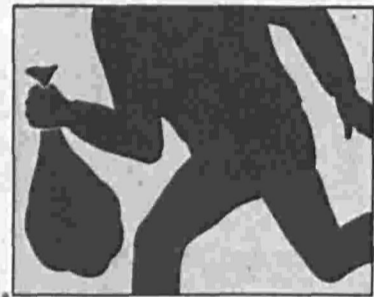

A man armed with a handgun robbed a convenience store Monday.

The owner of Corner Mart, 27213 Pacific Highway S., was working at 10:30 p.m. when the robber walked right up to her, pointed a small caliber handgun and demanded money. She complied, and he ordered her to lie on the floor as he left.

The owner refused to lie down, and instead followed the man out of the store and notified a woman in the parking lot of the robbery. The woman drove around the neighborhood looking for the robber, but couldn't find him.

That woman saw the man before he entered the store, too. She said she was going to use a pay phone at the store but decided to move on because the man was loitering by the phones. When he went into the store, she returned to use the phone.

Police took fingerprints from the phones and used a dog to track the man as far as Sport-

The store owner said the man appeared drunk, so police visited local taverns looking for someone who may have seen anyone fitting the robber's description before the robbery. They had no luck.

The gunman is described as white, with dirty, collar-length hair, and a full beard. He is 35 to 40 years old, 5 feet 3 or 4 inches tall with a slight build, and wore a light blue Members Only-style jacket.

Burglars try to cut through store roof

Burglars trying to cut their way through the roof of Best were thwarted Sunday night when a store employee heard footsteps on the roof.

The store's assistant manager called police at 10 p.m. when she heard what sounded like someone running across the roof. When police arrived, they found the roof deserted, but discovered a large cache of burglar tools, including a circular-saw that had been used to begin a cut in the roof.

Police also found a fire escape ladder, gloves and hatchets. A police dog tried to pick up a track but was unsuccessful.

Parents refuse to let boy come home

A 15-year-old boy called 9-1-1 Sunday when his parents would not let him come home.

The boy told police he had left a drug treatment center in Bellingham of his own accord and wanted to go home. But his parents told police the boy was not welcome back until he completed the program.

The officer said he tried to talk the boy's parents into letting him stay just that night, but they held firm. The boy was taken to the Department of Social and Health Services for temporary shelter.

Nighttime flasher hits daycare center

A stereotypically dressed flasher struck Monday at a day care center. A center employee told police a man in a black trench coat was loitering around the building at 10 p.m. so she decided to call 9-1-1. As she did, he walked to the front door and exposed himself, then left.

She described the man as white, 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall with a stocky build. He has black hair and a mustache.

NOTHING, NOT EVEN a spacious shower, is too good to include in the motorhome Ralph Thompson is building out of a 1981 Crown bus once used to transport workers to the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory, a nuclear test facility. Compared to the $300,000 price of a new motorhome, the $60,000 Thompson expects to spend on his project is peanuts. Thompson bought the bus through Buses R Us in Milton.

bathroom, dining room, living room, washer, dryer, refrigerator and, says Ralph with some measure of pride, a porcelain toilet.

The bus is 13 feet high and 8-feet wide, but Ralph is adding an expandable midsection that will slide out and tack an extra 3 feet of width onto a 14-foot portion.

Before starting work, Ralph prepared a professional-quality blueprint. So far, he has ripped away the old roof and siding and erected a new steel superstructure.

He is confident everything will turn out right — eventually.

"I know how to do it, but I haven't got all of the details worked out," he says. "The biggest challenge will be to keep it from leaking."

Ralph's design accounts for Barbara's allergies — no carpet and electric heat instead of gas, for instance.

"Smart man," says Barbara, patting him on the back.

Although their two children are grown, Ralph, 50, and Barbara, 46, still have a few years until retirement frees them to travel at will. Meanwhile, they will quench their wanderlust with weekend shakedown cruises and vacation voyages.

Ralph says the 280-horse engine runs well and will get about 8 miles a gallon.

Will the Thompsons name their diesel steed?

"Oh yeah, we'll name it," says Ralph. "I think we'll put 'Heaven' on the front. Heaven is wherever we're going."

Hill shuns budget stalemate

By LYNN FRANCISCO

Saying that he didn't want to "put county operations at risk," King County Executive Tim Hill let the 1990 county budget become law without his signature.

Hill said he decided against a veto of what he called a defective budget because he wanted to avoid a "stalemate" between himself and the Democrat-controlled council.

The $745 million spending plan was adopted by the council in late November on a partisan 5 to 4 vote, with all Republicans voting against the plan.

HILL ALSO said on Wednesday that he was sending the council a list of suggested amendments to the budget, which he hoped would cure the defects. He urged the council to adopt them, "in a bipartisan manner."

However, those amendments do not include a $500,000 appropriation for 13 additional police officers sought by Councilmen Paul Barden and Greg Nickels.

Barden fought to add the money to the budget, but was rebuffed in late negotiations.

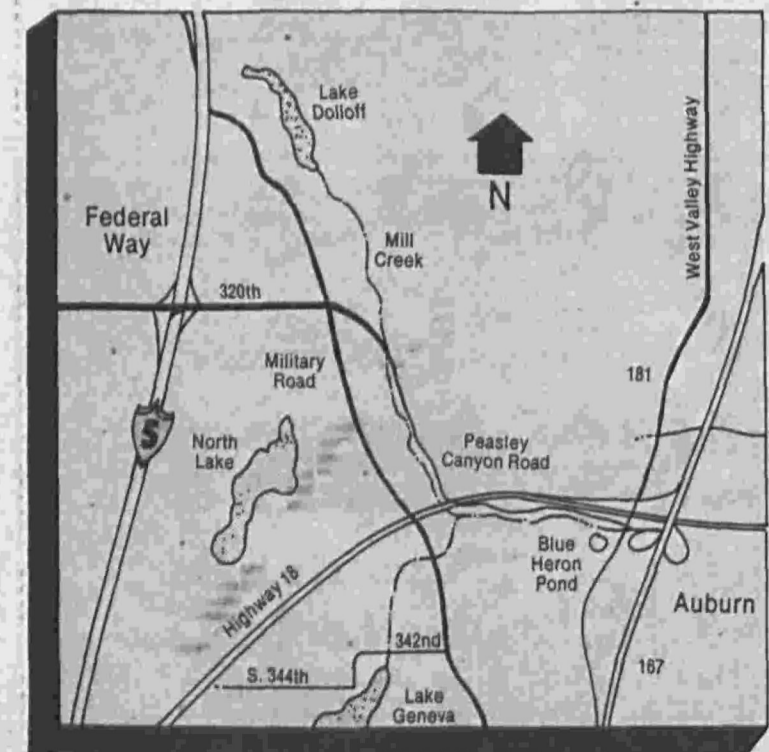

He maintained that the county will need to replace Washington State Patrol cars that are being pulled out of the new cities of Federal Way and SeaTac when they incorporate.

When asked why the Barden request was not on his amendment wish list, Hill said the issue could be worked out when the new cities and the county sit down to negotiate contracts for county police services.

Barden said he may try to tack the money onto Hill's list, "when the time is right."

HILL'S PRIMARY criticism was leveled at the council's $7 million low-income housing plan. While he supported an appropriation of $2.8 million for the 1990 portion of the program, he called the additional commitment of funding in 1991 and 1992 a mistake that could "place in question the county's long-term financial stability."

County explores ability of lakes to store runoff

map by Lee Helck

KING COUNTY Surface Water Management officials recently held a pair of meetings to discuss with residents the possibility of installing flow-control devices at the outlets of Lake Dolloff and Lake Geneva, which drain into Mill Creek.

sion at the base of Peasley Canyon.

Both lakes drain through the canyon. Lake Dolloff's outlet, called Mill Creek on many maps, runs the length of the canyon. Lake Geneva's outlet flows into Mill Creek about two-thirds of the way down, where Peasley Canyon Way intersects Peasley Canyon Road.

Winter rainstorms produce heavy flows out of both lakes that erode the creek channel, threatening Peasley Canyon Road and the stability of the steep canyon wall.

Flow-control devices would enable the lakes to become holding ponds for runoff, regulating flows through the canyon.

PROTECTING the canyon is not the only goal of SWM officials. By installing flow-controls, or weirs, at the lake outlets, lake levels could be stabilized.

Like a tap on a kitchen sink, the weirs would be adjustable. They would draw down the lakes during dry periods in the winter to boost ability to store rainstorm runoff and would hold back in the summer to keep them high.

Several residents at both meetings applauded that aspect of the proposal.

Lake Geneva resident Roland Kreibich complained that the lake's normal summer level has fallen several feet since county crews cleaned the outlet several years ago.

"I think it (the flow controls) is a great idea," said Kreibich. Most Lake Dolloff residents seemed similarly supportive, yet also wary.

"It sounds OK," said Diane Calabrese. "(But) it certainly couldn't be any higher than it is today. And hopefully when they drop the water out, they're not going to drop out too much at once."

THE COUNTY remains far from making a final decision on whether to proceed with the flow-control scheme, said Larry Gibbons, a section manager for SWM's capital-improvement program.

Consultants are studying both lakes to determine how much water enters and exits and what their storage capacities are.

Gibbons assured residents lake levels would not be raised beyond existing maximum levels, but noted that significant storage capacity can be gained by a small rise in a lake.

Longley remains skeptical.

"My house is right on the lake," he said. "I don't mind putting controls there, but the lake can be raised very little as a holding tank because 3 feet will cover my yard and 5 feet will be in my house."

Gibbons encouraged residents worried about potential lake levels to request an inspection of their property by county officials. He also encouraged them to fill out questionnaires sent by the county.

Gibbons said SWM officials will return to meet with residents in March or April after the consultants have finished studying capacities and fluctuations of the lakes.

The study and whatever projects are built will be funded out of annual fees of about $30 levied against all King County property owners by SWM.

Symbols remind us of the reason we celebrate Christmas

By THE REV. BILLY ARNOLD
The Church at Palisades

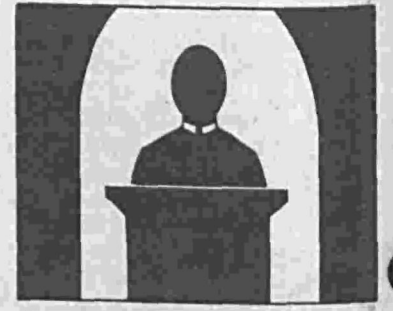

For the past several years, our church has been part of a tradition at the beginning of the Christmas season called "Hanging of the Greens." It is a worship service centered around decorating our place of worship and gaining an understanding of the Christian symbols in this festive season.

I wanted to share the significance of these with you.

When Constantine became the first "Christian" Roman emperor in about 325 AD, Christianity became the "official" religion and Christmas began to emerge. Most cultures of his empire had a winter festival of some sort, but Constantine declared that the "birth of Christ" festival be substituted for their "pagan" holidays. The same season now had a much different meaning.

The Christmas trees and greenery we use go back to early practices of the Druids of Europe, and symbolize for us that we have life forever in Jesus Christ. Just as the evergreen tree never loses its green, even in the most bitter days of winter, we can never lose eternal life when we place our faith in Christ.

The wreaths we place in our windows and on our doors are that perfect geometric circle that never ends, much like a wedding ring. So often, wreaths are of prickly holly, which was originally intended to reflect the crown of thorns Jesus wore on his road to death on the cross.

Pastor's Corner

The red berries even point to the life-giving blood that Jesus shed for us. Poinsettias, too, with their bright red leaves, point vividly to the death of Christ and the blood he shed for the forgiveness of our sins.

Christmas candles and their modern form, electric lights, are a wonderful symbol to us of Jesus being the light of the world. This is my favorite Christmas symbol. The gospel of John describes Jesus' birth this way: "In him was life, and the life was the light of men." The light shines in the darkness and the darkness does not overcome it. The light of Jesus Christ can give us the way home to God the father.

The point of all this symbolism is this: These can be just ordinary store-bought trees, wreaths, candles, poinsettias and lights, or they can be a witness as to what Jesus Christ has done for the world and can do for me if I will let him into my heart. No wonder the angels said to the shepherds, "Glory to God in the highest!"

Pint-size angels light up church

By WENDY CULVERWELL
What would Christmas be without all the pageantry? Without the lights and the trees or the children reenacting the birth of Christ?

Or without manger scenes, the three kings, the shepherds, the star of Bethlehem, or pint-size Marys and Josephs?

If Christmas without all the Biblical trimmings just wouldn't be Christmas, then you might want to plan on being at Steel Lake Presbyterian Church Sunday night for a children's Christmas pageant.

Nearly 40 children, from toddlers to teens, will don angels' capes, princely robes and shepherds' garb all in the name of celebrating the birth of Christ.

At a rehearsal last week, it was all but impossible to imagine the kids would learn their lines and places by Sunday. But co-director Cordelia Small remains calmly hopeful that even the youngest performers will remember their lines when the sanctuary fills up with family and community members.

SMALL'S PARTNER, Melinda Zimmerman, first thought of putting on a Christmas pageant last summer. She and Small have been hashing out the play's mechanics since August and are hopeful that if everything goes well, it will become a tradition at Steel Lake. The performers have been rehearsing their lines and making costumes and sets in Sunday school, she said.

The pageant opens with individual classes from the Sunday school approaching the pulpit, delivering a memorized verse and setting up a portion of the set the class assembled. That way, Small said, every child in the church has a hand in putting on the pageant.

LET US PRAY FOR THOSE WHO CANNOT SHARE IN OUR JOY

There is something that we all need to remember during this holiday season. Throughout history there have always been those who are not able to share in the joy and freedom that are such a normal part of our lives at any time of the year. Those unfortunate souls may live in the country in which they are denied their human rights by the current regime, or at times they have been hostages from another country, kidnapped and imprisoned for no reason. However, we need not feel completely helpless. We can tell our elected officials what we want them to do about it. Above all, we can pray for those people, wherever they may be. At your House of Worship, pray that one day all mankind will be able to enjoy our blessings of liberty. Then we'll truly have peace on earth.

Wherever there is a human being, I see God-given rights in that being.

Church kids cast in Christmas play

When all the classes have passed and choir members have dispersed to the choir loft, junior and senior high school students will perform "The Almost Missed Christmas," a four-act play by Patricia Hauch-Sprinkle. The play tells the tale of Christ's birth, but from the vantage point of angels who think God has gone nuts to have his son born to paupers in a barn with nothing but a food trough to sleep in. They're so incensed, in fact, that two of the angels "almost miss" the chance to see the baby Jesus.

Steel Lake's senior pastor, the Rev. Lyle Starkey, will open the performance with a prayer. The pageant will begin after brief introductions by Small and Zimmerman.

Curtain time is 7 p.m., and the church is at 1829 S. 308th St. All are welcome to attend the free program, and if you have never seen a 3-year-old dressed up as an angel, you might not want to miss this chance.

Minor miscues mar musical

'Scrooge' suffers from oversights

By SEAN ROBINSON

Little things count. It would be nice to say the Avenue Act I Theatre's production of "Scrooge" lifts the heart and gladdens the spirit. But it doesn't, because too many little things are ignored.

That's a shame. Some capable performances lose their luster in a bevy of minor miscues. No one mistake is enough to hurt the show, but the proliferation of them makes it hard to look the other way. Little errors fray the suspension of disbelief.

For instance, a sign saying "Surprise packages, 3 for a shilling" sits annoyingly at center stage throughout the production. It seems nitpicky, but it's inexplicable that the misspelling could escape the director's notice, since the word "shilling" is sprinkled all over the script. Perhaps it was meant to convey the idea that the character who painted the sign can't spell, but it doesn't look that way.

A hodgepodge of accents also mars the production. "Scrooge" is set in London, circa 1860. Theoretically, everyone is English. Yet some actors use accents while others don't bother. It's maddening to hear Katherine Miller's Tom Jenkins deliver her lines with a good Cockney twist, while Dale Bowers' Scrooge sounds American as apple pie.

IN A SITUATION when some actors can handle accents and others can't, you have to strive for consistency. The switch from American and back to British causes earstrain, and makes it difficult to understand what people are saying. The solution is either to teach the actors British accents, or dump it altogether and let everyone speak with American accents. Doing both is too jarring.

Why did director Jason Ganwich overlook such things? Either he didn't realize they were problems, which would be excusable, or he did see them and convinced himself they didn't matter, which would be villainous. Little things matter, especially little things that are easy to solve.

EBENEZER SCROOGE (Dale Bowers, right) doesn't have much use for street urchins like Dallas Milholland. They torment him, sing silly songs and steal his hat in the Avenue Act I Theatre's production of "Scrooge."

Ganwich may be spreading himself a bit thin. Usually, Dennis Hart handles the directing chores at the Avenue Act I, but he has other commitments this year. Ganwich, 19, is a student at Green River Community College, and he's mounting a production of "Crimes of the Heart" at the same time as "Scrooge." That's a heavy load.

It may explain some of the oversights, chief among them the sound. Where you sit may have something to do with it, but the mikes and speakers will try your patience. Most of the song lyrics are unintelligible, partly because the music is so loud, and partly because performers drift from mike to mike, creating a loud-soft effect that booms in your ear one instant and has you straining to hear the next.

THE BEST songs are those that are sung softly. "Happiness" gets a haunting rendering from Susan Godsoe, and "The Beautiful Day," Tiny Tim's (Allison Bergh) song, is the highlight of the evening.

Unfortunately, songs like "Father Christmas," when a group of urchins torment Scrooge, appear to be well-performed, but not one word is understandable. It's not too much to ask that an audience hear the words to a song.

Bowers has to be careful when he sings. His Scrooge is sufficiently crotchety and ill-mannered, but when he gets to the climactic song, "I'll Begin Again," his last note is flat. Going the Richard Burton route and speaking the note might be a better course.

Among the other performers, Miller stands out. She lights up the stage, dances well and sings well. Wendel Mannula as Bob Cratchit is one of the few performers who can handle the British accent, but he speaks too quickly. Martin Durham as the Ghost of Christmas Present makes the most of his one-liners, and a cup of dry ice that he quaffs with Scrooge is a visual treat.

DANIEL WILLMAN as Marley's Ghost is perfectly horrifying. His elaborate makeup draws gasps from the crowd. It looks as though his skin is peeling away.

Without a doubt, the best part of the show is the opening. A group of Dickensian carolers enter and sing a small concert. They are at their best without the mikes to hinder them. The singing is gorgeous and authentic. It's a shame the rest of the show doesn't meet the same standard of quality.

"Scrooge" is playing at the Avenue Act I Theatre at 10 Auburn Ave. in downtown Auburn. The show runs through Dec. 23. Dinner begins at 6:30 p.m., and curtain is at 7:30 p.m. During Sunday matinees, dinner is at 1:30 p.m. and curtain is at 2:30 p.m. Tickets for adults are $9.50 for dinner and the show, and $6.50 for the show only. Children under 12 pay $7.50 and $4.50. Special showings for groups are available. For reservations and more information, call 833-0620.

Local dancers to open 'Nutcracker'

A group of Federal Way dance students and parents have been working for nearly five months preparing what they hope will become an annual performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker," a ballet based on the classic Christmas fairytale by E.T.A. Hoffman.

The cast and crew, mostly students and adults associated with Dance Unlimited, a Federal Way studio, will perform the two-act ballet tomorrow and Sunday, Dec. 9 and 10, at the Sumner Performing Arts Center.

"We've been rehearsing since July," said Judy Wilson, office manager at Dance Unlimited. "It's an enormous task. We've been working on costumes since last summer, too."

Two young dancers, Christina McNeil and Hilarie Schaefer, will share the lead role of Clara, the young German girl who goes on a fantastic adventure with the nutcracker-come-to-life given her by a mysterious godfather.

Shannon Harris plays the Sugar Plum Fairie, and Blake Little, who choreographed the ballet for the group, will play the godfather, Herr Drosselmeyer.

The ballet is directed by Linda Anderson, owner of B. Dance Unlimited, with costume coordination by Shirley McNeil and set design and construction by Tamera Brockman.

Show times are 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. each day. Tickets are available at the door at $6 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. Special group rates are available. Reserved seating is $7.

Call 838-6244 for more information or reservations.

Soloist generates inspired energy

By SEAN ROBINSON
 Tony Kibby says Handel's "Messiah" burns him out.
 Kibby, 42, who lives in Kent, is a semi-professional singer in his spare time. Tomorrow, he will join forces with the Federal Way Philharmonic, the Mormon Festival Chorus and three other soloists to tackle Handel's classic.

Tony Kibby

Dana Davenport, director of the chorus (and incidentally, the brother of Brian Davenport, who conducts the philharmonic), calls Kibby "an extremely competent singer. Tony's a neat guy," he said. "He probably sings 10 'Messiahs' a year."
 But Kibby has cut down on that. "Not anymore," he said. "That's crazy. That's nuts. I normally do about three. After about three, you get burned out."

KIBBY SAYS the grind of rehearsals and preparation for performances takes too much time away from his family. He's had to learn to say no.

The family is a big one. The Kibbys have nine children. Six sibility for a performer," he says. "I couldn't just get up there and get through it. If you don't enjoy something, people immediately feel it."

Two of the solo sections present a particular challenge for singers. Kibby says the second passage, called "Every Valley," and the last, "Thou Shalt Break Them," test the vocal cords. "They work you pretty good," he says. "That's fun."

Kibby received a degree in music from the University of Washington in 1970. But it was for playing the trumpet, not singing. He looked for a career as a professional musician, but found little.

"I GOT OUT of college, and there weren't any jobs," he says. "They just didn't need professional trumpet players anywhere. I found that professional trumpet players were a dime a dozen, good ones were about a quarter a dozen, and great ones were about a dollar a dozen."

The market for singers looked a bit better, and Kibby had always been a good one, so he started taking voice lessons. Several years of training led him to an observation. "Every professional musician I know is either divorced or didn't get married," he says. "I didn't want to do that."

WITH HIS family in mind, Kibby took a job with a credit consulting firm in Seattle. He kept his finger in the musical pie, however. Besides his work with the chorus (this is his third year with it), he occasionally performs with the Seattle Civic Light Opera.

"The Messiah" remains one of his favorite works. "Oh, I love it. I'll always love 'The Messiah,'" he says. "It's about the real reason for Christmas. It's not to help the Bon Marche up their bottom line. Those that come to 'The Messiah' have a deeper love for Christmas than the average dude."

"The Messiah" will be performed at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Federal Way Stake Center, 34815 32nd Ave. S. Admission is free. For more information, call 924-5364 or 941-0313.

DOC BROWN (right, Christopher Lloyd) insists he must take Jennifer (Elizabeth Shue) and Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) to the future in "Back To The Future Part II."

At the Movies

"BACK TO THE FUTURE PART II"

Is it possible to make a good sequel? This one comes close, but it's still very confusing, and no more than a prelude to the third chapter in Michael J. Fox's time-travel follies, which is kind of cheap. Fox has to go forward in time, then backward, then backward again to undo the machinations of the nefarious Biff (Thomas F. Wilson), who is obnoxious no matter when he is. Flawed and careless, but fun enough to make it worthwhile. Rated PG. Playing at SeaTac South.

"THE FABULOUS BAKER BOYS"

Who says passion and atmosphere are dead? This movie's got it. Real-life brothers Beau and Jeff Bridges are two lounge piano-playing brothers. Beau reduced to spraying the back of his head with black paint to cover a bald spot and Jeff, world-weary from 31 years of cocktail waitresses and too many renditions of "Feelings," their act drastically changes when low-price call girl Michelle Pfeiffer auditions to be their torch singer. The music and mood of the film — shot in Seattle — is great and Pfeiffer's Voice is much better than passable. Also, Jeff Bridges and Pfeiffer are very sexy together. Rated R, it's playing at SeaTac South.

"THE BEAR"

It's not warm, fuzzy, cute, adorable or sappy. "The Bear" is a tremendous adventure, almost a modern fable. An orphaned bear cub forms an unlikely alliance with a mature male bear, and learns how to survive. See this movie. The cinematography is beautiful, the bears are wild and natural, and there's no more than 10 minutes of dialogue in the whole film. "The Bear" is pure visual storytelling on an epic scale. Rated PG 13, for some mild violence. Playing at Gateway Center.

"HARLEM NIGHTS"

A humorless script and clunky directing by Eddie Murphy make this film a boring venture. With a funny cast like Murphy, Richard Pryor and Redd Foxx, you would think the movie would be funny, too. But the jokes are few and the acting is stale. Murphy does, however, go to great lengths to recreate old Harlem in this film about a night club owner in the 1930s. But the plot is thin, and the film comes out looking more like a fashion show of vintage cars and costumes. "Harlem Nights" is rated R for language and is playing at SeaTac North and at Southcenter.

"PARENTHOOD"

It isn't easy to make movies about family life without descending into the syrup-laden well of sentimentality.

"Parenthood" manages to avoid all the clichés that generate labels like "the feelgood movie of the summer." It features an excellent ensemble cast, nifty plot twists, crisp direction of a good screenplay by Ron Howard, and the best performance of Steve Martin's career. It's also very funny. "Parenthood" is playing at SeaTac South. The rating is PG-13 for mild swearing and some double entendres.

Eagle boys rout Rainier Beach, 75-38

FEDERAL WAY senior guard Brian Milstead looks for an open man while avoiding a pair of Rainier Beach players

The Federal Way Eagles established their superiority early against Rainier Beach with a trapping defense and strong inside game, and then cruised to a 75-38 boys' basketball victory over the visiting Vikings Tuesday night.

The Class AAA Eagles improved their preseason record to 2-1 and avenged an 82-50 loss to the Class AA Vikings of the Metro League from a year ago.

"This game was important, we didn't want to look beyond these guys," said Federal Way coach Jerome Collins, whose club met the No. 1 ranked Garfield Bulldogs away last night (after press time).

Lake Dawson and Donny Marshall provided the Eagles with a powerful inside game by combining for 44 points. Dawson scored a season-high 18 points and also made some outstanding blocks on defense.

"You have to respect him when he's out there on the floor," said Collins of his leaping 6-2 senior forward, who is making the transition from the gridiron to the basketball court. "He did a good job of staying out of trouble. He didn't pick up any ticky tacky fouls. He made his presence known."

So did Marshall, Federal Way's dominating center who appears to be getting smoother each time he steps on the court. Marshall scored a game-high 26 points and led the Eagles to a 35-26 rebounding edge with 11 boards. He also had three steals.

Rod Janson, Federal Way's 6-1 senior guard, continued to shine in the point guard position as he dished out a team-high eight assists.

"Rod Janson did a heck of a job the last two games establishing himself as the leader. We need a floor general out there," said Collins.

RAINIER BEACH was led in scoring by Bobby Raiford, who scored 14 points (12 in the second half) and pulled down six rebounds. Trenton Pollard, Rainier Beach's 6-4, 270-pound center, got into foul trouble and was held to only two points and five rebounds in limited action.

Federal Way got off to a flying start and scored 10 straight points at one stretch in the opening quarter to build up a 16-2 lead. Ricci Greenwood hit a jumper to complete that scoring spree for the Eagles.

Rainier Beach had problems handling Federal Way's trapping defense, but the Vikings managed to trail by only 10 at 18-8 after one quarter.

The Eagles broke the game open in the second quarter as they outscored Rainier Beach, 14-4, to take a 32-12 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The Vikings scored the opening points of the third quarter to cut the deficit to 18, but Federal Way was off and running again with a 14-point streak with many of those points coming on layins and baskets inside.

Raiford's jumper stopped the scoring spree, but Federal Way held a whopping 51-19 lead after three quarters.

The Eagles' biggest lead of the night came with 4:23 to play on a pair of free throws by Andy Jer-

Eagle cagers KO K-M, 63-51

By GERARDO BOLONG

If fighting a battle was the prerequisite, the Federal Way Eagles certainly earned their wings Monday night in Kent.

Shucking off Kent-Meridian's stifling hands-on defense, the Federal Way girls' basketball team fired its own fusillades en route to a 63-51 conquest of the previously undefeated Royals.

"It was played like a tournament game," said Eagle head coach Chuck Czubin, whose team improved to 4-0 in preseason play with the win. "They're as tough as anyone I've seen in some time. Our kids weathered the storm and gave it right back."

"Federal Way has a great club," said Kent-Meridian coach Derek Powell. "Their players were smart and responded. They made lots of free throws. Our offense was forced out and we got into foul trouble."

Powell also felt that his perimeter players matched well with Federal Way standout guards Jenny Mahlstedt and Janelle Oakeley.

From the start, the Royals played physically. Julie Smith's three-point goal and Kristi Smith's in-close goal gave Kent-Meridian a 9-4 lead in the first quarter before the Eagles flew back.

With Mahlstedt getting quick-handed steals, center Kelly Czubin and guard Oakeley scored back-to-back baskets to knot the torrid game at 11-11. An Oakeley free throw after her driving lay-in earned the Eagles their first lead at 12-11 with under two minutes remaining in the quarter.

KENT-MERIDIAN'S four-point run was countered by Kelly Czubin's two free tosses, but the Royals led by two at the end of the period.

A portent of things to come was Royal forward Silke Peterson drawing her third foul.

Raising eyebrows from players, fans and coaches, seemingly similar court action received different treatment in respect to fouls being called.

Coach Czubin felt that the teaming up of officials from different associations was largely responsible for this.

"I was confused," he admitted.

As the teams fought on in the second quarter, Federal Way unleashed its arsenal. Shannon Sehlin tallied a goal on a three-on-one drive to put the Eagles in front, 19-17, with 6:23 remaining in the half.

Senior forward Brooke Edwards owned the offensive boards to score five consecutive points for an eight-point Federal Way advantage. The Eagles continued drawing fouls inside and converting free throws for a 33-23 margin.

Julie Smith nailed another three-point goal to cut the Eagle advantage to 33-26 at intermission.

FEDERAL WAY played more aggressively in the second half. "We decided we weren't going to put up with it anymore," said Sehlin. "They were pushing us every time we shot."

Trading points until the score reached 39-32, the Eagles started to see dividends. Royal forwards Silke and Sviha Peterson both had four fouls. Sehlin had four fouls on the Federal Way side.

Halfway through the third quarter, Federal Way forward Czubin fouled Sviha Peterson out of the game while dropping in a short right-handed hook.

After completing the three-point play, Czubin rebounded at the other end of the court.

Oakeley's fast-break lay-in sent Federal Way to a 12-point lead.

Kent-Meridian outscored the Eagles, 7-2, to close the gap to 46-39 with 43 seconds remaining in the quarter. Fifteen seconds later, 5-10 freshman Tiffany Rutter banked in a close-in hoop, but Julie Smith's running goal put Kent-Meridian within seven again, 48-41, just before the quarter ended.

Having gotten quality time from spot-substitutes to rest the starting five, the Eagles jumped all over the weary and foul-plagued Royals.

MAN-TO-MAN defensive pressure caused the Kent-Meridian squad to fall out of its set offensive patterns. Rebounding also went in the direction of Federal Way.

Oakeley's lay-in capped a six-point Eagle spurt, but the Royals answered with two buckets. Mahlstedt's three-point bomb finally sealed the verdict.

Leading, 61-45, as 3:19 showed on the game clock, Federal Way pulled the starters out one-by-one and winged home as 63-51 victors.

Gator boys beat Falcons, 74-55

After coming close against two good opponents, the Decatur boys' basketball team finally found its first victim of the year.

The Gators buried the Foss Falcons, 74-55, Tuesday at the Tacoma school's gym, putting Decatur's season record at 1-2.

The Gators had opened with a 55-44 loss at Bethel, before falling to perennial power Auburn by only a 60-51 margin this past Friday.

"It's good to get the first one out of the way," said Decatur head coach Lee Anderson.

Tuesday's game with the Falcons was the Gators' final preseason action, as they open South Puget Sound League Sound Division play today by hosting Kentridge at 7:30 p.m.

The Chargers are off to a 2-0 start, with Collin Crenshaw, who stands at 6-2, 200 pounds, being the team's key point producer so far. He can play inside and out.

"They (Kentridge) make the transition pretty well and go up and down the floor well," said Anderson.

Decatur will then entertain the Broadmeadows Broncos of Melbourne, Australia at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

THE GATORS took a 17-14 lead over Foss by the end of the first quarter Tuesday and were up, 33-26, at halftime.

Decatur gradually pulled farther away, however, outscoring the Falcons, 22-17, in the third quarter and 19-12 in the fourth.

"We shot better, and went to the free throw line a few more times than we have in the past," said Anderson. "They (Foss) were quick on the draw, and did not have a lot of patience on offense."

Joey Roni led the Gators with 17 points, with Chad Young (16) and Gregg Land-skov (15) right behind. Brian Floritio also scored in double figures with 12, while Danu Black hit four and Justin Mentink and Josh Austin two each.

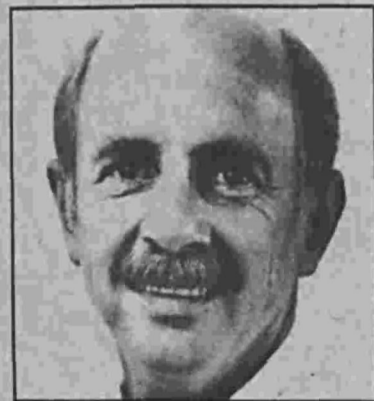

John Campbell soccer tourney kicks off tomorrow

The 1989 John Campbell Tournament will start Dec. 9. This is a local tournament for Federal Way area soccer teams. All non-premier teams are eligible to compete.

This year we will have 40 teams ranging in age from U-8 up to U-13 for boys and girls. The finals will be held at Federal Way Memorial Field on the weekend of Jan. 13.

In 1974, the John Campbell Memorial Tournament was established as a post-season tournament for teams within the Federal Way Soccer Association. Although the format has changed from year to year, all teams registered within the FWSA are eligible to participate.

John Campbell began coaching for the Boys' Club in 1967 and remained there for three years until he joined the Southwest United Soccer Club and was elected secretary-treasurer in 1971. In 1971 he coached one team and in 1972-73 he coached his sons, Chris and Scott, on U-9 and U-12 teams. At the age of 44 John Campbell had a heart attack and died while refereeing a game.

ONE OF THE MOST difficult rules of soccer to understand and interpret is the offside rule. Wish me luck, because I am going to try to explain it to you.

A player is in an offside position if he is nearer to his opponent's goal line than the ball, unless a) he is in his own half of the field or b) there are at least two of his opponents nearer their own goal line than he is. One of the opponents would be their goalie. So if the ball is not in front of you on your opponents' half of the field, you better have two players from the other side in front of you or you're in an offside position and you may not get any halftime treats.

Being in an offside position doesn't mean you are offside. To be offside, you must be, in the judgement of the official, interfering with the play or seeking to gain an advantage by being in the offside position.

So if you take a shot from 30 yards and a teammate is in an offside position, as long as he is not interfering with the shot he is not offside.

But what if that 30-yard shot turns to be a 10-yard miss-hit and that player in the offside position goes for it? You guessed it, no halftime treats for him. Now you know why all the forwards on soccer teams are skinny and fast. They're offside a lot and miss out on half-time treats. This also explains why players and parents get so upset when a referee makes an offside call.

No penalty is tacked on for being in an offside position, but if you are caught offside, the other team is awarded an in-direct free kick

Another exception to the rule is a player is not offside if he receives the ball direct from a goal kick, a corner kick, a throw-in or when the referee has a drop ball. One final thing to remember, play the Whistle. If the referee doesn't blow his whistle and stop play, there is no offside. Now, are there any more volunteers to be soccer referees?

Ron Whaley is the publicity chairman of the Federal Way Soccer Association. Whaley's column appears weekly in the Friday edition of the Federal Way News. Information or suggestions can be sent to Whaley at 2852-41st Ave. So., Auburn, Wa., 99001.

When Russ (Bosanko) came here in 1984, they always asked for suggestions for projects," Nunnenkamp explained. "He requested every year for Steel Lake lights and it's part of the pathway between the parking lot and fields, LaCourse said.

tion at Steel Lake will probably be made by the end of December "It will probably take them all the way through March to complete the project," he said.

That would still be in time for the softball season, however. Steel Lake has two existing softball fields. With lighting added to the ballfields, it is estimated that twice as many games can be played at Steel Lake. The project calls for lighting not only on the ballfields, but along the pathway between the parking lot and fields, LaCourse said.

Steel Lake will light up in the spring

By CHUCK MINGORI

Let there be lights.

After several years of trying, it has become official. The King County Natural Resources and Parks Division has awarded a bid for construction of lights at the Steel Lake Park softball fields.

Ed Rosendin Electric of Federal Way was the lowest bidder to King County for ballfield lighting at the Steel Lake Park softball complex. Along with rehabilitating the lighting system at a football field in Enumclaw, the combined cost of the field lighting project at Steel Lake will be $193,419.

Steve LaCourse, project administrator for King County Natural Resources and Parks Division, said that Ed Rosendin Electric has received the contract documents for the project. Once the King County Resources and Parks Division receives those documents from the contractor for processing, construction at the site can begin.

LeCourse estimated that a notice to proceed with construction at Steel Lake will probably be made by the end of December "It will probably take them all the way through March to complete the project," he said.

That would still be in time for the softball season, however. Steel Lake has two existing softball fields. With lighting added to the ballfields, it is estimated that twice as many games can be played at Steel Lake. The project calls for lighting not only on the ballfields, but along the pathway between the parking lot and fields, LaCourse said.

Eagles splash by Gator in non-league opener

By TIM CLINTON

The Federal Way boys' swimming team splashed by crosstown rival Decatur, 108-64, Tuesday in the non-league season opener for both teams.

Eagle head coach Al Hoppenrath found his first look at his team in action to be a pleasant surprise.

"It looks like we're going to be a little tougher than I anticipated we were going to be," he said. "At first I thought we'd be in the middle of the pack this year, but I think we're going to end up a little higher than the middle of the pack."

"They were deeper than us," said Gator head coach Bill Christiansen of the Eagles. "But we still had good swimmers and personal bests, and I was happy with that."

Federal Way started off by winning the 200 medley relay, as Sean Ormsby, Scott Gallagher, Mike Anderson and Rich Curtis — a former water polo player who has transferred in from California — crossed the finish line with a 1:52.88 time.

Vince Riggio, Bill Gates, Ryan Berg and Ryan Manning were second for Decatur at 1:56.86 and Duke Eide, Trent Erickson, Scott Hougham and Tim Pinney third for the Eagles at 1:59.56.

Deke Egger won the 200 freestyle race for the Gators in 1:56.54, ahead of Federal Way's Justin Tripp (1:57.79) and Decatur teammate Larry Joseph (2:07.68). Peter Horsley of the Eagles was fourth at 2:12.08 and teammate Matt Bunt fifth (2:13.29).

ORMSBY posted a Federal Way victory in the 200 individual medley at 2:16.31 ahead of Gallagher (2:31.01) and the Gators' Collin Sawyer (2:39.38). Hougham was fourth for the Eagles at 2:40.64 and Decatur's John Roper fifth (2:44.77).

Curtis took the 50 freestyle for Federal Way with a 24.70 clocking, followed by the Gators' Manning (25.82) and teammates Erickson (25.88) and Jeff Pearson (26.24). Decatur's Miro Hrazdil placed fifth (26.61). The Eagles swept the diving competition, as Derrick Smith scored 154.2 points to finish in front of teammates Brian Hill (105.1) and Mike Weglin (90.7). Jake Austin was fourth for the Gators at 65.75 ahead of teammate Troy Thanyre (65.5).

Riggio captured first for Decatur in the 100 butterfly at 59.97 and Anderson was second for Federal Way (1:05.13). Manning (1:06.38) was third for the Gators in front of the Eagles' Gallagher (1:07.71) and Hougham (1:08.27).

Curtis racked up his second win of the day to go with his effort on Federal Way's winning 200 medley relay team in the 100 freestyle, taking that event in 54.51. Eide was second at 56.79 and Decatur's Gates third (56.83), with Pearson fourth (1:00.57) and Sean Welch of the Gators fifth (1:00.60).

Egger won the 500 freestyle in 5:18.76 for Decatur and the Eagles' Tripp was second (5:18.89), with the Gators' Joseph third (6:06.16). The Eagles' Bunt was fourth (6:07.86) and Horsley fifth (6:21.78).

DECATUR'S Riggio was the victor in the 100 backstroke at 1:02.42, but the Eagles' Ormsby snapped a 13-year-old team freshman record with his second-place 1:03.71 time.

Anderson was third at 1:11.14, followed by Gators Roper (1:13.64) and Hrazdil (1:15.03).

The Eagles' Eide placed first in the 100 breaststroke at 1:10.69 in front of Erickson (1:11.84) and Decatur's Gates third (1:14.51). Federal Way's Pinney was right behind Gates at 1:14.59 and the Gators' Sawyer fifth (1:21.35).

Tripp, Pearson, Horsley and Bunt of the Eagles combined to win the 400 freestyle relay in 4:02.65, topping Decatur's foursome of Egger, Joseph, Welch and Hrazdil (4:06.77). Federal Way's "B" team of Jeff Hiiva, Richard Vaux, Kris Hartwell and Pinney was third at 4:34.46.

SPSL action opens for both teams next week, as the Gators host Kentridge Wednesday and the Eagles entertain Kentwood Thursday. Both meets start at 3:30 p.m. at the Federal Way Pool.

Aussie team makes visit

Federal Way will have an Aussie invasion this weekend, as the Broadmeadows Broncos boys' basketball team of Melbourne, Australia comes to town.

Broadmeadows will be playing Decatur, Federal Way and Fife High School, and the players will be staying with host families from those schools.

The Aussies arrive at 2:15 p.m. tomorrow, and will take on Decatur that night at 7:30.

Federal Way will take on Broadmeadows at the same time Monday, and Fife will play host to that team Wednesday.

The Aussies leave Seattle at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday for Los Angeles, where they will stay until Dec. 20 — when they fly to Honolulu. They leave Honolulu Dec. 23 for Melbourne.

"You can play a foreign team once every three years," said Decatur head coach Lee Anderson. "It gets an extra game on the schedule, plus you get the contact with people from another country."

Lights to turn on at Steel Lake master plan for the entire Steel Lake Park. Somehow, they decided, yeah, this is that time."

Nunnenkamp said the lights will be a boost to the local recreation softball program.

"With the kind of demand we have it would help improve the softball program for us," he said.

Nunnenkamp also said that the lights at Steel Lake will help take the pressure off of Lakota, which is heavily used for softball, baseball, soccer and football by programs in the Federal Way area.

One of the main users of the Steel Lake Park complex are local softball teams. One coach, Harry Orr of the South King County Merchants, was pleased with the news of lights.

"I think it's going to be a real plus for Federal Way to be able to get some use out of those fields at night," said Orr.

Although pleased with the announcement, Orr also expressed some concerns.

"I'm real impressed," he said. "I just hope when they do put lights in they put them up high enough like at Fort Dent (complex in Tukwila)."

Orr said the lights at Fort Dent are up around 80 to 100 feet high, but at some places the lights on the poles are only about 50 to 60 feet high and cause problems for some batters looking up at the high slowpitch delivery.

Orr hopes that some of the women's softball games can now be played at Steel Lake instead of at Sacajawea field number two, where some women batters "can plant them out in the field pretty easily," he said.

Another concern of Orr's is the possibility of increased team fees due to field lighting.

"I'm sure somebody's going to have to pay for it," he said. Nunnenkamp said there will be a slight increase in team fees this coming spring, but those are due to an increase in umpire costs. Nunnenkamp estimated fees will rise about $15 to $20 for the 1990 season.

dal to make it 67-26. Collins cleared his bench in the late going, but Federal Way maintained a big lead until the final buzzer sounded.

Joining Marshall in the rebounding column were Jerald with eight and Greenwood with five. Jeff Murphy added four assists and Jerald four steals.

Federal Way ends preseason play Monday night at home against an Australian team.

Tuesday, the Eagles will play Thomas Jefferson in their South Puget Sound League Puget Division opener.

TJ drops 61-40 decision

The Thomas Jefferson boys' basketball team finished its preseason with a 1-2 record after absorbing a 61-40 loss at Mount Tahoma Tuesday.

The Raiders will open South Puget Sound League Puget Division play at 7:30 p.m. today, as they play host to the Bethel Braves.

Jefferson led, 14-7, at the end of the first quarter and 26-19 at halftime, but the Thunderbirds came storming back to outscore the Raiders, 18-5, in the third quarter and 24-9 in the fourth.

Brian Salmond paced TJ with 16 points, with Steve Hill also reaching double figures with 10.

Willie Fagan and Scott Orta hit five points each, while Eric Scharmer tossed in three and Jeff Jordan one.

"When they go after me like that, I like to pass off," said Mahlstedt.

The main recipients of Mahlstedt's feeds were Edwards and Oakeley with 16 points each. Czubin pitched in 14 points.

Edwards cleaned the glass for nine rebounds and Sehlin tied Jennifer Evans with six boards. Defensively, Mahlstedt used her sleight of hand for nine steals.

Patti Wales paced Kent-Meridian with 21 points. Center Kristi Smith hauled down 11 rebounds.

THE EAGLES opened South Puget Sound League Puget Division play last night against Kentwood (after press time), before paying a 7:30 p.m. visit to Thomas Jefferson Monday.
